Measure 5 well-packed cups of perfectly fresh ripe strawberries, cut in quarters, 4 tablespoons glycerin, 1 teaspoon certo crystals, 12 sucaryl tablets. Before hulling wash strawberries in sieve, hull them, then dry them on paper towels. After measuring turn into saucepan and mash with potato masher and boil gently 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and stir with sterile spoon over medium heat for 5 minutes. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once, remembering all the time that sugarless products depend entirely on sterility to preserve them, and to prevent fermentation. You are well-advised to store home-prepared sugarless products in refrigerator.

JELLIED RHUBARB AND STRAWBERRY DESSERT

One tablespoon plain gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1 package lime-flavored gelatin dessert, 1-4 cup sugar, 2 cups rhubarb which has been cooked without water or sugar in top of double boiler covered for 15 minutes without stirring, 2 cups sliced strawberries sweetened with 2 tablespoons sugar. Soak the plain gelatin in the cold water 5 minutes. Add the package of lime gelatin dessert to it then pour the 1 cup boiling water over and stir until dissolved and clear. Add sugar, stir, then add prepared fruits. Pour into 8 individual molds or 1 1-quart mold and chill in refrigerator until firm. To serve individual molds turn each one out on tea plate and garnish with piped border of whipped cream and two perfect strawberries. Delicate wafers and Gruyere cheese seem to be the perfect accompaniment.

Children's badly soiled pinafores can be washed in the family washing machine without harm.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HERE'S ANOTHER REASON WHY "AND FAMILY" IS SOCIALLY TABOO

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please explain who is invited by an invitation to a church wedding and home reception following addressed to my husband's parents as "Mr. and Mrs.—and family." I maintain that this invitation invited Mr. and Mrs., my husband's parents, and those members of their family who are living with them in their home. Since my husband and I have our own home, I think that we are, though in "the family," a separate family, and that if we are really supposed to be invited, we would have received a separate invitation. I do not know either the prospective bride or groom, and my husband has had very little contact with them, and that only in a business way. Will you please help us with your advice?

I wish I could be of definite help . . . but actually only those who write "and family" in the invitation know whom they are including in the invitation. Sometimes I doubt it even they know. . . or if they just write this phrase as the easiest way out and leave it to "the family" to figure out what they mean.

It is just this vague and therefore incomplimentary indefiniteness that makes the phrase "and family" taboo when written either on an invitation or on an envelope. If a person is to be included in an invitation in the sense that he or she should be given the compliment, the individual honor, of being mentioned in the invitation or in the address.

In your circumstances, as you set them forth, I am certainly inclined to agree with you that you and your husband are not included in this invitation. However, if you have any interest in knowing definitely, the only way to find out is to inquire, as quietly as possible, from someone who knows about the plans, perhaps in a round-about way through your husband's parents.

PROBLEM: WHEN GUEST OF HONOR AND SHOWER HOSTESS HAVE SAME NAME.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be matron of honor for my sister-in-law in her wedding soon, in planning to have a shower for her, I've come across a problem. My sister-in-law and I have the same name: for example, Mary Smith. On the shower invitations should I sign as "Mrs. John Smith" using my husband's name? — B.

No—it is inappropriate to use your formal name on such an informal item as a shower invitation. Since only relatives and or intimate friends of the guest, of honor and yourself would be invited to the shower, both your name and hers would be familiar to the guests and of course easily recognizable. So if you send cards or notes of suitably informal style, you would use the informal name for the guest of honor. "Linen shower for Mary Smith" . . . and sign your informal name, say, "Mary Graham Smith." But no "Mrs." on this kind of invitation.

PROBLEM: OPENING GIFTS BROUGHT TO WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper for the bride and groom to open gifts at the wedding reception — R.D.

Customarily . . . and correctly . . . wedding presents are sent to the bride-to-be before the wedding. three weeks, two weeks, one week before the date, so that she will have time to enjoy them and write her "thank you" notes for them before she departs on her wedding trip. If several tardy gifts are brought to the reception, they usually aren't opened then; because it holds up the reception procedure. However, if there are only a few guests at the reception, and the bride may, if she wishes, open the presents brought to the reception.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In case hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.®. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

Anti-Semitism Dying in Canada Women Told

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) —Anti-Semitism is dying in Canada, says Mrs. Benjamin Robinson of Montreal.

Mrs. Robinson, handsome silver-haired president of the National Council of Jewish Women in Canada, made this statement in an address to the International Council of Jewish Women meeting in London.

The soft-spoken leader of more than 5,000 Canadian Jewish women said the gradual death of anti-Semitic sentiment arises from the fact that Canada is composed basically of two great ethnic groups.

"The French- and English-speaking groups living side by side, had helped all Canadians to accept the right of others to be different.

MANY FACTORS HELP

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the National Film Board and Canadian newspapers, she said have also helped to encourage mutual understanding.

"Jewish Canadians, like all others, have both contributed to, and benefitted from, this attitude.

"Organizations such as the Canadian Jewish Congress, the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, and the National Council of Jewish Women have . . . supported the Fair Employment Practices Act, passed both in the provincial and federal governments, which outlaws discriminative practices and recognizes the rights of minorities."

Turning to her own organization, Mrs. Robinson outlined its growth and work for the delegates representing 14 countries.

First formed 38 years ago as a branch of the United States council the group became a Canadian division in 1924 and was recognized as a national organization in 1946. It now has branches in 15 Canadian centres, drawing its members from 20,000 Jews living in Canada.

MENTAL HEALTH WORK

Mrs. Robinson said the Canadian council has concentrated recently on mental health work, supporting both the Mental Health Organization of Canada and the World Mental Health Congress.

"Our present program specializes in work with elderly citizens, emotionally disturbed and retarded children and citizenship—especially integration, social legislation and community service."

It has provided 11 golden age clubs for elderly persons, four scholarships for Canadian university professors to study care of the aged abroad, and last year made available 73 Canadian scholarships for advanced study.

Mrs. Robinson, wife of prominent Montreal lawyer, finds her work for the council a full-time job. Elected president a year ago, she puts in an average of 8 hours a day at the council's national office.

Last June she represented the Jewish women of Canada at the Coronation in Westminster Abbey and in the fall made a three-week tour of Canada to meet council members as far away as Vancouver.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

No minor problem is a growth of hair on a woman's lip or whiskbs bristles on her chin. These blemishes are a source of misery to the afflicted one and no effort or expense should be spared to banish them.

The cause is not definitely known. A soft downy growth may appear in the twenties. That should not be meddled with often. It is observable only to the one who has it. Sometimes stronger shafts will suddenly appear in middle age, or a woman may not be bothered with them until she is sixty or older.

The women of the Latin races are especially subject to the incipient moustache. It may be because, in warm climates, the sweat and sebaceous glands are encouraged in growth. Also the tiny protruding points are about as disfiguring as the fully developed shafts.

There are various forms of professional treatment for the removal of superfluous hair, among them the electric needle. This method has been used for more than sixty years and, if done by an expert who is conscientious, proves satisfactory.

A soft, pliable needle, usually of gold, attached to an electric current, is inserted in the pore beside the shaft, descending to the root. The electricity destroys the papilla from which the hair emerges, and the hair cannot grow again. With perfect timing no tissues are burned, no scars result.

Furs on the legs should be removed with a depilatory. As some skins are allergic to chemicals, these should be a test application. This is seldom the case, but it is wise to be on the safe side. Or, the growth can be bleached with peroxide.

Nurses' Assoc. Launches 27th Biennial Meet

By JAMES SHERMPTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—The Canadian Nurses' Association launched its 27th biennial meeting here today with more than 1,100 nurses from all over Canada on hand to ponder the convention theme—"pathways to the future."

Delegates journed by air, road and rail to boost attendance figures to a new high and to form the largest throng at a Canadian women's convention this year.

Here to welcome the experienced CNA officials and young student nurses at today's opening sessions was superintendent E. I. M. Strong of Banff national park.

The presidential address will be given by Helen G. McArthur of Calgary.

STUDY ASSOCIATION

During afternoon business, members were to study the structure of their association. Voting was scheduled on a proposal to redistribute the organization's work into six channels: nursing education; the nursing services, comprising private nursing, public health and institutional nursing; employment relations; communications; finance and legislation.

Other features throughout the week include panel discussions, a symposium on "pathways to the future in psychiatric nursing," a dramatic presentation depicting team work among nurses and a fashion parade with nurses modeling uniforms worn by their predecessors in the last half century.

The CNA's 25,000 members form the largest professional women's organization in Canada. It is affiliated with the world-wide International Council of Nurses.

LAST BIG SHIP

The freighter Scott Misener, shown getting the finishing touches in dock at the Port Weller, Ont., shipyards, prior to her launching May 26, may be the last big ship built on the Great Lakes for some years. The ship, of more than 23,000 tons gross, has cost her owners, Colonial Steamships, about $5,500,000. Capt. Scott Misener, Colonial president after whom the ship is named, said construction costs are so high that his firm will order no new ships until costs come down to the level of six or seven years ago. Builders blame unemployment in shipyards and lack of building orders on present high costs. (CP Photo).

Labor, Building Costs Slow Ship Construction In Great Lakes Yards

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORT WELLER, Ont. (CP)—Charlie Ansell, shipbuilder and no mincer of words, made a blunt statement:

"The marine game looks lousy."

Mr. Ansell, president of Port Weller Dry Docks Ltd., whose firm has constructed three of Colonial Steamships lake giants, said the shipbuilding program is finished for the year.

Capt. Scott Misener, Colonial president, went further.

"We don't build any new ships until labor and construction prices come down to the point where they were six or seven years ago."

NO SHIPS PLANNED

T. R. McLagan, president of Canada Steamship Lines Limited, in a report to company officials, said CSL has reached a capacity tonnage and plans no new ships in the near future.

Unemployment has already struck hard at shipyards in Midland, Collingwood and Port Arthur. Mr. Ansell was doubtful of his yard's employment future.

Mr. Ansell said labor costs in his Welland canal yards have increased 130 per cent in the seven years of operation at Port Weller. His yard employs an average of 300 men who have constructed the SS Scott Misener, the SS McKellar and a new and bigger SS Scott Misener.

The largest shipyard on the lakes it has a dry dock 625 feet long, 140 feet wide and 26 feet deep, capable of handling the "largest lake vessel, and a complete machine shop.

SEAWAY HOPES

Mr. Ansell said the future of his yard rests in the ship repair business. When construction of the St. Lawrence seaway is under way refitting of many grain ships to carry Labrador ore upriver is expected.

Mr. Misener said the cost of the new Scott Misener was $5,500,000.

"You just can't build ships at that cost."

He said construction costs in Canada had risen six or seven times in the last 30 years.

"We paid $180,000 in Canadian money for canalers in Britain. That ship costs $1,000,000 in Canada nowadays."

The Canadian Shipbuilding Ship Repairing Association now faces a new problem—the threat of United States Great Lakes shipping lines selling some of their older vessels on the Canadian market.

MOVE OPPOSED

Mr. McLagan, association president, in a letter to Transport Minister Chevrier last January, asked that the government refuse to allow the importation of these ships.

"The Canadian shipyards are in a position to give prompt delivery as of new labor," his letter said. "We have the naval architects and marine engineers capable of meeting any design requirement which an owner may desire. . . ."

"The yards on the Great Lakes are in need of work, and if new orders are not forthcoming a considerable amount of unemployment will be experienced this summer."

Mr. Chevrier, in reply, said the matter would be brought to the attention of the Canadian maritime commission and department officials.

Coupled with high construction cost is the soaring cost of ship operation. The Canadian Shipowners Association says it costs at least $100,000 a year more to operate a 10,000 ton dry-cargo vessel under Canadian registry than under that of the United Kingdom. As a result the deep-sea merchant fleet has diminished since the Second World War to a point where only a handful of ships remains under the Canadian flag.

THE OLD DAYS

"When I started out as a sailor I was making $15 a month. Today the lowliest deckhand makes a basic wage of $190 a month."

Great Lakes seamen, members of the Canadian Seafarers' Union, work a 40-hour week with time and a half for overtime and double time on Sunday. They get no days off during the shipping season.

Capt. Misener referred to his new ship as an example of improved working conditions. No bunk room has more than four men to a room; the average is two. Each room has toilet, shower and sink. Radio and television are provided. Broadloom rugs cover the floors.

"We even had to supply a laundry room; the men didn't want to have to take their washing ashore," said Capt. Misener.

PLANES FOR PAKISTAN

KARACHI (CP)—Harrison Cleveland, acting Canadian high commissioner, at a ceremony here turned over to the government of Pakistan three Canadian Beaver airplanes for use in aerial operations against locusts. Agriculture Minister Ghyasuddin Pathan welcomed the gift which he said "will vastly strengthen our hands in our fight against locusts."

BASEBALL'S FIRST LADY!

Don't look now, but Toni Stone, twenty-two-year-old second baseman (or is it baseladY?) of the Kansas City Monarchs, colored champions, who play a Negro League game with the Indianapolis Clowns here June 16, may be the first gal to crash the major leagues.

TONI STONE

Toni neither asks for quarter nor gives it once she dons a uniform and takes to the field. "I know what I am doing and what I am in for," she says. "I don't want anyone playing me easy because I'm a woman and I don't plan to play easy against them. I'm out here to play the game and I'm sure I can take the knocks as well as anyone else. Don't worry, I can take care of myself."

The colored feminine flash is the first woman to play in organized baseball. She says, "Who knows? Maybe I'll be the first woman to play major league baseball. At least, I may be the one to open the doors for women. There are ways gat to be a first in everything. Before 1946 nobody thought negroes would be in the big leagues. But we've got 'em there today. A woman player might have a chance, also. Maybe it will be me."

Toni started as a softball player but left the Highlex girls' team of St. Paul, Minn., to run away and play with boys' baseball clubs. She has been there ever since. At first she ran into resentment, but she was as rough, tough and aggressive as any of the boys and it was not long before they forgot her sex and greeted her as one of them.

On day after moving to California, Toni wandered onto a baseball school being operated by Gabby Street. Her persistence won her a workout before the famous backstop. "I couldn't get rid of her until I gave her a chance," Gabby told newspapermen. "Every time I chased her away she would go round the corner, and then come back to plague me again."

He was amazed when he saw the girl field hard-hit grounders, pounce on slow rollers and use her high to spear low throws. She swiftly caused the critical, hard-bitten old baseball player to tell her to go out on the field and "show those boys up."

She did. Not only was her fielding up to par, but she displayed a keen eye at the plate as she rapped out long flies, line drives and "grass cutters."

It was the veteran Sunny Downs and Buster Heywood, bostock and playing manager of the Clowns, who discovered her during a game in New Orleans. He immediately brought the news to Sid Pollock, in Oakland, to sign her, but for two years she refused his offers. "I felt I wasn't ready," she says, "but when he said $12,000 for the season, I ran to get my feminine fem."

She went to high school and grammar school and studied for a while at McAllister College, but her love of sports won out over education and she started playing Sunday ball with the St. Paul Giants. She played for three months with the Frisco Sea Lions and wound up in the uniform of the New Orleans Creoles.

It was at Memphis that Toni decided to make pro baseball her career. She dreamed about it and she started to ready herself for it.

Another hurdle she surmounted was the intimate problem of a lone woman traveling with 23 men in buses. "I found this wasn't any headache," she says. "At first the fellows made passes at me but my situation travelling with baseball players was no different in that of a girl singer travelling with orchestras. Once you let the guys know there is not going to be any monkey business, they soon give you their respect."

While most fans were sure the Clowns signed Toni merely as an added box office attraction (the team features baseball comedy and "Spike-Jones-like" music), the young lady has turned in a very business-like job at second and at the plate.

Owner Pollock said: "Toni will be our regular second baseman. This girl is not a freak—and we expect her playing to help us a lot."

Toni is married, and in her off time, often coaches teams of youngsters. She will be seen in action here on June 16 in the first Negro lady professional baseball player has performed in Belleville.

Toni will not be alone in her Belleville debut. Two other lady players will see action. One is pint-sized Minnie "Peanuts" Johnson, a 120-pound pitcher, and the other, Connie Morgan, another second base sensation, who will play for the Clowns.

WHITE SOX HERE SATURDAY!

Another Toronto softball team will invade the city next Saturday when the White Sox of that city come here to play an exhibition tilt with the Ole Clocker's Northern Electrics. Minstrel Herby Rienn and Don Locke's will drill the locals and this week for the White Sox are raised as pretty fair punkins in the Queen City softball circles. The game is slated for the C.N.R. Recreation Park at 6.30. Should be a bit of all right, mailee.

THE MILLS BOYS

There will be two hunks of organized "hate" appear in Memorial Arena Friday night when the Mills Brothers, Shaggy Shetlands of Pachyderma, face the redoubtable 'Ombre Montana and Paul Baillargeon, Canuck strong boy (he once tossed a horse aboard a flat car) in the main bout. Popular Ray Villmar is back again against Don Lovin. Ole Rochester sensation, Johnny Barend, will tee off against Nick Roberts in the opener.

Big Catcher Sparks Brooks In Ten-Game Winning Streak; Giants Win; Sox Take Brace

By BEN FIHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Campy's back and the Dodgers are threatening to turn the National League pennant race into another Brooklyn runaway.

Since big, genial Roy Campanella returned to action they've won every game they've played and now have a streak of 10, as long as any in the circuit this season.

The hard-working catcher fretted through 29 days of inactivity following an operation on his broken left wrist. And his Dodger teammates fretted right along with him. Knowing games they should have won, slumping at the plate and bobbling in the field.

Since Campanella went back behind the plate a week ago Sunday, it'd been just one victory after another, as the Dodgers moved from fourth place to a firm hold on the league lead.

BATTLED 12

They had to battle 12 innings Monday night before subduing the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4, as Carl Furillo singled in the tie-breaking run, Gionaello stole home for the extra tally. Duke Snider of the Dodgers hit a homer, triple and double.

The New York Giants beat Milwaukee 4-3 and the Boston Red Sox won a pair from Detroit 3-2 and 5-4, the second game in 12 innings. The rest of the teams in both leagues were idle.

Campanella broke the early attack with a home run and Pee Wee Reese ran in the winning break in 12 games with a single and a double. The victory marked the third time the Dodgers have had to go into extra innings during their winning spree.

The Braves sank into fourth place as they bowed to the runaway Giants on Eddie Mathews' 11th homer of the season. Milwaukee now is four games back.

Whitey Lockman's home run with Wes Westrum on base in the second inning provided the winning margin. Eddie Mathews hit a 450-foot home run in the fifth.

Boston's double triumph moved the Red Sox into fifth place in the American League, only 3½ games out of the first division. Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer, two rookie righthanders, tamed the Tigers in the first game of all the way in the 12-inning nightcap. He struck out side in the 10th but was driven from the mound in the eighth.

The Red Sox bopped on Steve Gromek for three runs in the first three innings of the first game. Jim Piersall drove home the winning run in the second game with a single after Harry Aggazis had singled and moved to second on a sacrifice.

Roly La Starza Changes Opinion Of Marciano

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Roland La Starza has had more than nine months to reflect on a brash statement he made about heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and now he wants to take it all back.

It was while he was training for his Sept 24 title scrap with Rocky that Roland said Marciano would "get soft in the head" from taking too much punishment.

"I sure was wrong," said La Starza Monday after visiting the training camps of Marciano and Ezzard Charles.

"Rocky fools you," he said. "He doesn't take as much punishment as it seems. He looks easy to hit inside but he isn't. I found that out. He has that left arm up and chin in. He hits terrible shots to the body. I don't think Charles can stand up under those. I couldn't.

"I was ahead for seven rounds, outboxing him. But then I tired and died. He gave me two terrific belts in the body. It was done."

Asked what type of fighter might beat Rocky, Roland said:

"Not a big one. Rocky goes boxing for 15 rounds. . . Charles is a slashing fighter. A remarkable good fighter. He can outbox Marciano. But for how long?"

Ox Point Bats Blast 12-2 Win Over Frankford

The Point Anne war-bludgeons buried back the Frankford Merchants with a 12-2 win last night, blasting out a 17-hit barrage of youthful fury and Radner to chalk up an easy 12—2 victory.

On the other hand Bobby Hunter choked off the Frankford bats with six hits before giving way to Pat Marcelo in the ninth. Pat gave up a single clout before retiring the side.

The Ox Point gunners were deadly. They smashed out two homers by Ivor Mulloy and Pat Gilmour, five doubles, with Bobby Strachan getting a pair and ten singles of assorted varieties. And they kicked through with no less than five errors, two by Wardhaugh, which accounted for one of the Frankford runs. The other was earned.

Hunter was never in serious trouble. He struck out eight and issued but two walks. His mates clustered their clouts bashing out three each in the first, fourth and fifth and adding four in the eighth. Ralmo Gauthier whiffed two and walked three. His mates bobbled twice both errors coming in the fifth which aided materially in the Ox Point three-run uprising.

Bobby Strachan played the pack with a homer and single each. Bobby Strachan had two doubles and a single, Jimmy Austen, Ken Wade and Nicky Sero helped them. Ivor Mulloy had a double and a single. Wardhaugh had two singles while Bobby Hunter and Genereaux had singles.

Frankford scored a run in the third of two errors and then Radner's single and added the other in the seventh off a two-base infield hit by Carl Austen's single to centre. Rankin led his mates with two singles while Eldridge, Austen, Radner and Cook getting the rest.

The Merchants scored a single in the first, and added three more in the fifth on a pair of errors. Three hits and the Frankford brace of bobbles were good for the tallies. Ken Wade led Gilmour's four-bagger with a mate aboard who good for a run in the sixth and Mallory's home run with doubles by Green and Bobby Strachan added by Sero's single sent another trio of Pointers across the plate in the eighth.

The teams:

Point Anne: Genereaux, Ward, Hull, Gilmour, Sero, Mallory, Wade, Billy Strachan, J. Austen, Bobby Strachan, Hunter, Marcelo.

Frankford: Dafoe, Cosgrove, Rankin, Austen, Leavitt, Whitney, Cook, Mitts, Radner, Wickson.

Canada Even Money to Beat Americans in Golf Tourney

By GERRY LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—It will be even money, take your choice when six Canadian professionals and a pedigreed genius from South Africa take on a seven-man United States team in the third annual International Golf Association matches opening at suburban Port Credit Thursday.

Losers to the U.S. in the first two tournaments, the Canadian representatives figure their experience in the past match - play matches for the Hopkins Trophy will give them the edge.

Five of them played in last year's tournament at Montreal when the Yanks vaulted into power the Nassau system—went to the United States 27 points to 18. Only two of this year's American squad took part in 1953.

SYSTEM EXPLAINED

Under the Nassau system, a point is awarded the member of a twosome winning the first nine holes, another for the second nine and a third for the match. If the nines are halved, each player gets two points.

Back this year are greens wizard Bobby Locke, a South African who is an honorary member of the Canadian PGA; Canadian PGA Association, Vancouver's Stan Leonard, Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Jules Huot of Laval sur le Lac, Que., and Montreal's Bill Kerr. The newcomers are Canadian open champion Henry Martell of Edmonton and Gordie Brydson, pro at the host Mississaugua Golf and Country Club and a member of the 1953 Canadian squad.

Selected by the Professional Golfers Association in that country, it is captained by Walter Burkemo, PGA champion last year. Holdovers from last year's team are Ted Kroll and Ed (Porky) Oliver.

Locke, troubled by the aftermath of an operation and off his usual form at the game, looms as the bellwether of the Canadians.

He flew here from Europe for the three-day tournament and says he'll concentrate on golf of the season.

"I'm physically fit and certain I can come through with some good rounds. However, we must always remember that this United States team—as are all American squads—is a strong one.

"We will have to be at our best to beat them."

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Roger Bannister, slim British medical student, performed the individual athletic feat of the century when he ran a mile in less than four minutes. The Miracle Mile.

The ink was scarcely dry on the newspapers reporting Bannister's achievement when 225-pound Parry O'Brien of California sent the 16-pound shot hurtling through the air for 60 feet, 5 inches, leaving the fabled 60-foot mark shattered.

And so there is added to the record more evidence that man is steadily improving athletically, despite the supposedly softening effects of the automobile and the other luxuries of which our grandparents never even dreamed. Man runs faster, jumps higher and farther, hurls weights greater distances than ever before.

Take the most basic of all athletic endeavors — running. In the mile, which is reckoned to be the blue ribbon of all distances, athletes today are running nearly ten per cent speedier than they were a century ago. Times which won them the first years of our-mile championships are now commonplace with high school boys.

In the second half of the last century a 4:30.0 miler was a rarity. In fact, England's Walter G. George was the only really outstanding one. His amateur record of 4:21.4 stood from 1881 until 1895, and it was not until 1915 that his professional record of 4:12¾ was bettered by Norman Thor of the U.S. When George set the professional mark, the news was received on this side of the Atlantic with grave doubts. The feeling you gleaned from periodicals of the time is that it was then held impossible for anyone to run that fast.

But when, a few weeks ago, Bannister's flying foot carried him through the "impossible" 4-minute barrier, the world marvelled at the performance. No one expressed the slightest doubt of the timing accuracy.

The smashing of athletic records has become almost meaningless in recent years, and there exists no doubt as to the authenticity of each new human feat of speed, endurance or performance.

Injury Jinx, 'No Hit' Ride Yankees On Eve of Detroit Tigers Invasion

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—With a baseball hit that shows signs of filling Polo Grounds' left field with Sunday Clinic and batting averages of week-end baseball stars in both leagues, the world champion New York Yankees nervously awaited the night's invasion by the Detroit Tigers.

The word around the American League is that the Yanks are in distress, which should be apparent by the standings. They're three-and-a-half games behind the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox. At this time a year ago, they were on an 11-game winning binge and five - and - a - half lengths in front of the pack.

The Yanks are said to be in the market for a long-ball hitter and perhaps a pitcher. General manager George Weiss, however, denied this with the comment that there were "no deals in the making unless something happens all of a sudden."

CASEY PUZZLED

With Joe Collins, Enos Slaughter and Andy Carey all out with assorted miseries and the vaunted "Mick Trench" sent down Tuesday, manager Casey Stengel is a perplexed professor, indeed.

"This club of mine has me baffled," said Case, shaking his head. "We are up against the necessity of making a fresh start in the last seven games of the western invasion.

"Can you imagine where we would be if it weren't for Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds? That Reynolds is a stopper and a starter. What would I do if I had eight more pitchers like him? I'd think I was dreaming the best of all dreams, is that's what.

"Our pitching generally has been fine. But our hitting seems to be a good argument for a longer training season. It keep telling our batters to meet the ball and turn the big stadium into their field advantage. They say fine and go right back swinging for the stands."

Wings Take Over Top Spot With Win Over Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richmond Virginians, who had a clean view of the International League pennant from the cellar a few weeks ago, are looking for Augie, (Wingy) Nardella to help serve the club into contention.

Nardella, in his first year of triple-A ball, recorded his sixth victory against one loss Monday night as his mates pounded out a 9-1 decision over the last-place Ottawa Athletics. The victory moved Richmond to within 7½ games of the league-leading Rochester Red Wings, even though the Virginians are still in fifth place.

Rochester took over first place from Toronto by downing the Maple Leafs 5-3 in 11 innings.

Nardella, a 25-year-old rookie, scattered seven hits, walked one batter and struck out four. The Virginians took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and were never in danger after that.

Outfielder Bill Virdon of Rochester, sidelined because of a leg injury, came off the bench as a pinch-hitter and walloped the three-run 11th-inning homer that knocked Toronto out of first place.

Elston Howard's fourth-inning homer supplied both Toronto runs. Rochester tied it in the fifth on a two-run homer by Walt Dropo.

Jim Owens hurled a one-hitter as Syracuse Chiefs defeated the Buffalo Bisons 6-0 in the first game of their twi-night homer was the only hit off Owens, who hit the first game against two losers. Johnny Hetzel blasted a grand slam homer for the margin of victory for the Chiefs.

Montreal Royals trounced Havana Cuban Sugar Kings 7-3 as Art Fabbro gave up only nine hits in 9 2-3 innings of relief pitching.

Denies Bruins Sponsor Galt

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Jack Patrick of Galt told the spring meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A council Monday that Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League have no official status as joint sponsors of Galt Black Hawks.

Sunday Bobby Cotton, Boston scout, said the Bruins will operate a junior training camp here separate from the Chicago Black Hawks, Galt's official sponsors. Cotton said the Galt team would have its pick of the 40 or 50 hopefuls training under the Bruins.

He added that a working agreement between Boston and Chicago on a two-year basis had the blessing of NHL President Clarence Campbell.

Patrick also said there is no connection between Galt and New Liskeard of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association junior A league. New Liskeard is sponsored by the Bruins.

Electrics Trim Madoc 15-10 For Fourth Win

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Northern Electric clubbed up their fourth straight win to the Belleville and District Softball League last night when they handed Jack Gordon his first setback a decisive, 15-10 setback on the latter's field near by.

The city crew broke a 1-1 deadlock in the fourth frame when they sent 14 men to bat in one of the wildest innings witnessed in some time. Only three safe hits were made while nine runs scampered across the plate on errors, hit batsmen, wild pitches, walks and fielders' choice plays that saw all hands safe. Every man in the Northern lineup scored once in the inning, while singles by Cousins and DeBunkle, plus Don Locke's two run double were the base hits.

Pitcher John Hewgill was taken out during the big rally after allowing seven runs of four hits. He fanned none, but issued five free passes and hit one batter. Fred Kidd came on to work the next four innings and take the loss. He gave up five hits and seven runs, one of which was a long circuit blast by John Betchelor in the seventh. Eric McIsroy hurled the final frame with one run charged against him.

Al Adams worked the route for Herb Henn's boys and was hit hard, but got out of trouble on several occasions. He gave up 13 hits while fanning 10 on strikes and walking four.

Northern plated one in the first with Madoc knotting the score in the next frame, then came the nine-run with three more in the fifth and singletons in the 7th and 9th for Northern.

Madoc came up with a trio of runs in the sixth on two walks, singles by Harry Brown and Fred Stewart and a two-bagger by Sherry. They scored thrice more in the eighth with a walk, single by Pigden and Sherry's home run and finished strong with another three in the ninth, without a hit.

John Batchelor led the winners in bat with a home run and three singles in six trips. He was on base once more by fielders' choice plays while scoring a trio himself and knocking in four runs. Don Locke clubbed a double with singles for Soules, Young, Cousins, Whiting and DeBunkle.

Sherry hit safely four times, with a homer, triple, double and a single for the cycle, to lead Madoc, while Stewart had a double and a brace of singles. Maynes had a triple, Wayne Brown a double with singles for Carswell, Harry Brown and Pigden.

The line-ups:

Northern Electric	— Soules, Young, Locke, Batchelor, Cousins, Whiting, Culkin, DeBunkle, Adams.

Umpires—Whalen and Holmes. Time, two hours.

Lyon Wins Over Boyd

TORONTO (CP)—Ronny Lyon of Toronto scored an easy win over Al Boyd of London in the weekly amateur boxing show Monday night.

Both boys fought in the 125-pound class. The eight-bout card failed to produce a knockout.

OHA Trims Jr. A Salaries, $60 Weekly Will Be Maximum Pay

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—A council meeting of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series decided Monday to reduce salaries of players next season.

It was agreed that $60 a week would be the maximum wage for any OHA junior A player. In recent seasons some junior players have been paid more than twice that amount.

Ray Emms, coach of Barrie Flyers, was appointed chairman of the committee to enforce the salary limit. Any team found guilty of violating the limit will be liable to a $1,000 fine.

REDUCE SCHEDULE

The meeting also decided to reduce the schedule by 17 games to 42 games. There was no mention of an interlocking schedule with junior teams of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association.

Some teams still favor more games but if Monday's agreement is not amended the season will open early in November, about a month later than usual.

St. Catharines TeePees, Memorial Cup champions, were awarded six players in the general draft.

Awarded to the TeePees were: Al Collett, John Longmore and Jean Ubaldo, all of Sault Ste. Marie; Carl M. Nurmi of Elizabeth, Richard Mansour of Kapuskasing and Robert Nelson of Porcupine.

Ted McCaskill of Kapuskasing, McCaskill, sought by four other OHA clubs, is regarded as one of the most gifted juvenile hockey players in Ontario.

Other drafters:

Ralph Backstrom of Kirkland Lake to New Liskeard, Gaston Bernier of Noyon to Galt, Black Hawks, Walter Bishop of Downsview to New Liskeard, James Keough of Downsview to Barrie, Tom Kelly of Downsview to Kitchener Greenshirts, Don Kurys of Kirkland Lake to Galt, Mike Uryra of Kirkland Lake to New Liskeard, Irwin Spencer of Sudbury to Kitchener, Howard Young of Scarboro to Kitchener, Jack McIlwain of Seaforth to Kitchener and Paul Morrison of Leaside to Galt.

It is doubtful if Backstrom will play for New Liskeard. He was signed by Montreal Canadiens several weeks ago and they have first claim on him.

Among the players in the priority draft were:

Jon Ford and John MacDonald, both of Brampton, and Marvin Ring and Barry Purden, both of Wingham, all to Barrie.

General draftees were:

Mac Bartoli of Gatchell and Robert Beckett of Scarborough, both to New Liskeard; Dave Lessard of Sault Ste. Marie to St. Catharines;

Landy Assaults Four-Minute Mile Tonight

STOCKHOLM (AP)—John Landy of Australia will make another of his many attempts at the four-minute mile here tonight in his second appearance of eight scheduled during his Scandinavian tour.

With Sweden's Olla Tott pacing him for the first 880 yards, Landy will try to beat the records established by Britain's Roger Bannister when he ran the mile in 3.59.4 to become the first person ever to crash the four-minute barrier.

Both Landy and Bannister will compete in the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer.

Landy came within 1 6-10 seconds of running the "dream mile" at Turku, Finland, last week. "I thought I could do better then," he said. "Tonight I will certainly try to wrap it up."

WALLS BOUT IN JULY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian heavyweight boxing champion Earl Walls of Toronto and Edmonton will meet Edgard Jose Romero of the Argentine in a 10-round main event match here July 22, right promoter Karle Kalani announced Monday.

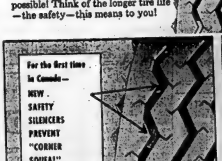
New 1954 All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion!

NYLON'S AMAZING STRENGTH PLUS 3 GREAT IMPROVEMENTS
• 3-T CORD FOR EVEN MORE MILEAGE
• SAFETY SILENCERS FOR QUIETER RIDE
• NEW TREAD DESIGN FOR GREATER SKID RESISTANCE
NO TIRE AT OR NEAR ITS PRICE CAN MATCH IT!



Over 750,000 smashing, pounding blows were taken by these All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushions driven day after day over railroad ties. Amazing result: no tire body damage of any kind! Not one broken cord!

And now Goodyear makes this great tire even greater with 3 sensational improvements for 1954. No tire at or near its price can match it!

Test after punishing test—like the one illustrated (left)—prove All-Nylon cords make this tire so strong that impact blowouts are almost impossible! Think of the longer tire life—the safety—this means to you!

1954 IMPROVEMENT NUMBER 1

Goodyear's exclusive 3-T cord process, plus a new tread design, result in greater mileage than ever before. The new 1954 All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion gives almost ½ more safe mileage than most motorists have ever known.

The new 3-T cord process . . . requiring Tension, Temperature and Time . . . triple-tempers or "sets" tire cords at the exact point where their strength and resiliency are greatest. 3-T cords result in longer tread wear and greater resistance to blowout dangers. It's another Goodyear first!

1954 IMPROVEMENT NUMBER 2

Safety Silencers—for the first time in Canada! You know that annoying "squeal" when you turn a corner! It's caused by the outer ribs of your tires rubbing together. Now Goodyear puts a stop to this annoyance. Those "buttons" (see above) moulded between the outer ribs of this new tread—keep the ribs apart—practically eliminate "corner squeal". The 1954 All-Nylon Cord Super-Cushion gives you the quietest ride you've ever known.

1954 IMPROVEMENT NUMBER 3

New, flatter tread design that results in 15% greater skid resistance! This new tread design puts more rubber on the road. And there are 880 deep-cut safety slots—1806 inches of non-skid edges. This tread grabs the road—gives you safer, surer stops—more protection against sideways skids than ever before—far better traction than ordinary tires.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By HUCKY McCORMICK
Director of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball School

Tossing the mask out of the way may not seem to be an important part of the process of fielding a pop fly, but a World Series game once was lost because the catcher stumbled over his mask and for that reason failed to catch the ball.

No fundamental is unimportant in baseball. When the ball leaves the bat, the catcher should remove his mask immediately, find the ball and toss his mask behind him as he sprints to make the catch.

With his bare mitt, it is easier for the catcher to find the ball if he holds the palm of the glove up and the back of his gloved hand parallel to the ground.

Since it is hard to find batters who can hit fouls for practice purposes, coaches, parents and teammates can help young catchers by throwing "pop flies" to them.

Brighton Rinks Cop Honors At Trenton

Two Brighton rinks won top honors at Trenton Bowling Club when the George Brown trophy was competed for on Saturday. It was an excellent condition and the bowling exceptionally keen for this early in the year.

Morley Simpson, Sam Notley with Fred Thorne as skip won the top score for three-game high while Keith Roblin, George Colling with Art McConnell as skip won the second three-game high total.

Lou Glover, D. Bennett and Archie Myers as skip of Campbellford, won the two-game high score while Bruce Miller, Gordon Edwards with L. E. McLean at the helm for the Belleville club won the one-game high. There were seventeen teams entered from the district including Belleville, Kingston, Brighton, Campbellford and Trenton and one rink was given a bye in each round.

Tigers Shade St. Kitts 8-7

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers shaded St. Catharines Athletics 8-7 in a Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association game here Monday night.

Jack Durney, Bob Dobbie and Jim McNulty scored two each for the third-place Tigers. Red McLean and D'Amico added singles. Norm Dereszan and Ross Powless each fired a pair for the Athletics, who still lead the league. Jim Bradshaw, Ken Croft and Derry Davies scored the others.

Low gross honors was won by Val Smith after a play-off with Ernie Pugh. Low gross score for the ladies was by Mrs. Mann however 2nd low net, Harold Griffiths; 3rd low net, Jim Ward; 4th low net, Fred Fluker.

Lib Gladney won low gross honors for the ladies followed by Mickey Gregory in 2nd. Mann honored golfer for the ladies was E. Rushlow.

Fifty-three golfers turned out for the day with a delightful lunch and dinner and prizes presented by Sid Sillitoe.

Terriers Seem Team to Beat In Intercounty

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Terriers, who finished next to last in the senior Intercounty Baseball League last year, appear to be the team to beat this season.

The Terriers won only 27 games in 1953 but they have almost one third of that total this year and if they keep up their present pace they should end up with 46 victories.

Their fabulous victory over the Elgin in St. Thomas Monday night gave them eight wins in their 10 games this season and also boosted them into sole possession of first place in the standings—one game in front of London Majors.

The Terriers trounced the Elgin 12-1, in the seven-inning first game before shading them 3-7 in the nine-inning nightcap.

MAINE STORE THIS TIME

Mel Duncan, who was shaded 5-4 by the Elgins' in 10 innings 10 days ago, allowed St. Thomas only five hits while winning the seven-inning contest. The victory raised his record to three victories and two defeats. The Terriers blasted John Ambrose for 15 hits, including a three-run home run by right-fielder Ed Steele. Ambrose went the distance, taking his first loss in three decisions.

The Elgins outhit Galt 9-7 in the second game but were behind in the score all the way. One run in the ninth inning proved to be the winning run for the Terriers.

Jeep Jessup lasted the nine innings on the mound for Galt and struck out seven Elgin batters to take his third victory. He has no losses. Southpaw Jack Caffery, the first of three St. Thomas hurlers, took the loss—his first against one victory.

Home runs also counted heavily for the Terriers in the second game. First baseman Joe Parise and Pete Karpoit each slammed two-run circuit clouts, while Steele belted the only triple of the game and chalked up another two runs batted in.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Even though Doc Oscar derby is not even half over, it is safe to predict that Judy Garland will win best year's academy award.

Does that seem rash? You would certainly think so. Most of the top contenders haven't been seen yet, including "A Star Is Born." But such are the mechanics of academy awards that Miss Garland is virtually a lead-pipe cinch.

The Oscar, if it comes, will climax one of the most dramatic comebacks in many years. Before his marriage to Miss Garland, producer Sid Luft's previous claim to fame concerned various chastity encounters on the Sunset strip and a stormy divorce from Lynn Bari. His previous experience had been producing quickies at Monogram and his own film on the life of Mata O'Har.

LONG, COSTLY FILMING

Hollywood watched in wonderment as Luft mounted for Warner Brothers, which had previously fired large numbers of its staff and undergone other economy measures. The shooting for Luft's "A Star Is Born" took much longer than any film in years and isn't over yet.

The set was open to the press for a few days during the long shooting, but since then no one was closed tight. There were reports that the film had five camera men in succession and that Miss Garland tiffed with wardrobe designer Jean Louis and designer Irene Martin.

Concerning the Martin squabble Miss Garland said: "Hugh thought I sang loud. I don't have that little moody voice any more since I've been on the stage. So he just had to tell me."

JUDY ASSENT

There was another report that on one day the cast and crew were ready on the set but Judy didn't show up.

Studio boss J. L. Warner happened to make a speech before an industry group about the film. He said in part: "The some-time actor, the odd-screen writer and some directors can—and sadly do—throw road blocks in the path of production. If the creative talent of our industry does not choose to work, it keeps all others from the job of from working."

"A Star Is Born" has given Hollywood much to talk about in the past year. And the town will be talking about Miss Garland when, I predict, Judy receives an Oscar, just as she does in the picture.

Robinson Takes National League Batting Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson virtually has come out of nowhere to take over the National League batting lead in a tight four-way competition also involving Stan Musial and Ray Jablonski of the St. Louis Cardinals and Don Mueller of the New York Giants.

This is the way the race stands: Robinson, .385; Musial, .382; Jablonski, .384 and Mueller, .380.

Robinson, a relief circuit's batting champion in 1949 moved up from seventh place last week, cracking six hits in 15 times at bat, a .322 pace.

Musial and Jablonski each gained 10 points. Stan collected nine hits in 19 at bats and Jablonski nine in 24.

Mueller showed even a greater increase—18 points on 13 hits in 38 trips.

In the American League, Bobby Avila of Cleveland held onto first place over Al Rosen although he tallied off six points to .381. Rosen dropped 18 points to .346 on a 6-for-18 tear. Avila was sidelined last Saturday with a broken right index finger.

Musial and Chicago's Hank Sauer are tied for the National League lead in home runs with 18 apiece. Stan is the undisputed pace-setter in runs batted in with 61.

Rosen continues to lead the American League in bonne runs (13), although he relinquished the spot in RBIs to Chicago's Minnie Minoso. Al has 49 to Minoso's 51.

Rudy Horvath Qualifies For Open Tournament

NEW YORK (CP) — Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., qualified to enter next week's United States Open golf tournament Monday by firing a 73-73—146 to win one of the eight berths allotted to competitors in the state of Michigan.

Two top Ohio golfers had close calls as professionals and amateurs shot their qualifying rounds for the big event at Baltusrol, N.Y., June 17-19. Only Joe Patten, amateur sensation of the recent Masters tournament, and Bob Toski, leading money - winner among the pros, both had to win playoffs to get by.

Patton, Morganton, N.C., lumberman who gave Sam Snead and Ben Hogan a hot battle at Augusta in April, ended in a tie with three others with 144 scores for the sixth and last position in the field at Burlington, N.C.

HARDIE DID IT

He won the single place with a birdie four on the first extra hole.

Toski was one of five at 138 who had to battle extra holes for the last two places in Cincinnati.

Meanwhile, Bob Duden, 23-year-old Ohio State golfer from Portland, Ore., led the national scoring with a 66-72—138, nine under par, at Cincinnati where many of the top-flight pros competed.

Many of the game's big names failed to make the grade. These included Calif.'s Argyle Oliver Lemont, Ill.; Johnny Palmer of Houston, Tex.; Jerry Barber of Lancaster, Calif.; Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo and the veteran Jimmy Hines.

Winnipeg-born Bill Kolnicki, the only professional Hockey League player turned golfer, grabbed an alternate spot in Massachusetts with a 72-76—148 at Winchester, Mass.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Phantom of the Rue Morgue"

Warner Bros.' "Phantom of the Rue Morgue," in WarnerColor, is now playing at the McCarthy Theatre. Based on a shocking murder mystery by Edgar Allan Poe, the film stars Academy Award-winner Karl Malden, Claude Dauphin, Patricia Medina and Steve Forrest. Richard Mc-Carthy is an important featured role.

The story, based on "Murders in the Rue Morgue," recognized today as a masterpiece of suspense, terror and suspense, concerns the brutal murders, dismembered and terrified the citizens of Paris at the turn of the century. The victims of the gargantuan phantom were all beautiful young women and the few clues indicated to the police that the killer possessed the strength of a raging beast and the cunning of a madman. It is not until the final scenes that the mystery is finally solved after a harrowing roof-top chase.

The film, it is reported, faithfully duplicates many of the sites which have become world famous. The Left Bank, the Sorbonne University, the Apache dives, the Paris Catacombs and the Warner Bros. by Henry Blanke, "Phantom of the Rue Morgue" was directed by Del Ruth from a screenplay by Harold Medford and James R. Webb.

AT THE BELLE

Romance and Spectacle Mixed Zakyably in "Decameron Nights"

"Decameron Nights" is the first film presentation of the love tales written by Boccaccio 'old world' but lively audacity in his famed "Decameron", and with Joan Fontaine and Louis Jourdan co-starring in this sumptuous Technicolor production, showing Tonight for the last times at the Belle Theatre.

"The Big Frame", True Story, Mr. Wizard, Cartoon, Featured melodrama, starring Mark Stevens and Audrey Totter, Featured new Feature showing Today only at the Belle Theatre, and is based on the true story of an financed man wanted by police for a murder he did not commit.

Files in Scotland Yard is London furnished material for this hair-raising thriller. The result is one of the strangest "wrong man" crime stories ever translated to the screen. It depicts the efforts of an American jet plane test pilot to clear himself of a murder he is suspected of committing while—hunted by police and a vengeful mob before the police catch him in their dragnet. The popular Fox Movietone is an added attraction.

The last complete show Tonight starts at 8.20 p.m.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for Wednesday, June 9th, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—It isn't always wise to have one's own way, even when we think we are right. How often we can look back and realize that goals opposite to those we sought would have been better! Check those "facts".

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Don't overtire, don't fret, don't dally, either. Though tolerance is urged, being job susceptible to suggestion is also a threat.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Time, energy should not be wasted upon useless or unwise speculative ventures. To engage in thoughtless bantering to another's detriment will not react favorably either.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Without rancor or misgivings start your day and, should obstacles arise, don't become upset. Get busy righting the situation; remain calm.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Retaliation against those who have hurt us never pays. Maintain dignified personal dignity.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — "Don't put off till tomorrow" you know the rest. But neither should you crowd your day with so much work that you are too tired or devoid of the humor that can ease your path.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — You may have been born in a year when this Sign started on the 23rd; many do not know that entrance of the Sign alters in different years. However today stresses the need for wisdom and caution.

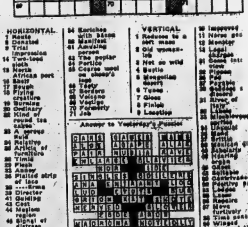
October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — These dates change occasionally in different years. Some do not realize this. Not space here does not permit all variances from year to year. Today says for all: think, use logic, humor.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Those born a few days before and after the change from the Sign Scorpio: Mind details, don't fuss or bicker. The full strength of today's rays urge more tolerance by and for all.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — You may not be able to get everything done as quickly as you wish, but speed isn't as essential as accuracy — though it must not be slightly. That good old happy medium, eh?

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Review where it will help, but don't rehash old errors, nor permit others to waste your time and energy on same. Be sure about facts before you engage upon a project, one changes likely.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — A better day than it may appear at 1st glance. Look deep, and dig deeper — and you surely will come up with helpful pointers, plus advancement.



YOU BORN TODAY are versatile, enthusiastic, cordial and self-sacrificing when living on the high-er plane. If NOT cultivating your best traits and using your talents, you will not achieve the many benefits possible. AND you'll be scattering energies. You have quick adaptability and appreciate others' talents. Curb impatience and a tendency to do too many things at one time. Birthdate of: John Howard Payne, American playright, author of "Home Sweet Home".

World Entering New Industrial Era Says Speaker

By FORBES RHODE

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—The world has already entered a new, industrial era based on atomic energy, John J. Hopkins said Tuesday.

Mr. Hopkins, chairman of General Dynamics Corporation, New York and of Atlair, Ltd., Montreal, predicted that the new era holds almost infinite possibilities for meeting human needs and wants beyond those made real by the development of steam and electricity.

He foresaw in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association a world of the near future in which atomic energy would heat and power factories, light cities, cook foods, cure ills and propel ships, planes and trains and even cars.

Mr. Hopkins has more than 1,00 industrial concerns in Canada and the United States engaged in employing the atom in everyday operations.

The atom also offers great hope for continental Europe which faces a power famine in the foreseeable future, he said.

While atomic energy needs were not so urgent in North America because of supplies of other forms of energy, Mr. Hopkins said Canada should not allow herself to be lulled into inertia by the possibilities of the mighty atom.

Atomic energy wouldn't displace existing industries, he said Mr. Hopkins. Atomic power alone could not carry the load in this country.

M. V. Ash of Toronto, president of Shell Oil Company of Canada, said in a prepared address that the underground wealth of Canada is the envy of the world.

Taxation, however, was cutting down investment money for risk-taking industries and double taxation on dividends was "a confiscatory tax if it were to be applied."

If it were eliminated a great deal would be opened to investors, who could put money into risk enterprises "without having the risk stacked against them."

R. H. C. Harrison of Calgary, president of the Canadian Petroleum Association, said in his prepared address that there was room for a capital investment between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 in wells, "and never does oil plenty before it can say that it is physically able to deliver natural gas into the start of a west-east pipe line.

Premier Frost Takes Holiday At Sturgeon Lake

LINDSAY (CP)—Premier Frost, who has led the Ontario government for the last six years, says he can see no limit to the province's future development.

"Our small population, coupled with our tremendously natural resources, make it clear that at present, at least, no limit can be foreseen to our development," he said in an interview at his summer cabin at nearby Sturgeon Lake where he has been resting for the last 10 days after a spell in hospital resulting from a flare-up of a First World War wound.

For the last several days, the 58-year-old provincial leader of the Progressive Conservative party has been showing visitors his new outboard motorboat and 25-horse-power motor. He said he hopes to take a trip of two or three days through the Kawartha lakes region this summer, camping along the way.

Pursuit Of 'Fast Buck' Killing Farms

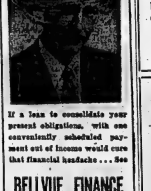
HAMILTON (CP) — Man's pursuit of a "fast buck" is destroying the prairie soil, Dr. Lorne Bennett of Niagara peninsula, Eric Dewsberry of Lake Huron and Dr. Saltfleet township, said Monday.

He was one of several witnesses to testify before the Ontario municipal board during the hearing of Hamilton's application for annexation of 2,650 acres of Saltfleet township. It is the second hearing of the city's application.

Both the city of Hamilton and the township of Saltfleet completed presentation of evidence Monday. County solicitor D'Arcy Lee will call several reeves of adjoining townships to testify against the city's application.

Mr. Dewsberry told the board of the type of land fruit farms in the peninsula, near St. Catharines, being turned into residential area.

SHOULD SAVE FARMS



He said Premier Frost should appoint a commission to study the fruit farms of the Niagara peninsula and impose restrictions to save the fruit farms. He asked the board to defer its decision on the application for annexation, until this commission had been formed and a report made on the fruit farms.

Board chairman Lorne Cumming said the restrictions would mean per metre drastic control like anything proposed by Hamilton or Saltfleet township.

Mr. Dewsberry said: "The city intends to take the land and not give a single compensation to the farmer. We are left holding the bag for the future development of the city. If Hamilton annexes the land, the farmer will soon be the tenant and the municipality the landlord."

Township clerk Frank Seaman of Saltfleet, presented a petition to the board containing 247 names of people living in the area opposed to annexation. He thought about 90 per cent of this number would be ratepayers. A total of 2,077 people live in the area.

Presbyterians Stage Hot Debate Over Finances

TORONTO (CP) — A minister Monday told the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada he is ashamed to be a member of the church because of its financial policy.

Rev. Lloyd Henderson, mayor of Portage la Prairie, Man., was speaking on behalf of an amendment which would have meant more spending by the church than allowed in the year's budget.

"I am sick and tired of hearing that our people are not giving," said Mr. Henderson. "We have too much money."

Speaking about a request for $15,000 for overseas relief, he said that the church could afford anything. If it couldn't, he was ashamed to be a minister or member of the church.

Despite heated argument, the assembly voted against the amendment.

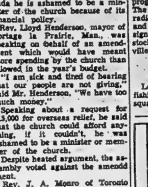
Rev. J. A. Moore of Toronto warned the amendment could mean that church would have to fire ministers to meet financial obligations.

SAINT POLLYANNA URGED

Rev. K. M. Glazier of Toronto suggested creating a saint. "Our saint will be Saint Pollyanna who would fit all this arguing that everything will turn out all right despite the budget."

The budget debate came up in the day's session before the expenditure report was discussed.

Rev. Stewart R. Sykes of Oshawa, Ont., set off the dispute when he asked for an increase of at least $2,500 in overseas relief expenditure.



"For the love of Christ don't consider saving money on overseas relief—don't take away the bread which is the life for these people," he said.

BANCROFT

'Education-Child Development' Topic at W.A.

BANCROFT — Eighteen members and two guests were present at the June meeting of St. Paul's United W.A., held in the church basement, with president Mrs. W. Rutledge, in the chair.

The meeting opened with devotions led by Mrs. Rutledge and Mrs. G. Towle.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. H. Petch, who was introduced by Mrs. Petch and spoke on "Education and child development."

GOOD BALANCE.

Treasurer, Mrs. D. Grant reported a balance of $350, and a sum of $85 on hand from the sale of cards. A recent rummage sale under the convenership of Mrs. C. Cardy, netted $30.

Mrs. J. N. Brown announced that the cook-book project was well advanced and that the book was now ready for the printers, she also reported eight sick visiting calls made during the previous month.

A suggestion that the group invite Mrs. J. M. Wood, a delegate to the World Council of Churches, to be guest speaker at the October rally was enthusiastically received.

The lunch committee, Mrs. A. Weiss, Mrs. G. French and Mrs. A. Smith was thanked by the president for their year's work.

The group will not meet again until September 7.

U.S. Scientist Lauds Canada And Flays American Attitude

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The American co-chairman of the International Psychological Congress Monday night praised Canada as a country that has preserved its basic freedoms and attacked the "blind and stupid anti-intellectualism" of the United States.

Professor Edward C. Tolman, leader of an embattled group of University of California teachers, said he is "profoundly shocked" that the McCarran - Walter act makes the holding of such a congress in the U.S. "almost impossible."

"I am profoundly disturbed at the attack upon the probity and usefulness of scientists which are now going on in my own country," he said.

WAS FIRED

The congress, being attended by about 1,000 scientists from all parts of the world including the Soviet Union, opened Monday.

Dr. Tolman, who with several other faculty members was fired by the University of California at Berkely, Calif., in 1950 when he refused to take a special university loyalty oath, said Canada has shown "courtesy and wisdom in these trying times."

Dr. Tolman, since reinstated after a court had found the regents of the university exceeded their powers, was roundly applauded by delegates. Many of those present were from the U.S.

He also criticized treatment of J. Robert Oppenheimer, top nuclear physicist who was denied access to secret files of his employers, the Atomic Energy Commission, by presidential order.

"The case of J. Robert Oppenheimer is but an illustration of our blind and stupid anti-intellectualism which is undoubtedly going to have a most harmful effect upon scientific progress in the United States and upon the willingness of our scientists to work for their government," he said.

REMOVE STRIKE THREAT

TORONTO (CP)—The threat of a strike by the city's outside civic workers has been removed. It was announced Monday that the 2,450 workers in Local 43 of the Civic Employees' Union has accepted the city's offer of a $2.50-a-week increase and an undertaking to conduct a wage survey. The present basic rate was not announced.

RAWDON

Carmel Young Adults Hold Special Service

RAWDON — Carmel (Church of the Prophets) in Rawdon township was filled to capacity Sunday evening, for the fourth annual young adult service with visitors from all nearby points in attendance; a large number of chairs from Jubilee Hall was necessary to accommodate the large attendance.

Mrs. Russell Fryear presided and extended a welcome.

Mrs. Gerald Clancy was organist and a large number from Wellman's choir occupied the choir loft. They rendered "Ivory Palaces" and a special arrangement of "Onward Christian Soldiers." The quartet, Misses Ruth Clancy, Margaret Dracup, Annie Dracup and Nancy Chumbley, rendered a selection "No Room for Jesus."

Mr. James Hubel read the Bible lesson found in St. Mark. The service opened with "The Perfect Way" and Rev. W. E. G. Dovey of Sidney circuit, gave a special message on the theme, "The Challenge of Jesus."

The church was a bower of beauty with a large array of seasonal blooms.

Following the service a fellowship hour was held in Jubilee Hall, where members of the adult group served refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

The officers are:

TWO DIE IN ALSONVILLE AIRPLANE CRASH

Rev. H. Wolfraim, Lakefield, Named Conference Pres.

Defeats Two Candidates On First Ballot for Office

REV. H. C. WOLFRAIM, B.A., B.D., Lakefield, Ont., secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, which for the past eight years, was elected president of the Conference for 1954-55 on the first ballot Wednesday morning. He succeeds Rev. Alfred Poulter, of Wellington.

He defeated Rev. B. K. Crunk, B.A., B.D., of Port Hope, and Rev. D. H. Woodhouse, B.A., Arnprior, for the presidency.

Two other nominees, Rev. W. R. Alp, B.A., Perth, and Rev. G. R. Mansell, B.A., Peterborough, withdrew. Mr. Alp asked Monday evening that he be allowed to withdraw as the nominee of Kingston Presbytery. Mr. Maxwell, who, like the president-elect, comes from Peterborough Presbytery, withdrew in favor of Mr. Wolfraim's election, Mr. Mansell's withdrawal came after offer congratulations and moved that Mr. Wolfraim's election be made unanimous. His motion was seconded by Mr. Cronk and the conference delegates carried the motion.

NEW SECRETARY NAMED

Rev. J. R. Trumper, Little Britain, assistant secretary of the conference for the past two years was the unanimous choice as secretary. The new assistant secretary is Rev. K. J. Crawford, of Marmora.

Rev. John F. Glover, of Ivanhoe, was re-elected treasurer.

Mr. Wolfraim, in thanking the members of conference for their "expression of good will towards me" stated that he appreciated the honor of being "kicked upstairs," an honor which he took as a tribute to the hard work which any secretary is called upon to do.

The new president, who entered the ministry at the age of 18, and who has served in the entire ministerial career in the Bay of Quinte Conference, stated that "if I were 18 again I would choose the Christian ministry as a career."

"I had high hopes when I left college of turning the world upside down," he said. "And I have had years of disillusionment as well as hope. I have found no institution, other than the church for the refuge of Christian ideals and if I had to choose again, I would choose again the Christian ministry."

West Would Meet Russian Attack With All Weapons

LONDON (AP) — NATO's supreme commander in Europe, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, has warned Russia that the West will meet a Soviet attack with "every weapon in our arsenal," including atomic bombs.

"In our thinking we visualize the use of atomic bombs in the support of our ground troops; we also visualize the use of atomic bombs on targets in enemy territory," the American general told a D-Day anniversary dinner Thursday at which Prime Minister Churchill also spoke and the Duke of Edinburgh presided.

SURE KREMLIN WOULD LOSE

If war with Russia should come this year, the NATO commander said, "the Soviet Union would be defeated."

"I do not want to say we would win, because I am sure in a third world war there would be no winner."

Gruenther also told his audience he is not sure that time is on the side of the West. Russia's industrial and atomic stockpiles were mounting, and its air power was played at the recent May Day parade in Moscow was "devastating."

But at present, he said, the Russians have no answer to the Allies' long-range aircraft.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Pleasant, warm weather with generally sunny skies and afternoon temperatures in the 70s and low 80s will continue throughout the province today and Thursday. A few thunderstorms may occur across the far north tonight.

Increase Is Forecast In Steel Production

NEW YORK (AP) — This week should show a substantial gain in steel production so far this year, the Iron Age, national metal-working weekly, says.

Operations in the United States are scheduled at 73 per cent of rated capacity, up 2½ points from last week, the magazine said. This would bring the production index to 108.3, highest since the third week in February.

Ghent Folk Stand 2 Hours in Rain To Welcome Back Their Deliverers

By KEN TAYLOR
Kitchener-Waterloo Record

GHENT, Belgium (CP)—Townspeople of Ghent stood two hours in pouring rain Tuesday night to give a roaring welcome to veterans of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Division which 10 years ago liberated the town from the Germans.

Brig. P. A. S. Todd of Hamilton placed a wreath on a memorial as the Ghent police band played and the Ghent police chief rehurled individual colors to the brigadier.

Later the colors—blue and gold with a gold maple leaf—were returned to the safekeeping of the municipality. The colors were made by nuns of Ghent convent in 1944. The burgomaster, Laurent Mertier, welcomed the Canadian veterans to the 700-year-old Ghent city hall and in a speech recalled the "happy association" between Ghent and the Canadians.

(After the liberation Ghent played host for a week to Canadian soldiers when the division came out of the line.)

The Canadians were joined at a reception in the city hall by Wing Cmdr. Victor Wurtele of Montreal, from the Canadian embassy in Brussels and Lt.-Col. Ferdinand Slinger of Hamilton from the Canadian base depot at Antwerp.

Earlier the Canadians visited the Cap Gris Nez area and Boulogne, where they were shown Operation Jubilee by Lt.-Col. George Edwards of Galt, Ont.

KNOWLES OBJECTS TO ANY CHANGES IN POSTAL LAWS

Vote Forced by CCF But Measure Carries

OTTAWA (CP)—Stanley Knowles CCF member for Winnipeg North Centre, objects to a change in postal laws which he says will enable some magazine publishers to save money while getting around Ontario's law against house advertising.

He raised the objection in the Commons Tuesday in opposing a measure permitting publications to be mailed at more than one point under second-class postal rates.

Government spokesmen and other members said the change is aimed only at permitting speedier distribution of publications from which no benefit from low second-class rates would be mailed at the point of publication.

MEASURE PASSES

Following a vote forced by the CCF, the measure was passed. It already has been approved by the senate and now awaits royal assent before becoming law.

The measure was one of several bills with by-laws during a busy day.

Hazen Sowles, a non-drinker, said the change will benefit magazines printed in Ontario which have their publishing headquarters in their mailing—in Quebec to avoid Ontario's liquor advertising law.

He cited Maclean's Magazine as an example. It seemed to be the most affected, he said, and had made the most active representations of several, by publishers to CCF members for support of the bill.

CITES TRUCKING COSTS

Mr. Knowles said Maclean's Magazine pays from $20,000 to $25,000 a year to truck issues from the Toronto printing plant to Montreal for mailing.

Under the legislation, while the magazine still would have to be mailed in Ontario subscribers from Montreal, it could be mailed to all other provinces from Montreal, thus saving trucking costs.

"What we are asked here is enabling a firm to get around provincial law and still have the cheap rates granted under federal laws under certain circumstances."

Stanley Pickergill said the change in the postal law will not alter the effect of the Ontario law. It would merely allow Ontario publications containing liquor advertising.

OTHERS NOT SUBJECT

"All that would be done by this legislation is to permit publishers in the Toronto area to operate in other provinces. That is not getting around the law of Ontario because the people of other provinces are not subject to the laws of Ontario."

T. A. M. Kirk, parliamentary assistant to Postmaster-General Cote, said the new postal law will assist CCPA in its fight for protection against competition from the United States. The postmaster-general has agreed to the granting of certain mailing points and could not refuse to grant reduced postage costs to the post office department.

When the proposal was first introduced earlier this session Mr. Cote said it was requested by the Periodical Press Association, representing a number of Canadian magazines. No request had been made by newspaper publishers.

'Purely Destructive' Speech By Molotov All But Kills Chances of Indo-China Peace

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP) — Western diplomats tonight were slumbly told Russia's foreign minister Molotov has all but killed chances of peace in Indo-China by his latest policy statement.

Outlining his "peace terms" late Tuesday to the nine-party Indo-China conference here, Molotov not only raised new issues but levelled charges which aroused Western resentment.

A United States spokesman called the Molotov speech "purely destructive." A British spokesman said it contained nothing helpful. The French called it "extremely aggressive" and said it contained "provocative terms."

Western delegates were as much disturbed by the public remarks in Molotov's speech as by his actual proposals.

He accused the U.S. of masterminding a plan to undermine the distribution of publications from Indo-China war.

He criticized the policies of Premier Joseph Laniel's government, which now is facing a severe test in the French National Assembly. Foreign Minister Bidault hastened to Paris immediately after Molotov's speech to take part this afternoon in the assembly debate on Indo-China.

Western hopes received their biggest jolt when Molotov got down to the Communist terms for an Indo-China peace.

Some quarters had expected him to make important concessions, but instead he toughened his stand and raised new issues.

He proposed that the conference begin discussions immediately on a political settlement in Indo-China without waiting for agreement to end the fighting. Other delegates thought they had got around this difficulty when the Communists agreed three weeks ago to give priority to the cease-fire discussions.

Molotov also reiterated the Red position that the problems of the three Indo-Chinese states of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia are identical, and should be taken up together.

Molotov also called for discussions on the sovereignty of the three states, even though they all claim to be fully independent, and for withdrawal of all foreign troops, meaning French forces, before elections are held.

2,676 Planes of 24 Different Types Now in Use in Canada

TORONTO (CP) — The RCAF now has 2,676 planes of 24 different types, Defence Minister Claxton said today.

He was speaking at the official opening of a new supply depot at the nearby RCAF Downsview base.

Mr. Claxton did not give the breakdown of the number of planes of each type but the total figure was the first disclosure in some time of the RCAF's aircraft strength.

The minister also said Canada has supplied or is supplying 555 aircraft, mostly Sabre jet fighters, to five different countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The air force was using 30 different types of radar and 34 different types of motor vehicles. The new supply depot will carry 143,000 different articles of equipment and parts. The depot now ships more than 40,000 a month, Mr. Claxton said, "and it is only beginning its work."

A year's supply of spare parts for the Sabre costs about $75,000, around one-quarter of the current cost of the aircraft itself.

Seven Britons, Toronto Priest, Released by Reds

HONG KONG (AP) — Seven Britons have reached Hong Kong from the Red Chinese city of Shanghai within the last 10 days, it was disclosed today. It is believed they were the last persons the Communists have released in mass repatriation to Hong Kong. Rev. Gerald McKernan of Toronto, arrived Monday.

An agreement was reached in Geneva last week to release a number of Canadians, including the arrivals' exit permits were issued before the agreement was reached, however.

The refugees refused to comment on conditions in Shanghai or to pose for pictures.

Father McKernan said there still are some 200 British—business people and their dependents—in Shanghai.

Sir John B. Robinson Dies on Toronto Street

TORONTO (CP) — Sir John Beverley Robinson, 89, of Grimsby Beach, Ont., collapsed on a street here Tuesday and died. He was in Toronto on a business trip.

A Christian Scientist practitioner for more than 50 years, he was widely known in the church throughout Canada.

Sir John succeeded to the barony in 1908 following the death of his cousin Sir John Beverley Robinson of Toronto.

Cut Flour Price

TORONTO (CP) — Maple Leaf Milling Company Tuesday announced the price of flour in cartons has been reduced 30 cents a barrel or 15 cents a bag bringing the 98-pound bag price to $4.60. The cut results from a reduction in the price of wheat.

There was no immediate indication if the flour price reduction would lower the price of bread. consumers but one bakery firm said it did not expect there would be a cut in bread prices.

Russia Has Few Resources To Develop Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator A. W. Roebuck (L—Ontario) said Tuesday that Russia has few resources to develop hydro power and this should be remembered when considering the Soviet claim on international control of atomic energy.

He said during debate on a government measure in the Senate that the extent of Russia's atomic development is one of the big factors in world affairs.

With little water power at her disposal, Russia has been forced to allow the United States to control the world's supply. This will in turn control atomic energy of the world.

He spoke following explanation by Senator G. P. Burchill (L—New Brunswick) of a government measure to place existing research and development activities in the atomic field under direction of one agency, Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd.

The measure was among several on the Commons given second reading and referred to the Senate's banking committee for further study.

Allowances Passed

OTTAWA (CP) — A measure authorizing a federal - provincial plan to provide $40-monthly allowances to totally-disabled persons under a means - test plan was passed by the Commons Tuesday.

Health Minister Martin said all provinces except Quebec have signified they will take part. Some provinces might fix the allowance at less than $40, in which case the federal government still would pay half.

The measure now goes to the Senate and Mr. Martin said it will be proclaimed as soon as possible. It would not be necessary for all provinces to participate. However, he expected Quebec would enter the plan.

HEAVY RAINS FLOOD PARTS OF ALTA. AND SASK.

Force Evacuation of 15 Families, Isolate Towns

EDMONTON (CP) — Two large Alberta rivers, swollen by five days of driving rain, forced evacuation of at least 15 families and isolated two northern towns Tuesday.

In Edmonton, the North Saskatchewan rose an inch an hour Tuesday night, with a flood crest from the mountains expected to reach the city by midnight. Three families were evacuated from river-bank hogpens and several other homeowners began moving furniture to high ground.

With almost three inches of rain the city since Friday and an equitable amount west along the main watershed, the river level increased by almost 11 feet in a 24-hour period ended Tuesday night.

However, officials said the river was beginning to decline Tuesday night at Devon, 30 miles south-west of here, and serious flooding is not expected in the city.

FLOODED LAST YEAR

Most of the danger was centred in low-lying areas in east Edmonton, where the river spilled over its banks in 1952. The city's only other serious flooding came last year, not from the river, but as a result of heavy August rains which swamped basements in a few cases to cause heavy damage to new houses.

The Athabaska river, flowing eastward then north into Lake Athabaska, was reported to have risen 19½ feet higher than the 1948 level when serious flooding occurred.

The towns of Fort Assiniboine and Holmes Crossing were isolated, with 12 families forced to leave their homes near Holmes Crossing. The river spread to a width of some two miles over flat land near Fort Assiniboine.

Similar flooding, but on a smaller scale, was reported at Broadview in southeastern Saskatchewan. The town received 5.75 inches of rain in the last two days.

More rain was forecast in both provinces overnight and today.

Plan Conference On Atomic Power

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Hydro commission chairman Robert Saunders said Tuesday a conference on the feasibility of setting up atomic - powered hydro electric plants in Ontario will be held in Toronto June 13.

William Bennett, president of Atomic Energy of Canada, Ltd., the government administrative agency for the Canadian atomic program, will discuss the aspects of such plants with the Hydro chairman.

Mr. Saunders recently predicted that Ontario may have atomic-powered plants within three years if the need justified it.

Aircraft Aflame Plows Into Knoll Near Farm Home

Two Women, Two Children Narrowly Escape Death

Two Prince Edward County women and two small children narrowly escaped death Tuesday afternoon when an RCAF twin-engined Mitchell bomber from Trenton crashed within feet of their farm house killing the pilot and fatally injuring the other crew member.

Dead are: Flight Lieut. T. B. P. O'Byrne, 32, and Cpl. J. A. Aubry, 28, who was pulled from the plane wreckage by two farmers, died en Trenton RCAF hospital three hours after the crash. Both men were married and lived at Middleton Park.

The plane crashed on the farm of King Terry, of Allisonville, north of Wellington, while on a test flight out of Trenton No. 6 R.D. Station.

Trailing smoke from one of its engines, the twin-engined aircraft plowed into a knoll in a grainfield only a matter of rods from the Terry home. It struck with terrific force and exploded in parts over a distance of over 200 yards.

CAUGHT FIRE AT ONCE.

The flaming wreckage of the plane landed and caught fire at once. Mrs. Terry and her two small children, Matilda, ten months, and Jane, age two.

"It was just dreadful", Mrs. Terry said "I saw the plane crash almost outside our window. It caught fire right away."

Mr. Terry and Mr. Foster were working in the fields 200 rods to the north, when they saw the plane in low level trailing smoke and crash into the field near their house.

Black smoke and flames leaped high into the air and the two men raced homeward thinking their wives had been killed.

Upon discovering a neighbor's car he sped home and breathed a sigh of relief when they found their home still unscathed.

By a queer quirk of fate the aircraft wrecked on the plane's cockpit, ripped away from the main part of the plane, failed to catch fire immediately and Mr. Terry and Mr. Foster were able to pull badly injured Cpl. Aubry to safety.

AIRMAN STILL CONSCIOUS

The airman was still semi-conscious and was able to speak to his rescuers. Dr. R. A. Thompson of Wellington, attended the airman at the scene.

Mrs. Kenneth Wood, on whose farm Mr. Terry had his non-lin law were working, said the plane narrowly missed striking a hydro line from the north.

"I was watching Cpl. and heard the roar of the plane as it passed. I ran out just in time to see it crash into the ground. Black smoke and flames leaped high into the air completely obscuring the Terry house.

"I thought the Terry home was struck. I ran to the house to find Mrs. Terry and Mr. Foster. They yelled for the keys of my car and drove to the scene.

CALLED STATION

Mrs. Wood said she immediately called Trenton station notifying officials of the crash. Ambulances and the station fire fighters raced to the scene. Mrs. Wood said her husband, a veteran of two wars, was a civilian here at No. 6 R.D.

Mrs. Helen Boyd, storekeeper at Allisonville, a mile and a half north of the crash scene, said she saw the plane pass over trailing smoke from the left wing. The plane then made a half circle before it crashed in flames into the Terry grain field.

Mr. Terry said he and Mr. Foster got the injured airman from the wreckage just in time. Seconds later the wreckage caught fire. They carried the airman a safe distance from the blazing wreckage and laid him in the grass.

News of the crash spread rapidly and soon crowds of curious people gathered at the scene. Airforce guards kept the crowd at a safe distance while officers examined the wreckage in an effort to learn the cause of the crash.

PREVENT SPREAD OF FLAMES

Farmers armed with buckets of water prevented the spread of flames around the Terry farmhouse.

Flight-Lieut. O'Byrne was said to be an experienced pilot on Mitchells. He had been on leave returning to Trenton he and Mrs. O'Byrne had toured the United States and Canada in their bull whaly team. He leaves a son, Shaun, one year old, and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Johnston - Drive in Middleton Park.

Cpl. Aubry came to Trenton from Kirkland Lake. He leaves his wife and a son, Raymond, age eight.

TORONTO (CP) — Forest fires were reported burning in 12 districts of Ontario Tuesday, the department of lands and forests said today.

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A 43-year-old United States Air Force colonel reached a speed of 421 miles an hour on the ground—a record for a human—during rocket tests here.

Col. John P. Stapp, a veteran of aviation medical research, became the second human to go through the sound barrier on land while riding a rocket-propelled sled during the test Monday. The effect upon fliers of bailing out at high altitudes and supersonic speeds.

"Things happen too fast to think about them at the time," Col. Stapp said after the run. And he wasn't kidding.

From the surging start to the sudden stop, the run over a 3,500-foot track took just seven seconds.

The critical factor in the test is the effect of the braking on the passenger. Officials estimate that on the record run Col. Stapp's body underwent a force of 22 times the force of gravity, and his body assumed the weight of 2,500 pounds.

The only other human to top 400 miles an hour was a Nazi test pilot who drove a race car at 403.135 m.p.h. at Bonneville salt flats, on Sept. 19, 1947.

The test sled, designed by Northrop Aircraft Inc., consist of two vehicles, the propulsion sled and the guide vehicle. The propulsion sled carries 12 rockets, each with a thrust of 4,500 pounds, six of which were used in the test.

The two vehicles are mounted on special railroad tracks between which is a sawyer trough five feet wide and 10 inches deep. Braking is secured by controllable metal scoops under each vehicle which the scoop up water from the trough.

East Germans Flying MIGs, Using U-Boats

BONN. (AP) — East Germans are being taught to fly Soviet MIG-15 jet fighters and to operate submarines, West German security sources said here today.

Informants said a survey of the Soviet-backed rearmament of Communist East Germany disclosed for the first time that the fledgling air force has started training with MIG jets.

The 9,000-man German Red navy, called "sea police", now have two or three captured Second World War German U-boats.

KITIMAT PROJECT IN FILM SHOWN KIWANIS CLUB

The film of the Kitimat project "Man with a Thousand Hands" was featured at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club, here yesterday.

Unfolding the story behind the vast scheme to bring electric power to the smelters of the Aluminum Company of Canada Limited at Kitimat, British Columbia, the film was presented through the courtesy of International Harvester. The showing was supervised by Kiwanian Don Stanton.

"Here is a yarn about a fisherman that isn't a fisherman's tale.

"Thursday last Sunday, June 6. Scene: the Moira River, south of O'Brien's Bridge. On the river a man and his wife and their 4-year-old son are fishing from a boat.

But don't mind the experienced grown-up, tickling the river bed with their professional-looking rods. Turn to the little guy.

There he sits, this little guy, patient, optimistic, calmly probing the river with a short piece of stick, boasting a bit of line, a half-inch hook and a minnow.

It looks as if the grown-ups may be trying to humor him, keeping the little fellow's morning hopeful and maybe rocking the boat. Anyway it's good experience for the kid until he's big enough to land something on his own.

Bells o' fire! S'pon it it's a fish.

S'pon't it is'n!

A pull of the line and over, the gunwale comes a four-lb. pickerel.

Pass Resolution Of Loyalty To Her Majesty

A resolution of loyalty to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II was accepted at Tuesday morning session of the 30th annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada.

The resolution was proposed by Rev. F. McNeil, Oshawa and seconded by Rev. A. F. Cowan, Oshawa. It reads as follows:

"Be it resolved that the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada at this 1954 annual session in Bridge St. Church, Belleville, make reaffirmation of loyalty to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Second;

"That we rejoice and give thanks for the successful conclusion of the Royal Tour of Commonwealth countries and safe return of Her Majesty and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh;

"That there be recorded a profound sense of gratitude that this loyalty is to a Sovereign who has declared ideals and exemplary manner of life are grounded in our Christian faith, and

"Be it further resolved that we give assurance of continued prayer on her behalf seeking counsel from the King of Kings for Her Majesty and all others who shape the policies of the state;

"Asking strength that she may endure the arduous demands of her high office and every God-blessing of true happiness on her home and family."

"And that this resolution be forwarded to Her Majesty through the Governor-General's office."

'Ted' Robbins Wins High Award At Music School

Former bandmaster with the Belleville Municipal Band for two years, RCAF Flying Officer Edward "Ted" Robbins has achieved the distinction of receiving the third highest marks in the British Isles during the 1953 Christmas examinations held at the Guildhall School of Music in London.

By doing so the former Belleville man wins the coveted bronze medal of the world-famed musical institute. Announcement of the award was made today by Air Force headquarters.

Warrant Officer Robbins is one of four RCAF bandsmen, who are undergoing a one-year course "Officers' course at the Royal Air Force School of Music at Uxbridge. His wife and two children accompanied him to England and are at present living in London where he is stationed with the Canadian Joint Staff Headquarters.

He first enlisted in the RCAF in September, 1940, at the age of 20 and was discharged in March 1946. He then became associated with the Bell Telephone Company and worked at Ottawa and Hamilton. He came to Belleville in 1949 as bandmaster of the Belleville Municipal Band, then re-enlisted in the Air Force in 1951.

During his two-year stay in Belleville he won the admiration of local band music lovers for his direction of the Belleville band.

Senator Fraser, O.G. Alyea Appeal Cut in Assessments

Many Interested In Community Centre for Town

TRENTON (Special) — Trenton businessmen have interested more than 15 separate organizations in backing a community centre. Most of them think the idea is the best one since the centennial celebration was suggested more than a year ago.

The site has not been decided upon but there is a strong feeling that the Memorial Park down by the Trenton Air Station is the logical place.

The building would have secured pictures of a project built at Whitby for $150,000.

Plans for financing the undertaking are not yet laid down but it is the general feeling that a contented effort can bring forth the required sum.

One faction wonders if it would be better for the town to spend the $75,000 on the community centre instead of an auditorium which the town already has in the school. There are others who think both projects are desirable needed in town. The community centre at Whitby embodies an artificial rink at street level and a spacious auditorium on the second floor above.

This coming Tuesday community centre plans will be laid before council by a businessmen's group.

TRENTON (Special) — Ballot Oscar Pierce served notices of appeal against the judge's decision on six Trenton people who received reductions on their assessments by a court order last month.

Senator W. A. Fraser and C. G. "Buster" Alyea are the appellants in all cases.

The notices served on Saturday were bande' to councillor Gerald Weaver, Richard Whillis, councillor Claude Graham, Mrs. W. W. Weaver, Robert Weddall and Mrs. Jean James.

The appeals go before the Municipal Board in Toronto.

In May special counsel for the Town of Trenton, Alan Spragge, of Belleville, advised council to settle in favor of 26 appellants who sought lowered assessments after the Court of Revision had confirmed or made adjustments in most of the cases. Members of the 1953 Court of Revision included: R. L. Dafoe (chairman), E. E. Wiggins, Harold Blakley, Harold Turney, and Senator W. A. Fraser.

Judge G. F. Smith, of Napanee, who heard the appeal, recommended the proposal of settlement. Appearing for the appellants were: Y.-L. Ward, Q.C., of Picton; H. J. Smith of Trenton, and Ronald Case of Belleville.

The location at Bain Memorial Park apparently has several advantages. Proximity to the RCAF station on Dundas street would end the hundreds of adults and children needing recreation, said the citizens who were considered by the planners.

Converts to United Church Reach Record High in 1953

There was one convert to the United Church of Canada last year for every one member. Last year, 35,012 members were added on profession of faith — an all-time high — according to Rev. R. E. Mellow, Oshawa, chairman of the committee on Evangelism and Social Service Work in an address to Tuesday evening's meeting of the Bay of Quinte conference of the 30th annual session.

"We are the 'light of the world' but when one sees such figures one wonders if darkness is not subject to our light," said Mr. Mellow.

"Compromise with the lesser gods of Canadian weakness" Serve Christian soldiers. Our convictions are not those of mindless disciples. Our principles are those of an undisciplined age and one of them regarding principles is reflected in the figures of the staggering gallonage of alcohol consumed each year.

"Our light is being snuffed out because our members are social dilettantes and cannot resist conviction. The acceptance of convention is the acceptance of cupidity, the acceptance of lotteries and door prizes as an investment and the acceptance of sweepstakes on the basis of chance.

"People have forgotten that the Sabbath was made for worship—they now think it is for pleasure. Crime comics and salacious literature does not lend itself to reverence and holiness."

"It is our responsibility as a believing priest to lead others into the Holy of Holies. It is a great concern that the transfer of responsibility of the priesthood of all believers is being made to the priesthood of those behind the pulpit."

Rev. Charles Templeton was quoted as saying that "a minister is God's gift to the church and the church is God's gift to the world."

Mr. Mellow also issued a warning to his fellow ministers that they keep within themselves something of the compassion of Christ so that "we will never get too far from Christ."

"We must see to it that our church is more than a place for propagandists and critical intellectuals. It should be a medium by which people can come to God. It should avoid ecclesiastic conceit. Institutions and orders are not ends in themselves but should lead to an end.

"Liturgy and dispatations, as important as they are, cannot take the place of personal concern for the individual.

"We should avoid scholasticism," said Mr. Mellow. "By that I mean the defence of opinions formed in controversial councils should be avoided.

"It is not out of place to say something about Communism," said Mr. Mellow. "Communism is the ghost that walks at every banquet.

"But our war is not against Communism. Communism is a battlefront and not a whole war. Our battle is against secularism, against humanism and atheism and the denial of the worth of the individual man.

"We are against Communism because we are against everything denying the worth of man."

Mr. Mellow concluded by quoting the theme of the forthcoming World Council of Churches "Christ, the Hope of the World."

"It is our hope that the weapons of God are always available and that the forces of God are such as are greater than the forces that are against us.

"The resources of God put the oil in our lamps, which if properly trimmed will continue to be 'the light of the world'."

Obituary

MRS. JAMES ALBERT TOMPKINS.
(Stirling).

RAWDON (Special) — The funeral of Mrs. James Albert Tompkins, formerly Beatrice Janet Hawkins, formerly Beatrice Janet Harris, was held on Monday, June 7th, Stirling with Rev. H. Shearer, pastor of Springbrook United Church, officiating.

The bearers were Messrs. Reg. McKeown, Hiram Mumby, Thomas Hinds, Elmer Cullen, Charles Morton and Gordon Bailey.

The interment was made in the Fox cemetery at Eldorado.

241 UC Ministers On Roll of Seven Presbyteries

The committee on the roll reported to delegates at the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada this morning that there are 241 ministers on the roll of the seven Presbyteries.

The number of ministers in each Presbytery is as follows: Belleville 46, Colbourg, 36, Kingston, 45, Lindsay 34, Peterboro 39, Peterborough 32, and Renfrew 30.

In addition two ministers are to be received from other churches and seven by ordination to make a total of 250.

The Conference is entitled to one ministerial commissioner and one lay commissioner for each 18 ministerial delegates to Conference. This means, therefore, that the Bay of Quinte Conference is to elect 14 ministerial and 14 lay commissioners to the General Council.

Memorial Service Is Held To Honor Eleven Ministers

A Memorial and Communion service to honor the memories of 11 ministers of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, who died since last year, was held during the annual conference, featured Tuesday afternoon's meeting of the 30th annual conference being held in Bridge St. United Church.

Approximately 600 persons attended the service, which was conducted by Conference president, Rev. Alfred Poulter, Wellington. Those honored were: W. Clifford Grant, B.A., B.D., 1953, Arthur, who was ordained in 1901 and who died in Toronto, Oct. 18th, 1953; James F. Henderson, M.A., who served the church 26 years before his death in Northbay, Nov. 21st, 1953; Charles Wesley Hollingworth, whose active ministry lasted from 1910 until 1946. Rev. Hollingworth died in Kingston, Oct. 4th, 1953.

OTHER DECEASED HONORED

Other deceased honored were: M. S. Lehigh, 36 years in the service ministry, died in Belleville, 18th, 1954; Edward W. McBrien, ordained 1895, retired in 1942 and died in Oshawa, Sept. 13th, 1953; George Nickle, ordained 1891, retired 1934, died in Toronto on July 29th, 1952; Alexander Y. Robertson, ordained 1920, died on Nov. 12th, 1953, after participating in a Remembrance Day Service at Cobourg; Rev. Thomas Taylor, M.A., D.D., LL.D., retired from active duty in 1942 and died in Cannes, France.

Peter Tiller, ordained in 1913, retired 1948 and died in Toronto on May 20th, 1954. F. H. Wellington, M.A., B.D., ordained in 1930, died on August 26th, 1953, at Penticton, W. C. Westway, who died in Surrey, B.C., October 26th, 1952, was remembered.

Rev. Nathaniel Cole, Hastings, chairman of the Pension committee, read the names of the deceased.

Rev. H. M. Servage, B.D., of Kingston, was the principal speaker at the service.

PREACHES SERMON

Rev. Mr. Servage, in taking his text from the 12th chapter of Revelations, M.A., B.D., ordained describe their highest experiences they speak with gestures and in symbols."

He noted that it used to be a custom to "throw a little dirt" to place their hands on his hands in their own graves in token of love and respect for the departed.

The conference executive has made this Memorial Service a part of the Communion service so that we may remember our blessed dead," said Mr. Servage.

He called on delegates to think also of the beloved dead laymen in their own congregations who are "part of that nameless host that has gladdened life's road throughout the ages and to Jesus Christ in nearer times."

"Place your hands on the life of yesterday," said Mr. Servage in his message. God will bless us as long as we keep faith with our departed."

He called into the past does not mean that we should be tied to the past," said the preacher. "The past should set us free for a larger ministry. Strict conformity to the past develops a tendency to worship things as they are or as they used to be."

"Some have felt that to keep the faith of our fathers, we must be true to the denominations of our fathers. I say that creeds are milestones along the way of life. Be sure they are not milestones of bondage."

Mr. Servage spoke, too, of the admonition of Christ to "suffer the little children to come unto Me for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

"The journey to the Promised Land started with a Child in a manger," said Mr. Servage "Every committee in this conference has something to do with children. This will be a greater and better conference if we keep the little children in mind."

LOOKING TOWARD CHILDREN

"The world is looking towards children and trying to capture them and their minds," he said. "It is our business to bid for the minds of children. Children are coming whether we want them or not."

The speaker cited the fact that there are 8,000 classrooms in Ontario with an average of 30 children per classroom and that the future of the world are directing them to alcoholism.

"Let us place our hand over the hand of the little child, and let us feel the hand of Christ over our beloved dead in this ceremony today."

Others to touch the hands of little children let us believe that His hand is over ours and some day these warm young hands will hold our cold ones."

Rev. Mr. Servage further noted that June 10, was the anniversary of the founding of the United Church of Canada, "three great streams of consecrated life" moved into one church.

"Those fathers of this great movement left they needed one another," he said, "May we go forward in this conference filled by their courage and by the Sacrament of the Upper Room."

Rev. Duncan McTavish, minister of the conference church, then offered a prayer in which he voiced a blessing on the memories of "men who have served the Lord well."

"May the memory of the dead and risen Christ be real in our midst," he said, "may God's blessings rest on His church that the Body of Christ in the world for the furtherance of His Kingdom."

Rev. R. C. Wolfrang, conference secretary, read excerpts from the letter to the Hebrews in Communion was distributed to all those attending the Memorial service.

QUE. LOSES 60 FIRMS

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 60 companies are moving their headquarters from Quebec to Toronto because of heavy provincial taxes, Georges Lapalme, provincial Liberal leader, said Monday night.

The new tax laws, he claimed, mainly helped to increase the already burdensome charge on Quebec taxpayers and companies, Mr. Lapalme said.

Police Blotter

A West Hill father has been charged by police with leaving his two-and-a-half year-old daughter unattended in his truck while he frequented a local beverage room.

Police came across the little girl alone in the truck last evening shortly before six o'clock and later located the father in the beverage room.

Basil Godda, Bettes Street, thinks some one played a rather mean joke on him last night. When he went to start his car he found that someone had pulled the ignition wire off the motor and then, adding insult to injury, put sugar in the gasoline tank.

Police are looking for the driver of an auto who broke yesterday afternoon drove his car over the curb on Dundas Street, ran into a small tree, then backed off and sped away without stopping.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices continued a broad decline in all sections of the market with light forenoon trading today. There was some indication that the lower trend was slowing. First-hour trading was a light 450,000.

Industrial weakness was in all groups and the board recorded 32 losses and only 20 gains in early trading. Issues that lost $1 or more in early trading included Canada Cement, Canadian Tire, Anglo Canadian and Keivinator.

Base metals were well down. Noranda was a heavy loser.

Western oils had about twice as many losses as gains in narrowranges trading. Golds were weak in senilors but firm in junior, prospects and holding companies. Uranianums and Bathurst issues were weak, but Manitouwadge stocks were up.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Trade continued slow with most slaughter classes steady at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts: cattle 375; calves 50; hogs 1,200; sheep and lambs 30; holdover from Tuesday 1,200 cattle.

Prices: Choice steers all weights 20-20.75; most loads of choice weighty steers for export at 21.50; good steers 18-20; medium down to 16; good heifers 18-18.50; medium down to 17; good cows 15-15.50; canner and cutter cows down to 8; good heavy bologna bulls 15-15.50; common light bulls down to 12; choice fed yearlings 20-20.50; good fed yearlings 18-20; medium down to 17; good vealers 19-20.50; common to medium down to 17.

Good to choice calf vealers were steady at 22-24; common to medium outclassed slow and were hard to sell at 12-21.

Hogs brought 37.50 for grade A with 270 pounds selling for 37.75; B-1 36.50; dressed sows 25; dressed stags 18.

Choice spring lambs 30. Good light sheep brought 8-13; common down to 4.

A beaver was reported on the banks of the bay this morning, about 100 yards west of the filtration plant.

George T. Parker, local resident, said he saw the animal nearing the CPR tracks when he saw the animal. Unnoticed, he watched it for several minutes. When it saw him, Mr. Parker said, the beaver slipped into the water and disappeared under the bank.

There was no definite theories as to where the beaver may have come from or how it got into the bay. It is possible it may have come south, down either the Moira or the Trent.

Dr. H. W. Burns, local veterinary, said he understands some beavers built a nest near Plainfield last winter.

The animal may have come down the Moira from there.

George Pound, manager of Canadian mills, said he found a beaver lodged in his mill last March, while operations were stalled by broken mill wheel. However, the animal disappeared down the river about one month ago, when the wheel was repaired.

The beaver swam down the river towards the bay, Mr. Pound said.

New President of Conference Served 8 Years As Secretary

Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, M.A., B.D., Lakefield, Ontario, chairman for 34 years of service in the Bay of Quinte Conference this morning when he was elected president of the Conference for 1954-55 on the first ballot. He will be installed Friday morning.

Mr. Wolfraim succeeded Rev. Reed Poulter of Wellington as conference president after serving eight years as Conference secretary.

The president-elect was born in Castleton, Northumberland County, the elder son of the Col. J. F. Wolfraim, Colborne, and the late Mrs. Wolfraim.

After matriculation from Colborne High School, Mr. Wolfraim taught and preached for three years and then entered Victoria University, Toronto. He graduated with a B.A. degree in 1919 and obtained his M.A. and B.D. degrees in 1926. During his university course Mr. Wolfraim served in the minister fields of western Canada for six successive summers.

Following his ordination he was married, in 1922, to Ruth Keene in Riverdale Presbyterian Church, Toronto. They have four children. Harry Wolfraim is married and living in Toronto. A daughter Helen, Mrs. William Harris, also lives in Toronto. Twin brothers, Anne and Ruth, are working.

Before entering university Mr. Wolfraim served as a student minister at Wilberforce in Haliburton County.

His ordained ministry to date has been spent entirely in the Bay of Quinte Conference at Consecon, Wilfrid, Courtice, Janetville, Lindsay (Queen St.), Almonte and Lakefield.

He served as secretary of Lindsay Presbytery from 1939 to 1946, and was elected chairman of Lindsay Presbytery in 1946. He has been secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference since 1946, and the past two years he has represented the Bay of Quinte Conference on the executive of the General Council.

Dr. Mutchmor Predicts Less Luxury, Fewer Demands, More Work in Near Future

"Canada, the Churches and the Welfare State," was the subject of an address by Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, M.A., B.D., D.D., to upwards of 600 persons at the Bay of Quinte Conference Evangelism and Social Service Night observed Tuesday evening in Bridge St. United Church.

Dr. Mutchmor outlined in some detail the rapid growth and expansion of Canada and the Canadian economy. He pointed out, however, that against a background of increasing national production, record harvests and development of iron, nickle, oil and natural gas resources, there are some black spots in the slow down of the textile industry, layoffs in the farm machinery industry, reduced auto sales, and a 55 per cent decline in first quarter profits of Seagrams—"a thing which I am glad to see."

He predicted that in the near future there would be less luxury, fewer union demands and more work.

STARTING OF WELFARE STATE.

Dr. Mutchmor stated that the welfare state started in the reign of Queen Elizabeth the First with the passing of the Poor Laws.

"The welfare state has respected God-parents," said Dr. Mutchmor. "Plato said that the state is a moral being and Aristotle said the state should look after the individual."

Dr. Mutchmor digressed briefly to state that the conference forces, meeting with "three CNR lawyers and two CPR lawyers and a few vice-presidents thrown in" had had a long and heavy session on the welfare state the night before last.

"Would it be in keeping with the moral state for a mother and child to die in labor? Or men with two 'mickies' in the dining room of a train, and is supposed to be a common carrier?"

"In Saskatchewan we have "mickies" against children."

Dr. Mutchmor cited two principles in the building of the welfare state; the inherent worth of man and the interdependence of men.

"Progress advances from dependence to independence to interdependence," he said.

POSITION OF CHURCHES.

"What is the position of the churches with the welfare state?" he asked.

"The Catholic Church maintains that in spiritual matters it is supreme and that it wants its say in the affairs of state. It has a lot to say in some states like Spain and Quebec."

"The Lutheran Church, as we all saw in the picture, 'Martin Luther' maintained that the state should have its' full say in religious matters and that the state should have the full say in its field. There was too much separation and the Lutheran Church in Germany must take some share of the responsibility for the rise of Adolf Hitler and the World Wars I and II."

The Church in England, Scotland, Czechoslovakia and in Austria, Hungary, was a church established by law and had the idea that the church should be supported by the state with endowments or taxes. Those acquainted with this system feel that it leaves something to be desired."

FREE CHURCHES.

Dr. Mutchmor stated that the tradition of evangelical and free churches sprang up in the "time of Cromwell" England.

"It is their teaching that the church must be the conscience of the state and that there must be a clear and delicate separation between church and state."

"Evangelical churches believe that the state must recognize the inherent worth of the individual, that the state must share the burdens of the weak and that duty comes before rights."

"Democracy comes before a good time. The voice of the people is not the voice of God."

Dr. Mutchmor stressed the difference between "cause" and "function" and that the church is concerned with causes — such as temperance causes, housing causes, welfare causes, and that the state should be concerned with "function".

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED.

Dr. Mutchmor cited the advent of government's compensation, pools or's allowances, child welfare, old age pensions, hospitalization—as encouraging signs of the state's awareness of its duty to perform "function".

He stressed that big improvements are still needed in low rental housing, and advocated the establishment of national health insurance.

"If we can do things for warfare, we can do something about welfare," he said.

He stated that some aspects of the welfare state are in jeopardy because of too much easy, loose money, too much leisure, too much leisure, and too little concern for the poor.

He scorned "luxury holidays, luxury cars, luxury yachts".

"Democracy has eaten out the vitals of more than one empire and it can eat out the vitals of the welfare state," he said.

AGAINST TOO MUCH LEISURE.

"Too much leisure leads to laggers. We are not opposed to the five-day week. We are opposed to Saturday and Sunday sport in lifts-nets and waters. Too much leisure is one of the reasons for too much alcohol."

Dr. Mutchmor, in speaking of too little concern for the poor as a factor that will jeopardize the welfare state, pointed out that in a recent national survey members of the United Church had twice as many slaves, refrigerators and cars as the national average.

"Mathew said, 'Blessed are the poor in spirit' and Luke said, 'Blessed are the poor'. Are we just a church of the middle class."

"We must be a church of all classes or of no class," said the speaker. "The poor are having a hard time."

He stated that the four factors responsible for the hard times on the poor are big taxing governments, big defence expenditures, big unions, and big farm federations wanting $38 a hundredweight for bogs.

"They are giving the poor a hard time and the church a hard time." "The church must tell the state, 'Know' Thyself'. The state must have a soul to save as well as a body to feed."

"The church must tell the state to prove itself. The welfare state has not proved itself yet. The test is still to come."

"The church must tell the state, 'Be Thyself'. Only a few cents of every tax dollar in Ottawa going for war is spent. We must ask the state, 'How far is this preparation for war to go?'"

"We must also learn to expend ourselves," said Dr. Mutchmor. "The world is in for a cooling again this year. There will be a big crop. Everything is full. Where is the poor? They have never had have enough sense in North America to do anything about it."

"Let us win the cause of peace by giving not guns, but bread, instead of destruction, and may the world become a brotherhood in Christ rather than a neighborhood that it has been made by scientists," he said.

Rev. Alfred Poulter, chairman of Conference, presided over the evening session.

The Scripture lesson and the prayer was read by Rev. Gregory Ward at Renfrew.

The Bridge St. United Church choir, under the direction and accompanied by S. Alec Gordon led the worship of song.

Following Dr. Mutchmor's address the report of the Committee on Evangelism and Social Service was read but debate on the report was scheduled for Thursday morning.

Retiring President Thanks Presbyteries for Co-Operation

The election of conference officers, the president's message, greetings from the local ministerial associations and from Bay of Quinte conference, Belleville committee reports and an address by Rev. George Johnston, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., professor of New Testament Literature and Exegesis, Emmanuel College, Toronto, featured the Wednesday morning session of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada in 36th annual session in Bridge Street United Church.

Greetings and best wishes to the conference from the Moderator, Dr. A. C. Scott, read by the secretary was directed to inform Dr. Scott that his message was appreciated and he be acknowledged.

Greetings from the Belleville Ministerial Association and from the city of Belleville were also brought by the chairman.

Rev. Keith Daniel, president of the Belleville Ministerial Association, expressed his pleasure at bringing greetings from the association.

"It is good for a church as large as the influential as the United Church, to keep in mind the greater work of the Kingdom of God," he said.

Alderman H. J. Clarke, dean of city council, extended the civic greetings of the city of Belleville in the absence of His Worship, Mayor Ben Corby.

"I appreciate the privilege of meeting you and pledge to the service of God," he said, and on behalf of the mayor, the city council and the citizens of Belleville expressed the wish that "the deliberations of this conference will be both pleasant and profitable."

Rev. Alfred Poulter, Wellington, retiring president of the conference, expressed his appreciation at being able to serve the conference and the church during the past year.

"It was a privilege to visit different places in the conference and to meet with the different presbyteries. It has warmed the heart of the president to see the loyalty and devotion of ministers and laymen in the conference," he said.

"It is a fine and encouraging thing to see the spirit of good will at work among men. If such a spirit of good will was among all men in the world we would have more cause for hope."

LAID TWELFTH CORNERSTONES

Mr. Poulter expressed his pleasure at having participated in several anniversary services during the conference and at the laying of three cornerstones for new churches.

"The steady growth of the United Church of Canada, Belleville district and the Bay of Quinte conference is evidence of the good work which is being done."

"We can take pride in the fact that, in Belleville district, we comprise 40 per cent of the Protestant population of our country, and that one new church is being built in Canada every ten days."

Mr. Poulter stated that the exodus of young people from rural areas is discouraging to many ministers with rural charges but stated that the young people have profited greatly from the Christian service of these ministers.

SHORTAGE OF MINISTERS

In speaking of students training for the ministry, Mr. Poulter noted that while there were more students in training for the ministry in any year since Union, there still was a serious shortage of ministers. He urged, in addition to seeking out more and more candidates for the ministry, that there should be a closer linking up between students, Presbyteries and Conferences.

The ranks of ministers are decreasing with retirement and death of ministers resulting in an increasing need for workers; not only at home, but in foreign fields as well.

"These things must lie on the hearts and minds of the whole church," he said.

"On the whole the church is in a wholesome and healthy state. That this is so is due in no small measure to the Christian aggressiveness of consecrated laymen," he said.

LAYMEN PRAISED

Oppose Beer Sale By Groceries And on Trains

A resolution expressing "the strongest possible opposition to any proposal to sell beer in grocery or other retail stores or on any train, whether in buffet, dining, chair or other kind of car" was the sole item approved immediately Tuesday evening in the report of the committee on Evangelism and Social Service presented at the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada's 30th annual meeting.

The entire committee report was read to delegates but discussion and decision of all aspects, with the exception of this one resolution, were postponed until Thursday morning.

Copies of this resolution are to be forwarded to the Minister of Transport in Ottawa and arrangements are being forwarded for a delegation appointed by the Conference, to meet with Ontario's Premier Leslie Frost on this matter.

Members of Four Congregations Witness Burning of Mortgage

An event of unusual interest took place on Thursday evening last when members of the four congregations on Plainfield charge of the United Church, Roslin, Mt. Pleasant, Bethel-Zion, and Plainfield, assembled on the parsonage lawn to witness the burning of a mortgage against that property which recently became free and clear of all encumbrance.

The parsonage was erected in 1949 at a total cost of $3,000 to replace one that had become obsolete through age and deterioration.

In a brief devotional service, the pastor Rev. E. J. Kersey, read from the Scriptures, and Rev. L. S. Throop, in an inspiring message, complimented Plainfield charge on what had been accomplished, feeling that much benefit is derived through working together toward a common goal as did the forefathers in pioneer days.

BURNS MORTGAGE.

Mr. Roy Sills, as chairman of the building committee, and Mr. Frank Treverton, who served in the capacity of treasurer, were then called to the parsonage steps to officiate in burning the mortgage. As the document fluted into flame all joined in singing the Doxology.

Following this both Mr. Sills and Mr. Treverton spoke — recalling their hopes and fears and some of the useful experiences while the building was taking form and complimented Plainfield charge on the efforts of the entire committee which was composed of the following additional members. Messrs. Harold Beatty, Harry Harrison, Earle Sayers, Winfred Harrison and William Roderick.

Mr. Kersey invited all those present into the parsonage where, in the dining room a tea table was prepared, beautifully appointed with lace cloth and silverware, and centred by a lovely arrangement of spring flowers.

Those pouring were Mrs. Carman Bailey, Mrs. Blake Parks, Mrs. Roy Sills and Mrs. Clarence Hall, while Mrs. Kersey, assisted by several ladies from the four congregations, graciously served the guests.

TOUR PARSONAGE.

Mrs. Harry Harrison and Mrs. Don Chisholm conducted the visitors from room to room in the parsonage. These, in their state of order and tasteful arrangement, gave evidence not only of thought, ful planning and decoration but also to the careful attention given them by their present occupants.

During the evening mention was made of the grounds with newly placed trees — gifts of the Sunday Schools. The trim lawns, orderly flower beds and a recently-erected, freshly-painted picket fence, a gift of the Young People's organization, bespoke many hours of labor on the part of Mr. Kersey.

Tribute was also paid to the work of the parsonage committee and the untiring efforts of its convener, Mrs. Ralph Sills, in everything that pertained to the requirements and comfort of the minister and his family.

So, in an atmosphere of sociability and Christian fellowship and with a deep sense of accomplishment, another milestone in the life of Plainfield charge, one of the strong units of Belleville Presbytery, was passed.

THE RIGHT TO STRIKE

Freedom is never absolute.

By its very nature it is limited by the freedom of others—or it limits these freedoms.

This is not a modern discovery—but the application of this truth in the realm of industrial relations has been made increasingly apparent recently by the growth of unions.

It is high time that unions and the community dropped the naive notion that the unlimited right to strike is an inherent and necessary right of free men."

This was the opinion of Lawyer addressing the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Jasper, Alta., on Monday.

Similar sentiments have been voiced with increasing frequency in recent months.

There probably has never been a time when the right to strike was not questioned by many.

But, in earlier days, strikes were on weak ground. The freedom of employees to strike impinged so lightly on the freedoms of employers, and the freedoms of employers in many industries so heavily on their employees, that public opinion generally accepted the right to strike as a necessity in a free land.

The growing power of labor unions has, however, resulted in the right to strike limiting ever more sharply the freedom not only of employers but of the general public.

At the same time the power of employers, and their growing organization in such groups as the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has done nothing to make the unions more willing to limit the right to strike.

The effort of governments to soften the clash of interests and freedoms has in the final analysis been almost totally ineffective.

No realistic observer will anticipate that the task will become any easier. It is simple to suggest that the right to strike should be limited, but extremely difficult to suggest how it can best be effectively and at the same time justly limited. Both conditions must be met. It would be of little use to prohibit a strike—and then to permit all the workers to resign their positions. That would not be effective. And to require all the workers to continue at their present jobs, no matter how dissatisfied they might be with conditions, and no matter how low their wages and salaries might present themselves, would certainly not meet our conception of justice in a free land.

No matter what the solution may be, it will almost certainly involve some further limitations of present-day freedoms, with the probability being that increasing government regulations will impinge more heavily on the freedoms of both employers and employees. This is not a pleasant prospect, but it is the price we shall have to pay for our ever-increasing organization of our work-day activities. In a day of one-man shops, with an expanding economy, something approaching absolute freedom of employer and employee was theoretically possible. That day has passed. Whatever the future may hold we can, perhaps, feel assured that no freedoms will be as stringently limited as they were in the days when economic necessity forced children down into coal pits or up chimneys.

EXPENSIVE HOME

Have you $8,085,862.40? You would need that amount before the City of Belleville and the Government of Canada would leave you in peaceful possession of a home like that which has just passed out of the hands of the Stuyvesant family after three centuries.

The last land parcels of Manhattan Island, granted by the Dutch Government to Gov. Peter Stuyvesant in the seventeenth century have passed from the family name, being purchased by The New York Investors Mutual Group, Inc.

Included in the sale was the Fifth Avenue mansion in which Augustus Stuyvesant died last year.

The purchase price was not disclosed, but its assessed valuation was about $1,850,000.

You have no idea what the Manhattan Island tax rate on real estate is, but in Belleville the taxes on that house, exclusive of any local improvements, would be $115,500.

Then, by 1115,500 after Federal Government had levied income tax, you would have to have an income of $404,293.12, supposing that you enjoyed a $2,000 exemption as a married man but that your income was of a nature that you received no other credits.

If you were fortunate enough to obtain a five per cent return on all your investments, capital of $8,085,862.40 would provide you with enough money to pay your taxes.

Of course, somebody else would have to heat the house—and feed and clothe you.

Let's say that there anybody complaining about the high cost of living?

HE WAS NO PERJURER

Andre Migneault, of Montreal, has been sent to jail for a year for being in possession of stolen goods. But before he sentenced him, Judge Rene Theberge compliimented Mignault. "I am most happy you didn't come into the box to perjure yourself," he declared.

Most people with any knowledge of court proceedings know that the accused persists in his innocence in the face of overwhelming testimony to the contrary. This occasions no surprise. Such a course is expected whenever a man faces a lengthy sentence if convicted. But an oath is still an oath when it is taken by the accused and perjury is as deplorable for him as for any other witness. Judge Theberge's compliment to Mignault emphasizes that fact.

RICH MAN

Not by the things he stored away
Or tried to save;
He made his fortune, day by day,
By what he gave.

He had the smile his friends will miss;
The cheering word
Through days of grief and times
Of bliss.
They often heard.

A home with love and laughter filled
He grew to own;
A spot serene no one can build
With wealth alone.

So rich was he the day he died,
His fortune these:
Friendship and honor, love and pride
And memories.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 9, 1934.

When this was a lumber town many years ago, thousands of logs were sawed by Moire Rivers from the north country and were sorted in a boom in the harbor. Gangs of river drivers kept the logs moving and when they were dumped into the river until they reached the boom. When the drive was over and all logs sorted according to the owners' brand they carried, then there was a large accumulation of bark from the logs that the owners did not go to waste as many people in town gathered the bark which made excellent fuel. An item from our file copy of this time in 1934 reminded us of this. The item reads: "The harvesting of the bark crop will be in full swing shortly."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Deacon, William Street, left today for Montreal and will sail from that port for the Old Country where they will spend some time on a motor car tour of the country.

Miss Gwen Lazier has completed her first season at Washington, D.C., the object of which was to present to President Coolidge and other important persons an invitation to attend the United Empire Loyalist celebration here this month. A representative of the Ontario reporter had a talk with Miss Lazier in Kingston and she stated that the President and the British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, received her very kindly and were very kind. She was delighted to learn that her home "Tip", upon whose back she travelled to Washington, and was shipped there by the late Rev. Dr. Crawford Johnson."

At Roslin yesterday afternoon a convention was held by the Liberal Conservative Association to select a candidate to contest the riding of East Hastings in the next election for the Provincial House. Mr. W. E. Turnmon, reeve of Huntingdon township, occupied the chair. The following were nominated: Sandy Grant, the present member of the Provincial House; H. L. Denyse, Thurlow township; A. T. McFarlane and James Hill of Tyendinaga township; R. Richardson, ex. M.P.P., Deseronto; A. Kirk, reeve of Hungerford township; W. E. Timmon, reeve of Huntingdon township; William Tufts of Thurlow township. Five of those nominated retired, leaving the choice between Mr. Grant and Mr. Denyes. The former was eventually made the unanimous choice of the meeting. Speeches were made by W. Johnson, M.P., W. B. Northrup, M.P., and Sandy Grant the chosen candidate.

The Belfast (Ireland) Telegraph of Saturday, May 28, contained the following reference to our esteemed citizen, Mr. William Johnson: "A special reporter watches the services tomorrow in the Grosvenor Hall, Tufts Street, at the speaker will be Mr. William Johnson of Belleville, Ontario, a former President of the Canadian Sunday School Association. Mr. Johnson, as a personal friend of the late Mr. William Johnston, M.P., of Ballyhilland, and it was under the guidance of his Canadian namesake that the former first became champion tourist Canada. Mr. Johnson, the speaker tomorrow, is now on his way home to Canada from the World's Sunday School Convention, which was held recently in Jerusalem, and has, it seems, "stopped off" to have a look at the work being done in Belfast by Dr. Crawford Johnson."

Butter Problem Complex One

(Ottawa Journal)

To most of us butter is simply a spread that makes our bread taste better, or helps improve the flavor of cooking. To the government, to many politicians and others it is fast becoming a headache. The reason is that Canada has more butter than people are prepared to buy, and no other country wants our surplus at our prices.

So, recently, the president of the National Dairy Council felt called upon to write the Prime Minister asking that butter not be exported at cut-rate prices and that, if the government must get rid, of the surplus, ways and means be devised to let Canadian consumers benefit. The United Farmers of Canada countered by urging the government to consult its 56 per cent support price as an essential guarantee to producers. The Financial Post and Mail would remove all support for dairy products, allow them to seek their own price level, both on the domestic and world markets.

All this may well be the opening round in a long-term controversy, the government, dairy farmers and several industries concerned are getting concerned and worried over the situation. The problem is that here, as well as in the United States, nobody appears able to come up with an acceptable solution to the problem of what to do with the surplus production. Ireland is all very well to say that people in other lands should be glad to accept our surpluses, but events in the U.S. recently have proven that it is extremely difficult to do even give food away. For one thing the normal markets in the continental country.

Another fact that appears to have been overlooked by those who offer pat solutions for this problem is that more people, and more industries, cannot accommodate itself to market needs as they exist at any moment. Even a growing season and the production figures governing it. To suggest that dairy farmers should accept what they can get for their produce means pretty harsh treatment—for the plain fact is that dairying is the only country would even think of doing so.

Farm income has declined about 25 per cent in the past two years and it cannot go much lower, in the face of costs of other goods and services, without the decline becoming a real danger to the general economy. As it is, much less unemployment might be attributed to lower farm purchasing power.

Employees' Thefts Grow

(Wall Street Journal)

More and more factory and warehouse managers are digging into the latest fare as The Mystery of the Mislaid Babbit, The Case of the Evaporting Spirits, and The Strange Affair of the Disappearing Dynamo.

These whodunits aren't 25-cent detective novels; they're examples of employee stealing which is costing U.S. firms uncounted millions of dollars annually and the figure is growing, according to private detective agencies which specialize in baiting in Mum's the thievery is petty, like that of the worker who sneaks a pair of pliers or a piece of plywood home to his workshop, but a lot of it is big and brazen. Here are extracts from files of the private eye firms:

A Midwest auto parts maker last year lost over $200,000 without—one-third of the total—in eight months. Employees, most with long seniority records, took to peddling factory products to garages, wholesalers, auto shops and others in a number of cities on the sly.

Hundreds of residents of an Eastern city recently had the opportunity to purchase television sets without benefit of the usual middleman profit, when plant hands formed a "clearing house" for factory "seconds" and "rejects."

A Western building supplies firm with handsome soles had trouble with its workers. Plant hands began adding extra bedrooms on their homes, paneling them with supplies needed for the job. Investigators found that even "expediting" materials to relatives were being charged off on their wholesale price.

Hundreds of other cases are on file, and every day thousands more are costly. Pinkerton's, the country's largest detective agency, which is based in New York, asserts the problem is growing worse. Its firm has been obliged to increase its staff of factory investigators seven-fold since close to 500—by 10 per cent in the last six months. A spokesman for the Pinkerton agency, also headquartered here, testified: "Small fingers, and heavy losses from thieving have more than doubled in the last eight years," he told a House committee.

These agencies say the problem is partly economic, even in relatively good times, that it was practically nil in the depression. When workers are reasonably well off they'll simply grab "incidentals" for more, a Pinkerton's man philosophizes. He adds many employers have been more concerned than the problem recently as profit margins have been shrinking.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DARE TO CHANGE

People who are afraid to change, to take risks, or to strike out from beaten paths, never get very far in anything. Said Confucius: "The wisest and shrewdest of men never change." That puts it up to the great mass of human beings, who really accomplish the progress we see all this world.

The late William Allen White was once asked by a reporter to write a small book of mine, in which he had put his philosophy of life for the world is aspiration so definite a part of life as it is in America. The most precious gift God has given to this land is not its great riches of soil and forest and mine, but the divine discontent planted in the hearts of the American people, upward change, from the simple to the more complex—progress."

Dare to change. Nothing in life is doing exactly this. We do not live as our fathers did. Nor did they as their fathers. Frontiers are only notable as they tell of those who wiped their out! Changes always mean, to a lesser or greater degree, privation, sacrifice, courage, and the story of those who had the will to change.

Our thoughts and our bodies keep changing whether we take note of it or not. Often it means a complete change of front to strike out into something new. It is this pioneer spirit that has given to every land and nation its character and standing in the world. We have to keep watering our garden plot. Then in this way can we hope for the harvest that we desire.

Dare to change. Incorporate yourself. Be an entity. Thank God for your free soul. Think, talk and work as a free human being—indebted to no one but your Creator. Your chance for genuine happiness lies within your control and purpose. Once you decide to make a change, the atmosphere is immediately cleared—and you see the dawning of sunshine after a summer storm.

Carry Extra Shoes

(Niagara Falls Review)

In Dunion, England, the council has protested against the condition of a lane where mud is so thick and deep people carry an extra pair of shoes to change into when they reach the end of it.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

DEFINITELY, EH.

A typical newspaper item concerning a case of alleged rabies reads as follows:

"Dr. ..... coroner's office, completed tests on the boy's brain tissue late Tuesday night and when they definitely showed that he died of the disease, also known as hydrophobia."

Dr. Brady

If the pathologist for the coroner's office looked at any other test than the finding of so-called Negri bodies in the brain tissue he has not let the rest of the medical profession in on the secret.

Before we go any further here are a few facts not opinions, pertaining to the question of rabies in man. I mean question, for there is no scientific proof that rabies occurs in man.

Negri bodies are "red or magenta-colored masses, containing bluish-black incretions, found in the ganglion-cell areas of the cerebrum and sometimes also especially in the horn of Ammon." A young Italian discovered them in horses in 1903. Some medical authorities magesterially assert that "the presence of Negri bodies in the brain is generally accepted as proof that the animal died of rabies" or lapse into the passive voice. Other medical 'authorities believe that these organisms are merely broken down red blood corpuscles, and are "no more than a simple agent than leukocytes (white blood corpuscles, scavenger cells) that are the supporting tissue formation).

Some authorities say "the absence of Negri bodies does not necessarily mean the dog didn't have rabies." Others say that the absence of Negri bodies, after careful search, is evidence that the animal did not have rabies."

To the misinformed public Pasteur treatment sounds as scientific as it get out. The truth is that no one knows just what he is injecting when he gives Pasteur treatment. It would take several columns of space to explain how the masterful called Pasteur virus or vaccine is prepared. That is-is not as Pasteurites say the old timeless, inactive you think, emmersion of the many different methods of preparing it indicates, at least to my mind. The following "modifications" of the Pasteur's drying method have been or are now employed: Babes by heating; Frasteur by the use of bile; Tizzoni and Catanna by the use of gastric juice; Hogyes by fresh material in diluted suspension; Ferran fresh material in formalin 5mg. doses; Cummins altered the virus by dialysis; Harrus, Semple, you pays your money and takes your choice, or the choice of the doctor who closes his eyes and lets you have it in the manner approved by the eminent, ignorant, superstitious medival science of the nineteenth century.

I tell you again and again, though it seems to do no good so far as the old timers in medicine and public health are concerned that the heads of the health department of Jerusalem, Athens, Rome, Birmingham), Doctors Downing and Dennison, were right when they declared, from many years of experience in dealing with mad dogs and hydrophobia in man and dogs and capital of North America, that rabies is so extremely rare in man that the question is not that the question should be left to the veterinarians.

Right now, between scares, I hope, let me ask you for information, the "epidemics" of rabies conjured up by the politicians for healthless gullible people without mortality or only a few casualties from untreated effects of Pasteur treatment.

Pointers On Porkies

(Dept. of Lands and Forests)

Ever try to catch a porcupine alive? There are several methods and all of them have their drawbacks. Usually our Conservation Officers don't consider doing a Frank Buck act with these prickly rodents as part of their duties. But the spring activities among other things brings forth its crop of sportsmen's shows and people attending these shows like to see a few specimen's of Ontario's wildlife at close quarters. The result is that the Department of Lands and Forests is pressured by a car—as was the case in which the accompanying picture was taken—to appears that the assailant was a street-cleaner who was hit by a car driven by a man in his righteous indignation he yanked open the door of the car and hauled the driver He didn't know how to drive. At this point the driver was tried to push the offended pedestrian away and the latter poked him in the eye. The driver then defined the pedestrian for common assault.

We want to condone the practice of a pedestrian taking a whack at a motorist whose car has struck him, but we would like to see that law that says pedestrians have no right to "bawl out" the offending motorist, even if it results in the opening of a car door.

Automobiles are not mobile fortresses or even castles. And "bawling out" is a practice to which even magistrates contribute, on occasion.

Logical Step

(St. Catharines Standard)

More and more women are taking up living. This would appear a natural sequence, they having laid down the law for so many years.

Making Autos Fortresses

(Sudbury Daily Star)

In a case involving the assault of a "pedestrian" on a motorist, a Toronto magistrate maintained that "a person has the right to defend his car-door in a state of invitation and uphrald the owner."

This would seem to give vehicle drivers in the position of travelling in mobile fortresses that they can launch an assault against pedestrians without fear of reprisal or retaliation.

Queen's Park's silent attorneygeneral is unlikely to volunteer an opinion on the matter, but it would seem the pedestrian has a right to fight back if struck by a car—as was the case in which the accompanying picture was taken. It appears that the assailant was a street-cleaner who was hit by a car driven by a man in his righteous indignation he yanked open the door of the car and hauled the driver He didn't know how to drive. At this point the driver was tried to push the offended pedestrian away and the latter poked him in the eye. The driver then defined the pedestrian for common assault.

We want to condone the practice of a pedestrian taking a whack at a motorist whose car has struck him, but we would like to see that law that says pedestrians have no right to "bawl out" the offending motorist, even if it results in the opening of a car door.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HUMAN NATURE AND REALISM

The seed business has become one of great importance. Every spring we find that when they buy a packet of seeds at a hardware, grocery, or seed store, that in addition to the usual variety of the collection of seeds, this packet is the result of a scientific sorting which has called into being a vast amount of intricate and fascinating machinery. Nature never stands still. If left alone, seeds tend to revert to lower and inferior grades of plants. Seed growers therefore must constantly reconstruct their stocks to make sure that they do not revert to their old, weedy ways.

There is pleasant theory abroad in modern times that human beings are flowers. All we need to do is to give them plenty of sunshine and good soil in which to grow and they will blossom forth in abundance and beauty.

This of course is just not true. Human beings are seeds of evil which have in them no good. They require scientific sorting out and the good grain saved.

Life is a sifting process. Our natures tend to revert into their old weedy ways. Give some seeds of sin natures good growing advantages and they will grow into weeds. Give play to some impulses of our hearts and they can lead to nothing but evil.

Human life is a discipline. Those who grow sentimental over it are unrealistic.

SCOTT'S SCRAP-BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Fruit Crop Prospects Good

OTTAWA (CP) — Fruit crops in all parts of Canada except British Columbia were in promising condition in May.

Unseasonable frosts in April and May in British Columbia caused considerable damage particularly to tree fruits in the interior and some damage to strawberries on the coast, the bureau of statistics reported today. In practically all areas growth is about one week behind 1953.

Indications in May were that the strawberry crop in eastern Canada would at least match last year's. Raspberry canes were reported in favorable condition in Quebec and Ontario.

All varieties of sweet cherries blossomed heavily in Ontario and sour cherries had a prolonged bloom. Some frost damage was reported to both types.

APPLE PROSPECTS GOOD.

Apples came through the winter in good condition in eastern Canada. Due to low temperatures, peach orchards in Ontario had a prolonged blossom period. There is some fear that pollination may have been poor due to the cool weather.

Pear orchards were in full heavy bloom by May 15 in most parts of western Ontario, but although pears appeared to have wintered well in eastern Ontario, blossom prospects were varied. Grapes in western Ontario were in good condition with trimming completed, tying nearly finished and buds just breaking at the middle of May.

Briefs from UK

MECHANICAL MOUSE

GLASGOW, Scotland (CP) — A small boy's pet white mouse which escaped in a telephone booth ran up the return coin chute and could not be coaxed out. A policeman came to the rescue. He dropped three coins in the box, pressed the reject button and out came mouse and coins.

FEWER DOGS

LONDON (CP) — London's dog population is falling by 10 per cent each year, delegates to the World Congress of Animal Welfare Societies were told by H. Harvey Johns, secretary of the National Canine Defence League.

HIDDEN HAZARD

LINCOLN, England (CP) — A hole 30 feet deep and 12 feet wide, hidden by a two-inch crust, was found under a highway here that is used by heavy trucks and buses.

STOUT CHIEFTAIN

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — A Malay chieftain backed two Chinese Communist soldiers to death with a large knife.

Ariffin Bin Tepatasarin, 42, told a reporter today he outfought three young Chinese in a jungle fracas by using "bersilat" the Malay art of self-defence, "and at the same time I called for help and prayed to Allah."

A CASE OF UNCONSCIOUS ELOQUENCE

An appeal more eloquent than a lawyer's address to the jury is contained in the tears and wails of Dennis Kadlits of Detroit as he pleads for another chance for his dog. The pointing finger and the threatening broom tell the story of some misdemeanor on the part of the pooch, who, though guilty, adds his appeal by the sorrowful look in his eyes. The accused and his counsel, needless to say, won their plea for leniency. (Central Press Canadian).

British Warship Shells Reds

PENANG, Malaya (Reuters) — The 2,000-ton British cruiser Newfoundland today blasted a Communist terrorist target in the jungle-clad mountains of northern Malaya to avenge the murder of a British police officer 13 days ago.

A spotter plane which flew over the operations area later reported that a terrorist hideout on a narrow plateau had been blasted to bits.

For the last week, army and police patrols have been searching the area where C. N. Godwin, one of Malaya's senior police officers, was killed by terrorists.

Weddings

O'CONNOR—MATTHEWS

Tulips, iris, spirea and lilacs adorned the altar and chancel rail, and lily-of-the-valley with carnations the ring fable, in the Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, on Saturday, June 5, at 10 a.m., when Ida Isabelle Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Matthews, of Bonarlaw, became the bride of John Richard O'Connor, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Xavi O'Connor, of Marmora township. Rev. V. E. Healey officiated at the marriage ceremony and said the Nuptial Mass. Leo Meehan, cousin of the bridegroom and Ronald Stephens were ushers.

Mrs. Hugh Brady rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. James McGrath, in the singing of "Panis Angelicus," and "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. William Meehan, wore a floor-length bridegown of lovely in her bridal gown of white slipper satin, fashioned in floor-length, full skirt accented by double tiers of nylon net and featuring a fitted bodice with bolero of Chantilly lace having a high neckline with short sleeves and long sheath-like sleeves ending in lily points over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of embroidered tulle illusion was held by a tiny headdress of satin and lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses.

Miss Joan Shannon, of Marmora township, as her only attendant, was daintily gowned in yellow nylon net over taffeta. The tiny figured bolero featured short sleeves. She wore a matching headdress and mitts and carried a Colonial bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. William Meehan, junior, attended the bridegroom, while Paul Brady was usher.

The wedding dinner was served in the Sacred Heart Parish Hall by Group 3 and 4 of the Catholic Women's League.

A reception was held in the afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The bride's mother received gowned in a grey suit, black accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing navy blue crepe with pink accessories and a corsage of roses.

For the wedding trip to Quebec and St. Anne de Beaupre, the bride chose a pink orlon dress, white accessories and a corsage of carnations. Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor are residing in Marmora township.

Guests were present from Hamilton, Toronto, and Bonarlaw.

LAVENDER—GILLILEY

MARMORA—A pretty wedding of local interest was solemnized in the Dunn Memorial Presbyterian Church, Long Branch, Ontario, at 5 p.m., on Saturday, June 5, when in a double-ring ceremony, Jean Gilliley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilliley, of Port Credit, Ontario, was united in marriage to Glen Eugene Lavender, son of Manley Lavender, Marmora, and the late Mrs. M. Lavender.

During the service the organist played softly "Bless This House."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was becomingly attired in sky blue linen over crinoline in street-length, with matching hat. She carried a bouquet of white sweetpeas and red roses.

Her sister, Mrs. R. McConnell, was her bridesmaid, dressed in rose linen of street-length with matching hat and carrying a bouquet of yellow snapdragons and white carnations.

Mr. Albert Gray, of Marmora, was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Gordon McMaster, of Port Perry, Ontario, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Claus Hoffman, of Toronto.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received in a two-tone rose and grey suit and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. W. D. Lavender, of Marmora, who was attired in teal rose taffeta with corsage of pink carnations.

The wedding trip was to Niagara Falls, Detroit, and other points in the United States. For travelling the bride wore a blue tweed jacket in white accessories. They will take up residence in Marmora.

GAUNT—VILNEFF

MARMORA— At the home of Mrs. Charlotte Vilneff, in Marmora township, the wedding took place on Wednesday, June 2, at 7 p.m., of Betty Ann Vilneff, daughter of Mrs. Vilneff and the late Simon Vilneff, and Gilbert Gaunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaunt of Springbrook. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. E. Beare, of Springbrook United Church, beneath an arch decorated with pink and white paper and bells. Floral decorations completing an artistic scheme were of lilac, iris, spirea and pink flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Douglas, looked charming in an ankle-length dress of blue nylon net top and taffeta underskirt, also floor-length veil and bouquet of red roses.

Her sister, Mrs. Ruth Gallogan, was bridesmaid, wearing a pink ankle-length gown of nylon net and pink shoulder-length veil. She carried yellow roses.

Mr. Grant Gallogan discharged the duties of best man.

The reception was held at the bride's home where her mother received, wearing navy crepe with white accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing wine crepe and navy accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The honeymoon was spent at Niagara Falls, N.Y. the bride travelling in a two-piece navy dress with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaunt will reside in Marmora township.

St. Michael's H.S. Alumni Holds Reunion Week-End

St. Michael's high school alumni recently held a "reunion week-end" for all former students of the school, their families and friends.

On Friday, the week-end was ushered in with a dance held in St. Michael's Academy auditorium. Here, in a hall, gaily decorated for the occasion, the dancers enjoyed the music of Bruce Parent's orchestra.

Mr. George Whalen, as master of ceremonies, welcomed those present and introduced several novelty dances.

Mr. Dan Whalen and Mr. Jack Barrett were the capable conveners of this event.

On the following Sunday afternoon, the alumni held a reception in St. Michael's high school. A good many of the former students with their families and friends attended this delightful affair, which was under the convenership of Mrs. R. Bowles.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mr. Jack Doran and Mr. Joseph Chaplain and at the entrance to the tea-room upstairs by Mrs. R. J. Barrett. Present also to greet old friends and former students were, Sister Mary Joseph, principal of the high school since it moved to its present location, Sister Mary Matthew and Sister Mary Therese, who also have been at the school since it was reorganized, and moved in 1940. Many other teachers were also present to add to the pleasure of the reunion.

TEA-ROOM HOSTESSES

Mrs. George Whalen and Mrs. Gerrard Gallogan, the former guests to the flower-decked tea-room, with its tea-table most daintily decorated in green and white, the school colors.

Those who poured during the afternoon were: Mrs. E. Vandervoort, Mrs. A. Burton, Miss Mary McDougall, and Mrs. Terry Walsh.

Miss Catherine Fortin replenished the tea-table, which was in charge of Miss Hazel Simmons, Point Anne, assisted by Mrs. J. Fitzgerald. Those who served were: Misses Barbara Chapelle, Sylvia Graham, Helen Hudon, Cletus Trudeau, Rosemary Logan, Irma Graham, and Joan Temple.

Congratulations are due to Mrs. Barrett and her committee, Miss H. Simmons, Miss M. McDougall, Mrs. J. Chaplesk, and Mrs. T. Walsh for arranging a most successful and pleasant afternoon.

MARKET FALLS

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was knocked down sharply Tuesday in the hardest selling drive since the start of the Korean War. Brokers said the fall was a technical reaction following the sustained rise of the past nine months that has taken the market on average to the highest levels since October of 1929.

Holy Rosary Parish C.W.L. Sponsors Successful Tea

The C.W.L. of Holy Rosary parish recently sponsored a most successful tea in Holy Rosary hall, Donald St.

The hall was beautifully decorated with large baskets of lilacs of various hues, tall phlox, dainty iris, and gay colorful tulips.

Mrs. A. Eves, president; Mrs. W. Smith, convener, and Mrs. H. Brown, co-convener, welcomed the many guests, while Mrs. J. Huffman took the admission tickets.

First to catch the eye on the right, resplendent against the wall was a quilt on which Mrs. J. Bracken busily sold tickets.

Next the homecooking table, covered with its snowy-white cloth and gay streamers of mauve and yellow, centred with a vase of lilacs, conveners by Mrs. F. Daley and Mrs. B. Thompson. Here was displayed a wide variety of pies, cakes, buns and cookies, and even to homemade butter, which was soon purchased. Tickets were fast being sold on the delicious angel food cake with its swirls of pink frosting and was anxiously watched over by Mrs. M. Walsh and the ladies from the homecooking table.

NURSERY PLAY ROOM

On the left of the hall was the nursery, where many a tiny tot spent a busy afternoon playing with the wide assortment of toys, in charge for the afternoon were Mesdames H. Fralick, R. Mennan and E. Tuggenett.

A candy booth followed with its sugar plum tree as a centre-piece and gay mauve and yellow streamers, and carried a wide assortment of delicious candy, convened by Mrs. P. Brennan and Mrs. E. Schreiber.

Mrs. J. McHugh sold tickets on a rug donated by Mrs. F. Bedard.

The tea room, a bower of loveliness, was roped off with white ribbon. The fruitcake to the tea room was through a yellow arbor covered with lilacs in white, delicate pink and deep purple, where Mrs. W. Laporte and Mrs. H. Glenn graciously welcomed the guests. Through the arbor could be seen the dainty appointed tea table with its Point de Venise cloth with lace insertions and trim, its centrepiece of pink and purple lilacs and yellow tulips in a crystal bowl, flanked by silver candelabra holding slofi two tall yellow candles, centred by a taller mauve candle, and at either end glistening silver services.

PRESIDING

Those who poured were: Mesdames T. Bushall, S. Haley, M. Walsh, L. Laflin, Y. O'Neill and L. Connell.

The tiny guest tea tables, covered with white tea cloths, were centred with yellow doilies and a vase holding a spray of lilacs and one yellow tulip.

Servers included: Mesdames M. Boyd, J. Barrett, B. McQuaid, J. Farrell, J. Snider, R. Ralston, J. Carson, A. Wilson, J. Ellard, R. Mooman and E. McGuigan.

Other assistants were: Mesdames F. Bedard, J. O'Grady, H. Bland and D. Eves.

Those holding lucky tickets were: Miss Anne Lafferty, rug; Mrs. Jean Tompkins, cake; Mrs. L. Connell, quilt.

The committee is worthy of much commendation with appreciative thanks going to the conveners and to all those who assisted in making the tea a success.

Club Activities

I.O.D.E. ARGYL CHAPTER

The I.O.D.E. Argyl Chapter had its closing meeting before the summer recess, June 3 in the form of a "pot-luck luncheon".

Mrs. L. Blaker and Mrs. Breuls were conveners of the luncheon. The meeting was well attended.

Besides several business matters, a bale was packed for headquarters, of layettes to be used in Korea.

Bahais Honor Young Couple

A pantry shower was held recently by the Bahai's at the home of Miss Rina M. Gordon, East Bridge Street, in honor of Miss Gloria Gill and Mr. Bill Williams, of this city, bride and bridegroom-to-be of this month.

Over 25 guests were present to surprise them with many useful gifts for their pantry when they take up residence here, and to welcome with "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" as they entered the gaily decorated room with their loops of white interspersed with white wedding bells. This was followed by a harmonica selection, "Here Comes the Bride."

The evening was spent in games which included 'musical chairs,' and 'blindman's buff.'

"A Marriage Blessing" from the writings of Bahaullah, was read by Mr. Bruce Walmsley, which echoed the sincere wishes of those present for the happiness of the young couple.

Refreshments were served with Miss Margaret Mann as hostess, and Miss Gina Gordon pouring coffee. A miniature wedding cake, decorated with a tiny bride and bridegroom was also served, bringing to a close a most happy occasion.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

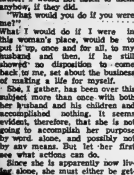
HER HUSBAND'S CHILDREN ARE RUINING HER MARRIAGE

I am an aged lady and have second husband whom I love very much. He was married six years, and now his children are ruining our marriage."

So begins a letter which continues:

"He is the father of four girls and six boys, the oldest being 28 and the youngest 18. All of them were willing to have us marry, yet they have always interfered and tried to separate us. Although I want more than anything else to be with my husband and have a home of our own, I agreed last year, to please him, to live in the home of this son of his. He told me we would only be there a short time. From the time we went there, however, his son's wife tried to make trouble between us, so I decided I would leave before joining my husband. He stayed on with them, and I have been unable to get him to come back to me. He has made many promises about doing this, but has never carried them out.

I myself have four children, two boys and two girls, and they would never dream of trying to come between me and their stepfather. I would not listen to them anyhow, if they did.



What would you do if you were me?"

What I would do if I were in this woman's place, would be to put it up, once and for all, to my husband and then, if he still showed no disposition to come back to me, set about the business of making a life for myself.

She, I gather, has been over this subject more than once with both her husband and his children and accomplished nothing. It seems evident, therefore, that she is not going to accomplish her purpose by word alone, and possibly not by any means. But let her first see what action can do.

Since she apparently now lives alone, she must either be getting money from her husband or children, or have some money of her own. She seems to be able to manage, from the economic angle, by herself.

I wish she had given me some idea of just how "aged" she really is, in she so feeble, for instance she is unable to get out and around and find things to occupy herself? Her letter leaves me dan't sound that way. Or does she

FRONT ROAD W.A.

The regularly monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Front Road United Church was held at the home of Mrs. John Bedding. The president was in charge and there was a fair attendance of members.

The secretary gave the report of the last meeting. Some business was discussed and each member is asked to please bring one homemade apron next month.

The president had charge of the devotional in the absence of Mrs. Clifford Reid. Those taking part were: Mrs. Geddes Bradshaw, Mrs. John Bedding, Mrs. Noble Brown and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell.

The president closed the meeting, after which refreshments were served.

merely mean that she is elderly, though still active? If the first is the case, then obviously, it would be far harder for her to find interests to occupy herself in alleviate loneliness and compensate to some degree for the loss of her husband's companionship. But if she does still have the ability to interest herself in activities available to her, then I suggest that she fill as much of her time as possible with them, not only to take her mind off her problem, but also to let her husband see that she is a woman of character, independence and initiative who will not allow herself to be doomed by the circumstances which have been thrust upon her, but who can, if she must, control her own destiny.

A demonstration of this kind might, actually, make some impression on him so that he might want to follow her example, declare his own independence and return to share an interesting, self-respecting life with his wife. Her program failed to bring this about, however, she would at least have gained some purpose in life, instead of wasting it by devoting it to futile efforts to get her husband back.

I wish, too, that I could have gained from this wife's letter a clearer idea of her personality so that it would be possible for people to judge whether or not she has qualities which might have alienated her husband and turned his children against her. She says that she would not permit her own children to interfere in her life. Does this mean solely that she is self-reliant and independent, as, of course, she should be, or does it suggest that she may be a domineering person, who bossed her husband and also bossed her children?

In any case, I hope she will not continue indefinitely, by arguments, pleading or possibly even reproaches, to gain back a man who weakly allows his children to tell him what to do. If her research into her own personality traits, as suggested above, gives her no clue to any reasons why her husband is content to live apart from her, let her drop the matter and make the most of any resources she can find that will bring her satisfaction.

GOOD MANNERS

THEY PLAN TO GIVE A TELEVISION SET

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My husband's mother and father will be celebrating their 30th Wedding Anniversary next month, and for the celebration we are to have an Open House in our home. His mother and father really would have no use for the usual "Gifts of gold" given at a party of this kind, but they have always longed to have a television set. His father is an invalid, and so he would receive particular enjoyment from this gift. However my husband is an only child, and he has very few relatives. Would it be proper for him to ask these few close relatives (two or three aunts and uncles, one or two, cousins) to contribute money toward a television set, instead of giving individual gifts? If you think it would be proper, should this suggestion be made on the "Open House" invitation, or how could it best be made? — A.E.

The is an involved idea, I think . . . to give this Golden Wedding couple, for this wonderful occasion, something that will give them such special happiness and comfort and joy. It's indeed an entirely proper plan. It is sensible, practical-with-charm. I advise, however, that this suggestion should be made verbally or by telephone . . . not incorporated in the invitation, since the plan needs some direct suggestions and talking-over. I advise, too, if you think it appropriate, that more relatives and close friends might be given the opportunity to contribute to this present. Perhaps you and your close relatives who know your husband's mother and father particularly well. Perhaps, too, have been dealing for some devoted, long-time friends of the couple.

It's delightfully true that practically all relatives and friends want to plan to give a present to the couple celebrating their Golden Wedding. It's usually difficult from all points of view to choose a "gift of gold," or even a gift of silver. So most people would heartily welcome the opportunity to contribute to something that would be welcomed and used by both the husband and his wife. "We all hope this 'Golden Wedding Anniversary' present will bring you both Golden Hours of happiness" might be the theme-song on the card accompanying this good and thoughtful present.

A BABY SHOWER QUESTION

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have been planning to give a baby shower for a very dear friend of mine. The baby-to-come will be her third child, and I had thought it was proper to give a baby shower for any baby, not just for the first baby. But recently, when I have discussed this shower with relatives and friends, several have insisted that a baby shower is given only for the first baby. Am I right or wrong?

— F.M.P.

You are right. A baby shower may correctly be given not only for first baby, but for any baby thereafter. And certainly fair, too . . . for why should the first baby be given all the glory and festivity?

Liver Shunners Become Liver Lovers

By Mary Moore

"Very anxious" is the pen name appended to this short letter:

Dear Madam: I have never been able to eat liver—not even look at it. As I am very run down, my doctor has ordered me to try and eat it. Can you suggest different ways to prepare or cook or dress it up?"

When you say the word "liver" to some folk they retort that calves' liver is the only kind that is good and that it is upwards of $1.00 per pound and thats' that.

If they knew that pork and beef liver have more excellent food nutrients than the more tender calf and lamb liver and that they can be cooked to satisfy the choosiest and most squeamish eaters, they would change their tunes.

Go ahead—try them then you will not have to depend on my say-so.

SPANISH LIVER WITH LIMAS

One lb. pork liver sliced less than 1-2-inch thick, 4 tablespoons flour seasoned with 3-4 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 onion sliced thinly, 3 tablespoons butter or oil, 1-2 to 3-4 cups canned or peel sliced tomatoes, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 3 cups cooking lima beans. Dredge the liver slices in the seasoned flour, and gently brown them with the onion in the butter, turning once, then add the tomatoes and salt and cover and simmer 1-2 hour. Serve the beans in centre of hot platter, place liver on top and pour over tomato sauce. To cook the beans soak 1 cup washed limas which have been shelled for a basic, overnight in the water in which they were soaked until just tender—about 40 minutes.

LIVER PASTIES

One-half lb. diced pork or beef liver, 3 small raw potatoes diced, 1 finely chopped onion, salt and pepper; 1 cup sifted pastry flour, 3-4 cup sifted whole wheat flour, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons shortening, cold water. Mix together the liver, potatoes and onion when they are diced and season with the salt and pepper. Sift the flours and salt (tipping the residue from the whole wheat flour out of the sifter into the bowl too) and cut into the flour with a pastry blender, then stir in barely enough cold water to make dough stick together as you do in making pastry for pies. Roll dough out on lightly floured board to 1-4-inch thickness. Cut out into 4-inch squares or circles and place a little of the meat and vegetable mixture on one half of each. Fold other half over and press lightly moistened edges together. Make 3 slash in top and if desired brush with beaten egg yolk. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour until you want these to be like the Cornish pasties they are copied from—or bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes and reduce heat to 350 to finish. This method may be used for leftover or tender raw beef.

CREAMED LIVER

Use 1 lb. thinly sliced baby beef liver for this. Have 3 tablespoons butter bubbling hot and golden in frying pan. Quickly saute on both sides the thinly sliced liver that has been dredged in seasoned flour, turning every minute until meat is just "set". Do not overcook. Remove liver to hot platter. To fat in pan add 3 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate and a little extra salt and pepper, stir well then add 1-2 cups rich milk and stir until thick. Do not strain this but pour it over the liver on platter and garnish with slender toast points and sprigs of parsley.

ELDORADO-UNION W.M.S.

Mrs. Frank Palmer was the hostess for the June meeting with 17 ladies present. Mrs. G. Blackburn, presiding, used as a meditation, "The Power of Prayer".

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given also a report on the community friendship activities for the past month. A letter was read concerning "School For Leaders". It was decided to have the July meeting postponed until July 8th, at the home of Mrs. Beryl Carmen.

Mrs. D. Robinson and Mrs. G. Blackburn gave the highlights of the meeting of the presidents at the home of Mrs. Barnett, Tweed.

It was arranged that anyone having any articles for a bale, to leave them with Mrs. C. Champion as soon as possible.

Mrs. D. Robinson was in charge of the program, the theme being, "The Christian in his Vocation."

The Scripture and comments on same were taken by Mrs. Dan Robinson, Mrs. Claud Blakely, and Mrs. Frank Walker.

A most interesting discussion panel was presented by Mrs. D. Robinson, Mrs. B. Carmen and Mrs. A. Robinson.

After the benediction, a social time was spent while Mrs. F. Palmer and her assistants served refreshments.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

BOILED POWDER RAISE A BEAUTY MENACE

Blackheads, a common beauty problem, are often self-inflicted. The girl who is not as fastidious as she should be will wash her face, dry it carefully and then, out of sheer surface, apply powder with a pad of dubious cleanliness. It does not make sense.

Lamb's wool pads are washable. Dopped in soap and rinsed in warm water, fluffed out, they can be used again and again. When not being used, they should be kept in plastic cases so as not to pick up atmospheric dust. Some women prefer to use tiny squares of absorbent cotton. They cut a quantity of them, keep them in a glass jar.

That little rosy pad in the rouge compact should also be regarded with suspicion after a certain term of service. It, soiled, is more dust into the pores. Then blackheads appear that do develop into pimples. And there is real trouble. Acne can prove stubborn even under professional treatment.

Powder pads aren't the only items that call for hygienic attention if a girl is to be free of beauty problems. Combs and brushes should be washed frequently. Wash cloths should be fresh every time they are used. Rags are an abomination.

Even more important is rinsing the toothbrush after it has been used. One should, rightly, have two brushes so a clean one will always be on hand. They should be placed bristles-end upward, in a rack or dry.

The cap of the tube of toothpaste should be kept on so the contents will be free of dust. Jars of creams must be kept tightly covered as exposure to the air may change the consistency of the contents. To conserve perfumes, the stoppers of the bottles must be tight, the fragrance kept in a cool place away from the light if evaporation is not to occur.

Public School Fun Fair Well Attended

DESERONTO — The Deseronto Public School "Fun Fair", held during the past week, was a most successful event.

The program, presented by the pupils, under the direction of the teachers, assisted by Mrs. McTavish, was enjoyed by a large number of parents and friends.

A number of pupils in costume entertained during the afternoon.

The booths for the various rooms were all patronized as was the tea room under the supervision of the members of the Home and School Association.

W.A. Sponsors Attractive Tea

Bowerman's W.A. held an afternoon tea on Thursday in the Orange hall, Allisonville, with over 109 ladies present. The hall was decorated with lilacs and lily-of-the-valley, irises, tulips, pansies and peonies.

The small tables were laden with white luncheon cloths, flowers, fancy dishes and serviettes.

Mrs. Ray Ferguson and Mrs. Sherman Weir welcomed the guests at the door. Five W.A.'s were entertained, Wellington, Rose Hall, Melville, Crofton and Burr's.

The president, Mrs. Ferguson, was in the chair. Mrs. George Hendry kindly played for the hymns. Mrs. Bruce Wilson and Mrs. Harold Johnston took charge of the Scripture reading and devotional leaflet.

Mrs. Ferguson graciously welcomed the guests.

Each Aid gave a number on the program: Wellington, Mrs. Shineberg and Mrs. Dean gave a duet with Mrs. Alyea being accompanists; Crofton favored with a quartet.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. Morley Davidson from Massassaga, who gave an interesting address. Rose Hall gave a duet by Mrs. Wesley Cunningham and Mrs. Leonard McCartney. Melville, Mrs. Arnold Cruickshanks a reading; Burr's, Mrs. Douglas Harnes also a reading. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. Douglas Harnes.

Collection amounted to $32.75.

Refreshments were served by all of Bowerman's W.A. members. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Ferguson and the Bowerman's W.A. by Mrs. Alyea, of Wellington, and was seconded by Mrs. Gray, of Crofton.

The afternoon was a grand success.

Bonarlaw Man Escapes Injury As Car Upsets

CAMPBELLFORD — Harold Brunton, 49, of R.R. 1, Bonarlaw, escaped with only a shaking up early Sunday morning, when his car he was driving north on the West River Road went out of control and crashed into a pole about 1 a.m. The car, owned by Jack Brunton, of R.R. 4, Campbellford, son of the driver, was badly smashed.

The car veered sharply on two wheels, crossed to the west side of the highway, struck a hydro pole, snapping it off about five feet from the ground, then skidded on its side about 50 feet before coming to rest. Nearby residents heard the crash and assisted the driver from the overturned car. Although uninjured, he was unable to get out of the vehicle.

Mr. Brunton was unable to explain the accident, but said he believed he must have gone to sleep at the wheel. OPP Constable Doug. Ross of Campbellford investigated.

Only other accident reported to the Campbellford police over the weekend was a minor mishap at Wartman's Corners Saturday afternoon on a county road about a mile south of Warkworth.

A car driven by Arnold Beatty, 40, of Warkworth, was travelling south when it collided with a westbound vehicle turning north and driven by Beecher McDonald, 62, of Percila.

The cars met almost head-on, but very little damage resulted. Neither driver sustained injury. OPP Constable Doug. Ross investigated.

Rev. Beverly L. Oaten Tells Of 'Five Oaks' Inspiring Work

By MRS. PERCY MACMULLEN

RAWDON — On Sunday evening, Mount Pleasant United Church on Rawdon circuit, was filled to capacity with a large number of extra chairs needed to seat the guests with visitors from all nearby churches in attendance.

The edifice was a bower of beauty with baskets and vases of seasonal blooms, peonies, spirea and phlox predominating. This was the third annual service of the Two-by-Two club and was under the direction of the presidents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hoard, and the pastor, Rev. R. B. Bonsteel, B.A., B.D.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver presided at the piano and the processional was a 12th century hymn by Ray Palmer, that rest, shade and peace might bring cheer to lonely hearts.

WELCOME TENDERED

Mr. Ed. Richardson voiced welcome to the large assembly of worshippers and invited them to attend the "Fellowship Hour" in the hall, following the service.

Mrs. Milford Wrightman read the Bible lesson based on St. Paul's letter to the Colosians re giving thanks to God.

Hastings United Church male quartet, Messrs. Clifford Scriver, Fred Crate, Ross Burnham, Leerle Humphries, with their accompanist, Mrs. J. M. Baker, sang two selections, "For You I Am Praying" and "Steal Away to Jesus."

The offering was gathered by Messrs. James Hoard, Mac Sharp, Harry McAdam and Burton Sharpe.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mr. Bonsteel introduced the special guest speaker, Rev. Beverly L. Oaten, of Paris, Ontario, who is director of Five Oaks Christian Training Centre, which is located where Whiteman's Creek joins the Grand river, near Paris, Ontario.

Mr. Oaten applied the Bible lesson when St. Paul was talking to the early Christian saints to the everyday world of today. He noted that folks who are members of the United Church of Canada still need direction and help, as they often stray from the path of righteousness.

In the English language there are seven words that designate mean things to every one word that says you are a grand guy.

The speaker gave a bird's eye view of "Five Oaks", with its carpet of yellow dandelions and flocks of wild canaries and pictured the vast beauty of this retreat. It is a centre for five central conference of the United Church of Canada, and tries to inspire lay workers to give their time and talents for their home church and community.

Mr. Oaten graphically pictured the invasion of little ones from heaven, who come to this Canada of ours each year, and the tremendous work of the United Church in providing Sunday Schools, leaders and teachers and all the expansion work needed to care for this young group of future citizens.

RECONSECRATED LIVES

He gave several illustrations and true narratives of lives that had been reconsecrated to some useful field, and said, "the special job that "Five Oaks" is to help people grow in grace."

He pictured God's children all gathered in Mount Pleasant Church, Sunday evening, with each one expected to carry on His work in their particular sphere, and he challenged his hearers to listen to the words of Paul—"Make plain the message of Jesus Christ, every day in whatever job you have."

Mr. Oaten suggested that Paul's prayer be learned and used by Sunday School teachers, leaders of organizations, and closed with the Bible quotation, "Let the peace of God rule in your hearts and whatsoever ye do, give thanks to God." He stressed the thought that "Happy is the home when God is there."

Thanks were voiced to Mr. Oaten for his worthwhile address and to the group from Hastings for their message of song.

The service closed with "God Labor On," as written by Horatius Bonar.

FELLOWSHIP HOUR

The church hall was a bower of bloom and approximately 175 people were seated for the Fellowship Hour.

Mrs. R. B. Bonsteel led the group in a sing-song of familiar hymns.

The Hastings' quartet sang "Nearer My God to Thee", and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Mr. James Hoard presided over the service and voiced thanks at the close to everyone who had contributed to the success of the evening.

Rev. Beverly Oaten gave an informal address filled with inspirational scenes all described by Mr. Oaten.

FIVE OAKS OBJECTIVE

He told how the faith of a few people in this unique venture had been gloriously justified and was paying big dividends in helping people in various walks of life. The centre tries to meet the needs of local churches and provide lay leaders with inspiration and training.

There is much work yet to be accomplished, such as painting, gardening, carpentry, office work, and camp supervision and any one in the Sunday night group could be assured of a job with time for discussion and worship if they visited "Five Oaks" this summer.

Members of the club served cookies and tea at the close of the Fellowship Hour and all enjoyed a short social time together.

The officers of the club are—past presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McAdam; presidents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hoard; vice-presidents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Richardson; secretaries, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Wrightman; treasurers, Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Smith.

This was an outstanding service on Rawdon circuit and it was made possible because Mr. Oaten is a friend of the parsonage folk and he was attending Bay of Quinte conference in Belleville, this week.

During his few days in the Belleville area, he was a guest of Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Bonsteel, Rawdon parsonage.

CAMPBELLFORD

Young Adults Club Plans Future Activities

CAMPBELLFORD — St. John's Young Adults Club held its regular monthly meeting in the United Church Sunday School hall on Thursday night. Bob Moorecroft and Anne Pallister conducted the devotional period, during which Don Baldwin contributed a solo, "Green Pastures."

During the business discussion it was agreed to assist the W.A. at the garden party on Friday, June 11, by operating a refreshment booth. Those who will operate the booth include Anne Nicholls, Clayton Robertson, Joyce Gunter, Vicki Wilson, Joyce Rowe, Anne Pallister, Muriel Heagle, Wayne Gunter, Phyllis Fisher and Don Baldwin.

It was further agreed that the June meeting would take the form of a wiener roast on the regular meeting date. The spot chosen was Crowe River bridge.

VARIETY SHOW

Plans for a variety show to be prepared by the club as a venture in the autumn, will be undertaken. It was decided after a unanimous vote. Those named as the leaders in this project include Don Baldwin, Ruth Thompson, Walter Elliott, Mel McKeown and Anne Pallister.

The program was introduced by a vocal solo by Isobel Wallace, "The Hills of Killarney." Later Don Baldwin offered a second solo, "Bless This House."

The feature of the meeting was a talk by Rev. Gordon Whitehorse concerning his student days in Newfoundland, now Canada's tenth province. Mr. Whitehorse has been most generous with his time and talent in addressing the Young Adults' club on subjects of great interest. In his talk on Newfoundland he outlined many facts and matters of personal interest concerning his days in this cold colony of Great Britain.

There were four visitors at this meeting.

Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Barnum and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bell spent the week end in Watertown, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and Mr. Arthur Brown attended the graduation exercises of the Hospital for Sick Children, held in Convocation Hall, Toronto, on June 1st. Miss Florence Brown, who won the proficiency award in the graduating class, was one of the 58 graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dutton, of Detroit, attended the Jeffs—Orser wedding in St. John's United Church in May.

Mr. and Mrs. George Matthews, of Kingston, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McConnell, of Inkerman St.

Miss Veronica O'Leary, Reg. N of Peterborough, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Centre St.

Week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoard were: Mr. and Mrs. George Hubble and family, of Rochester, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCaughterty and Mrs. Walter Roberts, all of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hoard, Billie and Bobbie, of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ames and their daughter, June, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jaques attended the diamond wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ames, at Codrington last Sunday afternoon.

Messrs. Sid Hopping and Jack Clark left Saturday to attend the car races at Indianapolis, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Smith and Joanne were in Toronto on Sunday to attend a reunion of Mrs. Smith's relatives. Relatives were present from Toronto, Belleville, Camp Borden, Campbellford, New York City and Manchester, New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mills, of Burlington, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Malcolm on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Morrison and two boys, Wayne and Douglas, of Garson, Ontario, spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. George Morrison, Queen St.

Civil Defence Preparations For Major Air Attack Stand Best Chance in West Canada

Editor's Note: Canada's cities have taken varied-length steps in civil defence planning. Frebel Rhode, Canadian Press business editor, gathered information about this planning in a cross-country study. He tells about it in this story, one of a series.

By FORBES RHODE

Canadian Press Business Editor

In what part of Canada do present civil defence preparations provide the best chance of surviving a major air attack?

The most general answer I received to that question during a cross-country study was: "Western Canada."

In which of the major cities would you have the best chance?

The most general answer was: "Vancouver and Edmonton."

In what large centre would you have the least chance?

The most general answer was: "Toronto."

ARGUE OVER COST

Civil defence can flare into controversy in Toronto quicker than in any place else, with heated arguments about what responsibility is whose.

Toronto civic authorities regard civil defence as part of national defence and think its cost is primarily the responsibility of the federal government. They consider federal contributions inadequate.

Civil defence, they add, is for the benefit of the whole country and its cost shouldn't fall on the taxpayer whose municipality happens to be a target area.

This view is shared by the governments of Ontario and Quebec.

Wherever the responsibility may rest, Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence, civil defence director for the Toronto metropolitan area, tackles his mountainous task with a staff of three, including himself, compared with, say, Vancouver area's full-time staff of 29.

EXERCISE ALERT

Toronto civil defence headquarters will take part on paper in the country-wide exercise alert June 14-15, but if there were an actual strike, judging by its location, it would be either a ruin of shattered glass or else in a wiped-out area.

Many other headquarters across Canada are in the same situation.

However, out this illustrates the difficulty of drawing comparisons between one part of the country and another. Ontario is well-advanced on a hose and hydrant-thread standardization program which may, under attack, save more lives than almost any other civil defence activity. Ontario also has, in the event of attack, an operational plan for its highways.

These two programs would undoubtedly save many lives in Toronto, as well as throughout the province. Without the hose standardization program it would be almost impossible for Toronto to receive outside fire-fighting aid.

Alberta and British Columbia also have hose standardization programs.

Western Canada, more than the east, seems to take civil defence as part of present-day life, and goes along with the federal government in most respects.

VANCOUVER ORGANIZATION

In Vancouver I sat in with the harbor services committee, which has met monthly for three years—just one part of Vancouver target area's widespread organization.

I was told that the harbor services' nine sections each has an operating plan and that, on word of impending attack:

Ships would move to dispersal points; small vessels in congested harbor areas would shift to places of possible population evacuation, perhaps to English bay to relieve Vancouver's crowded west end; railways would make sure cars weren't across traffic intersections; oil companies would close valves to guard against seepage onto the harbor; and so on.

MUCH TO DO

Air Vice-Marshal F. V. Heakes, co-ordinator for the greater Vancouver target area, said that on the basis of a public exercise last June, Vancouver streets "would clear like that" on an alarm.

Nevertheless Mr. Heakes said, with a smile, don't boost Vancouver too much for what had been done—there is still so much to do.

For instance, a well-placed atomic bomb would wipe out virtually every major hospital in Vancouver. I have been told plans in Canada prepared to deal with almost complete hospital destruction, although quite a few have hospital disaster plans.

Maj.-Gen. C. R. Sharpe, provincial co-ordinator, says "flexibility" is the key word in British Columbia, and the province is in an advanced stage of organization by areas. A new protected provincial headquarters has been built on Vancouver Island's Saanich peninsula.

SAFETY MEASURES

Alberta's operations building, on Edmonton's outskirts, has 1½ feet-thick walls and five-foot roof. Civil defence workers and training has been carried out with co-operation of community organizations.

At the same time, I was told in Edmonton that probably not more than 50 per cent of the people would know what the siren meant if they sounded for real attack.

Operation alert will undoubtedly boost public awareness everywhere.

Calgary is making progress after some initial uncertainties. Lethbridge is an example of smaller cities, of which there are a number across Canada, which have taken civil defence to heart without being obvious targets themselves. The Alberta government is aggressively aiming at organization in every community.

RECEPTION AREA

Saskatchewan, without obvious atomic targets—although Regina and Saskatoon would be attractive to a harassed pilot with a bomb load—has been designated a "reception area."

The 200 chapters of the ladies auxiliary of the Canadian Legion have made a house-to-house canvas to see how many refugees could be accommodated, and John O. Probe provincial co-ordinator, estimates that 50,000 people could be taken care of in this way alone.

"If another Winnipeg flood came we would know where to send people," he said.

Saskatchewan has concentrated on selling civil defence for any emergency, even tying it in to traffic and farm accidents, fires, polio, foot and mouth disease.

VALUABLE PLANNING

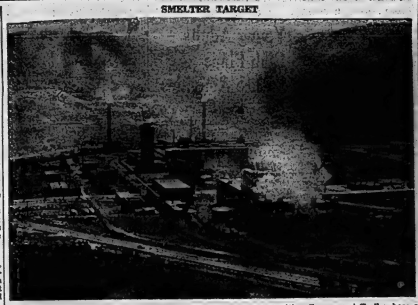
Manitoba, with its 1950 floods, has had more recent experience with widespread disaster than any other part of Canada. Winnipeg is its obvious target in war and, on the experience of considerable programs to date, is preparing overall plans for evacuation which should be of value to other communities.

In Ontario, despite differences as to their financial responsibility, Windsor, London, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Sarnia, Sudbury, Brockville, Fort William, are among cities with aggressive programs.

London is considered to have a particularly well - balanced program and St. Catharines is considered somewhat of a model for smaller cities.

C. H. F. Fletcher, Windsor director, emphasizing the distance yet to go, says Windsor could do a good job on a disaster of the proportions of a tornado which destroyed 100 homes.

THOUSANDS TRAINED



In Ottawa the federal government has 2,000 trained personnel in its buildings but civil defence circles regard the city at large as in much the same category as Toronto in terms of civil defence preparedness.

Montreal, Quebec and Trois-Rivieres area, and Arvida aluminum industry are Quebec's principal civil defence concerns.

Montreal has one of the most advanced programs in eastern Canada, particularly among its industries.

SMELTER TARGET

British Columbia civil defence authorities say their organization is in an advanced stage but many points in the province would be considered good targets by a potential enemy. This view shows part of the giant plant of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail, where a substantial part of the Western world's non-ferrous metals are produced. (CP from National Film Board.)

CONVOY PORT

The city of Halifax, with memories of the 1917 explosion that killed some 1,700 persons, is civil defence-conscious. The city, a convoy port in the Second World War, had another scare when a naval magazine some miles away blew up in 1945 causing millions of dollars in damage and no civilian deaths. Halifax civil defence authorities say their program is reasonably well started but still has a long way to go. This view shows part of the city's port installations. The buildings with towers in the foreground are: (left to right) the federal government building and the customs house. The ferry between Halifax and Dartmouth, immediately across the harbor, moves into its slip in the foreground. (CP from National Film Board).

SPEEDS DRYING

Fresh-cut or green lumber may be dried more swiftly by a process using ammonium carbonate.

SPEED DEATH

Alexandria was the capital of Egypt for 1,000 years after its founding in 332 BC.

ANCIENT CAPITAL

RECALLS EXPLOSION

Halifax, with memories of its wartime 1917 explosion which killed 1,700 people, is civil defence conscious, but apparently still far from coping with problems of large-scale attack.

E. J. Vickery, Halifax director, said after we had both listened to a civil defence welfare lecture at the Civil Defence College at Arnprior, Scar Ottawa.

"Our welfare program is reasonably well started—that is; I thought it was until we heard all that today."

Considerable training has been done in Halifax, but Mr. Vickery seemed to think all programs have a long way to go.

VARIOUS PROGRAMS

Industrial Sydney's program is getting underway.

Air Vice-Marshal A. L. Elorlee, recently-appointed Nova Scotia co-ordinator, said organization of engineering services "is not in a bad way, at least on paper." The department of highways keeps a check on location of vehicles for quick call and special attention is paid to communications.

Prince Edward Island considers itself a reception area for refugees and Newfoundland's program is developing.

All programs must be assessed against the jobs in mind—from the handling of minor disasters to the holocaust of atomic bombing.

Actually releases up to 15% more power by overcoming lead and carbon deposits constantly accumulating in your engine

Acts before you've finished your second tankful

Think of it! Without touching a tool—you can get up to 15% more power from your engine automatically.

The main cause of power loss—pre-ignition and misfiring—can now be overcome by the gasoline you use.

It's an engineering fact

All of today's gasolines—because they are designed to meet the needs of modern high-compression engines—contain deposit-forming compounds. This means that lead and carbon deposits are constantly accumulating in most engines. These deposits rob you of power two ways!

In combustion chambers the deposits get so hot they set off the fuel mixture prematurely. The explosion hits the piston before it's reached the proper firing position.

When this happens, power works against you, not for you. It is called pre-ignition, and it occurs most often when you actually need more power—for accelerating or climbing a hill.

The second way these deposits steal power is by coating the ends of your spark plugs. Because the deposits divert electricity, the spark "shorts out," the plug misfires. Fuel is unburned, produces no power—just wastes your money!

Now you can get that power back—tune your engine without tools with a new kind of gasoline. You do this by using Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP—the greatest gasoline development since the introduction of tetraethyl lead.

TCP additive breaks through the power barrier set up by the lead and carbon deposits. It "fireproofs" the hot spots in combustion chambers, prevents pre-ignition. Power works for you again.

And on spark plugs, it changes the nature of the deposits to prevent misfiring. You get a full spark again and the spark plug fires every time. Your engine smooths out and delivers up to 15% more power.

TCP acts quickly

Before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. Remember, because these lead and carbon deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits. Shell Premium with TCP is available only at your Shell dealer's.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Highway Committee Members Leave for Northern Ontario On Second Fact-Finding Tour

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's select committee investigating alleged irregularities in the highways department left today for northern Ontario on the second of three fact-finding tours.

The 11-man committee, headed by chairman Kelso Roberts (PC-Toronto St. Patrick) will inspect new highway construction between Parry Sound, Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie.

The bus tour will cover certain areas involved in the widespread investigation which has resulted in criminal proceedings against departmental employees and high-way contractors and their firms.

"The trip will give us a real proper picture of the extent of highway construction as well as the general areas involved in the investigation," Mr. Roberts said in an interview Tuesday.

OTHER OFFICIALS

Accompanying the committee will be H. A. Tregaskes, a trans-Canada highway engineer attached to the department, and F. C. W. Flegg, executive assistant to John B. Metcalf, deputy minister of highways.

Also on the trip will be Duncan Gordon of J. D. Woods and Gordon Ltd., Toronto management consultants who last month submitted a controversial report to the committee on the proposed re-organization of the highways department.

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver, a member of the committee, said Tuesday he would be unable to travel north due to an engagement in eastern Ontario. Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab., Cochrane) also spoken critic of the department and another opposition member of the committee, along with W. J. Grummett, Liberal leader, were expected to join the party.

RECEIVE DELEGATIONS

Neither Mr. Oliver nor Mr. Wren travelled with the committee to Albany, N.Y., last week to meet state highway department officials.

Mr. Roberts said the committee expects to receive one or two delegations from communities along the northern route.

"It will also have an opportunity to discuss informally on the road various questions relating to the investigation."

The committee's itinerary calls for stops today at Gravenhurst, Parry Sound, Hagger, French River and Sudbury. After an overnight stop in Sudbury, it will leave for Sault Ste. Marie, with intermediate stops at Thessalon and Blind River. The committee will fly back to Toronto Friday.

ANOTHER TRIP

Next Wednesday, the committee will leave on a 10-day tour that will take it to Bismarck, N.D., and the Lakehead. The committee will meet for two days with North Bay highway department officials whose areas will be visited as they are similar to those existing in Ontario. Then it will be on hand for an extensive survey of highway construction in the Thunder Bay area, scene of the original investigation into the irregularities last fall.

Tuesday in Port Arthur, four former employees of the highways department at Fort William were given jail terms after pleading guilty to charges of fraud and conspiracy involving some $15,000 through the falsifying of government time sheets.

AIR CHIEF TO RETIRE

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the top Air Force figures, Air Vice-Marshal Arthur L. James will retire Sept. 1 as head of air defence command.

With the last legal barrier removed in the harnessing of St. Lawrence for electric power, construction of huge generators will begin in July, according to Ontario Hydro chairman Robert Saunders. The legalities ended when the U.S. supreme court decided that New York state could proceed with Ontario in the project. Power development, though part of the St. Lawrence seaway project, will start ahead of the actual preparation of the river for deep-sea vessels. This model of a section of the St. Lawrence shows how it will look at Barnhart Island when the power development is completed. First tenders on the power construction work will be called for June 21. (Central Press Canadian).

State Secretary Opposes Move To Reduce Age

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Pickering said Tuesday any move to reduce the federal voting age to 18 from 21 would considerably increase the cost of general elections.

He made the statement in opposing a bill introduced by Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) to reduce the federal voting age by three years.

Mr. Pickering said there should be no reduction of the voting age without a change in the age at which people assume full legal responsibility in Canada. That age now was 21 and it should carry with it the right to vote.

Granting the franchise to persons between 18 and 21 would mean that from 250,000 to 300,000 new electors would vote. "I doubt very much whether the results of elections would be changed to any material degree."

A reduction in the present age also would impose on many Canadians the duty "of making up their minds about questions on which two or three years more reflection would probably enable them to reach conclusions which would be more valid."

Mr. Pickering said he felt the electorate is a little more apt to be well-informed if the voting age is left at 21.

Defence Counsel Requests Police To Halt Methods

QUEBEC (CP)—Defence counsel for Wilbert Coffin Tuesday asked the Quebec Superior Court to halt "Gestapo methods" of Quebec provincial police officers who he said detained one of his aides for more than five hours of questioning last month. The petition will be heard Thursday.

The petition, filed Tuesday by Raymond Mahler, counsel for the accused killer of one of three American hunters slain last summer in the Gaspe wilderness, mentions Detective-Sergeant Bouchard, and says Premier Duplessis, Provincial Secretary Antonio Talbot and Lt.-Col. Leon Lambert, chief of the provincial police, are implicated.

Provincial police are under the jurisdiction of Premier Duplessis who is also Quebec's attorney-general. Mr. Rivard's department administers the force.

The request for a court injunction said Detective-Sergeant Bouchette Roland (Pat) Mercier and Sgt. Jean Marie van Houtte followed Mahler's aide, Jean Guy Hamel for 30 days, questioned him threatened and intimidated him and tried to bribe him.

Grounding of Destroyer Poses Thorny Question

OTTAWA (CP)—Where do the responsibilities of a captain of a ship end—or is there any end to them?

This thorny question faces a court martial panel which must settle its decision may hinge a revolution in naval tradition.

The problem was brought out Tuesday in the appeals to the board by two naval officers, Cmdr. Richard Chenoweth of Montreal and Lt.-Cmdr. T. J. C. Thomas of Dartmouth, N.S.

Navy court martial at Halifax in August found them guilty of negligence in the grounding of the Canadian destroyer Huron on Yang Do Island off the east coast of Korea July 13, 1953. They were sentenced to receive severe reprimands.

NO ONE HURT

Chenoweth was the captain and Thomas officer of the watch at the time of the night-time mishap. No one was hurt and the Huron was refloated three hours later.

Evidence was that Thomas, on he bridge, received a suggestion from the navigator that he alter course 20 degrees port (to the left), Thomas asked the navigator to check. The navigator checked and again suggested the 20-degree alteration which was carried out. The ship hit the island two minutes later.

Counsel for Thomas argued that the navigator had given Thomas advice indicating that the ship was perilously close to land.

Counsel for Chenoweth contended that Thomas took the only possible action with the information with which he was working. He could not be blamed for an error by a subordinate. (The navigator, Lieut. George Emerson of Bathurst, N.B., was also found guilty by the court martial but did not appeal).

Chenoweth was in his sea cabin. Counsel argued that he could not be responsible for the safety of his ship at all times.

Counsel for Chenoweth and Thomas maintained that the navy tradition that a superior officer can be found in default if his subordinate defaults has no basis in law.

The board's judgments are expected to be handed down next month.

Sewage Disposal Plants Will Be Ready in 3 Yrs.

TORONTO (CP) — Plans for proper sewage disposal plantl to treat pollution in the Grand River will be ready by July 1, 1957, it was agreed Tuesday.

Mayors and engineers representing 12 western Ontario municipalities agreed on the date at a meeting with Ontario Health Minister Phillips and other health department officials.

Dr. Phillips gave the municipal officials three years to prepare plans. He said he disliked "must" legislation, but in the present situation his department's request could be termed "a reasonable must." Pollution could become the No. 1 health problem in the province.

WILL GIVE AID

Dr. Phillips said his department will give every possible help in the preparation of the plans and will undertake public educational work throughout the area.

As for financial assistance, Dr. Phillips said the Ontario government can not do any more for Grand River valley municipalities than for any other districts of the province.

However, he said, recent research indicates the possibility of creating a new and more effective commercial fertilizer from sewage. If this proved feasible, the municipalities concerned could get a return from the sale of such fertilizer.

Dr. E. Berry, head of the department's sanitary engineering division, said the different cities and towns involved might help their financing of the sewage disposal projects by adopting sewer "rental" plans whereby service rates are charged those using the units.

It was agreed that the provincial government should check the progress in planning by the different municipalities and report the overall picture to each one.

Dr. Berry said elimination of pollution by industrial waste will be synchronized by the municipal programs. Industrial waste problems would co-operate in solving pollution problems.

Cities and towns represented at the meeting included Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Brantford and Guelph.

Angler Claims Muskie Caught A Record One

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Bob Malo of Port Arthur said Tuesday he caught a 69-pound, 10-ounce muskellunge Sunday in Middle Eau Claire lake, about 60 miles south of Duluth, Minn. It would be a world record if recognized.

The official record for muskies is 69 pounds, 11 ounces. This was caught by Louis Spray in Chippewa Flowage, Wis., Oct. 20, 1949.

Malo said he is not sure his claim to a world record will get official recognition because he already has had his trophy stuffed. He said he had it weighed before several witnesses before taking it to a taxidermist in Duluth.

THREE DIE IN FIRE

Three women were burned to death in this fire that gutted a two-storey warehouse on York Street in Ottawa's lowertown market area. Damage was estimated at more than $2,000,000. Bodies of two of the women were found at their sewing machines in the second storey of the brick structure, used as a warehouse and textile form-manufacturing plant. The body of a third was found near-by. (CP Photo.)

Justices Quash Supermarket's Appeal Against Assessment

TORONTO (CP)—A Loblaw Groceterias Company Ltd., appeal against assessment as a department store by the city of Niagara Falls was quashed Tuesday by the Ontario Court of Appeal.

The company now may have far-reaching effects on the assessment of super markets in Ontario, could also affect a number of other large stores in the province.

Effect of the decision handed down by Mr. Justice Wilfred D. Roach is that Loblaws store in Niagara Falls will be taxed as a department store.

Mr. Justice J. K. K. Mackay and Mr. Justice J. A. Hope agreed with the judgment.

NO JURISDICTION

Mr. Justice Roach said "we are all of the opinion that the motion set out in the so-called stated case does not include any question of law.

"The issue as to whether the appellant was a retail merchant dealing in more than five branches of the retail trade is a question of fact only. This court has no jurisdiction. An order will go quashing the appeal for lack of jurisdiction."

The city was given costs. The case was brought before the Court of Appeal by Judge H. E. Fuller of Welland county on an appeal to him by the firm from a decision of the city's court of revision.

The Niagara Falls store had been assessed as a retail merchant dealing in more than five branches of retail trade or business in the same premises where assessed value of the premises exceeds $20,000." The company contended it should have been assessed as "carrying on the up by a pneumatic drill.

business of a retail merchant."

TAXED 9 PER CENT

At a department store it will be taxed at 50 per cent of the assessed value of its Niagara Falls property. Retail merchants' rates vary from 25 to 50 per cent, depending on the size of the municipality.

The company had argued before Judge Fuller that the quantity of goods sold in certain articles and on which the department store ruling was based were minute in scale, but Judge Fuller said this did not "constitute the measure upon which one must decide whether or not such goods are or are not a branch of retail trade."

Evidence before Judge Fuller was that the store sold foods, kitchen goods (hardware), toilet articles, magazines, stove polish, tobaccos, bakery, motor oils and anti-freeze.

All Commissioners To Be Given Equal Salary

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition parties Tuesday night launched a vigorous attempt to force the government to drop a proposal to give the cabinet authority to fix salaries of the 14-member Canadian pension commission.

Spokesmen for all opposition groups protested that the proposal would destroy the independence of the commission and would take away from Parliament the right to set salaries of commissioners. Salaries now are set by the Pension Act.

The government's proposal was that the cabinet should have authority to fix the salaries of the commissioners, 12 of whom are appointed for a 10-year term and additional ones for one-year terms.

PROPOSES AMENDMENT

After considerable debate, the government successfully proposed an amendment requiring salaries of all commissioners to be equal. This was approved by a vote of 82 to 32 after opposition by Progressive Conservatives, CCF Social Credit and two independent members—Raoul Poulin, Beauce and Paul Gagnon, Chicoutimi.

The Opposition argued that the commission is a judicial body which investigates and rules on claims by veterans for pensions. As such, salaries should be fixed in the same manner as for judges —by statute.

John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) said the opposition intends to fight the proposal despite the lateness of the present session of Parliament.

SAYS WON'T INTERFERE

Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe said the proposal for the number of amendments to the Pension Act, will not result in any government interference with the independence or autonomy of the commission. Otherwise he would not have recommended the change to the government.

Commissioners now were appointed by Governor-in-council for terms ranging from one to 10 years and could be removed from office by the governor in council. That procedure had not resulted in any interference with the independence of the commissioners.

Mr. Lapointe also said parliament must approve salaries fixed by the cabinet. The salaries would come before the Commons each session in the estimates of the veterans affairs department.

The only purpose of the amendment was to make the Pension Act more flexible.

Adopt Report

PARIS (AP)—The foreign affairs committee of the National Assembly today adopted a report urging that the assembly refuse to ratify the European Defence Community.

Among those who voted against EDC were six Socialists who flouted the instructions given by a special party congress.

The committee's action is not an accurate indication of what might happen when the European army treaty comes up for ratification in the full assembly. The assembly often refuses to accept the advice of its committees.

Marshall Islanders Claim They Were Poisoned After Fall of Radio-Active Ash

A shifting wind cast radioactive ash along an uncharted path in the Pacific during the March 1 testing of the United States hydrogen bomb. The result was injury in two score natives and a petition to the United Nations which sums up the Marshall Islanders' feelings towards the radio-active ash and the loss of their land. To get the facts at the scene, William J. Wenig, Associated Press news correspondent, went to the Marshalls and spent 19 days interviewing injured persons and their leaders and also personnel who run the atomic tests. This is the first of two stories reporting his preliminary findings. They were delayed by censorship in the U.S. defense department, Atomic Energy Commission and state department. Only minor deletions were made in the original copy, however.

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

KWAJALEIN, Marshall Island (AP) — They call themselves "the poisoned people."

Now, more than 82 natives of Rongelap atoll who were showered by radio-active ash from the March 1 explosion of a hydrogen bomb here.

One of them, John Anjin, said the ash rained down for 24 hours.

"It looked like salt," he said. "It came down in a light mist. You could feel it strike your skin. It burned when it touched."

Some of the "poisoned people" lost their hair. Others were burned. Almost all of them have cured now, but they have been banished from their homes for a year. They are among the few hundred natives who have petitioned the United Nations to end atomic experiments in the area, or at least to see that the United States observes closer precautions.

In the March 1 blast the 82 persons on Rongelap and 134 on Utirik were exposed or endangered to such an extent that they were removed from their home atolls. The Utirik people have gone back, but the Rongelapers must wait a year until their atoll is considered safe.

Anjin, a Rongelap leader, described the March 1 explosion:

"First saw light, then smoke. Smoke went way up and right through the clouds. Later heard and felt blast. Wind so strong some people fell down. It banged doors.

STILL HAS BURN

Of the 82 Rongelapers, about 45 suffered radiation burns. Many of these were slight. One man, Tomaa Nanli, still has a bad burn on the back of his right ear, three months after the explosion.

A few days after exposure, hair of the swollen heads began losing their hair. Three days after the blast all survivors suffered severe nausea in the residents. All started taking showers. Then a medical team was flown from the U.S.

In April a survey party visited the two affected atolls. It was decided the Utirik people could return home, with adequate water and food supplies to be furnished them, but it was determined the Rongelap people should not. They stay off their atoll for a year.

"There is no danger to the people," Anjin said. "I think it will disappear if we get back home. They trust the American people."

Presbyterians Adopt 12-Point Faith Declaration

TORONTO (CP)—A 12-point declaration of faith concerning church and state, which took almost five years to draft, was adopted Tuesday night by the 80th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The declaration affirmed Christ as head of both church and state. It asserted the limitless relationship between church and state and outlined their respective rights and duties.

The interim statement, which will be sent to the church's 48 presbyteries for "conclusive review", was presented by Rev. Stuart Coles of Oshawa, Ont., and supported on the assembly floor by Rev. M. Digangi of Hamilton.

STANDING VOTE

The Presbyterian commissioners passed the declaration by a standing vote of 129 to 1.

Church members should take a full share in politics and commerce, but the church should not merge her gospel with any political or nationalistic creed, the statement said.

The assembly rejected a resolution to raise the annual stipend of married theological students to $2,200 from $1,900. Students who married during the course of studies would not be eligible for the married students' stipend.

Permission was given the board of missions to appeal to church women for $100,000 to build a new home for unmarried women. The former one in Toronto was condemned by the fire marshal and the property has been sold.

COLORFUL FLAGS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Six thousand flags will decorate 10 miles of city streets for the British Empire Games July 30-Aug. 7. Already 4,000 flags have arrived from participating countries to be hung on light poles from the Empire Stadium at University of British Columbia to the stadium at Exhibition park.

Damage May Rise to $3 Million In Recent Winnipeg Fire

WINNIPEG (CP)—Damage was expected to rise as high as $3,000,000 today as workmen continued to clean up the fire-ravaged ruins of three business buildings and the Metropolitan theatre in the heart of the heart of Winnipeg's shopping district.

Meanwhile, fire department officials were trying to find the cause of the city's worst blaze since 1941, believed caused by a short circuit in an electric sign during the peak of Monday's severe storm.

The sign was at the front of the Time building, which was destroyed along with the Dimnor building and the Capitol. Damaged were the Affleck block and the Norlyn building. All were situated around Portage avenue and Hargrave street.

No lives were lost, and only one of the estimated 245 firemen called out for duty suffered an injury, and it was minor.

About 1,500 workers were left at least temporarily unemployed as the fire swept through a musical variety store, cafes, men's and women's clothing stores, shoe repairers, a cleaners, a billiard and bowling parlor and several business offices.

Several thousands of other workers were kept away from their jobs when police closed off two of Winnipeg's most important city blocks on Portage avenue between Donald and Garry streets. Pedestrians and traffic were forbidden in the area.

Millions of dollars worth of business was lost by stores not touched by the gigantic blaze but situated in the closed-off section. This included the T. Eaton Co.'s eight-storey department store on the opposite side of the fire. One small blaze that broke out on the sixth floor of the department store was extinguished before it could do any damage.

Windows at Eaton's and many other stores in the vicinity were cracked by the heat.

Belief that the damage would go as high as almost $3,000,000 was expressed by a leading real estate official, who did not want his name published.

RAWDON

Mr., Mrs. Will Drewry Celebrate Fortieth Wedding Anniversary

RAWDON — On Thursday evening, June 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Drewry entertained approximately 100 guests in honor of the 40th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Drewry, Mt. concession of Rawdon.

The various rooms in the double home on the farm were artistically decorated with a profusion of seasonal flowers, which included white lilacs and spirea, red tulips and peonies.

On June 3rd, 1914, Rev. James Batstone, pastor of Frankford circuit, performed the wedding ceremony at the parsonage of Miss Alberta Rodgers, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Rodgers, Murray and William Drewry, son of the late George Drewry, 4th concession Rawdon, and Mrs. Drewry, who resides now in Belleville with her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Barz Johnson, of Frankford, who now reside in Norwood, were the attendants, and they were present at this auspicious celebration.

Guests were in attendance from Belleville, Trenton, Peterborough, Norwood, Mount Pleasant, and included the fourth line neighbors.

Rev. R. P. Spurrell, Frankford, was chairman for the occasion, and Mr. Percy Reg'lad the assembly singing. Miss Ruth Mumby delighted with piano selections. Readings were given by Mrs. Edgar McGowan and Mrs. Gordon Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. Broadworth sang with guitar accompaniment. Mrs. R. P. Spurrell rendered a vocal solo and Miss Ruth Mumby and Miss Barbara Green a vocal duet.

Brief addresses were given by Messrs. Charles Vance and John Morrison, also Mr. and Mrs. Barz Johnson.

Mrs. Edna Wright read an address on behalf of the Morrison sisters, and Mrs. Herbert Smith presented the honored couple with an electric table lamp.

Mrs. John Morrison read an address of appreciation on behalf of the neighbors, and Mrs. Kenneth Mumby and Mrs. Donald Drewry presented them with a large square buffet mirror. The recipients voiced grateful thanks for all the kindness and gifts and they also received numerous individual gifts from relatives, which included a lace tablecloth, fernery, potted plants, a large basket of cut flowers, teapois, table lamps, chocolates and cash-ier mats.

Flash pictures were taken during the evening and these can be enjoyed in future days.

A most attractive luncheon was served by the hostess and her assistants, after which the guests departed extending best wishes for future happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Drewry are well known in Rawdon township, having always resided on the homestead, fourth concession Rawdon, and a host of friends extend greetings at this time.

MARSH HILL

W.M.S. Holds Fine Meeting

MARSH HILL — The June meeting of Marsh Hill W.M.S. was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Finkle and Mrs. Leslie Finkle, with nine members present. The president, Mrs. Leslie Finkle, opened the meeting with the reading of "Ten Demands on Time."

During the business three members contributed to the birthday box.

The members reported making slight calls and sending nine cards.

Mrs. Fred Campbell, Christian Citizenship secretary, gave several thoughts on "Racial Brotherhood and Temperance."

Mrs. Bert Searles reported for the literature secretary, Mrs. Barz-lindale.

Mrs. Allyn Finkle was in charge of the program using as the theme "The Church." Mrs. Frank Finkle read the Scripture lesson from Ephesians 1: 17-23, and Matthew 16: 13-19.

Mrs. Finkle gave a meditation on "What is the Church?" "The Church is more than a local congregation, it is everyone who is a Christian. It is God's instrument of redemption." The questions were asked "What kind of a church would our church be if every member were just like me?" and "What hope would we have for our missionary work if everyone were just like me?"

"Let us put Jesus Christ at the centre of our effort. The important thing is that the world be won for Christ. If we really believe in the spirit of Christ's prayer in the 17th chapter of St. John, 'That they all be one, as thou, Father, art, in me and I in Thee that they also may be one in us that the world may believe that Thou hast sent me,' then our oneness is not as Canadians, as Britishers, as United Church member, our oneness is to be found in the body of God's redeemed; the fellowship of His church made up of the churches throughout the world."

Mrs. Alex. Tanner gave a reading, "The Church," Mrs. Leslie Campbell, "We need to help "More Love to Thee, O Christ." "An Old Church — a Young Preacher" was read by Mrs. Fred His will and His promise for the future, and we need their help and God's guidance always. We must forget hearts, more tolerance, broader minds, and a deeper understanding of each other, with a willingness to join hands across the sea with our fellow man, be he black or yellow. We cannot expect nations to do what we, as individuals, do not try to do, because a nation is made up of individuals.

GOD FORGOTTEN

"God has given us intellect, and told us He will hear our prayers and help us, yet it seems we and His promises are forgotten—people rush madly and wickedly hither and yon, smashing, grinding, shouting, killing and screaming, in an agony of economic suffering and physical bloodshed. God gave us brains, let us use them."

Mrs. Allyn Finkle gave a paper on the "World Council of Churches Comes to Evanston," which had been written by the Rev. Dr. W. A. Visscrt Hooft, general secretary of the World Council of Churches.

EVANSTON ASSEMBLY

The Evanston assembly must indicate what the first six years of the World Council has meant, and show what the years ahead will demand of it.

Delegates from 161 member churches of the World Council of Churches will meet in August in Evanston, their actions will be watched by Christians all over the world.

The Evanston Assembly will be a time of much discussing and much speaking. Yet the crucial question is "Will the assembly be able to hear beyond the voices of men the voice of the Lord of the church, calling His people together so that they may speak not merely their common mind, but rather bear witness to it," asks Mrs. Doug Miller and church and for the world?"

Mrs. Allyn Finkle closed her program with the poem "The Divine Gift."

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Allisonville

ALLISONVILLE — Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barlow and Mr. Harold Barlow, of Bonarlaw; Mr. and Mrs. James Bates, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson and family, all of Frankford, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warner McFaul and family.

SHANNONVILLE

H-S Assoc. Holds Track, Field Day

Shannonville Home and School Association held its annual track and field days on Friday. The day was perfect for the occasion with a good crowd of school children. The booth was in charge of Mrs. Fred Louis, but due to illness in the family, was unable to attend. However, her helpers did a wonderful job. Mrs. Ruth Stoliker, Mrs. Joyce Fuller, Mrs. Margaret Hill, Mrs. Kilburn looked after the well stocked booth of candy and drinks, pop corn, gum and many other good things to delight the children.

Shortly after the picnic lunch, free treat tickets were given out to the children, who in return each received a free treat.

The sports started at 1.30 under the supervision of Mr. Ron Stewart, Mr. Jerry Dafoe, Mrs. Helen Louis and Mr. Franklin Green. Winners for the small trophy cups were: Sr. girls, Mary Isabell Louis; junior girls, Sharon Ross; senior boys, was a tie between Jackie Stewart and Gordon Fuller, each of the boys will receive a cup; junior boys, Douglas Dafoe.

Shannonville school was the winner of the large trophy cup. After the prizes, ribbons and trophy cups were given the children were quite satisfied, tired but happy, with another field day over, and a successful year ahead.

The Home and School monthly meeting will be later in June to present the scholarships to the three pupils with the highest marks.

A musical program will be furnished by pupils of Grades 7 and 8 for this particular meeting.

DESERONTO

Hobby Club Holds Last Meet of Season

DESERONTO — The Deseronto Hobby Club held its final meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. Newton Thomas, when a potluck supper was enjoyed.

Despite the stormy evening, a large number of members were present and enjoyed to the full the supply of appetizing food provided.

The president, Mrs. D. F. Webber, presided for a brief business session when a detailed report was presented by the secretary-treasurer regarding the Hobby Fair, which all agreed had been entirely successful.

This concludes the club's activities for this season, but they hope to meet again in the fall to continue their many hobbies and projects.

'Kitchen Olympics' Coming, Canada Competitor First Time

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — The "Kitchen Olympics" are coming up, and for the first time Canada is a competitor.

A bevy of affable experts, in tall white hats, comprise a modern band of chef-pioneers on a mouth-watering expedition. They are out to show that you can get as good a meal in Canada as anywhere.

But they'll have to prove it at the International Restaurant in Bern, Switzerland, where the judges, or "jurors" as they are called, are chefs or food experts. Any chef will tell you that nobody is more sceptical of food than another chef.

TWO CANADIAN JURORS

Actually, the jurors will come from all 14 countries taking part in the culinary Olympics — all harder to please in cooking than a visiting mother-in-law. Canada will provide as jurors Jean Zonda, French-born cook to Governor-General Vincent Massey, and Rene Fread, who presides over Toronto's Sign of the Steer restaurant.

Five French-speaking chefs will be active members of Canada's cooking team — Gaby Richard, president of the Canadian Cooks Corporation (Corporation des Cuisiniers du Canada); Florent LaFlamme, chef o Laval University in Quebec; Joseph Auclair, corporation treasurer; Lionel Brault, pastry cook de luxe; and Adrien Jeanis, chef o a swank resort at St. Jerome, Que.

These men will begin slaving over a hot stove June 18 in a contest that will last five days. They will specialize, of course, in Canadian dishes — serving up such things as Alberta pheasant and Quebec hare.

"Perhaps we won't be able to match the Gaspe salmon taste the same as it would to the fisherman who caught it in a Gaspe stream, but those jurors will know they've had a bit of Canada," said Richard.

REGIONAL CONTENTS

Before the actual Olympics start, other Canadian chefs will be taking part in regional competitions. Quebec chefs, apart from those on the national team, will match skills with cooks from other parts of the world.

Pierre Demers, chef at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel here, Hector Lahaie, chef at a large cafeteria, and Max Rupp, president of the Chefs Association of Quebec, make up this team. Emile Pahlilan, also of Montreal, will be a juror.

All the chefs seemed as coy as Swiss maidens about giving away recipes, but they did divulge that they hope to show "modernized" Canadian cuisine.

Demers, 36, said food served in Quebec 20 years ago was fine for the times, but a "bit substantial" for the needs of today's more sedentary citizens. The idea was to refine the old-time dishes without losing their inimitable flavor.

MANY POSSIBILITIES

The possibilities were endless in this direction. Experiments were being made with "bourgot," a sea snail found in Gaspe and served there in old times in a "rather coarse" way. This could be made into a delightful soup.

Cored—apples filled with sweet butter and maple syrup also were tasty. And what is wrong with moose meat, lobster, scallops, cheese—from Oka, Que., Niagara wines?

"Well, we know that Europeans have made more of a study of cooking through the centuries than we have," said Demers, "But we are willing to try our luck."

Before leaving for Bern, the chefs served a $100-a-plate dinner in Montreal to some 80 well-heeled Canadian gourmets. The dinner tab went towards the cooks' expenses and it included such things as buifalo and moose meat, swordfish, blueberries and snails.

DECREASE R-R FLIGHTS

MARMORA

Large Number of Parents, Musically Inclined, Attend Recital

MARMORA — The annual piano recital of the pupils of Mrs. H. Rennie, R.M.T., which took place in Marmora high school auditorium on Friday evening, attracted a large gathering of parents and the musically inclined to whom was presented an excellent program by the young artists.

The event was sponsored by the Marmora chapter I.O.D.E. and Mrs. A. F. Fraser did the announcing.

To commence the program, God Save the Queen was played by a trio comprising Bonnie Johnston, Brenda Wells and Jane Glover.

The first group of numbers were as follows:

Two Grade I pupils next contributed a duet with Anne Stewart playing, "Gay is the Rose" (Canadian) and William Jeffrey contributing "Oranges and Lemons" (Old English.)

GRADE II

The next group was Grade II girls, whose offerings were as follows:

Sharon Woodhouse, "All Thru' the Night" (Welsh); Peggy Vanstickle, "Lavender's Blue" (Old English); Madeline Frost, "Humpty Dumpty" (Dworn); Anna Lynch, "Sailor Tune" (Caton).

A diversion was provided by Rodney Mawer, as he played "The Jones' Boy" a 1954 melody. The sisters, Joan and Lucy Shannon, followed with the duet "With a Song in My Heart" (Rodgers); next came three solo numbers: Gail Mawer played "Merry-go-Round" (Gaynor); Lindsay McPaul played "Cradle Song" (Berlin); Anne Lee Parkin furnished "Peter Enjoys a Swing" (Willan).

VOCAL NUMBER

A vocal number, "Standing in the Market Place", was beautifully rendered by a ten-year-old girl who has been acclaimed of late for her pleasing renditions, namely, Linda Wellman, of Bonarlaw.

Three individual offerings came next: Fay Robertson played "Yellow Butterfly" (Maclachlin); Mary Lynd McGinnis played "Popcorn" (Lee), while Brenda Wells played "Jack Frost"- (Mattingly).

A girls' trio, Peggy Vanslickle, Mary Lynd McGinnis played "Jack Frost" (Mattingly.)

Two young guest artists rounded up the first half of the recital. They were pupils of Mrs. Frank Bonyck's dancing class: Rose Marie O'Neill performed "Tap Supreme," and Darlene Newton had an acrobatic routine for entertainment of the audience.

The program continued with the following groups of four duets:

"Home on the Range," to Aubrey's arrangement, Rodney and Gail Mawer; "O Susanna," to Aubrey's arrangement, Linda Wellman and Geraldine McFaul; "Shortnin' Bread," to Kinser's arrangement, Anne Stewart and Fay Robertson; "Cindy," to Kimes arrangement, Jane Glover and Lucy Olsen; a boys' trio, John Williams, Kenneth Sillks and Billy Andrews, played "Country Gardens."

DANCING GUESTS

The dancing guests reappeared on the stage to execute a hornpipe dance. A girls' quartet, comprising Anna Lee Parkin, Madeline Frost, Jane Glover and Anna Lynch, played "Dawn on Mystic Lake," as the next number.

A group of four solos were next heard. Phyllis Walsh played "L'Avalanche" (Heller); Lucy Olsen's piece was "Beethoven's Sonatina in G"; Kenneth Sillks took the "Peasant Dance" (Beethoven) and Lucy Shannon played "Rondo" by Clementi.

Three boys supplied the succeeding group. David Reynolds had "Clowns," and Billy Andrew "Carefree" both by Kabalevsky and John Williams was allotted "The Irishman Smiles" by Cowell.

Making the next group were: Linda Wellman playing "Rondo in G" (Diabelli); Jane Glover interpreting "Toccatina" (Kabalevsky), and Bonnie Johnston submitting "To a Wild Rose" (MacDowell).

Betty Drew played Chopin's "Nocturne in E Flat" and joined with Phyllis Walsh and Bonnie Johnston in the final number which was Sousa's "Stars and Stripes."

Linda Glover and Janice Johnston at the close of the program appeared on the stage and on behalf of the class presented Mrs. Rennie with a bouquet—of yellow roses and bronze 'mums, as well as a Wedgwood jug.

Mrs. Rennie extended her thanks to her pupils, the guest artists, the audience and Mrs. Fraser for their part in the success of the evening.

Marmora

MARMORA—Among the many visiting Sir Knights at the funeral of the late Bernard Carman, held on Sunday afternoon were a goodly number from Golden Star Preceptory, No. 748, Marmora.

The funeral which had a vast number of attendant relatives and friends was under the auspices of Eldorado R.B.P.

Assisting in the graveside ritual at Fox's cemetery where interment took place was Sir Kt. W. J. Cottrell, chaplain of RBP, 748, acting as chaplain in the place of Sir Kt. Albert Nickle, who was one of the pall bearers.

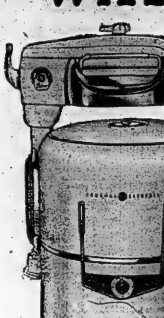
Mr. and Mrs. Clare Campion, who attained to their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday spent the week-end in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McDonald, of Trenton, are spending a few days with Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Parkin.

Miss Shirley Rennie, student nurse at Civic Hospital, Peterborough, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rennie, over the week-end.

At the morning service at St. Andrew's United Church, on Sunday the following were received into full communion by the pastor, Rev. K. J. Crawford, Joyce Stone, Helen Venstone, Mildred Brown, Donna Osborne, Marion Wells, Zidon Killian and Frank Marrett. The pastor, in his address spoke on "Joining the Church."

Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, of Marmora Township, celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary on Sunday, with immediate members of their family in attendance.



Mrs. Rountree, of Morton, is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. K. J. Crawford, and Rev. K. J. Crawford.

Rev. K. J. Crawford is in attendance at the sessions of the Bay of Quinte Conference in Belleville this week.

ROCKY OR ET

On June 17, Rocky Marciano, the Brockton Blockbuster, puts his heavyweight championship on the line. And eager as an inspiring beaver is one Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight title holder, to snatch the bauble from the thick curly locks of the champion.

The experts are already coming out with the usual prefight prognostications. Can Rocky's blockbuster punch stop Charles or will the "boxer" outstay the "slugger" and for the first time in history see a champion successfully stage a titular comeback?

There are those who claim "Ezzard the Ghazard" cannot punch his way out of a paper bag. There are a few who believe the Charles superior ring technique and crazy fighting will swing the pendulum of victory his way. But the greater majority is of the opinion that Rocky's murderous punches will eventually blast any hopes that Charles may have of regaining the heavyweight honor and glory—and the much-needed bucks that go with it.

Mr. Rocco Francis Marchegiano, son of a shoe worker, and the first white titleholder in 15 years, believes his rock-a-bye punches will do the trick—but he is making no predictions as to when. If nothing else Marciano's punches are as authentic as the inset knocked-out body of Jersey Joe Walcott on the Philadelphia canvas.

If the champion did not have some sort of lethal dynamite in his fist-and-foot fight, he would have been dropped long ago by that erratic "molderer" of the Queen's English, Manager Al Wolli, who brought him to the Chisox unbeaten in 43 fights and with 37 knockout to his credit.

Perhaps one of the most telling testimonials to the terrific power of the Marcianian fists, came from Jersey Joe Walcott himself. Said Walcott: "Here I was setting the pace fine. Then, bang! It happened. I don't know what he hit me with. I just don't remember a thing."

Rocky is not the small boy's idea of a world heavyweight. He is not the tall (but is handsome) six-foot-plus type. Instead, Rocky belongs to the somewhat short, stocky breed of champions, something along the lines of ageing Tommy Burns, short 5-8 old-timer who ages ago and was a freakish five-foot seven. Marciano is five-foot-ten and weighs 186, in shape. Prior to Rocky only two heavyweight champions were less than six feet tall. One was Burns and the other Bob Fitzsimmons, who was five-eleven.

In addition, the present titleholder is the "shortest-reached" champion in history. He measures 67 inches. Louis had a reach of 75 inches. Walcott and Ezzard Charles 74 inches. Dempsey and Tunney both had 77 inches.

Marciano is said to have been an "old man" when he reached the top. He was 28 years of age. Dempsey was only 24 and Louis, the youngest champion of them all, was but 23 when he started his reign of supremacy.

About the only thing "freakish" about Rocky is his tremendous appetite. He is a fabulous eater. One day while visiting a restaurant he was told the biggest steak in the history of the establishment had been consumed by Babe Ruth. four pounds even. "Oh", said Rocky, "we'll have a new record." In an hour and a half he had devoured four pounds six ounces. In his mother's home he has demonstrated, the records say, an unlimited capacity for ravioli and other Italian dishes, washed down with Chianti. Even in training camp, trainer Charley Goldman has to keep a lock on the refrigerator to keep Rocky from "snacking" at various hours.

NIZE FELLAS!

Those Shaggy Shetlands from the Siberian prairies, whose wind-blown hairdo's distract from their beauty, if any, and add to their ferocious appearance will be in no friendly mood when they tackle Ombre Montana and Paul Ballargeon here Friday night. For those over their protests to the effect that Whipper Billy Watson, teaming with Tex MacKenzie celebrated his mat comeback and wrenched from them the tag team title of Canada. Since then "everyone's talkin' about the Mills Boys, the Mills Boys, the Mills Boys," for their performances since being deprived of the title have paled into insignificance their erstwhile glory of days gone by. Now, what a pair of Mills! Should be a hoary, gory get-together. Ray Villmar, popular as an income tax rebate, is back against Don Lewin and Johnny Barend battling one, Nick Roberts, in the opener.

REGENTS PRACTICE

Bryson Reid's Regent baseballers are working hard ready-ing for the opening of the Bay of Quinte Baseball League, and tonight Coach Chuck Barriage has called a practice for the Exhibition Grounds starting 6.30 p.m. A lot of the boys are trying out for the squad, as many as 30 reporting in some practices. Alderman Reid figures he will have a team comparable to the rest in the loop, but, he says, the lads will have to work for their positions. All players are requested to turn out tonight.

ATHLETE TO GAMES

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—City council Tuesday night adopted a recommendation that John Cook, formerly a London Beck Collegiate athlete, be granted $350 to cover expenses to the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer. Judge Cook battered the Canadian mile record of 4:18.8 set by Bill Parnell in Vancouver Aug. 5, 1950, when he finished in 4:14.1 at La-fayette, Ind., two weeks ago.

SLAUGHTER "DISABLED"

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees Tuesday night placed veteran outfielder Enos Slaughter on the disabled list. Slaughter fractured his left wrist in a game against the Cleveland Indians here Friday. He must remain on the disabled list for 30 days—even if the injury heals before that time—and the club is privileged to replace him for that period.

Whip Phillies by 9-3 Score As Tribe Bows to Senators; Homers Did It in National

How long will the Milwaukee miracle last if the Braves continue to save their winning baseball for their road trips?

A quick rundown of the Braves' won and lost record at home and abroad suggests the Milwaukee patrons should consider asking for cut rates.

With the top home attendance in either league—468,050 cash customers for 23 single and one panel and two twin bills—the Braves have won for the home folks only 11 times. They've been beaten in County Stadium 18 times.

But when the show goes on the road it's an entirely different story —14 victories, including one streak of nine straight, and only six losses.

DROP HEARTBREAKER

Currently the Braves are in fourth place in the National League, four games behind the leading Brooklyn Dodgers. Tuesday night they dropped a 6-5 heartbreaker to the New York Giants.

The Giants, rallying from the time Joe Adcock hit a grand slam home run in the first inning, won on two runs in the ninth. Al Dark singled for his fourth hit, Hank Thompson walked and Don Mueller was doubled them home.

The Chicago White Sox took sole possession of first place in the American League by whipping Philadelphia 9-3 and Cleveland was bowing 5-3 to Washington on Maury McDermott's relief job. Billy Hoeft gave the New York Yankees only two hits as the Tigers won 5-4. Baltimore edged Boston 7-4.

Brooklyn's 10-game winning streak ended with a bang. The Dodgers were trounced 15-3 by the St. Louis Cardinals. Chicago edged Philadelphia 6-5 and Cincinnati tripped Pittsburgh 5-4.

Brooklyn committed four errors and the Cardinals combined Carl Erskine and two successors for 16 hits. Stan Musial hit his 20th homer, tops in the league, and a triple, driving in four runs. Wally Moon drove in another four with a triple and three singles.

Wings Hold Top, Split Twin Bill With Maple Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Bowman, making good with Syracuse Chiefs, is the club's leading candidate for the International League's "rookie of the year."

The 22-year-old outfielder, batting a lofty .320-plus, singled home the winning run in the 11th inning that gave the Chiefs a 3-2 victory over Buffalo Bisons Tuesday night. The victory moved Syracuse into fifth place, half a game ahead of Richmond Virginians, who dropped a 9-4 decision to Ottawa Athletics.

LEADS ATTACK

The collar-swelling Athletics collected 13 hits off four Richmond pitchers, with Taft Wright leading the Ottawa attack with four safe blows.

Ottawa held a 9-0 lead before Richmond scored its first run in the fourth inning off Vince Gohl. Ed Mickelowich's lead-off homer in the sixth started a five-run outburst for the Virginians.

Rochester Red Wings split a doubleheader with second-place Toronto Maple Leafs and remained in first place by one game. The Red Wings won the first game 4-0 behind the five-hit pitching of rookie righthander Larry Jackson. Toronto rallied for five runs in the seventh and eighth innings to take the nightcap.

SOLO HOMER

In the opener a solo homer by Jim Richmond and Vern Benson's three-run blast clinched the game for Rochester. Relieter Freddie Hahn worked five scoreless innings in the second game that broke Rochester's five-game winning streak.

Tom Lasorda limited Havana Cuban Sugar Kings to three hits as Montreal Royals won 3-1 and moved to within half a game of third place.

The Royals tallied two runs in the first inning and one in the eighth. Lasorda had a no-hitter for six innings but lost it in the seventh. The Kings spoiled his shutout in the ninth.

Remember When

Lawson Little, winner of the Canadian Open in 1936, shot two-under-par golf on a muddy Cleveland course to beat Gene Sarazen in their playoff for the U.S. Open golf title 14 years ago today. Ed Oliver also qualified for the playoff after a poor round, but was disqualified for starting the final round before the allotted time.

Wise Guys Think 'King Maple' Will Make Saps of Field

TORONTO (CP)—Edward Plunkett Taylor has monopolized the Queen's Plate for the last few years, it may be different this time.

Around the track there's an old expression, "differences of opinion make horse racing," but the two-buck bettors have indicated they think King Maple will beat Taylor's Factor won in Taylor's colors after three-horse entry of Queen's Own, Saturday's 96th running of Canada's turf classic at Woodbine track here.

King Maple, owned by Mrs. Gordon McEachen of Toronto, is expected to go to the post at even money and favored to take the big share of the $30,000-added purse and the Queen's 20 guineas. The Taylor entry currently is being quoted as second choice at 5 to 2.

HAS BRED LAST FIVE

Taylor, Toronto industrialist, has bred the last five winners of the Queen's Plate. He started his string when Epic won in 1948. The next year McGill won in the colors of W. J. Sheridan but the colt had been bred on the Taylor farm in the city's suburbs. In 1951 Major Boots, Britannia, had set the early pace.

The 1952 renewal of the Plate was won by Solonian. This colt had been bred by Taylor but he was regarded so lightly in the stable connection that he was dropped into a claiming race in his two-year-old season. He was claimed by the Veale Brothers of Toronto from New York to race in the $10,000 Canadian Maturity Stakes.

Interest is added to the Plate by the fact that this will be the first meeting of King Maple and Queen's Own. The latter did all his racing in the United States last year and, through the luck of the draw, he didn't meet his chief rival in either of the season's trial races for the Plate.

Canadiens Swap Dick Gamble For Hy Buller

MONTREAL (CP) — Forward Dick Gamble of Montreal Canadiens has been traded to New York Rangers for defenceman Hy Buller it was announced Tuesday by general manager Frank Selke.

In the National Hockey League deal, Rangers were also given rights to Eddie Dorohoy, playing coach of the Western League Victoria Cougars last winter.

Dorohoy, according to terms of the contract, will be returned to Canadiens should Rangers' manager Frank Boucher decide not to keep him.

Gamble registered 22 goals in his first NHL season, but spent much of last year with the Montreal Royals of the Quebec league. Now 26, he was born in Moncton, N.B., and lives in Oshawa, Ont.

Buller made the NHL's second all-star team in his rookie year. Mid-way through last season he was optioned to the Rangers' Saskatoon farm club.

Petes Trounce Mounties 15-8

MIMICO, Ont. (CP) — Peterboro rough Trafalgrmen trounced Mimico Mountaineers 15-8 in a senior Ontario lacrosse game here Monday night. The victory gave the Trafalgrmen sole possession of first place.

Wipper with three goals and Peterson and Hewitt with a pair, led the Peterborough snipers. Meeks and Garbutt fired two each for Mimico.

Minor Softball

Tip Top Cleaners and Hosey Orange hooked up in a thriller game at the fireball last night with the Cleaners coming out on the long end of an 8-1 score. According to all reports from the diamond, it was one of the best senior softball games seen here in quite some time. The seven hitting feature was played in less than an hour with only three errors and one fine catches in the outfield.

Prutter and McGuire formed the winning battery with Pointer pitching a five-hitter, fanning one and walking many a batter. One was buried in a long cause with 16 hits, two strike outs and four runs registered off his slants. Butcher was his catcher.

Pointer helped his own cause with four singles in as many times at bat while Jordan banged out a home run and a triple.

Soccer Results

In a Bay of Quinte soccer match played at the RCAF last night, Belleva, led by Curphey, buried Pack the RCAF United team, 6-2. Curphey booted home three of the winners' goals while singleton went to Easton, Dahmen and Gaylor.

The United scorers were Bushan, MacDonald and Dolan.

SUPPORTS RESOLUTION

Council was handling support to a Windsor city resolution

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By BECKY McCORMICK
Ontario Baseball Writers' Association

It is the little things that often make some catchers better targets than others and give pitchers confidence in pitching to them. For instance, a careless catcher won't hide his signals and thus he lets the opponents know what pitch to expect. When you give signals, lay your mitt over the left knee to block the view of the third base coach, and point your right knee approximately halfway between first and second base to cut off the view of the first base coach. Then place the fingers of the right hand near the right thigh to keep the people behind you from seeing the signs.'

Don't stay in a crouch after giving your signals. Stand up with the weight on the balls of your feet and body bent forward. Once you give the pitcher a target with your mitt, hold the target still until he throws the ball. Otherwise, your mitt will resemble a moving target in a shooting gallery and will hinder the pitcher's control.'

Bobcats Clue Maddox 13-4 In 'Error' Spree

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Maddox dropped their third game in five nights of King Maple and Field last evening when they went down 13-4 at the hands of Bob Temple's Bobcats.

The Bobcats blasted home five runs in the third, another pair in the fourth, added a trio of insurance tally total in the sixth and finished with one in the eighth to score an easy victory over the visitors.

The Northern Village nine got half their runs in the fourth inning frame and added singletons in the fifth and ninth but were unable to offset the attack.

Bunk Young started on the hill for the winners and hurled six-hit ball for the first six innings. He was credited with the win while setting two down on strikes and walking three. He hit one batter and gave up a free pass in th favor of Jack Reid. Reid was in complete control for the last three frames with Sherry's double and Carswell's single the only hits, accounting for Maddox' last tally in the ninth.

Eric McCreary and John Heygill shared the twirling duties in a losing cause with McInroy taking the loss. He allowed two runs off eight hits in five innings with a pair of bases on balls vieting and one walk. Hewgill was charged with four runs off one hit while fanning 3 and walking the same number. In all fairness to the hurler, three of the runs were committed no less than 10 misses back of him.

Young's double with one on started the third-frame rally while Temple's single contributed singles along with a pair of two errors, Harry Wardaugh drove in two runs with a triple and scored later on a Seldon's choice and an error to make it 7-2 in the fifth. Two walks, three errors, singles by Temple and Nolan and Wardaugh's two-bagger netted another pair of runs. Temple's final run came on a hit batter, two wild pitches and a throwing error.

Killian slammed out a double after Wayne Brown's single and a hit batter to account for Madoc's initial pair. Two same plays also scored in the sixth after a walk with a single by Hewgill and an error sending him home.

Bob Temple with a trio of singles and Harry Wardaugh with a triple and a double were top men at the plate while Nolan had two singles. Young claimed a double and Gord Donovan rifled in one to round out the nine hit attack.

Wayne "Weiner" Brown blasted a long triple and a single to pace the visitors. Carswell chipped in and brace of singles, Killian a triple, Sherry a double while Stewart and Hewgill also hit safely.

The line-ups:

Madoc — Sherry, Carswell, Stewart, W. Brown, Sommelhack, H. Brown, Killian, Burnside, Mumby, McInroy, Hewgill.

Bobcats—Temple, Nolan, Gaylord, Young, Donovan, Burnside, Berry, Rollins, Logue, Doran, Wheeler, Fitzpatrick, McGregor, Young, Reid.

Leonard Shoots Under-Par Score

TORONTO (CP) — Stan Leonard of Vancouver ran hot, and cold Tuesday but came in with a six-under-par 66 to win the Canadian Golf and Country Club in his province round for the Hopkins Trophy and $1,000 first prize money this week.

Leonard, one of seven Canadians who will team up against an American team at Mississauga Thursday and Friday in the best ever golf day, Bobby Locke of South Africa, member of the Canadian team, shot his third straight sub-par round with a 68. Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Bill Kerr of Montreal had 70s.

Landy Runs Mile in 4.01.6 On Wet Track

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Australia's John Landy failed again Tuesday night in the cold and rain at Stockholm Stadium to break Roger Bannister's 3:59.4 mile record as he slashed over a wet and heavy track to a 4:01.6 clocking.

Landy has six more races on his current Scandinavian tour in which to challenge the electrifying record set May 6 by Bannister at Oxford, England.

Only 10,000 spectators defied the 45-degree weather and drizzle to watch him try for the mark. There was no wind. He got a tremendous hand as he dove away from his opponents in a solo performance in the final half mile on the cinder track.

Finland's Denis Johansson finished second, 120 yards behind the Australian champion. Third another 200 yards back was Nils Tore of Sweden. Landy's pacemaker for the first half mile. Johansson was timed in 4:15.4 and Tuft in 4:35.

PIRIE WONT GO

LONDON (CP)—Galloping Gordon Pirie, the hard-training English runner who has main ambition to beat Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia, said Tuesday he'll sorry he hasn't changed his mind about the Empire Games at Vancouver. He won't be there.

"I'm afraid I can't," said Pirie. "Not that I wouldn't like to. I doesn't fit in with my plans for the European games."

The European games will be held in August at Bern.

Hoskings Whip Petes 13-8 In Viaduct League

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guelph — Waterloo Royals have won two games so far in the senior Intercounty Baseball League. One victory came over Guelph with two runs in the ninth to shade Kitchener 6-5 and hand the Panthers their ninth consecutive loss since the season started.

FROOD WINS

Frood Tigers scored their first victory of the Nickel Belt Senior league by defeating Sudbury Shamrocks 12-5 in Sudbury. In the other Nickel Belt game, also at Sudbury, Copper Cliff Redmen also won their first of the season, dropping the league-leading Creighton Indians 7-5.

The only Viaduct Ontario Senior Baseball League game played in Toronto Wednesday saw Toronto Hoskings defeated Peterborough Petes 13-8. The Petes jumped into an early behind to take the lead against the Royals but the Toronto nine threw nine errors. The Royals committed five, the Panthers four.

STARTS RALLY

Manager Ed Sobol started the winning rally in the ninth with a double. He scored when pinch-hitter Jerry Birchenough singled and Auggie crossed the plate with the winning run when first baseman Ron Nobes singled.

Keith Weese, third of four Kitchener pitchers, was tagged with the defeat—his third against no victories. Jay Butler, the first of three Guelph hurlers, won his first victory in as many decisions.

Hosking's Peterborough five runs in the first inning in Toronto but came back with nine id their half of the inning. Joey Irvine was Toronto's big hitter with three singles at the plate—four hits. Hosking's 16-hit attack was directed at two Peterborough pitchers. Manager Joe Lowery relieved starting pitcher Bill Wade early in the game and struggled through the rest of the way.

Aussie Gals Quest Title

MELBOURNE (AP)—Australia's girl tennis players have started an all-out bid to wrest women's tennis laurels from the United States.

They have begun training under the eagle eye of Harry Hopman, chief. Five of Victoria's leading women players are being trained under Hopman's personal plan for assault on world titles next year.

The girls are Norma Ellis, 23; Jennifer Staley, 20; Betty Orton, 20; Maureen McCalman, 17, and Lorraine Coghlan, 16.

Next season the Australian Lawn Tennis Association will spend 4,000 Australian pounds ($11,400) on sending Australia's women overseas with Wimbledon as the main objective.

Canadian Nag Wins at Buffalo

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP) — The winner of the $1,400 feature at Buffalo Raceway Tuesday night was the class BB pacer, Arch's Choice, the 3-2 favorite driven by Bill Harvey of Norwich, Ont.

The five-year-old Massachusetts horse gained the early lead in the mile and withstood the last-quarter challenge by Ed Arthur's Otterville, Ont., horse, Argot G., to score by half a length. First Purchase was third in the 2:06 3-5 mile, the seventh race. The best Tuesday crowd of this meeting, 4,806, bet $202,303.

AGILE OLDSTER

PORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—Step-dancing by M. Winters, 82 years young, was an entertainment feature of the Whitefish Valley Agricultural Association dance.

Movie Column

By SOK THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Now it's Benny Goodman, the man who started the swing era in music, who's getting the film biography treatment.

The King of Swing has been here to confer with producer Aaron Rosenberg and writer Valentine Davies about his life story for the screen. The film pair put but "The Glenn Miller Story," and that's why Goodman has agreed to expose his own story on film.

I talked to Goodman at lunch and found him slightly more talkative than in the past. Although he was one of the leading instigators of a nervous era, he seems calm and relaxed now. He's 45, but he still has his apple-cheeked appearance and is the picture of health.

TOO MUCH WORK

A year ago he collapsed during a triumphant return tour with his old band. "But it wasn't my heart, the doctors said. "It," he said, "it was just fatigue. I figured out I had averaged four hours' sleep for ten nights. There was too much excitement."

He's back tootling his clarinet, but this time with small combos in night clubs. Since Artie Shaw is doing the same, I asked if this was a trend.

"I don't think so," he replied. "It's just easier to work with a small outfit. In the past few years, I've been taking it easier. I'll go play a date for a few weeks, then lay off a couple of weeks. You can do that with five or six players. We all know each other and can get into playing shape with three days of rehearsal.

BIG BANDS TOUGH

"But if you have a big band, it's different. It takes time to work up your library. Then you book up with some big agency, and every time you turn around they've got you booked into some new date. They work you to death."

I asked him if he thought the band business would come back as big as it was in the pre-war years.

"The band business was just like the movies," he remarked. "In those years, any movie, good or bad, made money. It was the same with bands. The business supported a lot of bands that weren't exceptional."

This is ceasing to be a joke, not that it ever was very funny. Maybe he's a clerk that waits on me in some shop, but the only clerk he reminds me of is a woman, pop said.

Maybe she's got on men's clothes, and a fatu mustash, I said, and pop said, Very unlikely. I'd say it was Eric Quadron if I knew and Eric Quadron, he said.

O, I remember him, pop, I know who is is, I said, and pop said, Dont tell me, let me think of it. I never forget a face and I dont want to begin now, he said.

I'll give you a hint, pop, he comes to our house a lot, I said, and pop said, Now that's too much, that's impossible.

Sure, pop, he's our letter carrier without his uniform, I said, and pop said, By gollies yes, he must be on his vacation. He's probably walking around to rest his feet for a cupple of weeks, he said.

Being a funny idea.

AT THE BELLE

Turbulent Romance, Gripping Drama Sparks Spectacular "Elephant Walk".

Love and adventure in the mysterious and dangerous jungles of Ceylon sparks Paramount's brand new Technicolor drama, "Elephant Walk", which is due to open today at the Belle Theatre. Starring lovely Elizabeth Taylor, Dana Andrews and newcomer Peter Finch, "Elephant Walk" relates an unusual tale of overpowering force.

Elizabeth Taylor, certainly one of the most beautiful women in motion pictures, portrays the role of a young English girl who falls hopelessly in love with Peter Finch, the owner of a vast tea plantation in faraway Ceylon. After a brief courtship they are married and travel half-way around the globe to the exotic and dangerous jungles of Ceylon.

Here she is treated like a queen, sharing the incredible luxury of his palace in the jungle. A palace where the night is shattered by the terrifying defiance of the great elephant herds who surround the estate. It seems that the first owner of the place, Finch's father, had built the estate directly in the way of the elephant's ancient water hole pathway, and in a perverse defiance to the gigantic pachyderms, created it Elephant Walk.

It further develops that once they are at the plantation, Peter Finch becomes a different man, almost a stranger to his bride. He is dominated by the respected power of his dead father. Dana Andrews, portrays the American foreman, overwhelmingly drawn towards the beauteous Miss Taylor and thus a triangle develops. How this is solved and the part that the rampaging elephants play in the solution—makes "Elephant Walk", what is reported to be the major entertainment accomplishments of this film season.

CHINESE CIRCUS, IN COLOR.

A special added attraction on the program presents, "Chinese Circus", presenting a bicycling sequence in the Big Top, the popular Warner Bros. News, and a Technicolor Novelloon.

AT THE CAPITOL—Louis Calhern enacts the Roman dictator Julius Caesar, Marlon Brando his devoted friend Mark Antony and Greer Garson his wife Calpurnia, in "Julius Caesar", M-G-M's excitement - pitched filmization of the great Shakespearean drama, now showing on the Capitol screen today and Thursday. Others in one of Hollywood's most distinguished star casts include James Mason, John Gielgud, Edmund O'Brien and Deborah Kerr. The picture was directed by four-time Academy Award winner Joseph L. Mankiewicz. Special matinee Thursday at 2.30. Two evening performances at 7.00 and 9.20.

AT THE McCARTHY.

DOUGLAS—The Wicked Yank.

Travelling from Hollywood to Scotland for the star part in "The Maggie", starring Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre, meant the fulfillment of an ambition for burly Paul Douglas.

For a long time in America, this popular actor had been an Ealing fan and had seen all the Ealing comedies. Without any real hope he wished that one day he might have the chance of taking part in such a production. It came as a surprise — when Alex Mackendrick decided that Douglas was the ideal man to take part of an American Air Line Executive in "The Maggie".

Making the comedy on location in Scotland was quite a thrill for both Douglas and his beautiful wife Jan Sterling. They revelled in the picturesque scenery of the Highlands and spent all the spare time they could touring the narrow winding roads. At one wayside shop they bought a length of homespun tweed to make a frock with them to make up into a costume for Paul's eight-year-old daughter. Incidentally, another thrill for Paul was the fact that both his daughter and his first British film have the same name —Maggie.

A close friendship soon sprang up between Paul and the villagers. In fact it was a long time before he was able to understand the strong Scottish accent. He found it at first like a foreign tongue and even at the end of the film was unable to pronounce local place names correctly. He solved the problem by christening them with his own names. "Loch stock and barrel" being one of the examples.

APPOINT TOWN CLERK

BARRIE (CP) — Town council meeting night appointed Alastair C. Calder, 43, of Elora, as clerk-treasurer. He succeeds L. H. Barnes, who becomes clerk of Oshawa city council.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The most accurate trick count in bridge is also the simplest. This is a count of one trick for each high card (ace or king or queen) and one trick for each short card (each card short of three.)

When bidding no-trump you count the high cards only. When bidding in any suit count both the highs and the shorts. Why? In no-trump the shorts are not ruffed; in a suit bid they are.

This looks so easy you will probably make the same mistake many others have been guilty of. Because it is so easy they first think it cannot be accurate or efficient or expert. Don't make that mistake. Prove it yourself with every hand you see.

Take the tournament deal shown here.

♣Q 9 6 4

SOUTH
♠K 10 3
♥10 7 8 3
♣A 10 7 2

West has a count of six tricks; four high cards and two shorts in clubs. East has a count of four tricks; two highs and a short in each major suit. The total in the pair is ten tricks.

Therefore, the pair should know the final contract they should reach. It is a bid of four and the trump suit may be either hearts or diamonds. Simple bidding will tell them so.

South counts four tricks; three highs and a short in diamonds. North counts five tricks; three highs and a short in each red suit. With their total count of nine they should be in three spades.

There is a tremendous advantage in knowing as accurate a count. It tells a pair exactly where to stop, when to redouble if doubled; how much of a sacrifice they may take with an overbid.

East-west should not let north bug it for three spades. If the east-west pair goes to four, north-south knows a sacrifice bid of four spades should be defeated no more than one trick.

Nothing like this happened at one table and it decided a title. It may not be worth listening to. But I'll tell you about it anyway.

Little Benny's Note Book

I saw pop get off the bus with his newspaper and I walked home with him for company, and some man went passed shaking his head at pop as if he knew him.

Being a long thin man with short wide mustash, and pop said, I know that man.

Who is he, pop? I said, and pop said, That's the part I dont know. I know him from somewhere, but where? Now that's very unusual for me. I never forget a face. That's one of the things that makes me a grate bizzness man and a commanding social figure. Now let me think where have I seen that face? he said.

Wherever it was, it must of been on the same man, I said, and pop said, By gollies that's a clew. If I was Sherlock Homes it would solve the whole mistery. Hang it all, where do I know him from?

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

FOR THURSDAY, JUNE 10, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) —Look with critical eye upon all new propositions, investments. Do not let sentiment influence decisions. Suggestions by friends? Take them graciously, but be circumspect.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)— About noon there may be unexpected words or incidents that could influence you. There is need for judicious handling and rechecking. Don't plunge into things; go slowly. Be sure!

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)— Be deliberate and careful if you want things to turn out to your liking. Stars favor those who give matters proper consideration before acting. And consider the feelings of others.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)— An upward trend in many ways. Renovation, agriculture, children's affairs and ingenious ideas and methods are favored now. Plan early, reap gains.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A twixt-and-between outlook. In some things you'll prosper quickly, in others, you may encounter obstacles. Avoid carelessness.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — You may fare best now with routine matters, those tried-and-true affairs. Simple requests, desires will be granted more quickly; don't expect too much and you won't be disappointed — very likely pleasantly surprised.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — You may fear to ask or look for assistance, but you can have it now. Hold round-table discussions; they are extremely enlightening.

October, 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Good aspects — if you co-operate. An early start will speed the way to sound goals. Heart interests rate some attention.

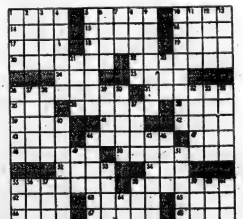
November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Personal, civic and construction matters are favored this stimulating day. Try out new ideas. Advantages from high sources. Even balance and careful judgment will count.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Agreeableness and dignity stressed now. Promote your individuality in the right way. Co-operation will help you to achieve goals.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — On your toes for new, perhaps unexpected, situations; some surprises could prove unusually happy. Foster intelligent discussions.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Do not be so wrapped up in any one activity to such an extent that setbacks could cause keen disappointment. Be elastic in thought but do not waver where principles are concerned.

You born today are versatile, with manual and mental talents galore; quick to detect advantages, but not always consistent or careful enough where details are concerned. You have an invigorating personality, can make friends quickly, but may hurt them abruptly at times, too. You like anything constructively progressive. Don't try to "get by" with study. You can be a fast-moving power for good.



Birthdate of: Sir Henry Morton Stanley, famed explorer; Robert Schumann, German composer.

"SHOOT" SELASSIE

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Windsor man received permission to shoot emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia Monday. Security police had nothing to worry about. The man handles newsreel assignments for his Toronto office and asked if the office wanted pictures of the emperor.

"Okay shoot Haile. Selassie," said the return telegram.

Psychological Meet Will Hear Russian Experts

MONTREAL (CP) — This is Russian Day at the International Psychological Congress, although few congress officials would put it quite that way.

The Russians, three scientists from Moscow University, the Academy of Sciences of the U.S.S.R. and the Academy of Pedalogical Sciences of the U.S.S.R., are slated to join two U.S. psychologists in discussing recent advances in the theory of conditioning.

Ordinarily that would not set sparks flying. The Russians are known to have followed in the footsteps of Ivan Pavlov, once the giant of Soviet Science, and they could be expected to talk of Pavlov and conditioning almost without exception.

But today promises scientific fireworks if only because a number of Western psychologists feel they too have heard enough about Pavlov's theories and they are wondering if they and the Russians have been working on the same lines.

No one here knows what the Russians will say today but a few have had ever heard their names before this congress. Work of scientific interest that has filtered out through the Iron Curtain by way of East Berlin has been small and few psychologists in the West can read Russian.

ASKED TO ATTEND

Moreover this particular meeting was added after the Russians belatedly wrote through the Soviet embassy for an invitation.

In a press interview at the congress the leader of the Russians, Professor A. Leontiev, while affable enough, did not give out much pertinent information about what was going on in Soviet psychology except in generalities and generalizations.

Speaking through an official Russian interpreter the professor said that extensive work had been done on applying Pavlov's theories, for example-being their application in the field of education.

When asked approximately how many psychologists there are in the Soviet Union, something Western scientists would like to know to get an idea of the sweeping position psychology is in the U.S.S.R., Professor Leontiev said it was hard to give a figure.

Jas. Roosevelt Is Easy Winner In Primary Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—James Roosevelt ran away with the Democratic nomination for Congress in California's 28th district, despite adverse publicity from his wife's accusations of infidelity and opposition from the national Democratic chairman, Stephen Mitchell.

The late president's eldest son now stands an excellent chance of winning the November run — off against Republican Theodore Lodge, who captured the Republican nomination. The district is traditionally Democratic.

Roosevelt, after thanking his cheering backers...at his campaign headquarters Tuesday night, declared that with the type of support he received in the primary election "I believe I can win in November."

Roosevelt captured his own party race by a margin of about six to one over his closest rival. In 155 precincts out of 901, he had 2,736 votes. His chief opponent, Democrat publisher Ned Redding, had 476.

"BEAT ROOSEVELT"

That was the campaign cry of all Roosevelt's opponents throughout the campaign. They hit hard on his domestic strife and frequently quoted the Democratic chairman's statement that Roosevelt should withdraw until his marital difficulties were straightened out.

Shortly before the catdispatch started Roosevelt's estranged wife, Romalle, 36, charged him in a separate maintenance suit with adultery, naming three co-respondents, and filed a letter dated 1945 in which he allegedly admitted with nine other women.

Roosevelt, 46, has denied any misconduct. He said he signed the letter to prevent a divorce and thus decrease the burdens of his father at that time.

The insurance executive, who is paying his wife and their three children $1,425 monthly temporary support, spent little money on his campaign, compared with his unsuccessful race for governor against Earl Warren in 1950.

Small Vietminh Groups Pounded By French Planes

HANOI (AP) — French planes, tanks and artillery pounded small concentrations of Communist-led Vietminh guerrillas in the Red river delta today.

The main rebel forces meanwhile took a former stronghold in the semi-circle of positions just outside the delta defence perimeter, strengthened the pincers they are expected to try to close soon around this Indo-China war capital.

A French high command spokesman said upwards of 100 Vietminh have been killed or captured in mopping-up operations within a few miles of Hanoi. French Union losses were relatively light, the spokesman added.

RETURN SICK REBELS

The French also announced that they will return seriously wounded and ill Vietminh troops on June 11 and another July 14. The prisoners are being exchanged for wounded French Union forces which the Vietminh allowed to be evacuated from Dien Bien Phu.

All hostilities will stop in specified exchange areas from midnight before the exchange to the following midnight.

In Indo-China's other major city, Saigon, residents were awakened early today by the booming of artillery as French Union troops beat back an attack on a post four miles away.

The French command said the encounter was a minor one.

Governor-General Decorates 26

OTTAWA (CP)—At an investiture at Government House Tuesday, 26 service personnel and two civilians were decorated by Governor-General Vincent Massey. Most of the decorations resulted from action in Korea.

Wives and guests of the recipients were present as the citations were read and the decorations presented. All awards were announced earlier.

The Distinguished Service Order was presented to two officers who commanded their regiment in the Far East for their tactical ability, intimate knowledge and disregard for personal safety while visiting forward positions under fire. The award went to Lt.-Col. Poulin, Quebec, who commanded the 2nd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, and Lt.-Col. Henry William Sterne, of Toronto, who commanded the 1st Field Regiment.

one of the architects of the Labor party as it is known today, and held nearly every senior post in the party. He entered Parliament in 1922.

In 1947 he was retired by Labor leader Clement Attlee from his government posts to make room for younger men.

GOT THE BRIED

KIRKELAND LAKE (CP) — District gems supervisor Ford Kelham got the bird while fly-casting for rainbow trout. On a back-cast, a nighthawk swooped down and seized the fly. Kelham reeled in the hawk, unhooked it and set it free.

A. Greenwood, Laborite, Dies

LONDON (AP)—Arthur Greenwood, treasurer of the Labor party and long-time Socialist leader, died today. He was 74.

Greenwood, a member of the moderate wing of the party, served in the war cabinet and as lord privy seal and paymaster-general in the post-war Labor governments.

His death will mean a by-election in the constituency of Wakefield, which he had represented in Parliament since 1932.

Born in Leeds, Greenwood was

United Church Conference Elects New President

Shown above are the officers of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada elected at Wednesday morning's session of the four-day conference being held in Bridge Street United Church. Shown, left to right, are Rev. R. J. Trumpour, Little Britain, assistant secretary of the Conference for the past two years and newly-elected secretary; Rev. Alfred Poulter, Wellington, retiring president of the Conference; Rev. H. C. Wolfrain, Lakefield, secretary of Conference for the past 8 years and incoming president; and Rev. John E. Glover, Ivanhoe, returned for the 19th term as treasurer.

Eisenhower Still Backing Program To Reduce Tariffs

House Approves Extension Of His Right to Make Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower said today, nothing could be further from the truth than suggestions that he is backing away from his foreign trade program which calls for a reduction of tariffs.

Eisenhower told his press conference the fact he now asked for a simple one-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act — instead of insisting on his original request for a three-year extension with provision for a gradual 15-per-cent cut in tariffs — does not mean he is abandoning the program.

The House of Representatives ways and means committee today unanimously approved the one-year extension of the president's authority to make trade agreements with other nations.

NEED MORE THAN ARMS

On other matters the president had this to say:

Communism—What he personally fears more than anything in the free world's struggle against communism is the possibility of a failure to look th. danger squarely in the broad face. Eisenhower said emphatically that we can't achieve its aims by military force alone.

He said there also must be psychological, political and intellectual bases for any intervention designed to help the free world in its battle against communism.

Indo-China—The president said the French forces fighting in Indo-China are in possibly better defensive shape than before the fall of Dien Bien Phu, and undoubtedly could be much aided by outside help. However, he said that he does not believe the U.S. should start a war but should keep its military reserves highly mobile.

Atomic Energy—Eisenhower reiterated his belief that there should be a greater interchange of atomic energy information between the U.S. and its allies. He said the U.S. hardly can expect co-operation without being willing to provide such information.

Laniel Again Seeking Vote Of Confidence

(By HARVEY HUDSON)

PARIS (AP) — The spectre of a prolonged cabinet crisis threatens France and the Geneva conference today. Premier Joseph Laniel, for the third time in two weeks, has demanded a vote of confidence from the angry National Assembly.

The deputies will vote Saturday, and observers generally are pessimistic about Laniel's chances. The premier survived his last confidence vote May 13 by two votes, and some of his support seems to have deserted him since then.

Enough of the members may reconsider, however, to enable the government to squeeze through. Few of the deputies want to assume responsibility for jeopardizing the Geneva conference, and there is no certainty any new government can be formed quickly.

There was a lapse of 37 days last year between the time former premier Rene Mayer was voted out of office and Laniel took over.

REJECT RESOLUTION

The premier's demand came early today, at the end of an all-night session of the assembly. It followed the deputies' refusal to consider an innocuous government backed resolution on the Indo-China crisis, offered as the wind-up of a four-day debate.

With deputies from all sections of the House attacking government policies, the assembly voted 324 to 269 against hearing the resolution. Many speakers accused the cabinet, and Foreign Minister Bidault in particular, of not working hard enough for an Indo-China peace.

New Grand Master

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Douglas O. Taylor of Saint John was elected grand master of the "Freedom Boys Grand Lodge of British North America at the annual convocation ended Wednesday. He succeeded Dr. A. MacCrimmon of Mountain Grove, Ont.

New officers include the secretary, G. C. Smith, Toronto, the director of ceremonies, Frank R. Needham, Montreal; grand chaplain, R. G. Craig, Kingston.

Mrs. Beatrice Witts of Toronto was elected Grand Companion of the Grand Chapter of "Pendlee Ladies. Other officers include second orator, Mrs.-Katharine Graham, Kingston; second guide, Mrs. G. C. Smith, Toronto.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Warm, sunny weather still continues across the southern half of the province, although more humid air has moved into south-western Ontario, and a few isolated showers are forecast today and Friday. In this humid air, a few isolated thunderstorms are likely to occur during the evening hours both days. Cooler, generally cloudy weather is again invading regions north of Lake Superior, where afternoon temperatures will be some 10 to 20 degrees lower than those of Wednesday. Scattered showers, however, will not affect southern Ontario for at last the next few days.

Bloodhounds Track Boy To His Bed

CARSDALE, N.Y. (AP)—Bruce Lyons took his scolding like the 11-year-old he is, and walked out of the house.

At 4 a.m. Wednesday, searchers, unable to find him, put bloodhounds on his trail.

The hounds sniffed a piece of the boy's clothing, swept through the neighborhood in a wide arc and bounded back through the Lyons door.

Bruce was asleep in his own bed.

Munitions Dump Is Set Afire

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The Victmish Communists today claimed they set fire to the biggest French ammunition dump in Indo-China June 2, destroying "a large quantity of arms and ammunition" supplied by the United States.

The French high command last night announced there was a "spectacular fireworks display" at the dump, but said the blaze was insignificant. The dump was at Phuctho, five miles from Saigon, Vietminh radio said the French troops guarding the depot were "knocked silly," but total losses in the nine-hour blaze were not known.

G.I. Separated from Wife and Son Is Perplexed, Puzzled, Getting Mad

By GIB STALEY.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charles Irvine, 31-year-old U.S. soldier, is "perplexed, puzzled" because United States immigration authorities forced him to leave his wife and child in Canada — although they let him bring his pet dog back across the border.

"And I'm not only perplexed and puzzled, I'm getting damned mad," Irvine said today.

"I guess it's just because of red tape, but I'm willing to make a stand that kind of red tape. I have my dog but my wife and child are in Niagara Falls, Canada. How about that!"

This is the way he explains it:

Irvine was in the U.S. army in the Second World War, serving in the European theatre. After the war ended in 1945, he went to Switzerland on the Visiting Lord Mullin, a British subject.

"I met her and she liked me but we decided to wait until I was discharged from the army before we married," Irvine said. "So I returned home, went back to college and we corresponded. I returned to Europe and we were married at South Sea, England, on May 16, 1950. We got a visitor's visa for my wife and entered the U.S. with no trouble at all."

Irvine obtained a commission in the National Guard militia after returning to the U.S. "I volunteered for duty in the reserve and was stationed at Ft. Dix, Texas. It was there that our son was born on Feb. 5, 1951. Gee, I would like to have him with me now."

After a few months of service at the instructor, Irvine was ordered to Korea.

"I hardly knew what to do. Here I was going to be in a shooting again. So, I sent my wife and son to live with her mother, while waiting at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

"Irvine came back from Korea unscathed and took up his work as a research chemist here.

"Well, a few months ago, I received my wife and her to come home. And, last month, I got our son, and the dog, arrived in Montreal. I went up to bring them back. And, by golly, the immigration officials said she could not come in on a visitor's visa."

Mrs. Irvine and her son then went to Niagara Falls, Ont.

"I've driven up to see them several times," Irvine said. "She's really upset. I'm trying to get all the papers I can to straighten things out and I'll go up and see her soon and try to talk the immigration authorities into allowing her to come back to me."

CANADA TO FIGHT TO MAINTAIN WHEAT MARKETS

Might Mean Another Cut in Wheat Prices

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe says Canada will fight to maintain her current share of world wheat markets even if it means another cut in prices.

He told the Commons Wednesday night the government will not make a fetish of holding current prices if that means substantial loss of customers.

But he cautioned members against becoming panicky because of his statement.

"We intend to be competitive," he said, "We think we have some control over the competitive situation."

"The North American supplies are the largest in the world and we do not think we need panic if one country decides to cut its price below ours. It is almost inevitable that we hold some kind of blanket control over the smaller countries."

TWO-HOUR DEBATE

Mr. Howe gave his views at Opposition Leader Drew initiated a two-hour debate arising out of the Canadian wheat board's decision last Monday to cut wheat prices by 10½ cents a bushel, the biggest drop in post-war years.

This, the second cut of 1954, followed a 10-cent drop by the United States last Friday.

Frost to Head Legislative Tour of Highway Projects

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SUDBURY (CP) — Members of the Ontario legislature, headed by Premier Frost and his cabinet ministers, will make a 12-day tour of Lakehead highway construction projects in August.

Clare Mapledoram (PC — Fort William) said in an interview Wednesday night that the legislators will make an extensive rail and bus tour, taking in the Fort William division of the highways department, scene of the spiralling investigation into highway irregularities in Ontario.

"It will be an educational trip for members to see what has been going on at the lakehead," said Mr. Mapledorum, a member of the legislature's select committee investigating highway irregularities now touring northern Ontario highway projects.

LEAVE IN AUGUST

Fifty members of the legislature have already registered for the trip. They will leave Toronto Aug. 8 by train, arriving in Marathon the following day. On Aug. 10 they will leave by bus for Terrace Bay and Nipigon, inspecting new trans-Canada highway work.

From Nipigon the members will travel to the Lakehead for a two-day stay, taking in the Lakehead Agricultural Fair.

On Aug. 14, Premier Frost will officially open the new 78-mile Sleep Rock highway, before he and the members leave for Fort Frances for a two-day stay. Kenora and Sioux Lookout will be visited during the next two days, the northern tour will wind up at Long Lac Aug. 19.

The tour has been arranged by Mr. Mapledorum, G. C. Wardrope (PC—Port Arthur) and W. G. Nodel (PC—Rainy River).

MET DELEGATION

Wednesday night, the highways investigation committee met as a delegation of Sudbury officials who complained of the slowness of highways construction work in the Sudbury area.

Mr. Mapledorum said the situation applied not only to this area but to the whole of the province as a result of the investigation and subsequent re-organization of the highways department.

"However, in the last few days, several contracts have been let which should mean a speeding up of work. It's just a case of getting the ball rolling again."

Princess Enjoy Ball Given By Ambassador

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret enjoyed a ball given by the United States ambassador Winthrpp Aldrich, so much that she didn't leave until 3 a. m. this morning—15 minutes before the last of some 300 guests departed.

Dressed in white, the Princess arrived at the ambassador's residence at 9 p. m. with orders for her car to take home two hours later.

At 3 a. m., Margaret's limousine drove out with the princess snoozing again. So, I sent my wife and son to live with her mother, while waiting at Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany.

"Irvine came back from Korea unscathed and took up his work as a research chemist here.

"Well, a few months ago, I received my wife and her to come home. And, last month, I got our son, and the dog, arrived in Montreal. I went up to bring them back. And, by golly, the immigration officials said she could not come in on a visitor's visa."

Mrs. Irvine and her son then went to Niagara Falls, Ont.

"I've driven up to see them several times," Irvine said. "She's really upset. I'm trying to get all the papers I can to straighten things out and I'll go up and see her soon and try to talk the immigration authorities into allowing her to come back to me."

Presbyterians Raise Pensions For Ministers

TORONTO (CP) — Provision for increasing the pensions of retired presbyterian ministers by $800 a year was made Wednesday by the 90th Presbyterian General Assembly.

Commissioners approved a 10-per-cent boost in the church contribution to the pension fund. The amount ordered paid into the fund by the church was to be increased to six per cent of total pastoral receipts.

Clarence M. Pitts of Ottawa, pension board chairman, reported that 150 ministers and their widows of the fund. He asked the assembly to take steps to have them join.

Mr. Pitts told those who opposed the increase for financial reasons that the board was asking for "peanuts" compared with what other churches were doing for retired ministers.

"The United Church takes 10 per cent right now from its missionary and ministers' fund for retirement needs," he said.

PC LEADER CALLS FOR NEW LAW TO RESTRICT REDS

Govt. Screening Powers Continue for 3 Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew has called for a law to root out what he said are known Communists in Canadian uranium mines, in the heavy water industry and in some large hydro-electric power plants.

He made the proposal in the Commons Wednesday as an alternative to a government bill seeking renewed order-in-council power to screen seamen on Canadian ships on the Great Lakes and upper St. Lawrence river.

The measure was approved following a 4½-hour debate in which all opposition parties criticized its provision allowing the cabinet to draft regulations to guard against sabotage of the inland shipping route.

He would continue for three years government screening powers exercised since 1951 under the Emergency Powers Act, which lapsed May 31. Labor Minister Gregg explained that 1,844 seamen have been refused working cards and 22,432 others cleared to work on the Lakes.

Mr. Drew said this should be done under a law defining loyalty to a foreign government as an offence. This would be safer than to rely on broad powers granted as an emergency measure. Canada had to take steps to have security risks was a small price to pay for protection against sabotage of the important canal system.

Electric Impulses Can Provoke Memory Scientist Tells Meeting

By BOB JOYCE.

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Wilder G. Penfield, director of the Montreal Neurological Institute, says he has developed a mechanical model of the brain which preserves a record of the stream of thought.

In treating epileptic patients, he had accidentally discovered that electrical impulses fired from the patients' brains before operations were able to determine what part of the brain needed to be severed to relieve epilepsy sufferers.

Dr. Penfield, a world-famed neurologist, said when the needle gives a shock to a particular part of the cortex—the key part of the brain—a patient sometimes recalls with "a startling degree of vividness and detail" events in his past he had forgotten.

"He is aware of the kind of state he is in and of the present, although he had closed his eyes 30 seconds after the event and had a voluntary memory. He recalls all those things to which he had just been paying attention."

His findings had to be backed by further experiments, but it looked like another forward step toward understanding the function of individual parts of the brain. He didn't mean that this permanent record could be turned by a person any time he wanted to get a complete run-down on what had happened in previous years.

Earlier some 800 congress members—almost half the total number heard three Russian psychologists, B. Teplov and others, discuss talks about conditioning, or how to train an animal or human being to react automatically to a certain way whenever some event happened.

Clarence Sine, 15, Latta, Drowns In Moira River

Said to Be Non-Swimmer And Ventured Beyond Depth

A teen-aged youth plunged to his death in 12 feet of water in the Moira River at Latta Wednesday evening. Latta is 12 miles north of Belleville.

Drowned is Clarence Arnold Sine, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carman Sine, who resides on a farm on the 9th concession of Thurlow, half mile east of Latta.

The body of the drowned youth was recovered about an hour and a half after the tragedy, after efforts at artificial respiration proved futile.

Young Sine had gone swimming with two other teen-aged youths, Stanley Reid and Donald Eccles. He was just learning to swim and attempted to swim to one of the bridge piers when he disappeared beneath the surface.

GRAPPLING HOOK USED

The alarm was immediately given and swimmers attempted to dive in locate the body but were unsuccessful. Grappling irons were then secured and dragging operations were started. Clarence Platt, storekeeper at Plainfield, in a party loaned the body in 12 feet of water a short distance below the bridge.

Provincial police and the Bellleville fire department went to the scene with special equipment, but resuscitation efforts were of no avail and the boy was pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott. It is not expected there will be any inquest.

BORN AT WALLBRIDGE

The late Clarence Arnold Sine was born at Wallbridge, 15 years ago, being the son of Carman Sine and the late Thelma Sine, and had resided in Plainfield for the past nine years. He formerly lived a Zion Hill and Wallbridge.

He was a student at the Collegiate Institute and made many friends with his kindly smile and personality. He was well liked in his community.

The boy took an active interest in Plainfield United Church work. Surviving are his stepmother, Doris Sine, his father, Carman Sine, twin sisters, Rosemary and Rosemarie, 6; two brothers, Clarence, 18; Glen, 17, and four sisters, Viola, Marie, Thelma and Shirley.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home until this afternoon. Funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Boycott Celebration Of Queen's Birthday

VALETTA, Malta (Reuters) — The nationalist government of Malta, including Premier George Borg Olivier, today boycotted Queen Elizabeth's birthday parade in Malta.

They were protesting against parade orders which said members of three services attending should not wear decorations, including them, but only during "God Save the Queen."

Fifty-Nine Cases Up for Hearing In Police Court

Fifty-nine cases, the great majority of them dealing with speeding charges and other infractions of the highway traffic act, were listed for hearing at this morning's session of the county magistrate's court before Magistrate T. W. Wills.

Sixteen charges of speeding were listed the most of them being settled out of court with fines and costs ranging up to $13.50 being paid.

Other charges included failure of motorists to have auto equipment meeting the required mechanical condition, cutting in and other infractions of driving regulations.

Eight charges of over-loading were registered against truck operators, three of them paying $23.50 fine and costs out of court.

Personal service summons will go out to the others.

Charges of drunk, careless and dangerous driving against John Demay of Brighton will be heard on June 24th. Demay, who was involved in a highway accident two weeks ago, had his bail renewed until the above date.

Walter Swan, Ameliasburg, charged with dangerous and careless driving in connection with the highway death of Evelyn Bonisteel last week was remanded until June 21st.

Five Juveniles Held for Series Of Break-Ins

Five local juveniles believed involved in a series of break-ins in the city during recent weeks have been apprehended by police and will be dealt with, in juvenile court.

Police claim the young teenagers were connected with break-ins at the Club Commodore where candy and cigarettes were stolen, at Choy's fish and chip shop on the Footbridge gangway and at the Acme Farmers' Dairy, on South Front St.

Three of the juveniles were apprehended in Port Hope by police in that centre, when attention of the officers was drawn by bulging pockets.

Kingston Rink Wins Tourney At Brighton

In perfect weather, the Brighton Bowling Club held its annual Rex Spray trophy competition on Wednesday afternoon with 22 rinks from the district, being on hand for the tournament.

A Kingston rink, composed of Bill Piercey, James Rutherford and Morley Gall as skip, captured the three-game high total after some excellent competition but a rink of Bruce Miller, Garn Dobbs and Gerald B. Hyde of the Belleville Club were not far behind, in fact only two points. A Trenton rink of A. B. Farrar, R. Brown and Bill Jaggs was in third place.

Sam Netley's rink from the host club won the two-game high total with Jim Archer, Walter Wiggins and Bert Taylor of Campbellford getting the consolation high prize. Incidentally Mr. Taylor is back on the greens again after being sidelined with a serious illness. He was welcomed back by his fellow bowlers.

Queen, on Well-Behaved Police Horse, Attends Trooping of Color

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth, sitting side-saddle on a well-behaved police horse, carried out gracefully today the most colorful ceremony of the royal duties — trooping the color.

Many thousands watched in threatening weather, but rain held off and the queen rode in the ceremony on the horse guards parade ground. Just seven several bursts of sunshine which made the swords and the instruments of 350 bandsmen gleam.

The Queen's mount was the faithful chestnut, Winston, who normally helps the police manage traffic but who quite a few years ago through the complicated parade which he seems to understand as well as the smartest of the Queen's soldiers. Throughout the ceremony the Queen sat upright in unsmiling royal dignity. Winston's reins held firmly in her white-gloved hands.

A little to the rear of the Queen most of the time were the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Gloucester, on grey horses.

The Duke of Edinburgh wore a uniform of a colonel of the Welsh Guards. His horse, named Alamein, behaved like a good trooper.

And the duke was not called upon, as he was last year, to demonstrate his skill as a horseman.

Last year's horse was a dancing, wilful bear who tried to do the parade on his hind legs.

Probably the most interested spectators were Prince Charles and Princess Anne. They sat in a carriage with Queen Mother Elizabeth, who wore a pale blue dress, and Princess Margaret, smart in a fur coat and pink hat. The Queen saluted her mother as the rode past to take up her position at one side of the parade grounds as the color of the 1st battalion of the Coldstream Guards was trooped.

The ceremony is a part of the observance of the Queen's official birthday. Her real birthday was April 21, when she was 28. But today was the real birthday of the Duke of Edinburgh, who is 33. The official observance of the monarch's birthday takes place in June on the chance that fickle English weather may be suitable for parades in spanking uniforms.

There has been so much rain to mar royal spectacles lately that the British speak of "a drop of the Queen's weather."

Half Quebec Protestant Teachers Misfits or Morons Says Trustee

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que. (CP) — A scarcity of teachers has forced Protestant public school staffs with "40 per cent misfits and 10 per cent morons," Robert Fraser, president of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards declared Wednesday.

Mr. Flood said there are teachers who do not consider it their duty to continually improve their own education to better their charges, but I doubt whether many schools have more than one or two of this type."

He said 50 per cent of teachers do "an ordinary, useful, more or less adequate, job." The rest of the mainder were misfits, teaching because "they must make a living somewhere."

"This group harbors the giddy girls who can teach lower grades and date the big boys during the evening," he said. "Finally, about 10 per cent are morons who may be frustrated and take it out on the kids, or maybe stern discipline for instruction."

School boards have to take what teachers are available, he added.

Mayors and Reeves Ask Direct Action to Relieve Unemployment

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Mayors and Reeves Association has asked the provincial government to take direct action to relieve unemployment. The association's delegates to the association convention sent a telegram to Ottawa Wednesday.

"We should do our utmost to improve upon the federal government that now is the time to act," said Reeve Fred Hall of York Township. "But at the same time the situation will be even more acute."

Mayor A. L. McCrae of Welland said: "Unless we do something the municipalities and the property owners are going to be caught in the same cold summer play."

CAN'T STAND IDLE

He added that although his municipality knew that the problem of 1,000 unemployed in his city was that of the federal and provincial governments, it could not stand by and watch the people go hungry.

"We're being forced to carry the ball," said Mayor Reg Cooper of Brantford. "It will require every industrial city is feeling the pinch of unemployment today."

Brantford backed a Long Branch resolution to ask the provincial and federal governments to aid in relief to unemployables. They also supported an Ottawa resolution asking for revival of the Municipal Improvements Act, so the federal government could assist in unemployment relief works.

Reeve Dr. D. G. Davis of Uxbridge said: "It is up to the federal government to decide how they will meet the situation, whether through a program of public works or a contribution to relief payments to employable unemployed."

Reeve Oliver Crockford of Scarborough called for the power to levy taxes on non-taxable property owners who are renting accommodation.

Britain Has Set Natural Cheeses Import Quotas

LONDON (CP)—The Board of trade announced today that a quota has been arranged for the import of cheese from Canada and the United States. Its size was not disclosed.

The quota will be divided among traders on important natural cheeses from North America during 1957-58 and who paid the overseas supplier directly.

Purchases of cheese from Canada and other dollar countries previously had been in the hands of the ministry of food. These purchases were drastically reduced when Britain clamped on post-war economy measures.

U.S. UNVEILS ITS MIGHTY JET MIDGET

On display at El Segundo, Calif., is the navy's new Skyhawk, smallest and lightest jet combat plane ever built by the U.S. Less than half the size and superior in the performance to many current operational jet fighters, the Skyhawk has a wingspread of only 25 feet. It is capable of carrying atomic bombs or rockets, machine guns, missiles and other weapons required of attack-type craft. It is so tiny that the wings do not require folding for carrier operations. Belle Haven Club For Disabled To Hold Tag Days

The Belle Haven Club for Disabled and Handicapped Persons will hold tag days on Friday and Saturday of this week.

This club, organized during the past year, has already been of immeasurable assistance to a large number of Belleville and district residents. It has held several functions in an effort to raise money to finance its work. Now it is appealing for assistance to the general public through the medium of these tag days. Donors can rest assured that the funds so collected are going to worthy cause.

Obituary

MRS. NELLIE R. CHAMBERS

The funeral of Mrs. Nellie Ruth Chambers was held from her home in Foxboro to Foxboro Unified Church for service on Wednesday afternoon. The service in the church, which was filled with sorrowing relatives and intimate friends was conducted by Rev. H. Giffin who also said the last prayers in Elmwood cemetery.

The bearers were: H. Wannamakers, S. Sherry, R. Skinner, C. Wilson, W. Logue and B. Hollinger.

JAMES SILLS
(Corryville)

A lifelong resident of Thurlow township, near Corbyville, James Sills, died in the Kingston General Hospital on Wednesday afternoon after an illness of five weeks.

He was born on the homestead 88 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Sills and lived in the same house for his entire life. He was well known and highly respected in his community. His funeral service will be carried on farming operations and for some years has been living retired in Corbyville with his daughter Lilla Belle Snider, died in 1952.

The late Mr. Sills was a member of Bethany United Church and is survived by one son, Mr. George Sills, who also lives on the homestead and two grandchildren, Garnet and Earl Sills.

Resting at the Belleville Funeral Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

WILLIAM ARNOLD LOVE

The funeral of William Arnold Love was held from the residence Madoc township, near Madoc on Tuesday afternoon. There was a large attendance at the home and the many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community.

Rev. W. Heslip conducted the service in the home and also at the graveside in Lakeview cemetery.

The bearers were: Stanley Franks, William McCoy, William Bateman, Kelly Mulroney, John Lahey and Albert Bronson.

REV. ROBERT H. BELL
(Peterborough)

Rev. Robert H. Bell, one-time pastor of Bridge Street United Church, died in Peterborough, on Wednesday, following a brief illness. He was 71.

He was born near Hamilton and received his early education at Caledonia. He attended Victoria College and obtained his degree of Doctor of Divinity from Queen's University. He began his ministerial career at Caledonia, Ont., later served at Hagersville, Guelph, Hamilton, Bloomfield Church, Toronto, High Park Methodist Church, Toronto, and Sydenham Street at Kingston. He also served in Wingham, Belleville and Aurora, where he retired in 1935. He moved to Peterborough four years ago. He leaves his wife; three daughters, Mrs. R. Patterson, The Hague, Holland; Mrs. O. J. Swanston, Montreal, P.Q.; Mrs. D. E. Shoemaker, Pitman, N.J.; and sons, Dr. Robert Bell, Peterborough and John Bell, also of Peterborough.

W. H. HERRINGTON
(Kingston — Napanee)

KINGSTON (CP)—W. H. Herrington, lawyer and former Kingston alderman, died Wednesday night in hospital.

He had been ill for some time and was taken to hospital May 25 after collapsing at a service club meeting.

Born in Napanee, he was educated at Queen's University and Osgoode Hall.

Active in practically every phase of Kingston civic life, Mr. Herrington was an alderman in 1929 and 1930. He was a past president of the Kingston Flying Club.

Surviving are his widow and two sons, all of Kingston.

TORONTO STOCKS
TORONTO (CP) — The stock market moved ahead in light but soon trading today and recovered some of the losses it suffered earlier in the week.
Industrials led the advance in the market's most active trading and their index climbed more than a point. Western oils were firm and base metals and golds slightly lower. First-hour volume was less than 300,000 shares.
Strongest industrial groups were papers, miscellaneous, steels, foods, refining oils, and motors.
Narrow trend prevailed in base metals. Steep Rock lost 10 cents in the first hour and Opemiska dropped seven cents in heavy sales.
Most western oil prices changed were pennies.
Golds were narrowly ahead in senior issues but were extended. Uraniums moved ahead firmly with small gains and changes. Miscellaneous issues were steady.

PRODUCE MARKET
TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.
The egg market was weak with offerings fairly heavy for a poor demand. Quotations are unchanged.
Cattle receipts 1,200; calves 40; hogs 250; no sheep or lambs; holdover from Wednesday 750 cattle.
Prices a few choice steers, all weights 29-30.50; good steers 19-30; medium cows to 18; good cows 15; steers mostly 18 a few at 18.25; good cows 15.50-16.50; a few bottiry cows at 16; medium cows 13.50-15; canner and cutter cows down to 8; a few good feeder steers and bulls 16; a few fed yearlings 19-19.50.
Calves mostly steady at 22-24 for good to choice vealers; common to medium 12-21.
Hogs were steady to firm at 37.50 with a few at 38 for grade A; B-1 1 dollar lower than A's; sows 35; stags 18.

LENGTHY SITTING
OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons may sit longer at the present session than at any time since the start of the Second World War, 10 years ago Wednesday completed its 125th day of sitting, a post-war record. During the war the House sat for 138 days in 1944-45.

Letter-to-the-Editor Habit Institution for Many Years

LONDON (Reuters)—A retired army colonel wakes one morning in a cheerful mood after a butcher's boy whistling as he delivers the sausages.

"Why do errand boys have to make that ghastly noise?" he grouses to his wife. "I've a good mind to write to the Times about it."

A gentle spinster looks into her garden and sees an unusual species of bird.

"Oh, I must write to the Times about this," she says.

Throughout Britain today thousands of people have pen and ink out and are busy scribbling letters to the editor of the Times, or any other newspaper that publishes a column on correspondence from readers.

EVERYBODY WRITES

The "letter-to-the-editor" habit has been a British institution for years. The correspondence column of the Times is undoubtedly the most famous of all. For nearly 100 years the humble and the great have been writing to it when-ever they felt they had something they wanted to say.

The first letter to the editor was published in the Times in its second issue in 1785. It was from Billy Bumper, who expressed his views on the drinking of toasts as "an easy and pleasant method of admitting young men of fortune."

A few years ago someone signing himself "a Victorian" wrote to the Times to say: "To have a bathing costumes.

letter in your columns is felt to be the duty of the distinguished."

Sometimes the Times prints the names of history and literature have felt that way about it.

FAMOUS CORRESPONDENTS

Charles Dickens, the author, wrote a fervent letter in 1849 against public executions.

In 1925 Benito Mussolini wrote to the Times: "It is not true that patriots are discontented," and "please note that Fascism counts 3,000,000 adherents."

Queen Victoria used the correspondence column for a personal message—as near an apology as a letter from a king to his people.

The sovereign had gone into retirement, desolate at the death of her consort, Prince Albert. The people were complaining they hadn't seen her. So she wrote to the Times gave them some support in an editorial.

Some years later, in 1864, a 400-word royal message was published. "The queen will do what she can in the manner least trying to her health, strength and spirits," it said.

NEW BONG-BIRD

In the midst of the Munich crisis in 1938, a letter appeared in the Times telling gently of the appearance of the new song-bird in the garden of 10 Downing street. It was signed "Mr. Chamberlain."

One of the most startling subjects for the dignified Times was

CWL Convention Opens in City

The 34th annual convention of the Catholic Women's League, archdiocese of Kingston, opened here on Wednesday, in the spacious and beautifully decorated auditorium of St. Michael's Academy.

Following registration, under the convenership of Mrs. J. E. Boyd, Belleville, the business sessions commenced, with Mrs. Urbin E. Naughton, diocesan president, in the chair. Reports of various committees were heard throughout the afternoon as follows: recording secretary, Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, Belleville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Cloud, Kingston; treasurer's report, Mrs. James McIlmoil, Gananoque.

After benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, the formal opening of the convention took place with the raising of flags by C.W.L. Girl Guides, under Captain Samuels and the singing of "God Save the Queen" with Mrs. W. Grant at the piano.

Mrs. Hostess president, Mrs. E. E. Logan welcomed the delegates, expressing the hope that the city of Belleville would be a pleasant and fruitful one, and that they would enjoy the hospitality determined to give greater effort to the work of the C.W.L. Response motto is "For God and Country."

The Very Rev. L. B. Harvie, pastor, St. Michael's, in his welcoming address spoke of the loyalty and devotion of the members of the three local subdivisions which made this a part of Canada.

In the address from the City of Mayor Bath, greetings from the city were brought by the mayor, by Alderman J. P. Bradford, who commended the members for their in the vanguard of the fight for a truly Christian way of life.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor Byrne, Diocesan chaplain, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. Culshaw of Kingston, whose topic was "Mother's Place in the Home." Following the address, the delegates were invited to make prayer as much a part-time of everyday life as breakfast, lunch and dinner, and that children should receive a clear and honest answer to their many questions; that a mother must be among other things, a nurse, dietitian, and diplomat, and that in her opinion a budget is a must in a well run home. The league was privileged, she said, to have at the convention its national president, Mrs. F. Drake, of Regina, who spoke briefly and made herself available for questions on league matters, which were answered in a most able and gracious manner.

Mrs. Drake was introduced by Mrs. P. Mellroy of Prescott.

Greetings from Ottawa were brought from the provincial executive by Mrs. J. Ryan, of Renfrew.

A vote of thanks was tendered the Girl Guides by Mrs. J. C. Gallagher, of Renfrew, and followed by lowering of flag and singing of "O Canada."

BUSINESS SESSION

Business sessions resumed with the following committees reporting:

Organization and membership, Mrs. Gallagher; Catholic religious discussion groups, educational and scholarships, Mrs. B. O'Connell, Belleville; press, Mrs. E. C. Hamilton, Elgin; finance, Mrs. J. Mellroy, Prescott.

Following adjournment, regret was expressed by Miss E. F. Domenico and committee.

BIG DEFENCE GROUP

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Prime Minister Tage Erlander in a summary to Parliament reported 242,000 persons have been trained in the general civil defence organization of Sweden and a supplementary home and industrial protection schemes against atomic attack.

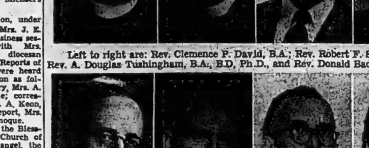
A. P. Herbert (now Sir Alan Herbert), the author and humorist, asked: "Should bathing cozzies, or should they cover their manly chests?"

Mr. Herbert's successor, Rose Macaulay, was: "If men show their breasts, why not women?"

To some people writing letters to the editors of newspapers is a lifelong hobby.

MOST PROLIFIC

Henry Bosworth, a 76-year-old Nottingham decorator, wrote 4,000 letters to editors. When he died in 1951 a letter from him was appeared coincidentally in one newspaper alongside the announcement of his death.



A clergyman, Rev. J. B. Beconsall, left 40 letters in his shade. He had written more than 1,000 letters to the newspapers before died in 1938. More than 9,000 of them were published, mainly in the Manchester Guardian.

His subjects ranged from his own monastic cell to the suggested acted as a germ filter, to an agitation which resulted in the reprieve of a Swiss workman sentenced to death on a murder charge.

Another of his letters was purely personal. He wrote to one-existing legislation which makes it illegal for children to be taken into public houses. His advice to future writers was: "Hit the subject while it is hot, cut out padding."

Eight Ordained into Ministry Of United Church in Canada In Impressive Ceremony

Eight men were ordained with impressive ceremony into the ministry of the United Church of Canada Wednesday evening at the annual ordination service of the Bay of Quinte Conference held in Bridge St. United Church, before a capacity audience.

Rev. Alfred Hamilton, retiring president of the Conference, delivered the ordination sermon and read the charge to the ordinands. Presentation of testamurs and Bibles was done by Rt. C. Wolfrain, newly-elected president of Conference.

Those ordained were: Donald MacFarland Badger, Clifford Robert Chapman, Clemence Philemon David, B.A.; Robert Merrick Hawley, B.A.; Eustace McNeill, George Alfred Mundy, B.A.; Robert Franklin Sherwin, B.A., B.D., and Arlein Douglas Tushingham, B.A., B.D., Ph.D.

Miss Jean Sheppard, Rec. N. and a graduate of the United Church Training School, was commissioned as a missionary, under appointment, to Alberni, B.C. Miss Sheppard was presented by Mrs. S. W. Spafford, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch of the Women's Missionary Society.

Following the call to worship and the singing of a hymn by the ordinands the were presented to the president, Rev. Hamilton by Rev. H. C. Wolfrain, M.A. B.D., to be admitted ministers of the Word and the sacraments.

The ordinands, in turn, related their Christian experience and their call to the ministry.

Rev. Dr. S. M. Gilmour, Dean of Queen's Theological College, read the Scripture lessons.

When the charge had been read and the testamurs and Bibles presented the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to the ordinands.

The ordination service concluded with benediction.

THRESHOLD OF OPPORTUNITY

Rev. Mr. Poulter, in his ordination sermon, reminded the ordinands that they were standing on the threshold of a great opportunity. He also reminded them of the tremendous responsibility they were assuming in dedicating their lives to the work of speaking of the Gospel message.

"It takes a stout heart and deep convictions to stand and set principles to men that they should turn to good from evil," he said.

Mr. Poulter urged the ordinands to cultivate a Christ-like compassion for the people in their care, because only through compassion can they apply the teachings of Christ, to the needs of the people.

A river of grief must flow through you to save you from the unforgivable sin of remote ness.

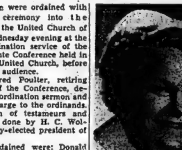
He spoke of the unfortunate, the downcast, the unwanted, the bewildered, the handicapped, the sorrowful and the sinful, and said that "the place for the shepherd of God's sheep is among them."

"From acquaintance with the needs o' the people will come prayer realized to be the need for pastoral preaching," he said.

WILL NEED COURAGE

"The task to which you are called will require courage based on deep conviction. But let nothing move you. On decision you will feel alone. There will be times when you have differences with your elders. The truth will offend the unrighteous and the forces of evil may rise against you.

But remember always that the truth is respected in the long run.



"People are driven from church not by preaching that makes them uncomfortable but by weak nothings which make them leave in contempt.

"In preaching remember that your sermons are not prepared to please people but to make them better. Don't be discouraged if you are not a Billy Graham drawing great crowds on two continents. God is not interested in the size of the congregation but in the sincerity and truth of the sermon.

"You are called to preach not by any individual or any group of men, but by God. Do not forget Whose men you are and Who you represent.

"Faith cometh by hearing the Word of God," said Mr. Poulter in conclusion. "God said, 'heaven and earth shall pass away but my Word shall not pass away.'

"Great tasks lie before you but God's power is great and mighty. May He guide and direct you in your ministry for souls."

Miss Jean Sheppard, Rec. N., graduate of the United Church Training College who was commissioned as a missionary under the United Church of Canada W.M.S.

Balloting For Commissioners Now in Progress

Election of commissioners to the General Council, reports from Presbyterial Societies, Home, missionary and maintenance, evangelism and social service, and pensions and relief, were the business address by Rev. Dr. George Johnston, secretary of New Testament Literature and Exegesis, Emmanuel College, Toronto, highlighted the opening of the third day's sessions of the 30th annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada.

Thursday morning's session opened with a worship service conducted by the retiring president of the Conference Lay Association.

Nominations for commissioners to the General Council were read by the secretary, Rev. R. C. Wolfrain. The Bay of Quinte Conference, which is entitled to 14 ministerial and 14 lay representatives to the General Council, assures representation on each of its seven presbyteries by appointing the lay and one ministerial commissioner leaving seven ministerial and seven lay commissioners to be elected by a general ballot of the conference. General balloting on a preferential basis and tellers were appointed as being three for tabulations Thursday afternoon.

Appointments to the General Council approved by the Conference are: From the Belleville Presbytery—Rev. L. Sheldon Thrupp, Cannifton; Rev. W. E. Tummon, Foxboro Cobourg Presbytery—Rev. W. C. Fletcher, Woodstock; Manley Maybee, Frankford; Kingston Presbytery— Rev. Dr. W. F. Bannister, Kingston; J. E. Hooton, Kingston; Lindsay Presbytery—Rev. H. W. Pointes, Woodville; Murray Austin, Woodville; Oshawa Presbytery—Rev. H. A. Mellow, Oshawa; Fred Orchard, Bowmanville; Peterboro Presbytery—Rev. W. G. Prosser, Pembroke; N. R. Flower, Renfrew.

Gambling in Service Clubs, Radio Quizs, Liquor Ads Censured by Conference

Resolutions aimed at discouraging gambling in service clubs and on radio programs and and a frontal assault on liquor advertising featured the report of the committee on Evangelism and Social Service adopted at Thursday morning's session of the 30th annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada meeting in Bridge Street United Church.

The report, in describing gambling as "the nefarious philosophy of something for nothing that strikes at the heart of ordered society . . . substituting chance for Christian belief in God" called on ministers to oppose give-away schemes used for advertising and in social affairs, and urged the Minister of Justice not to extend in any way, the sections of the Criminal Code pertaining to gambling.

The committee called upon the federal government to recognize that "liquor advertising is now a national activity" and on this basis called on the government to amend its parliament act to require that all liquor advertising be banned.

In addition the report urged all United Church people, "either to refuse to buy products of all-publications carrying liquor advertising or entirely to boycott such publications."

LIQUOR URGENT PROBLEM

The Conference, however, said "liquor is the most urgent problem, next to unemployment and housing" in Canada, called on pastoral charges to emphasize the need of co-operation in assistance and encourage the use of Declaration of Purpose cards.

The Conference also went on record to the effect that "every encouragement be given to the practice of having wedding receptions catered by church groups and at places removed from the temptation to overindulge beverages."

A resolution was passed urging the Minister of Education in Ontario to extend the requirements for compulsory alcohol education to include students of Grades 9 and 10.

While urging the strictest censures on the use of liquor and liquor advertising the Conference also passed a resolution "that all seek to maintain the Christlike attitude of compassion for the victim even while battling against the alcohol evil."

SURPLUS FOOD

The Conference also endorsed a recommendation "strongly urging the Canadian government to study immediately ways and means whereby our surplus food may be distributed to the needy areas of the world."

Other segments of the report on Evangelism and Social Service urged serious study into prospects for church membership and called on ministers to explore possibilities of making "the actual wedding ceremony less of a formality and following it up and more of a personal leadership in spiritual experience."

Resolutions were passed exhorting ministers to explore the possibilities of organizing a local pre-marital and post-marital counseling for husbands.

Investigation of the best means of serving the needs of our seafaring citizens" as a recommendation asking the department of External Affairs and Social Service to gather information on co-operative housing, were endorsed.

The report was presented at Thursday evening's session, was delayed for discussion, no formal decision until Thursday morning.

United Church Conference Budgets for Higher Revenues

The report of the Missionary and Maintenance committee presented a 10 per cent increase in revenues to make a grand total of $3,850,500 of which the Bay of Quinte Conference share was $211,109.

The Bay of Quinte Conference total was an increase of $17,484.58 over May 31st, 1953. Total increase for the United Church Canada was $303,788, which includes $191,331 for food for the world's hungry.

Despite increases in the church budget needs for 1954 are estimated at $5,000,000. This budget is based on approximate increases of $233,000 for overseas missions, $200,000 for home missions, $40,000 for work among the missionary school grants, $16,000 for Christian education and $10,000 for United Church men's work.

In the light of increasing budget needs the committee accepted a program of fund raising with the slogan, "Advance in 1954 with more and in endorsing the church's $5,000,000 budget set an objective of $400,000 for the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Recommendations of the committee adopted by the Rev. F. E. Weldon, chairman; Rev. H. Gill-Stein, secretary, and Rev. R. Wheeler and chairman of the Missionary Pension Fund Committees, was endorsed.

Rev. A. Parkman Accepts Call To St. Paul's

STIRLING—Rev. A. Packman, D.P.S., of Jarvis pastoral charge, which comprises Jarvis and Garnet appointments in Haldimand, Norfolk presbytery, of the United church of Canada, received a call to St. Paul's United church at Stirling and will begin his duties July 1st.

Rev. and Mrs. Packman have two children, a daughter, married and living at Port Hope and a son, Peter, who is student minister and is ready to enter university.

Mr. Packman spent a short week-end in Stirling. On Saturday evening he met several members of Carmel congregation at their church and on Sunday morning he was guest minister at St. Paul's, Stirling. He telephoned his acceptance of the call. His elder son, Paul, planned to attend the Bay of Quinte conference in Bridge street church.

Mr. Packman will succeed Rev. J. Ayre, who after he had just finished a full year of centennial celebrations, many improvements have been made during the five years of Rev. Baker's pastorate, and in the charge in an excellent financial condition.

Rev. Packman are now entering their second century of Christian work, and there is a great task ahead to keep up the high standard of the first 100 years.

FAITHFUL SERVICE RECOGNIZED

Few organizations are better than their secretaries. Too often they do not receive the credit which is their due, and receive less than their share of the work—and receive less than their share of the plaudits. It is pleasing, therefore, to note that the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church has seen fit to reward eight years of faithful secretarial service by Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, M.A., D.D., of Lakefield, by elevating him to the presidency. His predecessors have set a high standard of efficiency and devotion for him to match, but the record of the work of the Conference during the eight years in which Dr. Wolfraim served as its secretary is assurance that he is equal to this challenge.

To Rev. Alfred Poulter of Wellington, whom Dr. Wolfraim succeeds as president, Belleville probably owes a special debt. It seems likely that it was partly through his good offices that this city was this week privileged to act as host to 500 voting delegates and their families, from seven presbyteries, from Ottawa on the west to Kingston on the east, from Lindsay on the northwest to Renfrew on the northeast.

We hope these delegates are finding the facilities of this city conducive to the efficient discharge of their important duties. And we hope that, when their work is concluded on Friday, they find themselves free to remain with us for a brief period of relaxation before their return home. We think they will find much to enjoy in the Quinte district, from which the large Conference takes its name. And, if they enjoy themselves, we may reasonably hope that we may soon again have the pleasure of their company.

STRANGE TALE FROM BURMA

The evacuation of Chinese Nationalists from Burma has terminated.

Unfortunately not all of these guerrillas have been transferred to Formosa. Six thousand have been moved; it is estimated that another 6,000 remain and these cannot be persuaded to leave. They have been disowned by the Chiang Kai-Shek government, but their continued presence in Burma and their alliance with rebel Karen tribesmen will do nothing to strengthen Burmese support for an anti-Communist front.

The story of these Nationalist guerrillas is as strange, in its way, as the historic march of the 9th Route (Communist) Army throughout the length of China in the thirties.

Like the Reds years earlier, they were fleeing from a too powerful foe and, like the 9th Route Army, they managed to remain intact and re-establish themselves in a new locality.

The Nationalist Chinese force crossed into Burma in 1949, when the Communists ousted Chiang from the Chinese mainland. In the Burmese hills they made shift for themselves, lurking on the borders of China with the admirable intention of driving back into their homeland when the time was ripe, but maintaining themselves by raiding native villages. The Burmese Government found them a thorn in its flesh and became highly incensed with U.S. support for the Nationalists in Formosa. While fighting Communists in its own territory, the Burmese were also at war with these anti-Communist Chinese forces. Finally arrangements were made to fly these guerrillas to Formosa.

But only half of them have accepted the offer. Presumably the remainder will continue to inhabit the guerrillas' main headquarters at Moghsat, where they have set up a huge bamboo city with schools, hospitals, a concert hall, rifle ranges and an assault course. And presumably they will continue to raid native villages and terrorize them with money obtained by smuggling opium into neighboring Thailand.

This is just another queer, mixed-up story from a queer, mixed-up part of a queer, mixed-up world.

SHIPBUILDING BOOM COMING?

Canadian shipbuilding yards have fallen upon hard days. But the St. Lawrence seaway may eventually result in a boom in this industry. That, at least, is one inference which can be drawn from an article by Clayton Sinclair, appearing in the Montreal Gazette.

The seaway, says Mr. Sinclair, "will likely mean the death knell of the scores of ocean ships now plying between North America with Montreal and the rest of the world." They will be replaced by larger and more efficient vessels.

What this may mean to shipbuilding yards is made plain when we learn that out of the Canadian flag fleet of 264 lakers there are 120 of these canal type carriers. True, it would not be necessary to construct 120 ships to replace them, for they have a combined total only 341,700, compared to a tonnage of 880,850 for the remaining 144 vessels in the fleet.

But, if proper protection is provided for Canadian lake shipping interests, it would be reasonable to suppose that the industry would expand with the construction of the seaway. If this is to result, however, legislative action is necessary. Most countries have coastal shipping laws, which reserve for their flag fleets trade between ports in the country. Only U.S. vessels, for instance, can carry goods between U.S. lake ports. Canadian shipping deserves at least this protection. Now U.S. shipping interests are urging that trade between Canadian and U.S. lake ports should be restricted to the flag fleets of these two nations.

THE FATHER'S RESPONSE

When asked who gives the bride away,
Her father, standing by,
Instructed always is to say
The prayer book's brief reply.
He answered on her wedding day:
"Her mother does, and I."

And some there were who thought it strange
That such a thing should be,
That one the ritual should change
And alter "I" to "we" . . .
A custom old is no marriage,
But it seemed right to me.
"Her mother does, and I"
declared
They'd never walked alone,
But down the years had always shared
What joy and grief they'd known,
And that to say it they'd be spared
For children of their own.

The contract has been let to build the new high school in Madoc and work will be commenced at once. The school will be one of the finest in Eastern Ontario and it is expected that it will be ready for use by Sept. 12.

Miss Margaret Lee, nurse-in-training at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, is spending her vacation of two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Lee, Bridge Street East.

Margaret Hartop, of Hornbeyaue, Ontario, formerly of this city and a graduate of Belleville Collegiate Institute, received her degree in arts at the recent convocation at the University of Toronto. Miss Hartop was one of eight students who received honors in the general course.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Robb of Montreal, are the guests of their son, Mr. Malcolm Robb and Mrs. Robb in this city.

They really went "i fishin' awey back in 1854 according to the following item from our file copy at that time: "Mr. A. Dulmage of this city, and Mr. James Soby and Mr. Miller, both of Picton, went on a fishing expedition recently to Squire's Creek and caught 400 trout of which number Mr. Dulmage caught 180."

The pupils of Miss West gave a very enjoyable instrumental recital in St. Michael's Academy last evening. There was a large audience.

At the weekly practice about 60 members of the Belleville Rifle Club the wind was very tricky and as a result the scoring was low. Great credit is due J. W. Davison, who is the first man in the club to make the highest possible score, namely, seven straight bull's eyes at 600 yards. Following are the scores: J. W. Davison 33; J. Thompson 30; W. J. Anderson 77; A. Harman 71; A. Haggerty 69. Mr. Davison wins the club's button.

A fast and snappy baseball match was played at the Agricultural Park between the G.T.R. team and the Ontarios and the result was a score of 9 to 4 in favor of the, G.T.R. team. The teams were: G.T.R. D. Smith, B. Simmons, R. Geerow, H. Pringle, G. Pallon, Mills, W. Simmons, R. Muir and S. Rowe; Ontarios—Symons, H. Lavole, Morrison, W. Gerow, T. Smith, H. Watkin J. Geyer, R. Scott, J. McGie, and F. Goyer. The referee was B. Logue.

Peterson, Moira St., graduated with the degree of B.A., taking first class honors in moderns; Miss Bessie Lingham, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Lingham, College Hill, graduated with the degree of B.A.; Mr. Warren Ellis graduated in arts and Mr. Ted Eakins graduated in medicine.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

TOO MUCH "ADVANCED" REASONING

A man called up a friend one day and asked if he knew where it was possible to secure sole ownership in a certain type of business. The man said he knew of only one such establishment for sale, and it was losing money all the time. "Buy it," said the man quickly. "I want losses to deduct from my taxable income."

This sounds crazy, and it is. Anybody who believes that he can make money by losing it is confused in his thinking. It is profitable, of course, if one has losses to be able to balance them against profits, and it reduces one's income tax. But losses they still remain. When you have a loss you do not make it up except with a gain. The idea that one is improving his financial position by establishing losses is just what it sounds like—crazy.

If this were confined just to the field of finance, it would be serious enough. But the same type of reasoning has infiltrated the field of morals and ethics. Evil is evil, say some; evil is good in the making. Let people learn deeply the nature of evil and taste of its retributions and they will appreciate virtue the more. This is perverted thinking. Jesus said, "Enter ye in through the narrow gate." He himself said to Satan, "Get thee behind me."

There is a world of difference between the moral principles of some of our "advanced" thinkers today and the moral principles set forth in the Word of God.

There's A Difference

Letter to the Editor

Has Warmest of Praise For City's Bus Service

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I know it is commonplace to say, gentlemen, that praise is due; but after almost six years of city without a car, and having to depend almost entirely upon bus service, I take this opportunity through the columns of your paper to express, not only my own personal appreciation of the above service, but also that of dozens of other families, who likewise depend almost entirely upon the services rendered by the Rawson buses and their drivers. The bus company deserves the sincere thanks of the citizens of our city for providing and maintaining such wonderful, unfailing, regular and constant transportation, which I feel sure is not surpassed in any town or city.

As to the drivers in our employ their courtesy, kindly helpfulness and thoughtful consideration are seldom if ever excelled anywhere. The attention and care given to little children, who travel alone; to aged persons; and to those trying to embark and disembark, and assistance rendered in this connection this writer thinks is beyond description. I would like also to draw attention to the unquestioning assistance given crippled people, whether they have been born injured and those who suffer from physical disability.

The citizens of Belleville have great reason to be proud of their transportation system and the service being rendered. We venture to say in closing that the contribution which the bus company, though by many, no doubt, taken for granted, is the most necessary and beneficial activity connected with the life of the city.

Machine Made Beauty

(Montreal Gazette)

The popularity of antique furniture and the prices collectors are willing to pay for it illustrate a peculiar factor in this industrial age. The machine has come to believe that the older the chair is the more valuable it is; the collector believes that the older the chair is the more likely it is to be genuine.

Why? The simple answer is that hand-made furniture, decoration, furniture, utensils, were shaped by hand. Today, the vast majority of such things are stamped, carved, processed by machine. The principle is that the craftsman's loving care is no longer evident in the finished product.

Today industrial designers approach beauty in their fully. The first model of anything, even today, is largely handmade. Therefore it has the beauty of direct handmade things, new or old. What it does not have when it goes into production, is the individuality of the handmade product of old.

But, is that so very bad, for all that? Can we afford to hire skilled craftsmen to build us what we personally desire? There is beauty in the lines of an automobile, of a radio cabinet or a clock, despite the fact that each is one of thousands that have been produced.

To appreciate fully the, wealth the machine age has brought to the greater number of us, we recall that the first products of the machines were ugly because both they and the machines were poorly-designed for their functions.

In a hundred years, that has been largely overcome. We have always appreciate, always enjoy the unique beauty of antique products. But we should begin to appreciate the beauty of machine production, too, a beauty which is not unique but available to millions.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WITH TRANQUIL CONFIDENCE

How wonderful it would be if each one of us could go through life with a sense of calm and confidence, taking no thought of the days ahead, living solely to the day and to our immediately possible and complete. How ashamed then we would be to clutter that day up with foolish references to things that we apparently cannot do us, or brought pang to the heart.

One of my idols among the great of this earth has always been and peaceful face—a picture of tranquil confidence. He never paid any attention to the newspapers in America or of life. He was more interested in the happenings over the world. Depressions didn't bother him. He lived through many and he believed in the good essence of mankind.

Another great character was Abraham Lincoln. He was really a world character. You never think of him as an excitable man, no matter what tribulations he was called upon to bear. He had that tranquil confidence that in God's good time there would be peace, that right would end over the land, despoiled by war, a new unity of thought and purpose would emerge from the ashes.

In the life and achievements of Sir Winston Churchill we see the same tranquil confidence exemplified. His vision has served to give light to the world and to rekindle hope in the minds and hearts of millions of people in all literary and subjection. For long was his voice "crying in the wilderness."

When a man can bring bitterness carried around each day in the heart. A friend recently told me of a man who had devoted any attention to the love of money and who acquired wealth. Then he retired, but soon was stricken ill and helpless. Immediately he became bitter and balanced God for his misfortune. He forgot he owned life and opportunity to God, and all the benefits that had been his. Just before Thoreau died someone suggested that he ought to make his peace with God. Thoreau replied that he and God had never quarreled!

Maupygernoun Not on Menu

(The Times of London)

It is difficult to condemn the chairman of the Kitchen Committee for hesitating to place maupygernoun on the menu of the House of Commons who should he is misinformed in thinking that this rare and (perhaps) refreshing delicacy is not been cooked at Westminster since Charles II decided to eat belping. It s ntinued to appear at every subsequent coronation banquet, and on the last occasion it was no less a dignitary than Archbishop Manners-Sutton who provided his privilege of serving it to King George IV. At the same time it is improbable that in the palmiest days of wassail one could call for a mess of maupygernoun at the Tabard as casually as one ordered a surfeit of lampreys, with the usual trimmings, twice. A certain pomp and circumstance is called for when one describes a dish. in Westminster Hall it was given the place of honour at the end of the Lord High Steward's mounted Procession of the First Course, the Gentlemen Pensioners, two and two, preceding it with the Sergeants-at-Arms, mace in hand, and the trumpets sounding. The gallery as the banner reached Their Majesties' table.

What is maupygernoun everybody's cup and sack. Presumably William the Conqueror had learned it, and knew what he was about when he persuaded Hugh Capetin to cook with the Manor of Addington, to be held by the serjeanty of providing a mess of maupygernoun—not for him, but for each of his successors—on the coronation day. Outside Addington the exact composition of the dish remains a mystery. The old recipe of hogs' kidneys and more hogs' kidneys, appears to be unstandingly described by the chairman as "grim," may have required a little modification by the Clerk serjeant who hold Burre by the same tenure from the King's hogs. But the eighteenth century antiquary Dudley Lyson found a recipe for a pottage called Bardolf, which was also the surname of the Lord of the Manor of Addington, whose petition for a duty of three pence on sea coals survives; and this, he argued, may well be the true and original maupygernoun. Eggs in almonde mylk, with chekyns parboyled and fryed, garnished with sugre, cloves, maces, pynes and ginger, mynced, it looks a good deal more savoury than the rival version (to which the allegation of royal origin has been branded as an illiteracy by the erudite scorn of the great Dr. Johnson) in which the kidneys are hacked.

Either way, Sir Robert Perkins, if he wishes to pursue his historical researches, will be able to move with caution. In 1897 the lordship of the Manor of Addington was sold to the Dean of Canterbury to the Addington Golf Club—all the members seemingly of the committee. But who knows what so many modern golfers may not make of the medieval broth?

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

HOW'S YOUR NEURITIS?

Last Monday's talk on beri-beri in the United States was, I dare say, scientific, interesting and informative, but (as my friend chek-) but I admit, it has an unsatisfactory ending, for, having by request put on the qui vive for the symptoms right up to the end I gave instead of what Bickel) and

Dr. Brady Prescott ("The Vitamins in Medicine") call the clinical picture of beriberi:

Ascending, symmetrical, bilateral, peripheral neuritis.

Ascending — that there is a burning sensation in the soles of the feet and numbness of the top of the foot with weakness in the ankle (footdrop, steppage gait, toedrop, danglefoot). Months later the weakness spreads upward to the calf muscles . . .

Symmetrical — none of the symptoms is localized in one foot or leg or one side — both sides are involved.

Bilateral — ditto — the words mean sounds on both sides of the head.

Peripheral—the symptoms are in the legs, later in the arms, or at the surface where they are felt. Nearer to any one, not deep within the body.

Neuritis — inflammation of nerves. This is not so. Inflammation of, nerves is no more characteristic of beriberi, scorbutic or occidental, that inflammation of joints is of ordinary chronic rheumatic (which many victims of joint disability and their doctors call "a touch of arthritis."

What really happens to nerves in American beriberi is degeneration, not inflammation. One with beriberi is as lively as anyone and is not feverish and his nerves do not manifest itself as "ascending, symmetrical, bilateral, peripheral" or as multiple neuritis or polyneuritis. Unless my training in pathology is wrong there is a good deal of difference between chronic inflammation and physical degeneration, and the physician, particularly if he or she purports to be an authority, who falls into the slovenly habit of referring to the degeneration of "neuritis" merits a whack.

Just as I believe the bad habit of calling degeneration of joint tissues "arthritis" tends to obscure the fact that the trouble is in most instances physical degeneration due to lifelong nutritional deficiency, chiefly calcium and vitamin D-deficiency, and therefore it is more or less useless for correction of the nutritional deficiency from now on, so I believe the bad habit of calling beriberi "neuritis" tends to obscure the fact that the trouble is essentially nerve degeneration due to prolonged deficiency of vitamin B1 in the diet, and therefore it may be prevented or remedied by an optimal daily ration of with an optimal daily ration of vitamin B complex for at least six weeks. And please remember, this is not medicine, it's nutrition. Let no medical critic squawk about it!

Brockington Perfectionist

(Ottawa Journal)

There is an old and well-known story of Michael Angelo who, asked what was such pains taken with trifles, replied: "Trifles make perfection, and perfection is no trifle."

In his convocation address to the students of St. Patrick's College on Sunday night Leonard W. Brockington evoked a memory once spoken by an Irish Catholic bishop about Salisbury Cathedral.

"Here Salisbury, queenliest of all the cathedrals," he said, "arises its noble spire to kiss the morning skies of God."

Then he told of Brockington who had forgotten the exact words, and how many men including the Irish Ambassador in London to get them correctly. They would be only a line or two in a long address; he would have them perfect.

How many men in Canada would take the trouble—and go to the expense—of calling to London for a line or two of a speech? The answer is how many men in Canada speak with the magic of Brockington?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In a northern village of less than 1,000 population, I made the acquaintance of a man with an extraordinarily large nose. It is about twice-size. Cyrano de Bergerac had such a nose. At first sight, it almost paralyses you. Then, you realize it is a good-sized beak on a man. Some of the greatest figures in history have had noble noses. Julius Caesar's was.

But this one of which I speak had gone to extremes. A poster at least. Long, finger, or like a sign post. As you stare weakly at it as it sways over you, or past it, with kindly and tolerant eyes, fully realizing that it causes grave embarrassment. He is used to it. His embarrassment is far less than yours.

Though he is nearly sixty years of age, he is known in the village and throughout the countryside by the nickname of Nosey. While it is his name, I have never seen any children came in and addressed him respectfully and most affectionately as Nosey. He gave me a side-glance and waited on them. They were not afraid of his nose.

"I saw your glare," he said, "when the kids called me Nosey, eh!"

"Well, I did think it kind of impertinent."

"Oh, no," said my new-found friend." I've been called that since child-hood. And why not? I were mixed with them.

I suppose you've been called Shorty in your time?"

"I got nothing else in the army."

"Well, what's the difference, I", he smiled. "I admit my nose is of such proportions I expected that your shortness. People don't nudge one another and say, 'There goes that man who's short.' They do when I pass by. Small children look up and point when we me, especially in trains or buses and demand that their mothers explain to the man with the big nose. Young people used to get very upset, but I quietly have a fit . . ."

"You lived in the city, "did you?"

"I was born and raised in the city," he replied. "But as soon as I was old enough to strike out for myself, I decided to pick a small community, settle there, let them all get used to my nose, and that would be the end of it. "He lived here forty happy years. And a generous, good-natured man with a golden-colored icing, the da tates known my nose since infancy.

SHANNONVILLE

Pastor, Wife Honored By Congregation

SHANNONVILLE. — At the conclusion of the well attended church service in the United Church, Sunday evening, the congregation assembled to honor Rev. L. W. Scott and Mrs. Scott, who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday, June 5.

A corsage was pinned on the bride and a boutonniere on the groom of 25 years and with the accompaniment of music by the pianist, Mrs. Harry Sine, they walked up the aisle to the altar, which was beautifully decorated with baskets of wedding, iris, bleeding hearts and peonies.

ADDRESS

There were then seated and Mr. Claud Clarke read an address, on behalf of the church members, which expressed their congratulations and best wishes, also their appreciation for the faithful service, which they have rendered during the four years they have been on Shannonville circuit.

Mr. Everett Stratton and Mr. Clarke made the presentation of a silver tray and pop-up toaster.

All Sing "Singing of Times Be Tie Tie That Binds."

Mr. and Mrs. Scott both voiced their thanks for this complete surprise which had been planned with the honor and for the gifts which they received.

They have one daughter, Mrs. W. Sharpe, who has been residing in Regina, Sask., since her marriage a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott are planning on leaving the latter part of June to spend a vacation with their daughter and son-in-law.

A social hour was enjoyed in the Sunday School hall, following the presentation.

Beverly Baxter Is Knighted

LONDON (CP)—Beverly Baxter, one-time Toronto plano salesman who became editor of the London Daily Express, was knighted by the Britain Parliament, was awarded a knighthood in the Queen's birthday honors list announced today.

Also prominent in the list were novelist Somerset Maugham, poet Edith Sitwell and Arthur Deakin, long-time trade union leader. Maughem, 80-year-old master of the short story, was made a Companion of Honor, a group limited to 65 members. Dr. Sitwell was named a Dame of the British Empire and Deakin becomes a member of the Privy Council.

RADAR DEMONSTRATED

MIAMI (AP)—A new radar set for airplanes, to help blind peer into the weather up to 150 miles ahead, was demonstrated for the first time publicly Wednesday. The manufacturer, Ben t e n i x Aviation Corp., said the set is so sensitive it can even distinguish hailstorms from rain squalls.

OVER NEW HIGHWAY

The committee arrived here after bouncing over 300 miles of the 1950 provincial highways under various stages of construction.

The committee-every six of the 11 members made the trip—peered at rock fills, bridges and highway construction crews at work through rugged bush country. And between the stops the members held information discussions on the bus.

Highway construction jobs viewed was the 3.3-mile stretch of a new trans-Canada highway between Espanola and the Spanish rivers done by the Bergman Construction Company, one of three contracting firms charged with conspiracy.

The committee looked at a 60-foot rockfill over a wide gulch, and a bridge, just overnight during its building.

ONE OF THE CONTRACTS

The Bergman job was one of the 1950 projects in which the highways department that ended the practice of paying over-run on the original estimated cost.

H. A. Trygsates, assistant contract engineer and traffic engineer of the department, said the department was a new part of a provincial project that in 1950 became part of the trans-Canada highway project. In 1950, the original estimates had to be increased by 20 per cent, because of the requirements of the federal-provincial highway agreement.

Mr. Trygsates agreed with Kelso Roberts (PC—Toronto St. Patricia) that a new type of specification of construction projects was needed in terms of the type inspected Wednesday.

The departmental official told the committee that specifications now are under way to obtain 30 British engineers for the department. In addition, 60 Canadian graduate engineers were hired recently and 10 more were expected to join the staff.

SUGGESTS STUDY

Gordon Gordon, of J. D. Woods and Gordon Limited, Toronto management consultants, who is acting as consultant to the committee suggested the highways department make an investigation into the study of pre-qualification of contractors before bidding on highway construction work.

Mr. Gordon, whose firm last month submitted to the committee a report on the proposed reorganization of the department that came during his investigation he discovered evidence pointing out the necessity of pre-qualification.

Despite questions by C. E. James (PC—Lambton East), he did not elaborate.

Missing on the trip were Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver, Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab.—Kenora) and CCF House Leader W. J. Grummett.

Today the committee leaves for Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., with stops at Blind River, Massey and Thessalon.

Ministers and Laymen Hold Separate Conference Meetings

Separate meetings of ministers and laymen, committee reports, and addresses by college principals, featured Wednesday afternoon's sessions of the 30th annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada.

Laymen met in Tabernacle United Church, while the ministers heard an address, "Eschatology and History," delivered in Bridge St. Church by the devotional speaker, Dr. George Johnston.

Ministers and laymen reassembled in Bridge St. Church for a business session, that was opened by a worship service conducted by Rev. J. R. Trumpour, chairman of Lindsay presbytery.

Rev. M. C. Fisher, representative of the Board of Council of Christian Education, commended the work of the council to the delegates and asked for their continued co-operation.

Rev. D. H. Douglas, Peterborough, spoke on behalf of the radio committee. Failure of the committee to meet during the past two years was termed by Mr. Douglas as the loss of a glorious opportunity to spread the gospel. He stated that the 30 broadcasts of two TV stations in the Conference in the next year, with a new medium would be available to the church for the propagation of the gospel.

TECHNICAL TRAINING.

"Radio work was not limited to the clergy," said Mr. Douglas, and the opportunity for expert technical training was available to those interested.

Rev. G. A. Putlenham, secretary of the committee on Colleges and Secondary Schools, in reporting on the number of candidates for the ministry in the different presbyteries, noted, that while the largest number of candidates since 1945 was training this year, "membership is not sufficient to meet the needs of the church."

He stated that it was incumbent on the members of the church to seek out candidates for the ministry so that this lack might be met.

He read the names of candidates for the ministry by presbyteries and then introduced students and candidates who were ordained Wednesday evening.

RECOMMENDATIONS MADE.

The committee recommended that the Rev. Donald Murray Matheson, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., Associate Professor of Systematic Theology at Queen's Theological College and a minister of the Church of Scotland be received as a minister of the United Church.

Other recommendations included the reception into the church of Rev. Alfred Gilroy Bowden, M.A., a minister of the Presbyterian Church of England, now serving the Deep River Community Church.

The committee recommended that the Conference favor the suggestion of Belleville Presbytery for a Conference Committee on Colleges and that this matter be referred to the Board of Home Missions.

ALBERT COLLEGE REPORT.

In connection with the report of Albert College, Mr. MacKenzie pointed out that the school, which has served the church since 1857, has given more men to the ministry than any other institution school in the province of Ontario. He pointed out that Albert College was well equipped to assist candidates for the ministry financially, academically and spiritually.

He mentioned that plans are well advanced to enlarge the girls' residence and to establish a department of home economics at the College and that these plans are being brought to fruition with the launching of a financial appeal for $200,000 to provide a new building in conjunction with Albert's centenary celebrations starting in September of 1956.

Resolutions recording the appreciation of the Conference to the Albert College to youth and to the church, and a pledge from the Conference to support the College's forthcoming appeal for funds, were moved by three delegates.

EFFECTED SAVINGS.

The committee on "A More Equitable Basis for the Stipends of Ordained Ministers", formed in 1952 by the direction of the General Conference, in its report proposed of a more equitable distribution of ministerial stipends, and the reports on progress made in the seven Presbyteries of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

It was reported that in the Belleville-Quinte Presbytery amalgamation and closing of small churches has effected a saving of at least five ministers, and that the work of recounting charges once served by ordained men, now served by students or lay supplies.

Cobourg Presbytery reported contemplation of several amalgamations in the future. In Kingston Presbytery, an amalgamation experiment was reported in which a minister and a student from Queen's Theological College are serving an area formerly requiring two ordained ministers.

Lindsay Presbytery reported a saving of one ministry through an amalgamation and that another amalgamation is being planned.

NO APPEAL FROM CHURCH

Oshawa did not report and Peterborough is working on a plan to amalgamate two charges and release one ordained man. Renfrew reported progress with several amalgamations.

The committee recommended, "that in view of the need to conserve manpower that ministers be discouraged from accepting calls to charges with fewer than 120 families unless the charges are such that geographical or other important factors make amalgamation difficult or unwise."

It also asked the judicial committee of the church to clarify the role of a Presbyterial to reconstitute charges and the rights of Presbyteries and Settlement committees in such cases.

Their third recommendation was that there be appointed a new standing committee of Conference.

The report was adopted.

The meeting closed with the nomination of commissioners to the general council.

CANADA TO FIGHT

Mr. Drew, in a motion asking for an immediate declaration of government wheat policy, said the latest action will affect not only western farmers but all sections of the Canadian economy.

Hazen Argue, (CCF—Assiniboia) followed him with an amendment proposing that the government restore the loss to the farmers by putting a floor under wheat of not less than $1.51¼ a bushel, basis No. 1 northern at the Lakehead. This was the price before the cut.

CLAIMS PRICE WAR

Mr. Argue, himself a prairie farmer, accused the government of starting a wheat price-war with the United States through its slice of seven cents a bushel on Lakehead wheat last February. The U.S. followed suit the next day.

A drop in farm income would start a drastic reduction in industrial employment, he said, urging Mr. Howe to co-operate with the U.S. on wheat prices and to negotiate a new Anglo-Canadian wheat pact with the United Kingdom.

He also suggested that Canada accept sterling as part-payment for wheat, and means to obtain state tariff bargains and boost aid to under-developed countries so they were no more from Canada.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, also proposed a support price for wheat. He suggested no price, but said it should cover production costs and a fair profit.

SAYS NO HARDSHIP

Mr. Howe said there were certain fallacies he wanted to correct. There was no indication that western farmers suffered hardship because of the price cuts.

As for giving wheat away to "starving millions", he said he did not find such millions. India and Pakistan once had required gifts of wheat, but they now had good crops and did not want wheat.

Moreover, overseas countries in the sterling area did not want to buy dollar-area wheat for sterling. The U.S. had made such offers and go; few acceptances. Sterling area countries generally wanted to pay in dollars for dollar-area wheat. Use of sterling meant the countries merely were accumulating new debts.

Canada, he maintained, is not losing world markets. The world demand for wheat had declined somewhat and there were new exporters, such as Sweden and Turkey. Canada was maintaining her share of total sales.

STARTS ART TOUR

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. Carleton Smith of the National Arts Foundation of New York Wednesday began a two-week tour of major Canadian cities to explore the possibilities for exhibiting the work of Canadian artists in the United States. He said "very little has been done to show Canadian art to the United States, in spite of the closeness of the two countries."

Reports on Home Missions, Christian Education Approved

Reports of the committees on Christian Education and on Home Missions were approved by delegates at Wednesday morning's session of the 30th annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, being held in Bridge St. United Church.

The committee on Home Missions commended Presbyteries in which amalgamation of weaker charges had served the cause of pioneer and urged that Presbyteries continue this study and action. The committee also expressed its appreciation of educational authorities for building consolidated and high schools in rural areas instead of distant towns. Such practice was lauded as tending to conserve rural life and to provide leaders in country communities.

They commended the "excellent work" of the Conference Mission Fields and aid receiving charges by ordained ministers, lay supplies, student supplies and W.M.S. workers.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS.

The standing committee on Home Missions for the coming year is to consist of Dr. George Telford, chairman; Rev. W. J. Greenaway, secretary, the convener of the Home Missions committee in each Presbytery and Rev. Messrs. Ernest Hyde, W. N. Gilroy, Coe Hill; R. A. Stewart, Almonte; Rev. Messrs. Ernest R.R. 1; Miss Nina Veal, Victoria Road; Rev. W. D. Grant, Holloway, R.R. 1.

Nominations to the Board of Christian Education are: Dr. George Telford, minister, and W. N. Gilroy, layman.

Recommendations of the committee on Christian Education included the inauguration of one day institutes in each Presbytery for workers in kindergartens and primary Sunday schools, and in the teaching of "daily vacation Bible schools" as an effective means of conducting the summer vacation for Christian children.

The committee commended Rev. Beverley Oaten, director of Five Oaks Christian Workers Centre and asked that the Conference sanction the plan of Rev. Messrs. Fisher and Rev. Arthur Young be appointed to the Board of Governors, and recommended that Rev. C. O. Fisher and Rev. Arthur Young be appointed to the Board of Governors.

"Quis-Mo-Lac", the Bay of Quinte Conference Camp on Moira River near Wooler, was also declared having enjoyed an outstanding year's activities in 1953. By June 1st of this year $45,000 had been spent on property, buildings and equipment. This year's project is the building of a leaders' lodge and two leaders' cabins, which is to be known as the Vanderburgh Memorial Lodge in memory of the late Rev. Fay Vanderburgh.

Plans for the future include the building of sleeping cabins.

Williams, 209 Victoria Ave., Belleville; A. E. DeNure, Peterborough; William Hamilton, Cobourg; Kenneth Symons, the summer vacation for Christian children.

The committee commended Rev. Beverley Oaten, director of Five Oaks Christian Workers Centre and asked that the Conference sanction the plan of Rev. Messrs. Fisher and Rev. Arthur Young be appointed to the Board of Governors, and recommended that Rev. C. O. Fisher and Rev. Arthur Young be appointed to the Board of Governors.

Board of Directors of the Bay of Quinte Camp Corporation: to retire in 1955: W. J. R. Zufelt. Messrs. William Weir and Quirt McKinney, to retire in 1956; Messrs. Ed DeNure and Don G. Williams, and Rev. A. E. Larke, to retire in 1957; Rev. M. C. Fisher, and Messrs. Don deaile and Ken Symons.

Nominated to the Board of Christian Education are Rev. A. H. Shorten in 1957; Rev. M. C. Fisher, and Mrs. Don deaile and Ken Symons.

Nominated as members of the Bay of Quinte Camp Corporation are the following: the President of Conference, and the four Western Presbyteries are Cobourg, Lindsay, Oshawa and Peterborough, with one Counsellor for each area.)

Emmanuel College Professor Gives First of 3 Lectures

Christ, by His death on the cross, gave mankind freedom from the fear of death, victory over sin, and the meaning of the Fatherhood of God.

"This is the legacy of the cross," said Rev. George Johnston, M.A., B.D., Ph.D., Professor of New Testament Literature and Exegesis, Emmanuel College, Toronto, in the first of his series of three devotional lectures to the 30th annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada in session at Bridge St. Church.

General subject of Dr. Johnston's series is "The Legacy of the Cross," and the first sermon was entitled, "The Redeemed Community."

Text of the address was taken from the gospel of St. John on the Crucifixion of Christ and was based on the sentence, "He bowed His head and gave up the ghost."

The speaker explained that the modern meaning of "ghost" is "spirit" and that in the sense in which the "up" was used in the gospel, it means "bequeath."

"What this sentence means is that Christ bequeathed His spirit," said Dr. Johnston, "and that is the legacy of the cross."

It is impossible to exhaust the meaning of this subject," he continued.

ENDS FEAR OF DEATH

A portion of the legacy is freedom from the fear of death.

"Freedom from the fear of death is very important in these times," said Dr. Johnston. "The very skills of men and women may bring the world to death. Therefore a successful gospel must include the doctrine of victory over the fear of death."

The speaker stated that "it was important to St. John that the Man who died on the cross was bone of our bone, sinew of our sinew, Christ died. He had a life to lose.

"The death of the cross was the death of Christ in one sense, as we know it. But His death overcame the power of death, Beyond death is resurrection and God.

"The death of Christ opened the gates of life for us."

VICTORY OVER SIN

Another portion of the legacy of the cross was victory over sin.

"The wages of sin is death," said Dr. Johnston. "In the tradition of St. Paul, death is unnatural. Death is the punishment of Adam's sin. God did not wish us to die out.

"You and I are not divorced from conjunction with sin and death," said Dr. Johnston. "We are sensible people. At the tribunal of judgment God demands to know what we did with our lives. There is judgment at the tribunal of God and some people have fear of this judgment"

"We are all sinners and unless we are sure before we die that our sins are redeemed and we belong to the redeemed community of Christ we will be afraid of death."

He continued by noting that the conditions for the compassion of Christ by which men are saved is a turning back from pride and cupidity, and "a surrender of self into the nothingness of God which is all in all.

"We must be lost so we can be found," he said. "By the sacraments of baptism, confirmation, and communion, the people are incorporated into the body of Christ.

"We are pilgrims on the road to eternity and are bound for the city of Christ," said Dr. Johnston. "Your sanctification is not complete; Your salvation is accomplished. You must overcome your baptism and become saints."

Dr. Johnston explained that the Fatherhood of God is that which is identifiable as Fatherhood through the example of Jesus.

SON INTERPRETS GOD

"Because of the Son we believe in the Father," he said. "The Son has interpreted God in a human life. The Divine Fatherhood is the supreme reality of the life of Christ. If we belong to Christ crucified we are incorporated as children of the Father.

"The cross is the cross of Him Who rose from the dead. This is the legacy of the cross Christ bequeathes to us His perpetual presence. This risen Lord is the conqueror of death and the conqueror of sin."

Dr. Johnston reminded delegates of the presence of Christ in the midst of any of the faithful gathered together in His name.

"Through all the experiences of life, He is there. He is there in that which does not have to look for Him. He is a pilgrim through life with them. That is what we mean by walking in the footsteps of the Lord.

"You can never be alone again because Christ has risen from the dead," said Dr. Johnston. "You cannot despair because He Who walks with us is the conqueror of evils and the giver of life."

Dr. Johnston was introduced to the delegates by W. E. Tummon, president of the Lay Association.

Rev. Alfred Poulter, Conference president, closed the morning session with benediction.

Weddings

STORRING—WOODCOX

On Saturday, May 29, at 2 p.m., in the Frankford United Church, a pretty wedding was solemnized, when Ann Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Woodcox, of Frankford, was united in marriage to Cecil Rose Storring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rose Storring, of Ivanhoe, Ontario, by the Rev. C. B. Clarke, pastor of Frankford United Church. Lilacs, tulips, and Easter lilies formed a lovely setting in the church for the ceremony.

Miss Carma Fuller, of Trenton, cousin of the bride, furnished the traditional wedding music on the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Shirley Woodcox, cousin of the bride, who sang, "I'll Walk Beside You", before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her ankle-length bridal gown of ever-satin, featuring a lace three-quarter jacket having long sleeves with lily-points over the hands, and stand-up collar. Her finger-tip veil was held by a headdress of seeded pearls in the coronet-like design she carried a cascade of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Jean Woodcox, of Frankford, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron-of-honor, wearing an ankle-length gown of green net over taffeta with lace jacket. She carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and roses.

Mrs. Edith Rushlow, of Belleville, and Miss Marjorie Bartman, as bridesmaids, were gowned in ankle-length mauve net, over taffeta and yellow net over taffeta, respectively, with matching lace jackets. Each carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and roses.

Little Miss Leonia Workman, cousin of the bridegroom, as flower girl, was in white nylon, with white flowers in her hair. She carried a basket of mixed flowers.

Master Gary Woodcox, Frankford, nephew of the bride, was the ring-bearer.

Mr. Keith Woodcox, of Frankford, brother of the bride, acted as groomsman, with Mr. Alex. Rushlow, of Belleville, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mr. William Workman, of Foxboro, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The bride's gift to her bridegroom was a set of gold cuff links, and to the best man, attendants, identification bracelets, to the flower girl, a gold locket, and the ring-bearer, a gold signet ring.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a triple strand of pearls and to his groomsman and ushers, leather wallets.

For the reception, which was held in Rose Lowery Hall, Frankford, the bride's mother received, wearing a powder blue lace dress with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing a navy sheer gown with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For travelling to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, and New York, the bride chose a dress of powder blue linen with lace, crepe accessories and wearing a corsage of pink roses and small lily-of-the-valley. Mr. and Mrs. Storring will take up residence in Madoc, Ontario.

Guests were present from Trenton, Belleville, Cobourg, Toronto, L'Amable, Actinolite, Northbrook, Glen Miller, Ivanhoe, Stirling, West Huntingdon, Madoc and Frankford.

Prior to the marriage, a miscellaneous shower was given the bride at the home of Miss Marjorie Bartman.

NETHERBY—LLOYD

Albert Street United Church, Oshawa, was the setting for a wedding at high noon, Saturday, June 5, when Elizabeth Gwendolyn Lloyd was united in marriage to Mr. John Thomas Netherby. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Seymour Lloyd, of Oshawa, and granddaughter of Mrs. S. W. Lloyd, of Belleville, Ontario, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Netherby, of Blyth, Ontario. Calla lilies, pink and white carnations with mauve and pink larkspur, with sweetpeas, all arranged formed the background for the ceremony performed by the Rev. C. B. H. Atkinson.

Mr. Ronald Kellington presided at the organ and accompanied Mr. Ivor Davies, who sang, "Speak To Me Of Love", and "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride, chose a white gardenia white silk eyelet Shantung, with molded bodice, buttoned at the back, featured a deep oval neckline accented with a narrow berthe collar with matching bow at the front. The slim, waistline released a billowing gathered skirt which flowed into a full circular train. Strands of pearls fashioned the bandeau which held her fingertip illusion veil. She wore the bridegroom's gift, a gold cross on a fine gold chain, and her flower was a cascade of Johanna Hill cream roses with white carnations and sprayed with lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Dorothy McCombe, of Toronto, was maid of honor, in floor-length gown of charm pink Shantung silk styled with a slim bodice having a portrait neckline enhanced with beaded motifs, and a bouffant crinoline skirt. She wore elbow length mitt-length gloves and carried a cascade of yellow roses with pink accentuated complementing the same fresh flowers which she wore on her hair.

Mr. James Scott, of Carlow, Ontario, was best man. The ushers were, Mr. Douglas Dalgleish of Oshawa, and Mr. Bruce Hayes, of Worcester.

The reception was held in the church hall, the bride receiving the guests in the bride's mother's lace jacket dress of French ivory silk linen, featuring a V-neck, tail panel bodice. White lilac trimmed her small hat of Ottawa ivory and while accessories and a corsage of white carnations and yellow roses completed her ensemble.

Wearing a white and blue nylon chiffon dress with white and navy hat, with corsage of pink and red roses, Miss Ella Netherby, of Blyth, received for her mother, who was unable to be present due to illness.

The Challengers' Group of Albert Street United Church served the wedding dinner. Pink and white sweetpeas decorated all the tables. Made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. George V. Bamber, of Foxboro, a three-tier wedding cake nested in blue tulle, centered the table for the bridal party which was softly lighted with blue tapers.

Rev. C. H. Atkinson offered grace and later proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the bridegroom. The toast to the bridal attendants was proposed by Mr. Douglas Dalgleish. The bride's father and the bridegroom's father also voiced good wishes. The bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. S. W. Lloyd of Belleville, and the bride's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George V. Bamber, of Foxboro, who in 1953, celebrated their golden wedding, were also appropriately toasted.

Following the reception the bridegroom's father also voiced the home of the bride's parents, Ritson Road South, Oshawa.

For the honeymoon trip by motor to Pennsylvania the bride donned a blue tweed suit, with red hat and matching accessories and a corsage of red carnations. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Netherby will reside on the bridegroom's farm at Blyth, Ontario.

Guests were present from Toronto, Blyth, Brussels, Carlow, Hamilton, Frankford, Belleville, Grimsby, Belgrave, Wingham, Goderich and Foxboro.

Quinte Skating-Tennis Club Holds Charming Garden Party

The club house of the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club, with its attractively refinished exterior, and its flower bedecked interior was the scene of a happy get-together yesterday afternoon for the delightful Garden Party tea. Lovely baskets of mauve iris, lemon lilies, white spires, crimson peonies, purple lupins and white snowballs, adorned every available space and filled the air with their fragrant perfumes, while the two flags, the Union Jack, and the Canadian Ensign brought to mind the beauties of this beloved Canada, and its wonderful freedom enjoyed.

Mrs. J. T. Davis, president of the Auxiliary, received the many guests, and graciously welcomed them to the enjoyments of the afternoon.

LOVELY TEA TABLE

The tea table, with its lovely white Madeira cloth, centred by a pottery bowl of mauve iris, pink lupins, lemon lilies, crimson peonies, and tiny white flowers, was flanked by pottery vases of trailing ivy, blue flax and old-fashioned yellow roses, and had for a canopy, the blue sky above, and for its carpet, the green grass below.

Here and there about the lawn were the guest tables, each with its white floor length cloth, its pretty plate of dainty sandwiches and tiny cakelets, divided, the one from the other, by a tall vase filled with a cluster of purple pansies and, also, yellow flowers. The large, colorful lawn umbrellas added a pleasing complement and afforded shade.

Those who presided at the silver service were: Mrs. C. O'Neill and Mrs. L. Digby, Mrs. E. Whitfield and Mrs. J. Field, in charge of the tea table, Mrs. T. Lewis and Mrs. P. Jeffrey, Mrs. W. McCutcheon, Mrs. W. G. Slade, Mrs. C. Casey and Mrs. H. Fox were the teapot replenishers.

TEA ROOM HOSTESS

Mrs. A. Wilkes was the gracious tearoom hostess, while those who assisted were included: Mesdames R. Dulmage, W. Countryman, R. Murphy, K. Moult, H. Brown, T. Black, A. Spradon, R. Bowen, H. Carruthers, D. Williams, R. Brickman, B. Golding and E. Summers.

In charge of the food and replenishing of the tables, Mrs. G. Miller, Mrs. W. Sherry, Mrs. L. Kelly, Mrs. S. Robb and Mrs. T. S. F. Van Alstine.

The homebake table, convened by Mrs. Frank Kellington, Mrs. Weese, assisted by Mrs. Durno, Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. Fothergill, Mrs. James, Mrs. R. Smith and Miss Spracklett, was a vision of good things arranged in pleasing order. These included date squares; pink, fresh cake, raspberry tarts, tiny cookies centred by a snip of maraschino cherry; fruit muffins; prettily iced cup cakes, tomato soup cake, buns, chocolate cakes, Danish pastries, marmalades, cups of fudge, maple creams and others.

ATTRACTIVE SERVING TABLE

The side serving table was also attractive with its white cloth centred by a silver bowl of the prevailing flowers, and flanked by tri-branched silver candelabra with tall, pink candles rising from white lacey collars. Here, too, were the little serviettes in shades of pastel green, pink and yellow, the whole accented by a pot of purple flowering African violet.

A fish pond was provided for the tiny tots where blue, pink and green rolls, as well as crayons and aeroplanes were the 'fish'. Cookies and freshie filled the necessary needs. Mrs. J. Dickens and Mrs. Elaine Davis were in charge of these.

A lovely train case in white was going to the holder of the lucky ticket, with Mrs. T. S. F. Van Alstine being the winner. Mrs. Anton and Mrs. VanTassel had charge of the tickets on this, while Mrs. Brearley acted as treasurer for the afternoon.

A charming garden party, delightfully convened by the executive.

Kiwanis Ladies Aux. Closes Season With Pot-Luck Supper

Closing meeting of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary was held recently at the Kiwanis Centre with the president, Mrs. H. G. Emerson, in the chair. A delicious pot-luck supper was thoroughly enjoyed by all members. Grace was pronounced by Mrs. George Lee. The supper was convened by Mrs. J. Black, assisted by her committee.

A minute's silence was observed in respect to the memory of the late Mrs. R. N. Anderson, a loved and respected member of the Auxiliary.

The secretary, Mrs. S. Joss, read the minutes of the previous meeting, and sincere thanks were tendered to Mrs. R. Trepanier, who assumed the office of secretary while Mrs. Joss was abroad.

A president's rose was presented to Mrs. L. Foland for her wonderful work of organizing Kiwanis Ladies' Aux. The Hut House was honored with a rose as convener of the Empire Day tea successfully held in May. Mrs. House gave a comprehensive report of the tea and thanked all who assisted.

Mrs. Cross reported on the Women's Auxiliary to Welfare Association.

Mrs. V. J. White was in charge of entertainment.

EUROPEAN TRAVELOGUE

Mrs. S. Joss, secretary and director of Welfare Auxiliary, has recently returned from a trip abroad with her husband, Mr. Joss. Mrs. Joss was interested in her discussion, and were delighted with the wonderful pictures taken in England, Wales, Scotland, Ireland, Belgium and France. Mr. and Mrs. Joss sailed from Halifax to Southampton, and then by train to London. They were in London at the time of the Royal wedding for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip, and while there attended the Mall to see the bride. They took an extensive motor trip through Wales, Ireland and Scotland, and then over to the continent.

Mrs. Joss took fine pictures of the countryside and fascinating historical sites throughout the whole trip.

To go abroad with Mrs. Joss orally and visually, was a delightful experience for all the members, and formed a close a most successful season.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NO NEED TO TAKE EVEN ONE DRINK "FOR SOCIABILITY"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have been invited to a Housewarming to be given by a couple whom I know particularly well. Neither my husband nor I drink alcoholic beverages, but we would be willing to take one drink for sociability. Right? (Grease gets us any suggestions to help us about this situation.) — G.L.

I don't think it is right if, for any reason whatever, you and your husband prefer not to take an alcoholic drink, there is no reason whatever why you should take even one drink "for sociability." Today any intelligent hostess or host or guests expects you to be guided by your personal decision. And today, in practically all situations, no one notices or really cares if you don't take a drink.

The first difficulty is that some teetotalers just can't resist dramatizing their non-drinking by their holier-than-thou attitude. . . an attitude that of course reminds you of the hostess or host for serving the type of drinks being served.

The second difficulty is the brusque way some non-drinkers refuse a drink. Just remember that you need never accept a drink. But if you refuse a drink, do it in friendly fashion. A very gracious "No, thank you." It's really as easy and simple as that. And no reason to "make a production" of your refusal. There are so many non-drinkers today that today's hostess provides non-alcoholic alternatives, such as tomato juice or a fruit juice, or a cola, gingerale, and so on. When one or more of these non-alcoholic drinks are on display. . . as they usually are. . . you can say (in refusing an alcoholic drink), "No, thank you. . . but may I have a glass of tomato juice, please?"

INVITATIONS SENT OUT FOUR WEEKS BEFORE WEDDING DATE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How soon before the wedding date should the formal invitations be sent? Our wedding is to be a fairly large one, and we want to allow plenty of time for guests to reply to the invitations. — Bride-to-be.

Today formal wedding invitations are sent out about four weeks before the wedding date. (Formerly three weeks was considered ample.) And this is an excellent plan, for it not only gives the guests plenty of time to reply to the invitations, but, particularly important in "wedding months" (and June is a very popular wedding month), it gives the guests the opportunity to "save" the date.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT PROPOSING A TOAST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My "best girl" was the maid of honor at a wedding last month, and I was the best man. The bride and groom have now returned from their wedding trip, and we have been told of two or three small dinners that are being given for them. Would it be proper for me to propose the first toast to them, or should this be done by someone else? If I propose the toast, when is the proper time?

If I rise to propose the toast, do the other guests rise also?

— Ted B.

Indeed it would be proper for you, the best man, to propose the first toast "To the Bride and Bridegroom" . . but since anyone else may also properly propose this toast, you'd better be on the alert if you want to be "first off." A toast may be proposed as soon as the first wine (or whatever the beverage-for-toasting is poured). And yes, if the one-proposing-the-toast rises, the other guests also rise.

INHERITS $125,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke, whose vice conviction was reversed recently, will inherit half of an estimated $250,000 estate left by his brother, John F. Jelke, Jr., it became known Tuesday. John Jelke, an air national guard officer, was lost on a training flight from Mobile, Ala., to New Orleans, La., last January and is presumed dead.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

SCALP HYGIENE

"The average woman gives pretty of time to the arrangement of her coiffure but she should not overlook the fact that the scalp must be in a healthy condition if her hair is to have lustre and pleasing highlights. It is not only the shampoo once a week is not too often; it is dry the washings should not be spaced beyond a fortnight.

The shampoo should be given with sufficient friction to have a favorable effect upon the blood streams which nourish the hair. If soap is used it must be in liquid form, so bland that it quickly fluffs up suds that are rich and crackling. Rinsing should be done with a strong current of water (beverage-for-bathing spray, a spray is more effective than the shower which pounds only the crown of the head and does not flow with sufficient force at the sides.

The scalp, too, needs power of movement like other parts of the body, gets no exercise and that is why massage is recommended. The practice of giving the scalp a few minute rub every night will do much to keep the scalp in condition. It will not weaken the permanent or the wave set. Let your hair, slip your fingers underneath, press and squeeze the flesh that will soon be warm and glowing, showing that the blood is circulating briskly.

One of the best weapons against dull and lifeless hair is the brush —which seems to have gone out of fashion. It will not harm permanent wave. This form of groomer removes surface dust, distributes sebaceous oil the length of the shafts and gives them a gloss.

Every day change the pattern of the hairdo now and then. The groom may like the bobbed hair, so they should not continue in the same place for any length of time.

Skill And Imagination Compete With High Prices

By Mary Moore

When I was younger—much younger—we were often guests in the home of some friends who were blessed with prosperity and knew how to live graciously.

For dinner on some of these occasions we would be served a feast of fried chicken or roast lamb, but often our hostess, who was a clever cook, would coax and serve to perfection such humble dishes as pork hocks with sauerkraut or Spanish jambalette.

I used to feel that a meal for guests necessitated the purchase of expensive meat. That was because I was a timid cook. I've mastered that timidity.

While I still aim for fine flavor I don't lean always on high priced meat cuts to carry off a dinner successfully. Being older and, I hope, wiser I use what skill and imagination I have to transform a supply of low cost groceries into a meal to be remembered.

I think the meal I am about to describe is that category.

LOW COST GUEST DINNER

Jellied Consomme

Potato Chips with Garlic Butter

Chicken Croquettes on Bed of Rice—Curry Sauce

New Green Peas

Shredded Raw Cocoanut Chutney

Glazed Strawberry Pie Coffee

Buy an advertised brand of condensed consomme and chill it overnight in the tins. (To make consomme stretch and to dilute the flavor a little I have opened the tins, added half the volume of cold water and chilled that in a covered jar and it still serves relied if very cold.) Just before serving time spoon into cold consomme cups, sprinkle top with finely chopped parsley and serve with 1 or 2 potato chips on each soup saucer, brushed with melted butter to which you have added a slice of garlic.

CHICKEN CROQUETTES

There are three ideal ways to make left-over cooked chicken: sliced in sandwiches, chicken salad and this way: These amounts serve six generously. One cup mayonnaise (not salad dressing), 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1-4 cup celery salt, 2 cups chopped cooked chicken (this may be part veal or ham), 2 cups soft breadcrumbs (or cooked rice when rice is not used as an accompaniment) finely sifted dry breadcrumbs. In a bowl combine the mayonnaise with the seasoning and slowly stir in the water, then add the chicken and soft breadcrumbs. Mix gently with fork, then let stand in refrigerator 15 minutes. Shape into 12 or 14 pyramid-shaped croquettes and roll in the dried breadcrumbs. Place 1-2-inch apart on ungreased baking sheet, which has been lined with heavy brown paper. Bake in very hot oven of 450 deg. Fahr. for about 15 or 20 minutes or until evenly deep golden. The beauty of this is that you do not have any last-minute deep fat frying.

Cook your rice the guaranteed fluffy way by measuring exactly 2 cups into heavy-bottomed pan with tight cover. Add 1-4 cups boiling water, 1 1-3 teaspoons salt and 2 tablespoons butter. Cover tightly, bring to hard boil, turn off heat for five minutes, then turn on heat as low as possible and cook until all water is absorbed. Do not lift lid until 20 minutes cooking time is up.

For the Curry Sauce you merely add curry powder to your medium white sauce until it is bright yellow or until you have enough to suit your particular tolerance for curry.

When you prepare the shredded raw cocoanut be sure to remove every trace of the dark brown skin before shredding it on fine shredder. Pile it very lightly in a shallow mound on one-half of a divided relish dish. In the other half serve the chutney.

I gave you the recipe for Glazed Strawberry Pie on Tuesday.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HER GIRL FRIEND'S AFTER HER BOY FRIEND

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About two months ago, I met a boy who says he likes me very much and I like him. But lately he has been taking more notice of one of my girl friends who keeps coming over to my house and trying to take him away from me.

Should I let her have him, or try to win him back? — G.L.

Dear G.L.:

I think the best plan in a situation of this kind is just to act natural and not make any such fancy gestures as either obviously handing him over to the other girl or doubling your efforts to interest him. Let matters take their course and be guided by what happens. If the boy sees you are unconcerned, he'll think twice more of you than if you make an issue over what either he or your girl friend does.

HER HUSBAND'S LEFT HER—A BABY'S COMING

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My husband and I have been married just a little over a year. A short while ago, we separated after one of our weekend quarrels. Two weeks later, I discovered that I was pregnant.

I have talked with my husband about the situation and asked him to take me back for the baby's sake, but he refuses to believe that the baby is his, and I—am desperate for help. He is 19 and I am 18. — Mrs. F.C.

Dear Mrs. F.C.:

I don't think you should try to solve this problem yourself. What you need to do is to go to someone with whom you can talk freely and from whom you can be sure of getting sound advice. If your husband continues to refuse to come back to you, at least he has legal responsibility toward you and the coming baby, and you should find out what it is and how the matter of taking it up with him should be handled.

I do not know of any organization in your immediate vicinity to which you could go about this problem, but you might try the minister of your church, or your priest and see what his advice would be.

One more suggestion I might make is that, if you have not done so already, you might talk to some member of your husband's family, and ask if anyone of them could influence him to take a different attitude.

I hope that in one of these ways you and your husband may be brought together again, or if you must continue on your own, that you can find someone to help you make plans. Remember that there have been other girls in trouble like yours, who have been able to work out the problem, so try not to get too depressed. I am sure you will find your way out of the present difficulties and into some satisfactory solution.

Ladies Aux. B.R.T. Holds Pot-Luck Supper, Presents Gifts

Recently, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen held a pot-luck supper in the engineers' hall, Pine street.

Following the supper, presentations were made by Mrs. R. Smith, president, to Mrs. C. Gilroy, who has moved from the city and also to Mrs. W. Morgan in honor of her 35th anniversary in the lodge.

Both sisters graciously thanked the members for their lovely gifts.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing canasta and euchre. Those winning prizes included: Mrs. F. Savage, Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. M. Stearns, and Mrs. L. Robb.

Appreciative thanks are extended the convener and her assistants for the splendid arrangements for the dinner and enjoyable evening.

Own Children Prove Puzzle To Experts

MONTREAL (CP) — When it comes to their own children, psychologists put aside the book they have just written on child psychology and act the same as most married parents.

A number of the women delegates and wives of delegates to the International Psychological Congress here, at a tea Tuesday given by Royal Victoria College, reached the conclusion they're pretty normal as parents.

Mrs. Leonard G. Eron of New Haven, Conn., whose husband is in the department of psychiatry and psychology at Yale University, is busy rearing two children aged one and three and is expecting a third.

A psychologist in her own right, but retired "temporarily," Mrs. Eron said in an interview she and her husband agree "pretty much" on such things as discipline in raising their children. Her husband, "thank goodness," isn't a child psychologist.

HAVE MORE UNDERSTANDING

Mrs. Eron said they may have more ordinary understanding, but like most of their friends who are psychologists, some specializing in children, they discuss their children like all parents "not professionally."

Mrs. J. Metzger of Munster, West Germany, speaks little English but she also reported her psychologist husband doesn't apply his professional training to their six children.

Mrs. J. Husen of Stockholm, Sweden, is a "part time" psychologist, accompanying her husband at the convention. They have two boys and a girl, who take up Mrs. Husen's time when she is not giving psychological tests to army recruits. She also teaches psychology and part time at the University of Stockholm.

JAPANESE RIOT

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's National Parliament had an unprecedented riot last Thursday, and it seems to have started a trend. Two police squads broke up a melee at the Saga prefectural Assembly on Kyushu Island Monday when 300 spectators blockaded the speaker in a committee room. A free-for-all broke out in the Kawanishi village assembly Tuesday.

Nurses to Move Headquarters To Ottawa

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — Twelve hundred members of the Canadian Nurses Association today tackled the third and fullest day's business on their five-day convention agenda. Separate sessions were planned for senior and student delegates.

The seniors were to hear reports from five nursing service committees, to be followed by a dramatic presentation depicting nursing teamwork, "let's all work together."

Personnel policies and problems were due for deliberation with the employment relations committee report and a panel discussion on "the nurse and social security."

Students were to hear a panel discussion on "changing patterns of nursing services" and a lecture on buying, furnishing and decorating hospitals and nurses' residences.

A fall house is expected in the Banff school auditorium tonight for a student's fashion parade featuring nurses' uniforms of the last half-century.

Tuesday, delegates voted unanimously to move their national headquarters to Ottawa from Montreal, to be nearer government departments and other health organizations with which they work in close contact. A record $150,000 budget was approved.

The budget estimated CNA membership would rise to 38,000 by the end of 1955. It was 23,727 in 1946 and 35,185 Dec. 31, 1953.

The figure grew by nearly 6,000 in the 1952-54 biennium. Of these, Ontario accounted for more than 2,000. Only decrease was in Nova Scotia, which dropped by 107 to 1,807.

At the noon hour the ladies of the Eggleton W.A. served a bountiful dinner on the church lawn to some 35 adults and all the children from the public school.

During the afternoon, the ladies cleaned the church.

Several from here attended the funeral service of the late Gilbert Thompson, which was held on Friday afternoon in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling. Friends here extend sympathy to the bereaving ones.

Reserve Units Change Training System in Summer

KINGSTON (CP)—Reserve army units of Eastern Ontario area are to abandon the present two-nights-a-week training system for week-end training in regular camps during the summer.

It is an experiment designed to increase efficiency and promote greater interest, Brigadier M. S. Dunn, area commander, said today.

The plan will concentrate training at military camps at Barriefield, Petawawa, Connaught, Picton and Meaford as far as possible on one week-end every two or three weeks. The usual summer camp will not be displaced by the new arrangement.

At the moment there is no definite information as to how the new arrangements will affect the reserve units in the Belleville area. Administrative NCO's of both the Sixth Anti-Tank and Hasty Pees regiments, which have their headquarters in Belleville, say they have as yet received no official notification of the new scheme.

Civil defence authorities emphasize that an enemy's object won't be so much to kill civilians as to knock them and their country out of action, out of production, out of ability and the will to fight. This map shows possible enemy targets in Canada and why an enemy would want to knock them out. For instance, Halifax and Vancouver have important port installations. Trail's smelter for non-ferrous ores, Edmonton's oil and Sarnia's chemicals would be important to any country engaged in a war. — (CP Photo.)

This is part of Canada's "chemical valley" at Sarnia. A group of industries turning out synthetic rubber, plastics and petroleum products stretches out from the city for a distance of three miles. Sarnia, whose industries make it a logical target in the event of enemy action, has an aggressive civil defence program. This view shows the Imperial Oil Company refinery fronting on the St. Clair River. — (CP from National Film Board.)

Civil Defence Is Dead Duck Unless Public Supports It

--Worthington

Editor's Note: Forbes Rhude, Canadian Press business editor, has made a detailed survey during the last few months of civil defence preparations across Canada. This story is one of a series reporting his findings.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Have you and your family a chance to live — beyond blind chance—if a major air strike is made on your community?

Ask yourself whether your city has an adequate alarm system and whether you would recognize it if it sounded? Whether you would know what to do, have taken simple precautions about the home, have in a handy place for study and use the pamphlets which are available on civil defence and the instructions which have appeared from time to time in your newspapers?

If your over-all answer is "no," then so far you haven't been much interested in civil defence.

And if you and your neighbors are not interested, it is unlikely you will ever have an adequate civil defence system.

MUST HAVE SUPPORT

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, the federal co-ordinator, says:

"Civil defence is a dead duck unless the public supports it."

Whatever the strengths or deficiencies of civil defence organization in Canada, there is no reason why Canadians shouldn't know the basic steps to survival. They are told in simple terms in available literature—of which nearly 5,000,000 pieces have been distributed as manuals, leaflets, posters, books, cards and so on.

One civil administrator said, almost desperately:

"If only we could get people to learn what to do for themselves, under attack, it would save thousands of lives."

Air Vice-Marshal G. R. Howsam, Alberta co-ordinator, commented:

"The public has not got hold of the fact that they can be hit. The big bomb and the big bombs have changed everything. It is a different kind of war."

ESSENTIAL RULES

I asked Gen. Worthington what he recommends as reading for everyone and, not to overwhelm you with all that has been published, he suggested the following four booklets as a start:

Civil defence manual No. 4 entitled "Personal Protection Under Atomic Attack;" "Emergency First Aid;" "Household Fire Fighting," soon to come off the press; and "Basic Rescue Skills," now in production.

Your local civil defence director, or provincial co-ordinator if you have no local director, will probably be glad to see you get them if you write.

The personal protection booklet, for instance, tells in 48 pages what to expect, what to do now, what to do if an alarm comes, what to do afterwards, and how to build a basement or outside shelter. It has hints for housewives about food supplies.

The smaller first aid pamphlet may enable you to save the life of a casualty.

VALUE OF EFFORT

You may ask: "What is the good of all this if an atomic bomb strikes in my vicinity?"

Probably it will do no good if you are in the immediate neighborhood of such a bomb. In all likelihood you will be dead.

But don't forget the man in Nagasaki, Japan, who was right under the atomic bomb dropped there but who survived and died only because he did not know he should not eat a radio-active apple.

And civil defence leaders say it is unlikely an enemy would be prodigal in the use of any atomic weapon if he can get the desired effect with something else. Conventional blockbusters or incendiaries, it is thought, are more likely to be used against the average Canadian community.

PANIC IS FATAL

Further, your community may not be hit but a neighboring place may need your aid.

An enemy's object won't be so much to kill you as to knock you and your country out of action, out of production, out of ability and will to fight. If and when he strikes, unpreparedness and panic are ranked about his best allies.

Let's assume you have read about civil defence preparations and taken such steps as you can personally. Now it is likely you will wish to know what your community is doing on a larger scale. You may ask such questions as these:

"Will fire-fighting equipment be dispersed when the alarm sounds so it won't all be wiped out? Are there auxiliary police services? Have the hospitals set up emergency programs? Are there plans for first aid stations? For evacuation of injured? For emergency feeding and clothing? Have copies of instructions to civil defence forces been distributed over a wide area?" One copy is a destroyed building won't be much help.

Perhaps, however, you think civil defence is unnecessary and that there is little real danger of attack.

To this, Gen. Worthington says:

"We should never forget that the aim of Communist doctrine is a Soviet republic of the world. They have been following that aim right along. When an attack is likely is a matter of when it can happen and succeed."

Canada's Wheat Carry-Over May Be Biggest in History; Exports Drop 25 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—Stiffening world competition and declining exports may force Canada to carry over into the next crop year the biggest mountain of unsold wheat in history. The crop year begins Aug. 1.

That development, indicated by the government's latest wheat figures, may mean a long delay in closing the 1953-54 wheat pool and a long wait by western farmers for the collection of profits from the Canadian wheat board.

The government's latest figures, issued today by the bureau of statistics, showed that Canada's wheat exports dropped by 25 per cent in the first nine months of the current crop year.

Shipments dropped to 186,200,000 bushels from 248,000,000 in the corresponding period last year. Canada's trading colapses in the International Wheat Agreement, also United States and Australia, also dropped customers.

Exports by the U.S. declined by 44 per cent to 145,100,000 bushels from 260,900,000 and those by Australia declined by 29 per cent to 43,300,000 from 68,000,000.

WORLD DEMAND EASES

The decline was due to smaller world demand and also to a sudden, sharp upsurge in Argentina's exports. Argentina had been hit by a crop failure in 1951, but she recovered in 1952 and her exports in the nine months of the current crop year made an eight-fold leap to 90,600,000 bushels from 10,500,000 last year.

The Argentine sells much of her wheat through barter deals and the price structure is therefore obscure. But it is believed here that it was partly because of Argentina's sudden, sharp recovery as a wheat exporter that forced both Canada and the U.S. to cut their prices by 10 cents a bushel, the biggest slash for Canada in post-war years.

But Canada's price cut, announced Monday, does not seem to have attracted any rush of customers.

Stocks available for export and carryover were at a peak of 637,000,000 bushels May 1, higher by 26 per cent than the 505,100,000 reported for May 1, 1953, the bureau said.

SEE HUGE SURPLUS

Exports for this year are believed to have been about 30,000,000 bushels and if they remain the same for June and July, Canada may enter the new crop year Aug. 1 with about 577,000,000 bushels of unsold wheat, the highest in history, and about 60 per cent higher than the 360,200,000-bushel carryover Aug. 1, 1953.

Much of the wheat situation next fall will depend on the new crop. Farmers produced a near-record 614,000,000 bushels last year. But acreage this year has been reduced and the season has been late. As usual the fate of the crop is in the hands of the weatherman.

In any case farmers face the prospects of reduced earnings from wheat. The board is paying them on the basis of $1.40 a bushel for No. 1 northern delivered at the Lakehead and Vancouver. Unlike previous years, farmers received no mid year interim payment of 30 cents a bushel.

Trade Minister Howe said in the Commons Wednesday night that an interim payment will be made in the 1954 calendar year, but gave no indication of the date.

Kingston Man Elected Pres. Welfare Assoc.

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Col. H. E. Penne, Kingston welfare administrator, was elected president of the Ontario Welfare Officers Association at the concluding session Wednesday of the organization's fourth annual convention.

A. C. Huggins, Stamford township welfare officer, was elected first vice-president and Joseph Vernon, East York township 2nd second vice-president.

Members of the WOA executive committee includes: S. Bush, North Bay, C. Griffin, Sarnia township; Miss Mary S. Leslie, Owen Sound; A. A. Morrison, Cenabrook township; Mrs. S. Patterson, Sudbury; K. R. Ruddick, Timmins; C. J. Stock, Niagara Falls; A. Southern, Port Arthur.

Next year's the convention will be held in North Bay.

Judge Dismisses $4,000 Claim Against Officer

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice Roger Brossard ruled Wednesday a traffic policeman is not responsible for accidents resulting from careless ness of drivers he is directing.

The judge dismissed a $4,000 claim by Mrs. Arthur Gauthier against constable Yvon Trudel, the City of Montreal and the Montreal Tramways Company. She claimed she was injured when hit by a tram while crossing a downtown intersection and the accident was caused by constable Trudel giving a go-ahead signal to the tram driver.

Mr. Justice Brossard cited a city by-law stating traffic constables were on duty only to give general direction and supervision but not "to guarantee individual passage for motorists or pedestrians."

American Star Turns Down Fabulous Offer

TORONTO (CP) — The highest contract offer ever made by Argonaut Football Club was turned down by Paul Giel, Minnesota's all-American halfback and an outstanding pitcher, who Wednesday signed a contract with New York Giants.

He signed with Giants for $60,000 for a three-year period.

Coach Frank Clair of Argos said he talked to Giel as early as last winter and as late as last Wednesday.

"He said he definitely hoped to get into baseball but I was hoping to sign him Wednesday night for an answer," Clair said. "I didn't bother when I heard about his signing with the Giants.

"I didn't say how much he offered Giel.

Giel earlier turned down an offer from Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football League.

Body of Dog Chained to Tree, Starved to Death

PORT WILLIAM (CP)—Ontario provincial police are investigating the discovery of the body of a black Labrador retriever dog chained to a tree in the bush near East Loon, about 30 miles northeast of here. It apparently had starved to death.

The dog, a female, was expecting puppies.

Discovery of the animal's body was made Sunday by a Port Arthur man who had taken his family for an outing.

Mrs. Alice Chisholm, president of the Thunder Bay Humane Society, referred the case to provincial police. She said people in the area are incensed over the cruelty of the act.

CRITICIZES TEACHERS

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que. (CP)—Robert Flood, president of the Provincial Association of Protestant School Boards, said Wednesday a scarcity of teachers has filled Quebec Protestant schools with "40 per cent misfits and 10 per cent morons." He was addressing a meeting of Quebec Women's Institute at Macdonald College.

Army Hopes to Announce Second World War Battle Honors for Various Regts.

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The army said today it hopes that battle honors for the Second World War will be announced soon.

Battle honors, which are inscribed on regimental colors, are awarded by an international group at the British war office on which Canada is represented.

A lot of research is required. Records of various operations and battles have to be studied in detail, classified and named. Much history work has to be done before deciding what units are entitled to battle honors. It was 1926 before First World War battle honors were awarded.

Canada's regular infantry regiments are already rich in battle honors. On their colors are inscribed such names as "Northwest Canada, 1885," "Paardeburg," "Vimy, 1917," "Passchendaele," "Pursuit to Mons," "France and Flanders, 1915-18."

Some of the new crop of battle honors may include names like Dieppe, Ortona, Melfa River, Casa, Boulogne and The Scheldt.

Only infantry and cavalry carry colors, cavalry now being armored units. Thus only these two arms can carry battle honors denoting participation in notable engagements. Other arms claim unofficially that they took part in every battle.

The first battle honor was granted in 1768 to the 15th British Hussars for action at Emsdorff in 1760. But the earliest battle commemorated by an honor is "Guinegatte, 1513" though it was not awarded until 1927—424 years later—to the Corps of Gentlemen-At-Arms, one of the sovereign's bodyguards.

The earliest battle honor awarded to a Canadian unit is "Eccles Hill," granted to the Victoria Rifles to commemorate an action against the Fenians on the Vermont border in 1870.

The Royal Newfoundland Regiment possesses some battle honors carried by no other Canadian unit, among them "Gallipoli."

One battalion of Canadian infantry, the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, has a unique distinction. Attached to the pike of its regimental color is a streamer representing the United States presidential citation granted to the unit in recognition of its heroic stand at Kapyong, Korea, in April, 1951.

Though the navy and air force do not have colors for individual ships or squadrons, they do possess Queen's colors. The navy received its color from King George VI at Victoria in 1939. The RCAF was granted the Queen's (then King's) color and the color of the RCAF in 1950 in a ceremony on Parliament Hill. The senior and junior services, however, do not receive battle honors.

Some police forces also carry colors. The notable case is the RCMP, presented a guidon at Regina in 1933 by Lord Bessborough, then governor-general. The guidon, carried on a lance, bears the campaign honors: "North West Canada, 1885," "South Africa, 1900-02," "France and Flanders 1918" and "Siberia 1918-19."

Originally, the main purpose of colors was to provide a rallying point for a unit on the battlefield. They were last carried into action in 1881 by the 2nd battalion, Northamptonshire Regiment, at Laing's Nek in the Boer War.

PLANE MISSING

TOKYO (Reuters)—A U.S. Navy plane with 17 men aboard has been reported missing on a routine flight from western Japan to Hong Kong, U.S. naval headquarters here said today.

25,000 Acre Property Near Park for Sale

TORONTO (CP)—A 25,000-acre property of forest, lakes and rivers on the edge Algonquin Park is for sale.

The preserve, about 65 miles north of Peterborough, was the property of Charles M. Smith, millionaire, sportsman, railroad builder and former governor of Vermont who died in 1937.

The 40-square mile property, offered with buildings, timber rights and mineral rights, is believed to be one of the largest parcels of privately-owned land ever placed on the Ontario market. Sale price was not announced. Mr. Smith acquired it about 30 years ago after he assisted in the building of the old Canada Atlantic Railway in 1888.

The property was left to three sons and a daughter of the millionaire, and has been used exclusively by the family since.

Timber rights on the property are valued at more than $60,000. A lumber company has offered this amount for a stumpage contract.

CABINET SHUFFLE

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Harold Connolly announced a cabinet shuffle Wednesday that sent A. W. Mackenzie to the highways ministry and left Angus Macdonald to agriculture portfolio to backbencher Colin Chisholm of Antigonish.

PLANT SHUTDOWN

STRATFORD (CP) — Canadian Fabricated Products Ltd., manufacturers of interior automotive trim, began a week shutdown Tuesday. J. H. Barth, general manager, said that the layoff, which affects about 100 workers, was "a direct result of the week's shut down of the Ford plant at Oakville."

West Hastings District W.I. Convenes at White's United

(By MRS. PERCY MACMULLEN)

The fifty-third annual convention of the West Hastings District Women's Institutes was held on Wednesday, June 2, at White's United Church, Town of Bancroft township, with a good representation from the seven branches, Wallbridge, Bay of Quinte, Union-dale, River Valley, Stirling, Cheltenham and Pine Grove.

The Bay of Quinte branch was hostess for this occasion and served tea and relishes at noon to supplement the box lunches brought by the delegates.

The church was decorated with potted ferns and spring blooms.

Following registration, the president, Mrs. John R. Reid took charge.

Mrs. Frank Sandercock was pianist with Mrs. Milton Grills leading the assembly in singing. Mrs. Lorne Hunt voiced a warm welcome and Mrs. Harry Coulter graciously replied.

The district directors were re-elected by Mrs. E. Irwin, and they held a special session at the noon hour. These are Chatterton, Mrs. Gerald Irvine; Stirling, Mrs. Sam Kinzey; River Valley, Mrs. Edward Heasman; Wallbridge, Mrs. Everett Phillips; Uniondale, Mrs. Milton Grills; Bay of Quinte, Mrs. Ernest Curtis and Pine Grove, Mrs. Harold Detlor.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Mrs. E. B. Finkle, secretary-treasurer, gave the financial report. This completes her six-year term of office. In her brief address, she reminisced to say that she had been an institute member for 31 years. Thirty years ago she was appointed district president of West Hastings in this same church and now in the same place she was relinquishing her term as secretary-treasurer.

The two special speakers for the day were introduced, Mrs. Ernest Irwin, Federated Board member, who needed no introduction, as she has held this office and visited various branches. She is retiring soon having completed her three year term of office.

Miss Irene McBride was the department speaker, in 1953 the Canadian government conferred a distinctive honor on Miss McBride, of the Ontario Women's Institute branch, in the award of a fellowship to study psychology in The Netherlands. She was one of nine to be honored by the Department of External Affairs and her trip was financed from Canada's unused credits in France, and The Netherlands.

ADVANCED STUDIES

These fellowships are for advanced study in arts, humanities social sciences and professional and each of the nine was privileged to spend the year abroad and study the subject of her choice.

In 1938 Miss McBride received an honor Bachelor of Arts degree in philosophy and given an appointment on the staff of the Toronto University.

In 1950 she took her Master of Arts degree and she has had practical experience with The Ontario Mental Hospitals and the travelling Mental Health Clinic.

As a member of the staff of the W.I. branch in Toronto, Miss McBride specializes in child study, family relationships and mental health.

Each of these two ladies was given an ovation and gave their addresses in the afternoon.

STANDING COMMITTEES REPORTS

Mrs. Roy Bush read the report of Mrs. Gerald Brooks, convener of Agriculture and Canadian Industries. "The roll calls were "something in my home that was made in Canada," "an Indian mentioned, in the Bible;" "Canadian shrubs;" "uses of Cheddar cheese in the home;" "bring and describe an article made of plastic, nylon or cellophane;" "The Moira River Conservation;" and others.

Among the motions were: "Seed-time and harvest shall not cease;" "industry is our country's life blood".

There were interesting papers on mining and manufacturing of oil, and its by-products, such as gasoline, lubricants, solvents, paint, varnish, tar and linoleum. Canada has the greatest oil resources in the world.

The study of salt in Canada, the lumbering industry and manufacturing of pulp wood, family farm business in Ontario under two headings; sharing farm income and farm management, with a good discussion on the theme, "When should a farmer retire."

CANADA

"Canada as the world sees us;" "An English firm that manufactures cable;" "Canada, a land of abundant food and how best to use it?"

"The cheese industry as it is today;" The history of cheese from Bible times till now; It was stated 1,500 years before Christ both Job and Jeremiah referred to cheese. The first cheese factory was built in Wallbridge — the second in Holloway, and the third in Madoc in 1871.

"The first cheese board was held in Belleville in 1872.

Conservation in the Moira Valley was stressed and two films were shown pertaining to this subject.

A good demonstration in floral arrangement was given and the Girls' Club demonstrated, "Dressing up Vegetables from the Garden."

The activities included, "catering to County Federation of Agriculture; donating prize money to the local fair and assisting the Farm Forums in many ways. "Every test be win his spirit to fight, from busy days and peaceful night; Rich from the very won't of wealth, In Heaven's best treasure, Peace and Health."

Mrs. Allyn Finkle presented her report of "Citizenship and Education". She said there was an address on resolutions showing how citizens can express themselves to law makers and an address by a member of parliament on the flag and the Crown were of educational value.

One motto, "Give the world the best you have, and the best will come back to you."

Roll call—"Name a song with the word flag in it;" "Why I am thankful to be a Canadian;" "What I can do to promote world peace?" "Something I heard or saw about the Coronation." "Name a former Governor General or Prime Minister;" "A country that sent a delegate to the A.C.W.W.;" "Why I like to live in Canada;" "A famous mother".

Many interesting papers were given on topics such as "Canadian Artists;" "Rules for Rearing Children;" "Responsible Citizenship;" "History of Thanksgiving;" "Pioneering in the North;" "Origin and formation of A.C.W.W.;" "What is Education;" and "Four Ladies in Parliament at Ottawa."

Slides on Mexico and the Coronation were enjoyed and many helpful ideas were passed on for use in the branches.

Mrs. Stanley McMurray gave an interesting report of "Historical Research and Current Events" and completed the work of Mrs. P. Brownson.

All branches have Tweedsmuir books which keep the history up-to-date. The roll calls were: "Something I heard that my grandmother missed;" "First property owners;" "Three houses built in 1881;" "Family legends;" "a display of historic relics, buttons;" "Papers on early women" which honored Adelaide Hoodless the founder of Women's Institutes in Ontario."

HELEN KELLAR

Another great woman was Helen Keller, both blind and deaf, but in spite of her handicap, she is a writer of note. Papers were given on "Trenton Centennial;" "History of pioneer families of our community", "History of local churches and school buildings."

A contrast was displayed where a school teacher received in 1807 the sum of $12 for a five-month period of teaching. "The history of my farm home brought a wealth of interesting material;" "Canada Day at A.C.C.W. last August," was a favorite discussion.

One institute had a synopsis of "The Institute movement in England and Wales," which was taken from a new book sent by their link Institute in England. "Old home remedies that were in our grandmother's medicine cabinet," made an interesting contest.

A demonstration of old photos followed by an old-fashioned lunch of ginger cookies and lemon biscuits made a successful meeting.

CURRENT EVENTS

The Current Events covered outstanding local news and world affairs. An interesting discussion on "Things that happened today will be history for tomorrow." It was pointed out that "The organization of Women's Institutes was to promote standard of "Living and Homemaking" and this organization is a vast betterment to the community and Current Events at the meetings, help to keep the members in touch with the outside world.

Mrs. Ted Evans reporting on "Home Economics and Health" said "there had been demonstrations on "How to set a table;" "dressmaking;" "preparation of a supper dish;" "sewing machine work;" and "a good breakfast."

Roll calls included—"My favorite food;" "a sewing hint;" "Recipe for a cool drink;" "Ways of giving cheer;" "a household duty I enjoy;" "Name a food I intend to eliminate."

Most branches reported filling penny round-up bags for mental health.

VARIOUS ADDRESSES

Addresses were given on "Jaundice;" "The Atom Bomb, and its effect on people;" "Value of Human Nutrition;" "Symptoms of Cancer;" "What to do when Ma is Sick" "Cheese in the Daily Diet;" "Taking the Fear out of Hospitals;" "The Place of Mothers in the Home of Today."

Mrs. Floyd MacInnes reported "Community Activities and Public Relations." Topics were given on "How to Build a Better Community;" "Your Child at High School;" some branches have a district president give an address on this theme.

Roll calls—"A radio program that I am interested in;" "A local industry;" "Ways of improving my community;" "Names of Royalty;" "A humorous experience;" "How I can help my neighbor."

It was advised to never let the hinges of friendship rust and to work co-operatively for a community spirit.

MEN'S NIGHT

Men's Night was popular in some branches. A large number of members from West Hastings attended "Canada Day' last August and three branches were represented at Guelph. Printed programs, press reporters, and radio all help to publicize the work. One branch sponsored a "Coronation Day' party at the school and each child received a souvenir cup and saucer. There were also first aid kits; a school picture purchased; memorial flower beds; the purchase of a blanket and pillow for the school, also a hot plate.

One branch sent gifts to their link institute in England; a bus trip to Toronto; a friendship sister club; articles sent to sick folks, shut-ins, and a hearing aid for a man in the community.

Donations were given to many worthwhile organizations which included the temperance publicity in Sidney township.

In closing her report she quoted "The Meaning of Progress," by Henry Ward Beecher. "We should so live and labor in our time that what came to us as seed may go to the next generation as blossom and that what came to us as blossom may go to them as fruit. This is what we mean by 'progress'."

4 H. HOMEMAKING CLUB

The report of the 4 H. Homemaking club was read and two Girls' Clubs took part in Achievement Day, last July. Three girls received county honors—Donna Carlisle, Marlene Carlisle and Joanne Heasman, all members of Stirling Supper Club.

In the garden achievement day Frances Tucker, of Wallbridge club, won county honors, and two garden clubs at Stirling and Wallbridge, are now in progress with 13 gardeners.

This report was prepared by Mrs. Marion Smith, acting Home Economist, for the Home Economics Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Bert Bush, convener of resolutions said while the subject had been discussed there was none sent in. Alone branch a speaker thoroughly traced the course of a resolution. She suggested plenty of thought and study with necessary material. Resolutions were then well received and properly signed. Remember nothing is gained without effort, and your resolutions may result in better living conditions for all citizens."

The report of Sidney Junior Institute was read and during the year, they have contributed to many worthy causes. The group are making layette now and this will be sent as a missionary donation. Their project now is a cash prize in other groups for making children's garments; a tea will be held this year at Alcorn community hall and the prizes presented.

Miss McBride complimented the conveners on their splendid reports. She stressed looking after your home community first and then your duty to your country. She explained briefly the Homemaker Extension Service.

The president spoke briefly, and gave a brief outline of her year's work, after which several items were discussed and the group adjourned for refreshments.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

The president, Mrs. John Reid, assisted by Mrs. L. Rodgers, conducted a memorial service for five members, Mrs. Will Hanna, charter member of River Valley branch, and Mrs. Clayton Tucker of River Valley; Mrs. Jay White, Mrs. J. A. Wright and Mrs. Charles Fisher, of Wallbridge branch and Mrs. Albert Jones of Bay of Quinte branch.

Memorial poems were read and lovely white blooms placed in a memorial basket. All these women once took their places as Institute members and left us a challenge to carry on for "Home and Country".

Mrs. Ernest Irwin, retiring board director, gave a comprehensive report of the provincial board and said there are 1,428 society institutes and 76 junior institutes in Ontario. This year a prize will be given to the branch with the largest increase in membership based on the 1953 list.

She thoroughly explained the pooling system of $30 per branch in this way, those living long distances from Toronto had the same privileges as those close by. She explained the July holidays at Grenville and the August holiday at Kemptville.

The project for the Korean fund closes July 31, and institute branches were asked to send in their donation by that date. The speaker urged that the Union Jack be displayed at all meetings and that flag etiquet be studied and carried out properly in institute meetings. Special rules were given for civil defence such as; boil all drinking water, and drink fruit juices and not eat food. A special institute badge can be purchased for wearing on blazers and sweaters.

Each branch is asked to contribute a small amount to "Home and Country" magazine, to help support the project.

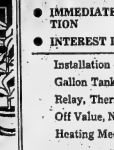
SPECIAL MUSIC

Mrs. Walter Warren sang without accompaniment, two lovely vocal selections at special request. "God Hath Not Promised," and "I'll Walk Beside You Darling."

Mrs. C. Ketcheson presented the report of the nominating committee and the election was conducted.

Mrs. John Reid was re-elected as president for her second year, with Mrs. Harold Phillips, R.R. 2, Belleville, appointed as the new secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. E. Finkle was pleasantly surprised when Mrs. Sam Nicholson read an appreciative address and Mrs. Percy Coulter made the presentation of a cameo brooch on behalf of the seven branches in 'West Hastings' District.



Mrs. Finkle has been an Institute member for 31 years. In June 1923, she was elected district president in White's Church. Since becoming a member of the W.I., she has filled with distinction and honor, various important offices in Chatterton branch, in West Hastings' District, and in Institute work.

She has given outstanding leadership in Girls' Clubs work and is the district head of 4-H Clubs.

Mrs. Finkle has made a big contribution in many ways to the activities and projects of institute work in West Hastings and she has rendered unselfish service throughout the years. The address carried a couple of very appropriate poems as well as words of congratulation and appreciation.

The closing words were: "May you live long and prosper, and to keep you sweet; enough trials to

SPECIAL ADDRESS

Miss Irene McBride, who has returned from a year abroad, said that folks in Europe are conservation conscious. She explained how the Dutch people had drained land from the sea, and said, "France is most appreciative of their trees. They always plant a new one when they cut an old tree." In Stockholm, apartments are built around large trees, and this provides shade. Many cities have small parks where the people can enjoy a bit of fresh air.

Miss McBride also spoke briefly on the terrible upsurge in Canada of destroying property and material. This utter disregard for property is probably because it can so easily be replaced.

She challenged institute members to teach conservation of good materials and suggested that we build up in young children the idea of looking after themselves.

The countries she had visited were trying to improve the general level of living, and in Holland the people got busy and did a necessary job themselves rather than to wait for government help.

Miss McBride's address was interesting and informative and the delegates enjoyed her varied description and illustrations of her year in Europe.

At the area convention which is to be held at Prince Charles School, Belleville, on October 27-28, the voting delegates will choose a new board director and it is West Hastings' turn to have an officer.

QUALIFIED ELIGIBLE

The following ladies have qualified since 1942 and are now eligible: Mrs. Kenneth Faul; Mrs. E. B. Finkle, Mrs. Morley Sine, Mrs. Roy Bush and Mrs. George Burkitt.

One of these is to be elected in October.

OFFICERS

Past president, Mrs. George Burkitt, Frankford, R.R. 2; president, Mrs. John R. Reid, 307 Byron Street, R.R. 7, Trenton; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Louis Rodgers, Stirling, R.R. 2; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Harry Coulter, R.R. 2, Belleville; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harold Phillips, Belleville, R.R. 2; federation representative, Mrs. George Burkitt, R.R. 2, Frankford; alternate, Mrs. Sam Hitchcock, Belleville, R.R. 2; District delegate, Mrs. Roy Bush, R.R. 4, Stirling; alternate, Mrs. Ben Bleecker, Holloway, R.R. 2; Auditors, Mrs. Frank Tucker, Belleville, R.R. 2; and Mrs. E. B. Finkle, Holloway, R.R. 2.

CONVENERS

Agricultural representatives to township, Mrs. Harry Coulter, Foxboro, R.R. 1, and Mrs. Edward Hearman, Stirling, R.R. 4.

COURTESY

Mrs Roy Bush gave a unique courtesy report when she remembered to thank all the main people, who had contributed to the success of West Hastings' W.I., and also said a gracious "thank-you" to several others, especially those at home, who made it possible for the delegates to spend the day away from home cares.

The reporter of this district annual would like to express thanks to the Ontario Intelligencer, Belleville, for all the space used by the various branches throughout the past year.

In this way the Institute work is publicized and various ideas are a helpful means of assisting one another. We would ask that the readers please note that any errors or omissions were not intentional. We did not take full notes at the meeting and we are just pinch-hitting for another member who was unable to write up this account, which is why it is a bit late and was hurriedly written.

Serves French-Speaking Parish

The Roman Catholic Church of St. Peter and St. Paul serves a parish of 4,000 in Lewiston, Me., and many of the parishioners are descendants of French-Canadians who migrated from the province of Quebec to New England. Many of the priests who have served the church have been French-Canadians who previously ministered in Quebec. — (CP Photo.)

French Tradition Will Remain Firmly Rooted in New England

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AUGUSTA, Me. (CP) — Nearly 1,000,000 Americans whose roots lie in Quebec and their allegiance in Washington have planted French tradition in New England and have stood firm against suggestions they abandon it.

Augusta's daily Kennebec Journal aims at splitting Maine's 115,000 citizens of French-Canadian stock into so many individuals. It endorses complete assimilation.

"It is the policy of the Kennebec Journal to encourage this trend and to refrain from regarding the French as a 'minority group' or in any way a people apart from the community," says managing editor Paul S. Plumer.

MANY UNCONCERNED

Other factions in Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts feel the same way. But the great mass of New Englanders show lack of interest in the whole question.

The Franco-American's dogged grip on his language and culture has grown steadily stronger since the first habitant jogged south in a buckboard with his family from Beauce county or elsewhere in Quebec to find a job in Maine's then newly opened textile mills at Lewiston, Augusta, Biddeford and Waterville.

French-Canadians by the thousands had streamed into northern Maine each year to help with the haying before the "great migration" of 1890-1910. They went south to stay when the mills opened and promised steady employment at a time when jobs were scarce in Quebec.

They settled thickly in the compact mill towns along Maine's Atlantic seaboard. Others drifted into northern Vermont and eventually outnumbered the "locals" in towns like Swanton, St. Albans and Winooski on Lake Champlain.

MOTED FATHER AFIELD

Time brought the French-Canadians broader opportunity. They had taken hold of the ways of the Yankee and learned his language after a fashion. So they roved farther afield to find better jobs in New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The U.S. census bureau estimates there are 89,000 New Englanders of French-Canadian stock among a combined six-state population of only about 8,750,000. One in every eight persons in Maine has some "northern" blood in his veins. The ratio is only slightly less in Vermont.

Migration

About a tenth of New England's population of 8,700,000 are of French-Canadian stock. Many of their forbears migrated to New England from Quebec during 1890-1910. Most settled in mill towns but gradually they have spread all over New England. This map shows some of the chief centres of French-Canadian settlement. — (CP Photo.)

000 Franco-Americans has the most of any New England state. But Maine has the greatest number per capita. New England also has a large population of displaced Maritimers but that is a different story.

Folks like the Franco-Americans. They say they pay their bills regularly, which appeals to the traditionally shrewd New Englanders. Most of the French own their own homes.

Governor Burton M. Cross of Maine says the French are "loyal, hard-working, clean-living people who, by their example, have inspired all of us."

KEEPS CLOSE CONTACT

The Franco-Americans preserve their identity by frequent and close contact with one another through organizations like the all - U.S. Union St. Jean Baptiste with headquarters in Woonsocket, R.I.

These bodies look out for the interests of members. They also sponsor French concerts and other activities to keep alive an awareness of the French heritage.

The Franco - Americans have their own French-language newspaper, Le Messager of Lewiston which has a daily circulation of 5,000. The editor is 54-year-old Louis Gagne who was born at Quebec City and worked there for the newspaper Le Soleil.

St. Peter and St. Paul church in Lewiston serves the largest parish of any denomination in New England with a congregation exceeding 5,000. Many of the priests here, as in other parts of New England where French are numerous, are French-Canadians who ministered previously in Quebec.

Another achievement is L'Assomption College at Worcester Mass. There, Franco-American students receive diplomas they formerly could obtain only at Laval or the University of Montreal.

Thirty per cent of the people in Augusta are French. In Lewiston it's 70 per cent.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was starting to take a Saturday walk with pop, and I heard yelling back of me, and I looked around, and there was a crowd of the fellows at the other end of the block, and I said, G, pop, let's go back, I wonder what's up?

There's probably very little up except the general direction, pop said. We'll be mutch better off just going our own way and imagining what the excitement is about. I'm sure to be more intristing than the actual thing. If imagination aren't more exciting than reality, there wouldn't be many story writers and politicians, he ad, and I said, Well what shall we imagine the fellows were yelling about?

Maybe a grasshopper was having a battle with an ant, just like in an African movie, pop said. What could be more exciting than that? he said, and I said, G, nothing, unless maybe it was a suddin bottomless hole in the widewalk caused by an earthquake in China.

We're doing fine, I can garantee that those boys aren't having half as intriting a time as we are, pop said.

And we kept on making up exciting things it could of been, and when we got back Puds Simkins went past, saying, Oh boy, Benny, you should of been around. There was a munkey with an organ grinder, and Lucky Leroy Shoester was hopping around with his knees bent and making faces, imitating it, and the munkey bit him on the ankle. Oh boy, Lucky Leroy cant say he's lucky today, Puds said. Heck, pop, we missed it.

Except my apologies, pop said.

Proving truth is more exciting than imagination.

PRICES STILL HIGHER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United Nations statistical bulletin says wholesale prices in most countries are still higher at the end of 1953 than the June, 1950, level—just before the Korean war began. In most European countries 1953 wholesale prices averaged less than 20 per cent above those of June 1950, those in Canada were six per cent higher and those in the United States 19 per cent higher.

Apple pie... coming up

A king-size apple pie weighing over a hundred pounds was recently baked for the Yakima Indian State Apple Blossom Festival. The specially built aluminum pie pan — the largest ever made — measured eight feet across.

Made us wonder how big a pie you'd get if all the apple pies baked in one day on regulation aluminum pans were put together. And that brings to mind all the different aluminum cooking utensils used today in homes and hospitals and restaurants... No wonder Canada is stepping up her production of this light, bright metal to one and a quarter billion pounds a year! Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

TOO MUCH, TOO SOON

NUNEATON, England (AP)—Witnesses told a coroner Tuesday that William Lockley, 58-year-old farmer, wrote a note saying drought was threatening his crops, then hanged himself in his barn. That was last Friday. On Saturday a four-day downpour set in.

CAMPBELLFORD

Council Handles Heavy Slate Of Business

CAMPBELLFORD — A large slate of business was handled by the Campbellford Council on Monday night.

A letter of thanks from the Citizens' Band, in appreciation of council subsidizing their new uniforms was read. Charles Skinner, a Grand Road resident, who lives across from the town dump, wrote council thanking them for the improvements made recently in handling the garbage at the dump. He said the situation lately was greatly improved. A letter was also received from the Northumberland and Durham Health Unit, commending the council on the improvement in the disposal of garbage.

FIRE PROTECTION SCHEME.

A communication from the village of Hastings, stated Mr. Hagness of that community to cooperate in the fire protection scheme of the country, but no agreement had yet been signed. This was left with the fire, water and light to talk over and report at the next meeting.

Council made their regular grant of $50 to the Northumberland Music Festival.

A grant of $25 was made to the St. John's Ambulance Association, and on motion of Deputy Reeve George Frye, the association will be asked to hold a class in Campbellford.

FARM ROAD REPAIRS.

A petition, signed by six residents of Maple Street, was received, asking for repairs to the road on which their properties are situated. Mrs. Hopkins Hollings also addressed council, asking that they repair the roadway on Raglan St. The matter was left with the Road and Bridge Committee to investigate and act on.

Deputy Reeve D. R. Maybee recommended that a 600 foot extension be tiled to the sewer on First St., serving the property of J. Hawthorne.

Scoutmaster Jack Connor addressed council, saying that the life saving equipment along the canals is in bad condition. Boxes of equipment need repair and the life preservers need re-covering. The estimated cost would be about $150 and the Rec Hocks would provide the labor to put the equipment in shape.

Reporting on the town dump, Councillor F. M. Rutherford said that from May 5 to June 2, an average of 32 vehicles per day disposed of garbage at the dump. Councillor Isobel Tatham said that the dump should be supervised and said she thought the present supervisor was educating the people as to how to dump their garbage.

Councillor Rutherford said he was trying to work out a plan whereby the town would sell newspapers and cardboard collected at the dump, to help pay for the supervision of the place.

ROOMING BYLAW.

It was moved by Deputy Reeve Free that a representative of the planning and development board be asked to come to Campbellford to discuss the proposed zoning bylaw. This carried and a special meeting will be held when the board sends a representative.

W. Blake was appointed weed inspector at a salary of $50 per year. He is town foreman and council felt that he would be in a good position to carry out the requirements of the job.

The matter of dogs running at large in the town resulted in a lot of discussion, with suggestions being made by many members. Questions ranging from the securing of a net to catch the dogs with, to constructing a pound to house them and provide food were discussed. Council finally left the matter with the police and legal committees and gave them power to act.

After the passing of the pay sheet, council adjourned.

Citizens Asked To Pay Taxes Before Rate Set

TORONTO (CP)—Citizens who can't wait to pay their taxes until the rate is set by city council were invited Wednesday to send the money along now.

Holding a cheque for $250,000—a payment from the Toronto Hydro commission—Mayor Allan Lamport said if other persons would do the same, considerable money would be saved on interest payments on funds which the city has to borrow until taxes start to roll in.

Anyone not sure how much to send could safely remit the same amount as last year without danger of overpaying.

CADET'S BODY FOUND

TORONTO (CP)—The body of 15-year-old George Pape was found in Lake Ontario Wednesday, a few hours after four of his Sea Cadet chums were buried with full naval honors. The body was found by lifeguards near where a whaling boat overturned last Sunday with 18 Sea Cadets aboard. Five boys were rescued.

Batting tips are provided by Miss Connie Morgan of the nationally famous Indianapolis Clowns, who are scheduled to appear at Exhibition Park, Belleville, on Wednesday night, June 16th, against the fabulous Kansas City Monarchs in a 8.30 p.m. official Negro American League tilt. The newest rookie on the Clowns' roster has had no trouble breaking into the lineup against some tough male competition, and has been holding down a regular berth with her hitting and fielding. Her tutor? None other than Brooklyn's famous Jackie Robinson.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—How does a college kid react to an assured income of $60,000 for the next three years?

If he's Paul Giel, 21, the Minnesota football star whose signing by pitch professional baseball for the New York Giants at those terms was announced here Wednesday he's more impressed with a gift automobile:

"Boy, you ought to see it," he told reporters at a press conference attended by such high brass of the Giants' organization as president Horace Stoneham. "They gave it to me up at Minneapolis the other night. Was I surprised. It's a cream-colored hard-top convertible a 1954 model."

The two-time all-America halfback at Minnesota had his pick of six or seven offers from major league baseball teams and turned down a couple of what he called football in Canada with Toronto and Winnipeg.

BASEBALL DECISION

"I decided a long time ago to play baseball instead of football," he said. "But when those Canadians came around I just had to listen. They made me some real attractive offers."

Although exact terms of the bonus agreement were not revealed one of the highest of the club's high brass agreed $60,000 was "about right" and would constitute Giel's salary spread over three years.

Giel, a 185-pound fullback, was named the Associated Press "back of the year" in 1953. He gained 5,094 yards and scored 35 touchdowns. In three years of college baseball, Giel posted 21-8 record and had a 2.16 earned run average.

King's Jockey Waited 19 Years For Second Win

TORONTO (CP)—Jaunty Herbie Lindberg, a horseback from Gothenburg, Sweden, has been waiting 19 years to win his second Queen's Plate. Back in 1935, when he was a comparative innocent of 24, Herbie rode Sally Fuller to victory for the Seagram Stable of Waterloo, Ont.

Next Saturday, a wise-cracking veteran of 43, Lindberg will have the mount on the favored King Maple.

Lindberg and King Maple have formed an almost unbeatable combination since they met for the first time at Fort Erie in August, 1953—King Maple, an unprepossessing colt, known affectionately around the Ontario racing circuit as "The Country Bumpkin," still was a maiden.

GALLOPED HOME

Then trainer Johnny Hornsby tossed Lindy on King Maple's back one afternoon at Fort Erie and the big, rough colt galloped home. Hornsby and owner Mrs. Gordon McMacken promptly arranged to have Lindberg ride their horse in all future engagements.

Later King Maple won five consecutive stake races and, during the winter, was voted "Canada's Horse of the Year." So far this season he has won his only two races—the Plate Trials at six furlongs and one mile and 70 yards—and he goes into Saturday's big race boasting a record of seven straight wins.

Redskins' Owner 'Pretty Nasty' Over Player Deal

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Frank Clair of Toronto Argonauts said George Marshall, owner of Washington Redskins, telephoned him Wednesday and was "pretty nasty" because Argos latched on to United States import Norbert Hecker.

"He really scorched me out," Clair said. The telephone call involved the signing of Hecker, a six-foot-two, 196-pound offensive end, who accepted an Argo contract this week to play in the Big Four.

Hecker turned down a deal whereby he would be traded from Los Angeles Rams to the Redskins in the National Football League.

"He (Marshall) said that Hecker should play his football in Washington, not in Toronto," Clair said. "I told him that the boy had been traded by Los Angeles and if he didn't want to go to Washington he didn't have to. Just because he'd have to accept the deal if he stayed in the NFL doesn't mean he can't come up here if he wants to."

Clair then switched to a few comments about Carl Voyles, coach of Hamilton Tiger - Cats. Voyles said after his return from the U.S. earlier this week that he was "amazed at the money" Argos have been offering their players.

"If we're offering so much, how come a couple of players we were after wound up in Hamilton?" Clair asked. "Of course, we got a couple they were after. But it evened off pretty well."

AGREES TO GRASS

MONTREAL (CP) — Members of the Chilean Davis Cup team have agreed to play their tie with Canada on grass courts, Harry Marpole, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association said Wednesday. Chile asked originally that the matches be played on hard courts. The tie is scheduled to take place at the Toronto Cricket Club, July 13-17.

Electrics Extend Win Streak With Bluebirds' Defeat

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Northern Electric keep their undefeated streak intact and John Batchelor continued his "home a run a game" pace at the C.N.R. park last night as the league leaders hung a 9-4 setback on the Bluebird Juniors.

Henn's boys jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first inning on Vern Goyer's line single, scoring Soules and Carr, they added another in the second frame, four more in the seventh and one in each of the last two innings, while Doug Thompson and Lum Carson teamed up to pitch four-hit ball.

Thompson started and hurled five innings with one hit and one run charged against him. He fanned two while issuing five free tickets to first. Carson came on to begin the sixth and while giving up three runs off three hits, gained credit for the victory. One man went down on strikes while another pair walked.

Bruce McCurdy was Bill Spafford's choice to start for the juniors but was knocked from the box during Northern's four run rally in the seventh after allowing seven runs on seven hits. He gave up six walks with no strikeouts. Bob Green finished the game, being touched for two runs off a hit and six more walks. He got Lum Carson on three occasions for his only strikeouts.

Thompson made it 3-0 in the second with a double, scoring Denshire after a walk but Pete Green got that one back two innings later when he singled, took third on an error and came home on Dey's long fly ball.

The Bluebirds drew close with another run in the sixth when Wayne Bovay, the first batter to face Carson, slammed a double and continued to third on the outfielder's error. Earle Cousins bobbled John Casey's ground ball allowing Bovay to score.

De Rushie walked to lead off the seventh for the winners, Carson fanned, Soules cracked a two bagger, Carr went down with De Rushie taking home and Red Culkin banged out a single, plating Soules for a 5-2 score. John Batchelor, who has hit a home run in the first three games he played this year, promptly blasted his fourth deep to centre with Culkin batting home ahead of him. Green came on to retire the third man he faced after walking two.

The losers got a pair in their half on a two-run single by W. Bovay after Barclay singled and Russell drew a walk. Three walks and a passed ball resulted in the winner's eighth run with their final coming on Gerry Goyer's throwing error after a walk and a single.

Soules was top hitter for the winners with a triple and a double, while Batchelor had a homer and Thompson a double. Carr, Goyer, Pete Jones and Culkin each had a base hit. Bovay had a two-bagger and a single in a losing cause, while F. Green and Barclay claimed the other singles.

The line-up:

Northern—Soules, Carr, V. Goyer, Culkin, Batchelor, Locke, Cousins, F. Jones, De Rushie, Thompson, Carson.

Bluebirds — Barclay, Russell, Wallbridge, D. Jones, G. Goyer, Bovay, P. Green, Day, Casey, McCurdy, B. Green.

Thirteen Nags Go to Post In Rich Belmont

NEW WYORK (AP)—A field of 13 horses, largest since that number started in 1877, may go after a record prize in the $100,000-added Belmont Stakes Saturday at Belmont Park.

The Llangollen Farm's Porterhouse, 1953 champion two-year-old, still is a question mark because of a lack ailment but there seems no question there will be plenty of competitors in the 1½-mile classic.

Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's War of Roses, British-bred winner of the Jersey Stakes, arrived Wednesday.

Also on hand is Chevalion, who won the Kent Stakes last Saturday at Delaware Park for Willis du Pont's Foxcatcher Farm.

Max Hirsch, trainer of the King Ranch, also said he wanted to start the entry of High Gun and the filly Riverina. High Gun won the Peter Pan Handicap at Belmont Saturday, and is the probable favorite in the Belmont, finale of the triple crown for three-year-olds.

Rochester Rookie Hurler Is Brightest New Star Of Chicago White Sox

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

"RED" SWEARS IT'S TRUE!

There is no actual proof that baseball games are won by prayer but an incident that happened the other day has Manager Jack Carson of the Belleville Batas, scratching his carrot-topped noggin. In fact he is considering taking the boys to the kirk before each game. (Not that it would hurt 'em.)

It happened this way.

Connie Lou Carson, pretty three-year-old daughter of the famous or infamous "Red" Carson, brother of the Bata's boss, and Mama Shirley (hope you are feeling better and out of the hospital, "Shirl") was not feeling too good about the weather on the day of the opening game between Toronto Dependables and the Batas.

As a matter of fact, that morning she said to her mother: "God is not very good to Uncle Jack, mommy."

Mrs. Carson, sensing an opportunity, said to Connie, "this would be a good time to catch up with your prayers, dear."

A few minutes later Connie was seen in the living room on her knees in a prayerful attitude.

Later that morning as rain drizzled down and threatened to spoil the show, the sun suddenly broke through the clouds. You know the rest. It was a fine afternoon.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick mother of Dick the Batas' second baseman, hearing Connie Lou's story remarked after a few innings had been played, "Maybe Connie had better pray for a few base hits."

Maybe Connie did. The next time up Fits hit that three-run homer.

Don't forget the collection, boys!

COMES HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

When baseball fans of Belleville and surrounding districts see the mighty American League Indianapolis Clowns' new female second baseman, Miss Connie Morgan, in action against the world colored champion Kansas City Monarchs, at Exhibition Park in Belleville on Monday evening, June 14th, beginning at 8.30 p.m., they will be watching a baseball player already endorsed by two of the major league's biggest stars, Jackie Robinson and Gil Hodges of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Both players had an opportunity to watch, in fact workout with Connie last fall when the young Philadelphia beauty made a trip to Wilmington, Del. to see them in action with Jackie Robinson's baronial estate. Jackie had just come on the playing field when he noticed Connie working out with several players. "What's she doing here?" he asked Hodges, who was standing nearby.

"Her," came the reply, "that girl's really set it!. She throws, hits and fields like no girl player I've ever seen!"

"This I gotta see," said Robinson.

Jackie picked up his glove and asked Connie if she'd like to warm up with him. Eager to get the chance, Connie pounded her glove and proceeded to rifle throws to Robinson as quickly as he made pickups and relayed the ball back to her. Obviously, Jackie was duly impressed for at the end of a 15-minute warmup and turned to Hodges again.

"I believe you're right," he said, "the girl's sure talented."

To further prove she could throw, Jackie took off his mitt and showed a numb paw. "Ow!" he queried "you sure she was throwing at you, Gil?"

Hodges grinned but not nearly as wide as Connie, who felt real proud of her session with Jackie Robinson and company.

FUN TONIGHT

"Lucci" Luccisis, who took over the management of the Northern Electric ladies' softball team, gets his first taste of lakeshore league competition tonight at the Alumite park when the Electrics tussles meet the Trenton town team in a league tussle. "Lucci" has been drilling the girls hard for the opening tilt and feels the squad rates as a par with the rest of the league. Game gets under way at 6.30.

Batas' coach Vern Goyer will send his squad against Bryson Reid's intermediates in an exhibition tilt at the Fair Grounds tonight in preparation for Saturday's important Viaduct Ontario clash with the Toronto Hookings which gets under way at 8.30 at Exhibition Park. The Hookings play an afternoon fixture in Peterborough the same date. The Toronto club whipped the Pétes 13-5 in their last clash, while our side tacked a 14-1 shellacking on them in the only meeting to date.

Leafs' Turn To Take-Over League Lead

By The Associated Press

Toronto Leafs push Rochester Red Wings are fighting for the lead in the International League in a manner that would make a person think that the Governor's cup is at stake, with only a little more than one-third of the season completed.

Since May 21 they have been battling each other for the lead. On that date the Red Wings and the Leafs were virtually deadlocked, and during the last week they have swapped positions practically every day.

Today it's Toronto's turn to be on top following a 4-3 victory over 5-1.

Rochester. But only 12 percentage points separate them from the Red Wings.

Righthander Connie Johnson gave up six hits, struck out nine and walked one as he pitched Toronto to Wednesday night's victory. The win was Johnson's fourth against three losses. Reliefer Bill Connelly was the loser, giving up the winning run in the sixth inning with Mike Goliat's single, a passed ball and Don Griffin's single.

Havana remained ahead of Montreal in their battle for third place, with Jim Melton hurling a four-hitter as the Cuban Sugar Kings defeated the Royals 2-0. Paul Smith, former Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, drove home both runs off loser Ed Roebuck with a double in the third inning and a triple in the seventh.

Syracuse Chiefs moved to within a game and a half of the fourth-place Royals by dropping Buffalo 5-2 for the third straight time.

Bob Keegan Has 9-1 Record In Leading Sox to Loop Lead; Giants Tie 'Bums' in National

By Ben Pheegar

Associated Press Sports Writer

After being mired in the minors for seven years with an achingarm, Bob Keegan, 32, leads the American League in victories today because manager Paul Richards told him to get his arm sore in January instead of June.

The big righthander from Rochester, N.Y., is the brightest new star of the first place Chicago White Sox. He won his ninth game Wednesday night, 9-4, over Philadelphia. He's been beaten only once.

Keegan, a sinker ball artist, came up with a sore arm last year and had to go on the disabled list for 60 days. Last winter Richards ordered Keegan to go to work in the gym. He was fit and ready when the season opened.

GOOD AVERAGE

He has started 11 games, finished nine and has a 2.27 earned run average of 2.27 in 99 innings.

That triumph in Philadelphia, which included home runs by John Groth, Chico Carrasquel and Sherm Lollar, enabled Chicago to hold its game lead over the Cleveland Indians who shaded Washington 1-0. New York defeated Detroit 6-5 and Boston trounced Baltimore 7-4.

The surprising New York Giants drove into a tie with Brooklyn for first place in the National League by routing Johnny Antonelli registered his second straight shutout in beating Milwaukee 7-0. Sal Yvars tripped Brooklyn 3-0. Philadelphia won a pair from Chicago 4-0 and 14-6. Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 4-3 on four home runs.

The Giants moved off to a 1-0 lead against Warren Spahn in the first inning, added a second tally on Antonelli's run-scoring single in the eighth and two more in the ninth on Thomas' sacrifice fly in the ninth.

HADDIX HAD IT

The Dodgers folded before the southpaw slants of Harvey Haddix who joined Sandy Koufax in the nine-game winners in the majors. The victory gave the seventh in succession for the Cardinal star.

The Cubs got 10 hits off Murry Dickson but they couldn't convert them into a single run in their first game loss to Philadelphia. In the nightcap the Phillies won a battle of home runs. Willie Jones hit a pair and Bobby Morgan, Stan Lopata and Granny Hamner got one apiece. Joe Garagiola and Bill Serena, both pinch hitters, homered for Chicago.

Bob Porterfield of the Senators had a no-hitter working until Vic Wertz singled with one out in the seventh and he gave up only four hits all around. Cleveland got the one run of the game. Wertz moved around to score on a single by Dave Philley off reliefer Eddie Yost.

Boston came from behind in the seventh against Baltimore and won in the ninth on a triple by Sammy White after Jackie Jensen singled.

A three-run double by Yogi Berra and a first inning first home run since joining the Yankees led to Detroit's defeat.

Panthers Tram Galt Terriers For First Win

By The Canadian Press

There was no doubt about the winning teams in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Wednesday night. The three games produced 41 runs and two games were shutouts. Each winning team had at least an eight-run margin.

Perhaps the most surprising game was played in Galt where Kitchener Panthers won their first game of the season, trouncing the paw John Sullivan, making his debut this year, was the loser.

Stan Larimer, 19-year-old pitcher who relieved Ed Mills for Oshawa, was credited with the victory in Oakville, Ross Paton, who relieved Mark Pollock with the score tied 2-2, took the loss.

Mrocrek preceded his 10th inning triple with two singles to lead the Oshawa victory. The win boisted Oshawa to first place in the Viaduct standings. George Brabin had a double and two singles for the winners. Bert Gyorgy led Oakville with a pair of singles.

London plays at Brantford in tonight's only Intercounty game.

In Guelph southpaw Jack Cafferty held the home-town Royals to three singles while St. Thomas Elgins piled up a 14-0 victory. Wilmer Fields, former Toronto Maple Leaf outfielder in the International League, threw a five-hitter at the Majors in London, slammed a home run and knocked in three runs to lead Brantford Red Sox to a 9-0 shutout in the league's other game.

VIADUCT WIN

Nick Mrocrcic's triple in the 10th inning and a wild throw gave Oshawa a 3-2 victory over Oakville in a Viaduct League game.

The Panthers combed four Galt pitchers for 18 hits, including two homers and two doubles, to earn their first victory of the season. They were never behind, scoring two runs in the first inning, three in the fourth, six in the fifth and two in the ninth.

Manager Don Gallinger shook up his line-up and introduced three new players—pitcher John Maldovan, first baseman Charlie Wolf and leftfielder Jack Callivan—and the move paid off. Maldovan went the distance to earn his first victory against no losers.

Wolf had a perfect night at bat, smashing a two-run homer, a double and three singles. Ivy Lee hit the other homer for the Panthers.

FIRST START

Bill Hanrahan, making his first start this season for the Terriers, was relieved after four innings and took the defeat.

In Guelph Cafferty, a junior hockey star with Toronto St. Michael's College Majors last year, had a one-hitter going until the ninth inning. The victory was his second in three decisions.

Don Butler, Elgin leftfielder, hit the only home run of the game and had four runs batted in. Gilles Casanova, had four hits, including a double and triple, and brother Bruno had three singles, three RBI's and three stolen bases.

Earl Hannel, Guelph starter took the loss in the first round appearance of the season.

Fields struck out three and walked only two to hold the Majors spellbound in London. Luther Clifford was also an important man in the victory. The Brantford catcher hit three times in four trips to the plate and belted the only other home run of the game.

THIRD FOR FIELDS

The victory was the third for Fields. He has no losses. Southpaw John Sullivan, making his debut this year, was the loser.

Stan Larimer, 19-year-old pitcher who relieved Ed Mills for Oshawa, was credited with the victory in Oakville, Ross Paton, who relieved Mark Pollock with the score tied 2-2, took the loss.

Mrocrek preceded his 10th inning triple with two singles to lead the Oshawa victory. The win boisted Oshawa to first place in the Viaduct standings. George Brabin had a double and two singles for the winners. Bert Gyorgy led Oakville with a pair of singles.

London plays at Brantford in tonight's only Intercounty game.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Pitching—Harvey Haddix, Cardinals, became the first lefthander to beat Brooklyn, allowing the Dodgers only three singles in winning his seventh straight game for St. Louis and his ninth of the season, 3-0.

Batting—Al Dark, Giants, got two doubles and two singles in four times up as New York beat Milwaukee 7-0 and moved into a first-place tie with Brooklyn in the National League.

DANCER SCRATCHED

ASCOT, England (AP) — Alfred Vanderbilt's Native Dancer was scratched Wednesday from the King George and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot today at noon. No reason was given, but Native Dancer was shut out of training recently due to a foot bruise.

Marciano 'Never Felt Better' Thinks Fight Will Not Go '15'

By GAYLE TALBOT

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (CP) — Rocky Marciano, having been asked all the questions the reporters can think up concerning his engagement with Ezzard Charles at Yankee Stadium, found being urged to volunteer a few observations of his own.

Rocky, who enjoys everything connected with a training camp, including the questions, just lies on his bed and smiles happily and says he doesn't really believe there's anything he can add. He feels great—never felt better—and thinks he'll stop Charles short of the scheduled 15 rounds.

At this stage, he says, he wake up some mornings and wish it was the day of the fight! In other words, does he feel some mornings that he has reached the absolute peak of co-ordination and would like to get at the man who wants to take his title away from him?

"Sure. That's natural. There are mornings like that. But it's just that I feel I'd like to be through with the training and have another fight behind me. I always feel that I'm ready to fight."

But what about the danger of going stale? After all, to-day he has worked a total of 174 rounds against an exceptionally able set of sparring partners. Rocky gave it some thought.

"I've heard about it," he said, "but I've honestly never felt that I might be getting stale. They say some fighters all of a sudden feel they can't break a sweat, but I've always sweated good."

In the next room of the farm house where Rocky lives and trains almost endlessly, his manager, Al Weill, was laughing off reports that his wonderful meal ticket is planning to turn cute against Charles.

"Why should he change his style?" Al asked. "After all, we ain't the ones to worry. We've got the title and Charles is the one that's got to come and get it. Rocky's a better fighter than he was when he knocked out Roland La Starza last September, but that don't mean he's trying to be a boxer.

"I'd say it's this way, Rocky's got a little more pride in being the champion. He's trying all the time to be a little better fighter, to throw his punches cleaner and not to mine as much as he used to. I think you'll notice he throws his punches a little faster and cleaner this time than he did against La Starza."

Stan Leonard Is Doubtful Starter In International Golf Tournament

By GERRY LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's Hopkins Trophy team, joyous over Stan Leonard's torrid six-under-par practice round Tuesday, was down on the dumps today as it met the United States in the third annual international golf tournament.

Leonard, the long-driving professional from Vancouver's Marine Drive Club who set a competitive course record in the Hopkins event at Montreal Beaconsfield last year, was a doubtful starter in this afternoon's opening round of the three-day competition.

An allergy rash over his hands and forearms kept him out of Wednesday's practice sessions and a doctor was to determine today if Leonard was fit to play.

MATCH PLAY

The power-packed seven-man teams, selected by the Professional Golfers Associations in the United States and Canada, will compete in match play over a par-72 course at the Mississauga Golf and Country Club in suburban Port Credit.

Besides Leonard, the Canadian line-up includes team captain Henry Martell of Edmonton, Montreal's Bill Kerr and Jules Huot, Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Mississauga pro Gordie Brydson and impertinable Bobby Locke of South Africa, an honorary member of the CPGA.

Last year's final tally was United States 21 points, Canada 13.

The pairings for today's 18-hole round: Burkemo vs. Martell, Kroll vs. Locke, Douglas vs. Leonard, Oliver vs. Fletcher, Harper vs. Kerr and Furgol vs. Huot.

SPORT IN BRIEF

TY MAJOR LEAGUES

TORONTO (CP)—The CBC said Wednesday it will "pipe in" major league baseball games from the United States for television stations at London, Kitchener and Hamilton. The broadcasts will not be broadcast from Toronto.

The program — "the baseball game of the week"—will be available for broadcasting each Saturday morning starting June 19 up to and including Aug. 21 when football telecasting begins.

American and National League games are included. The first will be New York at Chicago in the American League.

RETURN TEPE

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts have returned linebacker Louis Tepe to the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League Argo coach Frank Clair said Wednesday. Clair said the move was made to maintain the friendly relations that have existed between the two teams. Tepe was signed by the Argos last winter.

Clair and Pittsburgh had steered a number of players to Argos and it was felt it wouldn't be fair to keep Tepe when he was under contract to the Steelers.

WINS TOURNAMENT

TILLSONBURG (CP)—Bill Watson of Woodstock won the annual Sledelbazer invitational golf tournament for the second straight year with a two-under-par 68 here Wednesday. A field of 125 golfers competed. Watson was four strokes up on his closest competitors Moe Norman of Kitchener and Tom Woodall of London, who each scored a 70.

Rocky, Ezzard In Shape For Big Battle

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—"I'm ready to go right now," said heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano Wednesday as he boxed another four rounds.

The champion, who plans to spar only three more times before his title defence against Ezzard Charles June 17, said "I feel real good. I wish the fight was tonight so I could get it over with and get back to the family."

At Monticello, N.Y., Charles was laid off from training Wednesday and ordered not to box today.

"Charles is in tip-top shape," said co-manager Tom Tannaz. "He is sharp, his legs and wind are fine. We expect to bring him to his peak by Tuesday so he will be right on edge by fight time Thursday night."

Soccer Results

The Northern Electric entry in the Bay of Quinte Soccer League racked up a 5-0 win over the Trenton Merchants last evening. The goal scorers were Carter, Gemmel and D. Robertson. Northern's recreation field was the site of action.

Harry Lumley Second Winner Bickell Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Harry Lumley, 31-year-old netminder of Toronto Maple Leafs, has been named the year's winner of the J. P. Bickell Memorial Cup, it was announced Wednesday.

The 200-pound native of Owen Sound, Ont., is the second winner of the trophy. Captain Ted Kennedy was the winner of the $10,000 cup for the 1952-53 season.

The trophy is awarded to a Leaf player "at such times and for such merit as may be designated and determined by the board of directors" of Maple Leaf Gardens Limited.

WON VEZINA TROPHY

Lumley won the Vezina Trophy last season as the netminder with the best goals-against average in the National Hockey League. He was a big factor helping Toronto gain a playoff berth. He missed only one game and allowed only 174 goals in 59 games—a 1.85 goals-against average a game. He also posted 13 shutouts.

He will receive a 14-karat gold miniature of the Bickell trophy. The miniature is worth $500.

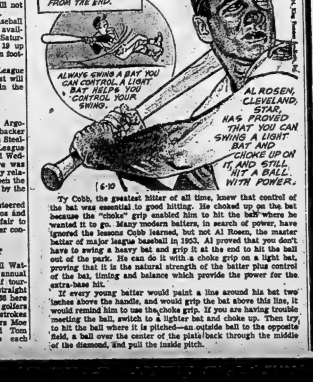
The trophy was donated by the gardens in memory of J. P. Bickell Canadian financier who was president of the Gardens from 1931-37.

Billy Kilgore Gives Durando Decisive Beating

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Billy Kilgore, a 2-1 underdog gave Enzo Durando a decisive beating Wednesday night to win by a technical knockout in the 10th round.

Kilgore opened a cut over Durando's left eye in the fifth and by the end of the ninth the blood was streaming from the cut so badly that a Miami Beach boxing commission doctor refused to allow Durando to come out for the 10th.

Kilgore, a Miamian who went into the fight as a replacement for Jake Lamotta, weighed 165¾. Durando, from Bayonne, N.J., weighed 159¾.



In addition to television money, Kilgore had the added incentive of a possible crack at middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson. The International Boxing Club said Wednesday night's winner might be given a non-title fight with Olson in San Francisco July 7.

HONOR MEIGHEN

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservatives Wednesday night honored their former party leader, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, at a dinner celebrating his approaching 80th birthday. The former prime minister, who will mark the birthday next Wednesday at his home in Toronto, was the guest of Progressive Conservative members of the Commons and Senate and their wives.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Director of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball School

Ty Cobb, the greatest hitter of all time, knew that control of the bat was essential to good hitting. He choked up on the bat because the "choke" grip enabled him to hit the ball where he wanted it to go. Many modern batters, in search of power, have ignored the lesson Cobb learned, but Al Rosen, the master batter of major league baseball in 1953, Al proved that you don't have to swing a heavy bat and grip it at the end to hit the ball out of the park. He can do it with a choke grip on a light bat, proving that it is the natural strength of the batter plus control of the bat, timing and balance which provide the power for the extra-base hit.

If every young batter would paint a line around his bat two inches above the handle, and would grip the bat above this line, it would remind him to use the choke grip. If you are having trouble meeting the ball, switch to a lighter bat and choke up. Then try to hit the ball where it is pitched—an outside ball to the opposite field, a ball over the center of the plate back through the middle of the diamond, and pull the inside pitch.

Minor Softball

Booth TV's pee-wee team came up with a 13-3 victory over the Rotary Club in a league game played at the fireball last night.

Davis hurled for Booth's, with Dalzard doing the receiving, and allowed 11 hits, got one on strikes with a trio of walks. Lewis and Woods were the Rotary battery with Lewis banged around for 15 hits. He fanned three while walking seven.

MacKeen had two doubles and a triple in three trips to the plate for the winners, while Stinefield poked out a homer and a brace of singles in four at bats. Lewis had a home run for Rotary.

THORNHILL MISS WINS

TORONTO (CP)—Miss Shirley Woodley of the host Thornhill Ladies' Golf and Tennis Club, won the 36th annual Toronto and District ladies' golf championship Wednesday with a 36-hole total of 153. She fired a two-over-par 73 Wednesday, and a 78 Tuesday.

Mary Gay of Kitchener Westmount also shot a 153 but she was not eligible for the championship.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

VICTORIA (CP) — The Victoria Daily Times Wednesday celebrated its 70th consecutive year of publication by printing interviews with the only three people on southern Vancouver Island who were born in the same month as the paper, June 8, 1884, and are still living here. Robert J. Raskin of Halifax, president of The Canadian Press, sent a congratulatory message.

ASK UNIFORM POLICY

MONTREAL (CP) — Development of a uniform Commonwealth policy on trade with Communist countries will be proposed here at the congress of the Federation of Chambers of Commerce of the British Empire. The Canadian Chamber of Commerce will make the proposal at the week-long congress to be opened Monday by Governor-General Massey.

CANADIANA BEATEN

LIKE FATHER! LIKE DAUGHTER!

An old hand at stage appearances is Sheila Carter, 11 year old daughter of cowboy vocalist Wilf Carter, who will be appearing with her father and sister Carol at the Belleville Memorial Arena on June 16. The show, billed as the finest family attraction on tour in Canada, is being presented by the Belleville Kiwanis Club. Sheila and Carol have proven themselves to be terrific entertainers — winning the hearts of thousands — repeatedly stealing the show and surprising everyone with their ability to sing and yodel in harmony with their famous daddy. After practicing dancing four nights a week for five years, the girls are credited, by dancing experts, as perfect in this department, too. Adult admission will be $1.50, children 50 cents. Following the program, a dance will be held for a small additional charge of 50 cents.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The mistakes of a pair in a duplicate bridge contest are not a loss only, to themselves. The sins they commit are visited upon the entire generation of competitors of their current opponents.

You see, a pair sitting north and south compares its gains and losses with all the other south-north pairs; and not with east-west pairs. So, see what happens when an east-west pair makes a mistake?

The mistake helps the north-south pair currently against them. With that help this north-south pair has an advantage over all the other north-south pairs that play this identical deal.

Such a tragedy occurred in this tournament deal:

	NORTH
	♠ A Q 8 6 4
	♣ K J 8 3
WEST		EAST
♠ 9 7 5		♠ J 2
♥ A Q J 4 2		♥ K 9
♦ A K 10 9		♦ 6 3 2
♣ 5		♣ Q 9 6 4
	SOUTH
	♠ K 10 3
	♥ 10 7 6 3
	♣ 10 7 2

At most tables, east-west bid and made four in a red suit. At some tables north-south bid and made three spades. At a few tables north-south sacrificed at four spades and went down one.

These things happened at all the tables except one. The lone exception was where south gambled with a bid of three notrump and east-west let him. Not only that. They let him make it.

The south spade lead was diamond king. East carelessly threw on it the deuce. So, west switched to the lead of heart four. Which could still have defeated the contract plenty.

But east foolishly feared losing the king and played the nine. South grabbed this trick with the ten and took nine more tricks by winning the club suit in the right direction.

This north-south pair thus got a gift of the highest score in the deal. It gave them the title. It helped them barely nose out a more deserving pair whose bidding was perfect.

For all I know, the east-west pair that made a mess of it is still alive. There ain't no justice, seems like.

Movie Choice

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I Love Lucy" is starting its fourth year of programs, and shows no signs of slackening its pace as the No. 1 television show of the United States.

On most audience ratings, carrot-topped Lucille Ball has been able to shut out tight-lipped Joe Friday of "Dragnet." Her supremacy in the surveys has been gained on almost since the series started. The popularity of the show appears to have been unaffected by the discomfiture of Miss Ball registered as a Communist voter years ago.

Having witnessed the inception of the show, I dropped by to see for a progress report when the players started their fifth year for the fourth season. It will be seen next September. Lucy was up to her usual shenanigans.

SHOW WASN'T CHANGED

The show did not appear to have changed in the three years of prosperity. There was the same frantic movement to get everything rehearsed for the evening performance. There was the same earnest cooperation and striving for perfection. One thing that distinguished "I Love Lucy" (and "Dragnet," too) from its competitors is its complete professionalism. The laughs may not always be there when expected, but everything is done with expert craftsmanship.

"The Long, Long Trailer," which Lucille and Desi Arnaz made last summer was a hit, and I asked if they planned any more movies.

"Not this summer," Lucille replied. "If we did a picture, it would leave us no time off."

Her husband is one of the busiest men in Hollywood. Besides "I Love Lucy," his company films "Our Miss Brooks" and the Danny Thomas and Ray Bolger shows. The firm, Desilu, has sold a new series, "The Artful Miss Dodger," with June Havoc and has three others warming in the bullpen.

AT THE CAPITOL — Abbott and Costello appear in "The Naughty Nineties" a showboat load of laughs and lovelies opening Friday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program fanfare is Annie Oakley wielder to wackier than ever before! Lee Corey and Hantz Von with the Bowery Boys in "Mr. Muggs Steps Out". See both on our wide panoramic screen.

AT THE McCARTHY.

You Won't Want to Leave 'Maggie'.

They say that the greatest clowns are those who have a genuine sense of pathos as well as a brilliant sense of comedy. If that goes for clowns then it should be applied to films also.

It certainly fits the new Ealing Studios production, "The Maggie" — a splendid comedy which touches your heart as well as your funny bone, now playing at the Odeon McCarthy theatre.

To make it, Alexander Mackendrick the director took his unit on location to Scotland, to the Clyde and to the canals of the Western Isles. They came back with a picture which will raise Ealing's reputation to still new heights.

"The Maggie" brings Hollywood star Paul Douglas to Britain to star as an American Airline Executive who finds that a precious cargo belonging to him has been put aboard one of the "puffer" boats, the small untidy craft plying between the Clyde and the remote villages. His efforts to remove the cargo and place it on board a more respectable ship—and the startlegens of the wily "puffer" crew, fill some of the most amusing and touching screen time for the past ten years.

Douglas's performance is nothing short of perfect, and contrasts effectively with the "canny" attitude of the Scots who baffle him at every turn.

As the "Skipper" of the ancient "Maggie", Alex Mackenzie is a lovable character, retaining our sympathy even when his actions are, to say the least, dubious. Al 67 Mackenzie breaks into films as a shining star. He is supported by a rag-taggle crew — Abe Barker, Jimmy Copeland and Tommy Kearins. Young Kearins — a fifteen-year-old discovery, has one of the picture's most important parts, and gives it the mischievousness it demands.

In a film noted for outstanding performances, Hubert Gregg will also be remembered as his portrait of the unfortunate assistant who causes Douglas all the bother in the first place, is a masterpiece of ineffectuality.

And above all, in this captivating picture, there is the "Maggie" herself, a battered hulk of a boat who succeeds in retaining her dignity even when sitting askew on unfriendly mudbank.

She deserves the title role.

AT THE BELLE—As sweet and as exciting as a spring kiss aptly describes this amorous climax between Elizabeth Taylor and Peter Finch, who co-star with Dana Andrews in Paramount's brand new powerful Technicolor romantic drama "Elephant Walk" now showing at the Belle Theatre. "Elephant Walk" is set against the background of the dangerous and exciting jungles of far-off Ceylon. "Chinese Circus", a clever Vaudefilm, in color, is a special added attraction.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for Friday, June 11, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Every day need not be a highly successful one. Many periods are for thinking, planning, calculating, and today could be one of these — to your advantage.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — "A little with contentment" may be the best pattern to keep in mind as you achieve and reckon now. Showy gains are not of necessity a sign of accomplishment. Often we advance more quickly in a modest pace.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Just the right time to contain enthusiasms and aspirations within a wise and reasonable sphere. Nothing is to be gained by plunging into too many activities, risking too many changes. Keep smilin'.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Advice to Gemini could be helpful to you now. Sound planning and forethought could very well turn unpromising conditions into really productive situations. Try!

July 23 to August 22 (Leo) — Good judgment, calm thinking and a conscientious, cheerful outlook will put you on a sound basis. Farming, gardening, trades and other wholesome interests can gain by managed wisely.

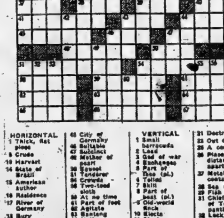
August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Don't overload with tasks or the burdens of others. Familiar duties, household affairs can benefit under your clever management. Don't worry if you cannot have all you almost for.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A better day than you may realize at first glance. So look well, and think well before making decisions or criticising.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Be careful not to start or continue things you really don't wish to do. And where you can be a peacemaker, do be one — not neglecting duty or disregarding high principles, however.

November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Don't let anyone deter you from fulfilling obligations. And don't be a party to anything which is not constructive. Check, double-check.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — No especially inauspicious aspects, but you may have to take a few extra precautions to prevent errors, Don't spread rumors.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — You born during the few days before and after the change of this Zodiacal Sign: think twice before answering, accepting. For all: Show strength in calmness; have cheer.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Do unto others — you know the age old remark. And it pertains to all today. Give a thought to next week's program now. Eat sensibly.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with alertness, perception, mental vitality, tireless ambition and extreme sensitiveness. But since this Sign is a changeable one, these traits vary at times. It is wise to avoid strain and fretting. You can accomplish more in a life time than many, but may also waste more time shifting about. Shrewdness and a quick grasp of public needs fit you for executive work, once you put your mind to it. Birthdate of: John Constable, English landscape painter; Richard Strauss, German composer.

Ivanhoe

IVANHOE. — Mr. Norman Scott, a pressman with the Wilson Publishing Company, Toronto, while on a week's holiday at Moira Lake, was guided by Mr. Jas. Serrao of Ivanhoe, on a fishing trip to the lakes near Bancroft. They were in possession of a 13-lb. lake trout and two smaller ones. Mr. Scott is very much impressed with their good luck and likewise the beautiful scenery and lakes, taking many pictures of his trip, home to show friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rod Caldwell of Newmarket, spent a few days with P. M. Wood at Moira Lake.

Mrs. Fred Reid, Victoria, B.C., and her sister, Miss Mina George, Parkhill, Ontario, were recent guests with M. and Mrs. Arthur Wood.

Mr. William MacMillan is spending a few weeks in Kingston, with Mr. and Mrs. William Smith.

Mr. George Thrasher, Fort Nelsin, B.C., who has been visiting in this district, has returned home. He was accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Gaines.

Miss Norma Jean Stephens is visiting at the home of Mr. Shields, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Whitehead and children, Phone Line 10-r-2, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lockhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keeble, ... and wife of Stirling, spent the week-end with Mr. Frank Reid and Mr. Stanley Reid.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mitz and family spent Sunday in Apsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Borland, of Peterborough, were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Wilson Seeley.

Brief Presented

CONFER ON SECURITY

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Hydro chairman Robert Saunders conferred Tuesday with two RCMP officers on security measures at Niagara Falls for the forthcoming tour of the Duchess of Kent. At Niagara, the duchess will examine various Hydro developments and on Aug. 30 will officially open the new Sir Adam Beck No. 2 generating station.

A brief asked the government action on five proposals:

1. Amendment to the Unemployment Insurance Act to extend payment to those who have exhausted their benefits.

2. Federal assistance to municipalities in meeting public assistance costs.

3. A review of immigration policy.

4. Prevention of dumping to under-cut Canadian-made goods.

5. Elimination of the excise tax on lower-priced automobiles.

HEARING DATE SET

QUEBEC (CP) — Solicitor-General Rivard said Wednesday night Wilbert Coffin, charged in the shooting of three United States bear hunters, will be arraigned in Court of Queen's Bench on Tuesday, June 22. A trial date will be fixed by the presiding judge.

HAD INDIGESTION, HEADACHES

"Full of Aches and Pains" ... Tells of Grand Relief

"Felt Completely Run-Down" says This Man. Tried Many Things. Sore, Painful, Had Gas, Cramps, could Not Sleep. Tells How Systena Helped Him.

The thousands of letters that come from men and women all over the county offer convincing proof of the good results obtained by taking Systena Herbal Compound. So many letters are constantly received that it is impossible to publish all of them. But here is the recent experience of Mr. William Sidall, 7 Pegler St., London, Ontario, who writes:

I Felt Sick All Over

"For several years I was troubled with rheumatic pains in my limbs, joints and muscles. This condition grew worse until I became confined to bed. I felt so sore, and I couldn't get my proper rest. I had no appetite, and what food I ate my stomach was so bad I would have indigestion, sour cramps and heartburn after almost every Meal.

Tried Many Things

"I had tried just about everything I heard of but it got no relief. Then I finally got hold of Systena and I can truthfully say that it gave me the first good results I had from any medicine. Aches and pains are now relieved. I can eat well and have improved my daytime afterwards and I sleep like a log at night. Systena has done me nothing but good. I feel that my health is improving now and my nerves are greatly relieved. I can truthfully recommend this fine medicine to any one suffering as I did."

Has Helped Thousands

Thousands of men and women suffering from Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, poor appetite and general run-down condition, say they have found grand relief by taking Systena. Why not let this Pure Herbal Medicine help you too? It is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

Systena is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

TWO OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES, DIE IN WELL

Yugoslav Refugee Faces Charge Of Killing Woman

Charged With Knife-Slaying Of Woodstock Housewife

Never Tell Lie Father Told Son Alas, He Did Not

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Leonard Barber has instructed his son Ronald to tell the truth at all times, even if it hurts. Thursday the son did—and it hurt the father.

A state conservation officer heard a shot in a deer area near Muskegon. Investigating he came upon Ronald and asked the four-year-old if he knew who fired the shot.

"Daddy saw a deer and shot at it," the youngster replied. His father is serving 10 days in jail and must pay a $50 fine for shooting deer out of season.

Gruenther Asks NATO Countries For More Men

OTTAWA (CP) — Gen. Alfred Gruenther, supreme commander allied powers in Europe, said Thursday he is asking members of the North Atlantic Alliance for larger military forces.

However, in a brief interview after arrival at Rockcliffe airport, he did not say how much larger.

A defence department official said Canada so far has not been asked to increase NATO contingents. This country now maintains an air division and infantry brigade in Europe and would be ready for north Atlantic duty.

However, it supports the plan, Gen. Gruenther may ask the Canadian government for more forces. The government's view has been that Canada now is doing all it can afford.

The American general told reporters that the West's military forces are not strong enough to meet a Russian attack in Europe.

If Russia made an all-out attack on the West this year, it would score initial successes, he said, but meet eventual defeat.

Presbyterians Assail Grant To R. C. Church

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates to the 80th Presbyterian General Assembly said Thursday the $15,000 federal government grant to a Roman Catholic church at Deep River, 36 miles northwest of Ottawa, is "a step in the direction of providing state support for one particular group."

At the closing session, commissioners voted in support of a brief presented by Dr. W. Stanford Reid on the Montreal presbytery.

The brief stated that the government gave the grant to the parish when Roman Catholic worshipers rejected the government's $150,000 all-denominational church at Deep River. The church was for workers at the nearby Chalk River atomic energy plant.

The assembly decided to notify the Roman Council of Churches its protest.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Cool air from northern Ontario invaded the lower lakes early Thursday evening and brought welcome relief from the humidity of the past few days. Sunny, cooler weather is forecast for most of Ontario today. A developing cyclone of low pressure over South Dakota threatens to bring rain into Northern Ontario, and increasing temperatures and rising temperatures into southwestern Ontario on Saturday.

WOODSTOCK (CP)—A 37-year-old unemployed Yugoslav refugee, Velibor (Bill) Rojicic, was charged with murder this morning following Thursday's supper-hour, knife-slaying of a 34-year-old Woodstock mother.

The woman, Mrs. Florence Boyd, died seconds after a savage attack. She had deep stab-wounds in her chest and neck.

Mrs. Boyd and her husband accepted Rojicic into their modest seven room home a week ago "because they felt sorry for him," police said this morning. He has been jobless for three months.

Detective Morton, 23, a recently-ruptured Korean war veteran, was upon Rojicic and asked the four-year-old if he knew who fired the shot.

"Mother Boyd said he heard screams as he was passing by but thought at first it was the family quarrel. Then some women told him a man with a knife was in the apartment and he climbed through a screen and saw him. He tore the screen down open and tried to stop the man in the kitchen. When he got in he saw Mrs. Boyd collapsed on the kitchen floor.

BLOOD ALL OVER

The man threatened him with a knife.

"I thought of taking him on but decided to go out for a club or something," Morton said. "She was lying on the floor and there was blood all over the place and me."

Mrs. Roy T. Brooks, a close friend and neighbor of Mrs. Boyd, the next-door upstairs apartment, said she heard Mrs. Boyd screaming and ran down to the side kitchen door. She managed to get the door open and heard Mrs. Boyd yelling for help.

"I was behind her stashing at her with a great big knife," Mrs. Brooks said. "The little boy was in the room at the time."

Later the man was standing at the door of the police office. She there were children in the apartment and she asked if the little boy was there. She asked if she could get the child and the man said he would bring him out.

Mrs. Boyd is survived by her husband, a daughter, three sons and her parents.

Brantford Man Given 8 Years For Robbery

CORNWALL (CP) — Nicholas Ingram, 26, of Brantford, was sentenced Thursday to eight years in penitentiary for armed robbery of the Bank of Montreal here last April 2. A companion, Arthur Ferris, 25, of Brantford, got a sentence of to nine months in reformatory on the same charge.

Ferris was convicted by a general sessions jury which deliberated 20 minutes before recommending a guilty verdict.

Earlier, Justice Mitchell, 30, of Cornwall pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced to five years.

Victim of the robbery was Gaspard Martel, 53-year-old bank worker who was returning to work after cashing pay cheques at a downtown bank for the Dandelion Canadian Club attended.

Two-Year-Old Wanders Four Days, Is Found Weeping Near Cemetery

PORT MOUTON, N. S. (CP)—After wandering in a big circle in the rugged woodland of this South Shore area for the last four days and nights, a two-year-old girl was weeping and weak from exposure, was found today, less than half a mile from his home.

Francis Burgess was on his way to work this morning through a short-cut path skirting a cemetery on the outskirts of the little fishing village when he heard a child weeping. He parted the underbrush and found Pamela Burgess after his long ordeal and bearing scratches from bushes but apparently in otherwise good health.

Thursday his mother had washed and dressed the little girl before saying confidently he would be home soon.

A preliminary medical report said Tony, who hasn't yet started to talk, is suffering exposure but will be discharged from the hospital shortly.

Hundreds of fishermen had helped RCMP in a gigantic hunt for Tony who disappeared a few hours before he was to have been wed found by a party for his second birthday.

ARMED KIDNAPPER WITH $75,000 RANSOM SOUGHT

Woman Snatched In Front Beauty Parlor

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A giant police force combing the rugged Superstition mountains today pieced fresh tracks of an armed kidnap-per early today.

The Pinal county sheriff's office reported that search parties came across tracks following a power line and headed back toward a main highway, between Apache Junction and Florence Junction. Roadblocks are being rushed to the area.

The trail was lost Thursday night by a heavy local movie of planes, patrol cars, and ground parties seeking the abductor of Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith who was seized outside a beauty parlor Wednesday afternoon and released Thursday after a $75,000 ransom was paid.

The 29-year-old wife of a wealthy Phoenix pipe and steel company executive was unharmed.

Her ordeal ended when her husband, Herbert, struggled up a hill in the Superstitions and handed $75,000 in $100, $50, $20 and $10 bills to the kidnapper.

The kidnapper picked up the valise containing the ransom and vanished into the brush. He was carrying a rifle and a revolver.

SEARCH STARTED

With Mrs. Smith safe at home with her husband and two children, FBI agents and Pinal and local officers circled the area where the ransom was collected. Road blocks were thrown up. Deputies threaded through the rugged country with bloodhounds.

The searching parties maintained communication with each other by walkie-talkie radio.

Mrs. Smith told officers that her kidnapper had said he was dying of cancer and "pulled the job so I can have one last fling."

HID IN CAR

She told police that when she came out of the beauty parlor Wednesday a stranger man with a gun in his hand forced her to find a basis of agreement, but we are led to the inescapable conclusion that to do so at the present time would be dishonest."

Four Ontario Forest Fires Still Not Fully Controlled

TORONTO (CP)—Four of the 18 forest fires in Ontario were still not completely under control early today but there was no immediate danger to any communities, J. C. Dillon, supervisor of fire control for the province said this morning.

Mr. Dillon said the two most serious fires, one covering about 1,000 acres and another 100 to 150 acres, are southwest of the White River and out of control.

A total of 450 firefighters equipped with aircraft, bulldozers, pumpers, and bucketbrigades are fighting the conflagrations around the province.

The two other fires not yet under control are in the Kapuskasing area where 3,000 to 4,000 acres of jackpine, tamarack and hardwood north of the Calstock-Kearat district have been burned out.

Mr. Dillon said the fire north of Calstock did not move during the night but that the wind had shifted from north to east which has forced the firefighters to move their site of operations.

Rain is forecast for early Saturday morning which he hoped will help quell the flames.

Fires reported in the province today: White River, 3; Sioux Lookout, 2; Kenora, 1; Port Arthur, 2; Geraldton, 1; Cochrane, 2; Chapleau, 3.

Fires under control were extinguished in the last 24 hours.

Canadian Spokesman Urges Parley Face Facts of Failure

GENEVA (Reuters) — Chester Ronning, chief Canadian delegate to the 18-nation Korean talks here, said today it would be better "squarely to face the facts of our disagreement and acknowledge them than to delude ourselves with false hopes."

At the end of a long, detailed speech rejecting Communist plans for Korea unification, Ronning warned the conference against leading "the people of the world to believe there is agreement when there is no agreement."

Nonning, Canadian minister to Norway and Far Eastern affairs expert, has been leader of the Canadian delegation. External Affairs Minister Pearson left for Canada several weeks ago.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov last week outlined five basic points on which he said both sides were agreed.

"We like the idea of trying to

GENEVA (AP)—Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Molotov meet privately today or Saturday to decide what to do next about the deadlock threatening the Korea peace talks.

The British secretary suggested the meeting with the Russian Thursday, admitting that the nine-party parley might as well concede failure and go home unless it can narrow EastWest differences without further delay.

Molotov showed no evidence that either side will make the concessions required for agreement.

The Eden - Molotov discussions are expected to consider three possibilities:

1. That the talks should continue in semi-public meetings, such as the last three days, which would allow the fullest publicity to the proceedings.

2. That the negotiations should be continued in private, with the parties formally reported to withhold information from the press. The conference has held a dozen such meetings but information has always leaked out.

3. That the conference should arrange talks by smaller groups or by the two principal opponents, such as the meetings now going on between the representatives of the two military commands in the Indo-China war.

GOVT. REJECTS SEPARATE BODY TO BROADCAST

Revenue Minister Turns Down Idea in House

OTTAWA (CP) — The government again has rejected demands for a separate body to regulate broadcasting in Canada.

Revenue Minister McCann turned down the idea in the Commons Thursday night and also announced that a second television outlet has been authorized for the Ottawa-Hull area, now served by the CBC's station here which broadcasts one-quarter of its time in French.

Dr. McCann, who reports to parliament for the publicly-owned CBC, said the two Ottawa outlets means the government's policy of having at least two major centres of population to the CBC remains unchanged. The new Ottawa station will broadcast in French.

The CBC had television stations on the air in Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. A Moncton station is operating in Halifax about the year's end.

REJECT SUGGESTION

The Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties demanded a separate regulatory body when broadcasting debate began last week. The suggestion, made previously at different times by the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters and other groups, has been consistently rejected.

The second television outlet for the Ottawa-Hull district is understood to have been decided at a cabinet meeting a few hours before Dr. McCann made his announcement in the Commons.

The transmitter for the new outlet will be housed in the building now under construction for station CBOT. It likely will not be on the air before the fall.

Missing Child Is Found Safe

TORONTO (CP) — Holly Miller, 11, object of an overnight search by police, was found safe today at her grandmother's home.

Her parents reported her missing Thursday night when she did not return from a bicycle ride around the east-end Riverdale park area.

Police spent the night and part of today checking the banks of the Riverdale zoo section and searching ravines along the Don river.

BABY-SITTERS IDLE

CALGARY (CP)—The baby-sitting business is feeling the pinch of recession here. Some baby sitters' agencies say they have closed down and others have reduced their staffs. "Married couples are staying home more," said one bureau chief.

Trade Minister Says Agreement In Sugar Cartel

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Thursday that the International Sugar Agreement constitutes an international cartel but among sugar-producing countries.

He told the commons that Canada does not like to be a member of a cartel, but signing the agreement is not violating conscience because there seemed to be no possibility and several advantages.

Mr. Howe described the agreement as "a stabilization measure" for J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West) who represents a sugar beet growing district in southwestern Ontario.

Mr. Murphy asked about one section of the agreement whereby singled out Canada and said that as a member it could not enter sugar-trading agreements or accept any sugar exporting country outside the Commonwealth.

FREE TO BUY

Mr. Howe said Canada is free to buy sugar from any member of the agreement. The agreement had set maximum and minimum prices of $4.35 and $3.95 per hundredweight for raw sugar and agreed on controlled acreages.

The maximum price was quite reasonable and was a protection for consumers in Canada. The minimum price was a protection for Canadian producers of sugar beets who had suffered severe loss from abnormally low prices for cane sugar.

Canada had no special arrangements with any producing country. The government was out of the sugar business and Canadian refineries could buy raw sugar wherever they pleased.

SEA-GOING FIREMEN

LYTHAM, England (CP)—Firemen went to sea in lifeboats to fight a blaze in Percy's Leigh, an old wooden lighhouse at the estuary of the River Ribble near Blackpool.

Howe Predicts No Trade War With States

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe expressed a qualified view Thursday that Canada will have no trade war with the United States.

But he said it would be extremely difficult for the U.S. to secure approval from Congress for any new export proposals to relieve tariffs and generally embarks on new steps to reduce imports.

Mr. Howe said Canada's export year, major decisions hang in the balance with opening a trade debate in the Commons. "To a large extent these will decide whether or not we have a trade war but they will be maintained and expanded further.

"If the U.S. is in a position to sponsor actively the expansion of trade and to supplement this policy with appropriate legislation, there can be little doubt that the way will be open to the further expansion of trade.

MAY BE DIFFICULT

"On the other hand, if the measures to reduce tariffs" recommended by Congress are not implemented, and if steps to restrict imports are adopted, it will be indeed difficult to look to the future with confidence."

Opposition members had warned that Canada was "putting all her eggs in one basket" by carrying on heavy trade with the U.S., but Mr. Howe said he is getting tired of opposition critics denouncing the U.S. as a trade colossus.

Harold Fraser (PC — Toronto Eglinton) disagreed with Mr. Howe that there is no cause for alarm in Canada's foreign trade. The government, he said, had become too smug and complacent in efforts to help producers sell abroad.

CLOSE VOTE

CAMBRIDGE, England (CP)—A motion that "the British Empire is declining; let it fall" was defeated by 167 votes to 42 in the Cambridge Union Society.

Bloomfield Man Dies In Attempt To Save Plumber

Bert Prior Falls Into Water C. Murney Tries to Save Him

BLOOMFIELD (Special) — Bert Prior, 60, Picton plumber, and Clifford Murney, 45, Bloomfield garage mechanic, died in a well here today. Their bodies were later recovered, but it was not immediately known whether their deaths were the result of drowning or of asphyxiation by natural gas.

It was gas that was the real cause of the tragedy, overcoming Mr. Prior. Mr. Murney died in a rescue attempt, climbing down a twenty-foot well on the Gus Turpin service station property on the main street of this village, twenty miles south of Belleville. The accident occurred shortly before 11 a.m. today.

Mr. Prior was called to the service station to repair some pipes and while at his work was overcome by natural gas and fell to the bottom of the well. Murney, the garage mechanic, was watching Mr. Prior and assisting him. He thought that Mr. Prior had suffered a heart attack and climbed down into the well where he was also overcome. Like Mr. Prior he fell into the water in the well. It was not immediately known whether their deaths were due to drowning or asphyxiation by gas.

A large crowd gathered and a call was sent to Belleville fire department for gas masks, which were rushed to the scene. (The Picton fire department was later notified and members of that brigade brought the bodies of the two men to the morgue. Dr. E. Caughey, of Picton, examined the men but life was extinct. Artificial respiration was attempted but Dr. C. R. Richmond, of Bloomfield, coroner for Prince Edward County, pronounced the men dead. Dr. Caughey immediately announced whether an inquest would be held.

The shaft of the well was not wide enough to allow firemen wearing gasmasks to descend into the well.

Reginald Cork, of Bloomfield, went down the well shaft in an attempt to bring the men to the surface but was overcome by the fumes and had to be hauled up.

Ropes were then attached to pike poles and lowered into the well. The bodies were then brought to the surface.

The well is 22 feet deep with five feet of water in it. A pipe runs into the well. The pipe was called to the service station to repair the pipe. It is a heater which thaws the shaft and was overcome while he was working.

LEGISLATION FORECAST

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has decided, it was learned Thursday, to bring in legislation at this session of parliament to facilitate the financing of the $300,000,000 gas pipeline from Alberta to the East. The measure will be an amendment to the Pipe Lines Act, providing for the issuance by contrustees in the event a liquidation company should go into liquidation.

World Getting Warmer Say Experts But Canada's 1954 Spring Exception

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Scientists say the world's getting warmer.

Many Canadians, still grumbling about the cold, damp spring, say it isn't so.

Weather officials in Toronto, basing their opinion on weather statistics, side with the Canadians as far as this country is concerned.

April and May have been unusually cold and wet months in most parts of the country.

Residents of Alberta, where the temperature soared over the 90 mark on 25 consecutive days last April, are sure the world's getting warmer.

The Alberta temperature average was 14 to 15 degrees below average for that time of year and the wettest on record for April.

In Prince Albert, Sask., where 19 inches of snow fell May 20, a townspeople pay little heed to the scientific forecast that temperatures at Hudson Bay will some day be similar to those at the Lakehead, 700 miles to the south.

Officials of the Dominion public weather office, casting an eye over springtime weather figures, said the cold fall in Alberta was general throughout the Prairies. Temperatures ranged from five to 18 degrees below normal for the season.

Except for southern Ontario, lower - than - average temperatures were general in Canada during April and May. Agriculture warmed up a bit, but still ran from two to six degrees below normal in Northern Quebec, where temperatures were up six degrees, was the exception.

It was a wet spring, too. Rainfall in April and May, a rainfall in Ontario and the Prairies was considerably "above normal," a weather official said. It was about normal in April on the Pacific coast and in the Atlantic provinces. Last month, Quebec and the Maritimes had from normal to 50 per cent above normal rainfall. Southern Ontario was unusually dry.

So far this month, Canadians generally have been treated to slowly warming temperatures and less rainfall.

Can't Taste Beer, Court Gives Him 1,500 Pounds

NEWPORT, England (Reuters) A man knocked down by a motor-cyclist won £536 damages Thursday because the accident destroyed his taste for beer.

Alonzo Counsell, 38, testified that the collision had destroyed his senses of smell and taste and complained he had been forced to resign from his club "because it's a waste of money to spend it on beer you can't taste."

Grammer Hanged For Near Perfect Crime

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Edward Grammer, once a New York business man with a high-figure expense account, dropped to his death from Maryland's gallows early today for the murder that was almost the "perfect crime."

The state accused Grammer of beating to death his 33-year-old wife on a sultry August night in 1952 so he could be free to marry a pretty Canadian United Nations secretary.

Grammer admitted he killed his wife with a hammer but claimed he didn't planned the crime.

The body of the mother of three little girls was found in an automobile, smashed by a wild, careening drive into a Baltimore hill.

Police found a pebble lodged beneath the accelerator to force it into a downward position. Their alert discovery led to a trail of damning evidence and the 37-year-old Grammer's ultimate conviction.

Grammer lived in New York and earned $650 per month as office manager of the Climax Molybdenum Co. when he killed for the slaying of his wife.

The state contended Grammer killed

Miss Nellie Merry Honored By Board, Colleagues, Alumni

Her immaculate appearance belying her age, a retiring member of the staff of the Bellefille Collegiate Institute and Vocational School last night took the "little role" in what could be universal "This Nellie P. Merry Story."

It was a true-to-life story told in laudatory eloquence by five surmises. According to the consensus of the nearly 100 present, the only statement slightly "off the beam" was the author-observed "no one believes what they say about me, it isn't so" spoken by the principal figure after she received well-deserved verbal tributes.

It happened at a testimonial banquet tendered Miss Merry, a member of the collegiate staff for the past 34 years, who is retiring from teaching life, held in Christ Church Parish Hall.

The occasion of the Board of Education, the school faculty and alumni, and Miss Merry sincere social tribute, adding handsome gifts as tangible evidence of the high esteem and regard in which she is held, and in appreciation of her many faithful efficient service as a colleague and friend.

From the members of the board and staff came a handsome gift containing a substantial sum of money and a cheque. Alumni also presented Miss Merry with a beautiful purse, which contained a cheque for another generous amount, and a white guest book autographed by all former members. The dramatic club of the school presented her with a beautiful basket of Macdonald oil painting.

VISIBLY MOVED

Visibly moved at one time, Miss Merry bowed her head, turned away for a second, quickly recovered her poise, and in well-chosen words, graciously thanked her friends and colleagues, particularly in absentia, for their generosity and thoughtfulness.

A telegram of appreciation was read by the chairman from Miss Bess Dafoe, Loiselle Collegiate Institute, and a letter from Arthur Cole, city editor of the Toronto Telegram, a former pupil of Miss Merry.

Mr. Wishart, speaking for the board, said he had been closely associated with Miss Merry in a the past. He felt she had been fortunate in her subject, for language is the key to all knowledge. He said he was not minimizing other subjects, but yours is the most important. You were aware of it and accepted the responsibility adequately."

"Miss Merry," he said, "had not gauged the satisfaction with her work out of monies received, rather what she could do for others."

"We are aware of what she has done for other people. No one can know how many more books were read because she inspired their reading."

To Miss Merry he said:..."You have come to your age of retirement without showing any physical effects. Your enthusiasm has been boundless. For these things and your good works I bring to you with all sincerity, the good wishes of the Bay of Quinte High School Board."

PAYS EXQUISITE TRIBUTE

Principal Currie paid eloquent tribute to the guest of honor "When we speak of Miss Merry," he said, "we realize we are not speaking of a type of person. She has a unique personality, distinctly individualistic. Her retirement is to mark the close of an era for BCI, so great has been her influence over 34 years. She has lived a life of dedication to secondary students in the community. She has seen the evolution of collegiate institutes, first the new BCI in 1920, and now the new Quinte school erected in 1954. She has earned my sincere gratitude and professional admiration."

"Miss Merry," he continued, "was possessed of sparkling wit and was always neatly dressed. Her laughter had been a tremendous lift to the morale of all those with whom she was associated. She was an alert, capable, most generous little lady, whose interest was so broad, she was able to give a little of it to each teacher and student.

"Possessed of diversified talents, Miss Merry was able to play her part in all tasks," the principal said. "She had a keen, discerning mind, an extraordinary knowledge of books and an unusual knowledge of the English language. She staged many fine plays as well as public speaking competitions."

TREMENDOUS CONTRIBUTION

Mr. Currie briefly reviewed Miss Merry's teaching career, adding she had served there under three principals, Messrs. McMaster, Turner and himself.

"Miss Merry made a tremendous contribution to the field of guidance," he said. "Many times she discussed matters with fascinating students who later took up university work. Many a boy and girl has gone on to university because of money loaned by Miss Merry. Sometimes, I thought she was too generous.

"She has retained her youth and vigor and will not lose her interest in young people. I hope the rest of us are able to retain our faculties as well as a zest for living and genuine kindness to our fellow man as Miss Merry. I feel we every her, knowing she will be able to go as many lights as she could not, do when teaching."

Concluding, Mr. Currie said to Miss Merry: "You will always live with people for you love them, as we, your colleagues, love you and wish the very best for you in the years to come."

Miss Eric Grout, home economics teacher, in making the presentation of the board and staff, paraphrased Sir Winston Churchill's historic statement, saying "Never has so much been done by so many by one person. Please accept this gift not as a measure of the appreciation, but as a token. We hope you have many years to enjoy your freedom."

Miss Merry voicing her appreciation of the gifts she said in part said "You should not have done this." I gladly accept them. I am not one of them. I always did what I liked to do and that was doing things for others. The board has been frightfully kind and generous to me. I could not appreciate everything that has been done. Especially by the teachers' wives like Mrs. Shier, who was very kind. I thank you all for your gifts and kindness. But I am not what these people said I am. You know that."

SPOKE FOR OTHERS

At this point Mr. C. W. Sloan, representing the Dramatic Club presented Miss Merry with the painting. "I speak for numbers of eager teen-agers who owe so much to you. We hope you will accept this as a memento, the same, as you know, you will always be with them."

Mrs. Arnott, speaking for the alumni, presented Miss Merry with its gift, "If it were possible" she said, "all your old students would be here to express their good wishes. We so often take for granted your genuine talent and personality meant so much to us. Please accept this gift not only as a token of our respect and affection but our gratitude for being our friend and teacher."

Miss Merry was visibly moved as she opened the package. "You leave me completely speechless" she said. "It is perfectly wicked." She turned away for a second, returned and smiling through tears said, "I don't know how I'll done it. You know I cannot say what I feel."

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church under the co-chairmanship of Mesdames Cleo Colling (president), Maurice Button and Arthur Jordan catered to the banquet.

Commissioners Are Elected To General Council

The election of seven ministerial and seven lay commissioners to General Council from the Bay of Quinte conference was announced late Thursday, afternoon.

Balloting for commissioners took place during Thursday morning's session. However, counting of the preferential ballot was not completed until late Thursday afternoon.

Those elected were: Ministerial Commissioners: Rev. Alfred Poulter, Wellington; Rev. H. C. Wolfrain, Lakefield; Rev. H. C. Fisher, Brooklin; Dr. George Telford, Oshawa; Rev. D. H. Woodhouse, Arnprior; Rev. E. D. Seagrove, Sydenham; Rev. Roy G. S. Mason, Peterborough.

Lay commissioners elected were: M. H. Winter, Lindsay; Mrs. C. D. McLellan, Napanee; H. S. Johnston, Lindsay; F. L. Sackville, Peterborough; S. G. Saywell, Oshawa; H. Waller

Target for tomorrow for this and other Silver Star Jets is an exhibition of acrobatics over RCAF Station Trenton, as part of Air Force Day celebrations. In all, 45 aircraft are scheduled to take part in the station's annual "at home" to the public.

Air Force Day To Be Observed On Saturday

With the program mapped by Trenton R.C.A.F. Station to mark Air Force Day tomorrow, it'll be so noisy in the district you'd probably have difficulty in hearing a bomb drop.

In all, 45 aircraft, including the Silver Star supersonic jets, will be seen across the skies as the airforce puts on its big annual "at home," for the public.

Highlight of the show this year will be aerobatics performed by two teams of T-33 Silver Star jets and a number of Harvard trainers.

Also included is a parachute jump by personnel, a manoeuvrability exhibition by the station's rescue-and-search helicopter and the loading of a fire-truck aboard a Flying Boxcar.

For the public, probably the most exciting part of the day will be a free air ride for 75 holders of lucky-number programs.

Ground displays will feature a wilderness rescue of members of a crashed aircraft, with an authentic touch given by a damaged plane.

Open to the public for the first time will be the base's new million-dollar hangar.

The exhibition gets under way at 1 p.m.

"Air Force Day" has been held annually at R.C.A.F. bases across Canada since 1947. Object of the event is to promote the nation's interest in its airforce and knowledge of its activities.

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the R.C.A.F. On April 1, 1924, it was inaugurated as a component part of the nation's defence forces.

Appointments of the seven other ministerial and lay commissioners to which the Bay of Quinte conference is entitled, were published yesterday.

TB Association Meeting Held

The Hastings Tuberculosis Association held their monthly executive meeting at the Bates Club on Wednesday evening.

President Neal Hallam was chairman of the meeting. Routine business at hand was lengthy, mostly dealing with cases in sanatoria, who need help either financially or in the rehabilitation field. Three letters were read from different sanatoriums where patients from Hastings County are receiving treatment, and each case was dealt with individually according to their particular needs.

A motion was made to forward the amount of $200 to the Ongwanda Sanatorium in Kingston where many patients from this area are receiving treatment.

The mass x-ray survey was discussed and this will take place in the late Spring of 1955. This is an excellent opportunity for the people of Hastings County to have an x-ray and it is hoped everyone who is able will take advantage of this mass survey.

Different phases of the Christmas Seal drive were discussed and the Christmas Seals will be reaching the general public on November 13, 1954. A replica of the Christmas seal for this year was displayed. This year's seal was designed by Jorgen Hansen, who was born and educated in Copenhagen, Denmark, where the first Christmas seals were sold in 1904. This seal depicts a gay scene in a Danish family. Mr. Hansen stated, "I like to think of these chains of dancing children holding hands from one end of the world to the other and some day circling a peaceful world in which all children will be safe from disease".

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO —(CP)—Stock prices were steady to firm in moderate trading today and the market seemed to be deciding which way to go next.

The levelling-off period came after prices staged a fair climb Thursday in a reversal of the sharp decline earlier in the week. Friday's turnover was a fairly light 800,000 shares.

Industrials and base metals were narrowly ahead, western oils were fairly strong and golds a little lower. Trading was light in all sections.

Uraniums moved ahead. Beauchamp and Algoma recording some of the bigger gains. Manitouwadge issues were steady.

Golds were lower in senders, a steady to limited list of prospects and holding companies were narrowly ahead. Inspiration climbed 15 cents in the first hour.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO —(CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was weak with offering in excess of a poor demand. Quotations on graded eggs in floss cartons: A large 41-42; medium 39; A small 36-37; B 30; C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 46; A medium 42; A small 31-32; B 30; C 28.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, non-tenderable 55½-56; tenderable 56.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Cattle prices were steady to unevenly lower on all slaughter classes at the Toronto stockyards this week. Steers weakened at the close to last week's average and were in narrower demand for the period. Heifers met a good demand, cows opened strong but closed fully 50 cents lower and were in only fair demand at firm prices. There were far too many fed yearlings and under pressure.

The cattle run was 9,149 head: choice steers and weights $30-$32; several small lots of high yielding steers $31.50-$32; choice steers $28-30; medium down to $28; good replacement cattle $25-28; few small lots up to $27.75; common to medium down to $15.

Calves totalled 1,574 head; good to choice vealers were in active demand at $25-$27; few $28-$29; common to medium very slow and hard to sell at $12-21 due to Jewish holidays and Shavuoth. Thursday; grass calves mostly $11-13; some good kinds to $15; culls $18-20.

Hogs were 3,289 head; prices were $1 cwt. lower than last week; grade A $27.50; grade B $27; B-1 $27.75; B-2 $26.50; dressed sows were $2 cwt. lower at $25; stags $18 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were only 378 head; choice spring lambs sold at $30; common lambs from $16-20; good light sheep $8-13; common sheep $4-7.

Heavy Hailstorm In Arden Area Does Much Harm

Windows were broken and foliage was stripped from trees in the Arden area north of Kaladar late Thursday afternoon when a hailstorm swept through a narrow district dimpling cars, hail grain and depositing hailstones well over an inch in diameter.

Four hours after the hail storm, big-hail stones were lying in ditches and corners unmelted or melted by the high temperatures.

One woman preserved some of the hail stones and found it lasted in her ice box and when measured later the largest were found to be well over an inch in diameter.

The hail preceded a sharp electrical storm which moved south through the Sharbot Lake district further east and then out of sight.

A bolt of lightning accompanied by a sharp crack of thunder seared a team of horses and a load of hay a wagon at Mountain Grove. The horses bolted and their driver, Ernest Jackson, fell beneath the wagon and was killed.

At Sharbot Lake the telephone exchange was put out of commission by another bolt of lightning. The operator was unharmed but the switchboard was out of order for the next 13 hours.

Minor Softball

Although they were out pitcher Ken Smith's Mount's Cleaners squeezed out a thrilling 8-7 win over Checker Taxi in a bastam game at Victoria Park Stadium on Thursday last night.

Checker Taxi got the losers and allowed only two hits in four innings while fanning 10. His downfall was 10 walks, four of which came on in the fifth and he, too, allowed the winning run to cross the plate on strikes and walking three. Coyne officiated behind the bat.

For Mount's Reid and Regenburg formed the battery. Reid was touched for 12 hits, had a pair of third strike victims and issued a single walk.

Keller was the winners' hero with a triple and double, as well as a single in four trips to the plate as he came in the last inning. Goyer had three singles in a losing effort while Young clamed a home run.

Rev. H. C. Wolfraim Installed As President of Conference

Installation of the president-elect, and the secretary-elect of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada; discussion on the pension fund and a memorial from Belleville Presbytery; greetings from the Women's Missionary Society and Rev. Dr. George Johnston's illtied devotional address, "The Ministry: Reconciliation," featured Friday morning's session of the 80th annual Bay of Quinte Conference.

Rev. H. B. Herrington, secretary of the Peterborough Presbytery, conducted the worship service.

Rev. Alfred Poulter, retiring president of Conference, installed Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, M.A., B.D., Lakefield, as president of Conference for 1954-55, and Rev. J. R. Trumpour, Little Britain, as secretary.

A new plan for pensions was introduced and aroused considerable discussion. After one hour of discussion delegates agreed to emphasize the principle of brotherhood within the Pension Fund.

MOST lively debated question of the Conference was a memorial from Belleville Presbytery presented for Conference by Belleville Presbytery.

The memorial, noting that a lack of ordained ministers has made it increasingly difficult to dispense the sacraments on Sunday to the churches, to aged and shut-ins in their homes, sent a resolution, "that we memorialize the General Council to review the whole position of the United Church of Canada, concerning who may be given authority to dispense the sacraments."

The memorial, which was sent back by Conference to the Belleville Presbytery on Thursday afternoon because of ambiguity in its wording, provoked lively discussion in its revised form.

Some claimed that such a resolution brought into question the whole matter of ordination as well as the basis for church union.

Spokesmen for the resolution claimed that it was merely a request to General Council to explore possibilities for solution of a shortage of ministers that is presenting a real problem in the dispensing of the sacraments and that the matter of ordination was not being called into question.

"This resolution is not asking for a change in anything but threatening the basis of union," said W. R. Dunmon, president of the Lay Association. "It is merely stating that a problem exists and is asking General Council to review the situation."

One lay supply minister stated that while he had been empowered to preach he had not been given the power to dispense the sacraments.

"On one hand I am given the privilege of spreading the Word of God and then my hands are tied," he said.

Some pointed out that machinery already existed within the church for the granting of powers to lay supplies to dispense sacraments under certain and unusual circumstances that require special privileges and that any further action change, passed on to Conference by Belleville Presbytery.

Growth of Church Union Outlined to Lay Assoc.

"June 10th is a unique anniversary for three churches, for Canada, and for Christianity at large," said the Rev. George Telford, past president of the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada, in his address on the anniversary of the formation of the United Church and to hear Rev. Dr. George Johnston, Conference devotional speaker, deliver his address entitled, "Theology is For the Layman."

Dr. Telford, in commenting on church union in 1925, said that pessimists had predicted that union would be a "three-legged" race. In reality, it has been a fine matching team, he said, and "few would say today that they would want to undo it."

"We could talk of the achievements of the United Church," he continued, "of the debts cancelled, of the new buildings erected, the new members enrolled. But our greatest achievement is that in 29 years we have learned that religion is the major interest of Canada."

A STEADY GROWTH.

"In 1925 it was freely predicted that Belleville would have a loss of our power to influence the individual," he said. "But we have had a steady and notable growth in each year since 1925 and today 30 per cent of the Canadian population belongs to the United Church."

"Theological differences make no barrier to union," he continued. "Where, today, can you find a man who is definitely a Presbyterian or definitely a Methodist. We have in the United Church a whole generation of ministers and people who have grown up together into a united family."

"We have not united a creed, less church," said Dr. Telford. "We have a creed and it is that the centre of creation is allegiance to the Lord, Jesus Christ. It is a creed which is strong enough to keep us united and powerful enough to move us to His service."

HAVE AUTHORITY

"We have unity with diversity," Dr. Telford said. "There are differences in the matter of our services. No one can say that the service in the same in every church no matter which part of the country we may be in. It is one thing to have that freedom and autonomy. Think of the time when it is getting in touch with a multitude of international."

"No overall authority tells us to preach 'thus and so'. We have no heresy hunts. We have a freedom, which we all enjoy. We try to interpret the mind of the Lord Jesus as we see it."

Dr. Telford continued by reading the authority of the Presbyteries and the General Council is exercised without force.

"The Manual," he said, "is used as a guide, not as a club."

"However, the bigger the church the greater the responsibility," said Dr. Telford, "and I do not think that there is a group of people or leaders more sincere in the discharge of their duties than we have in the United Church of Canada."

"We should be proud of the United Church of Canada. It is recognized as a force in this country," he continued, quoted by the press. It has a program and projects of its own. It has a character of its own. We should be proud of the church," he concluded.

AN ESSENTIAL PART

Dr. Johnston, in his address, "Theology is For the Layman" stated that theology is not only good for the layman but is an essential part of his spiritual life.

He pointed out that the word layman means a member of the church or faith and that as such a member of the church, therefore, theology is for the layman.

"It is good for him because it is good to take God's side and no human being can complain the reason can fail to take one or other part in the great discussion."

Theology is essential to the laymen because it is the basis on which liturgy, worship, and the hymnal are founded.

W. E. Tunmon, chairman of the Lay Association, was chairman for the session and introduced the guests officially on behalf of the Association and introduced Dr. Johnston.

During the evening Mrs. Doris Burgoyne and group of song-leaders panied on the piano by S. Alec Gordon, who also accompanied a sing-song.

Rev. Alfred Poulter, retiring president of Conference, spoke briefly, thanking delegates to Conference for their co-operation and fellowship. He introduced Dr. Telford.

The ministers male quartet of Oshawa Presbytery, composed of Rev. A. F. Hall, Rev. R. J. Mellow, Rev. A. Atkins and Rev. Roy Rickard sang two songs.

VOTE OF THANKS

A vote of thanks to the speakers, to the guest artists, and to the ladies of the Trinity United Church who catered for the banquet, was expressed by Rev. Cecil Slemon, past president of the Lay Association.

Henry Johnston, vice-president of the Lay Association, introduced the guests at the head table.

Those at the head table were Fred Ormiston, first vice-president of the Lay Association; R. F. Downey, Peterborough, past president of the L. A.; Dr. C. W. Slemon, Bowmanville; Rev. and Mrs. Duncan McTavish; Rev. Alfred Poulter, Lakefield; Rev. and Mrs. Henry Johnston; Rev. J. R. Trumpour and Mrs. Trumpour; Rev. H. C. Wolfraim, president-elect of Conference; Mr. W. E. Tunmon, chairman of the L.A. Association and Mrs. Tunmon; Rev. Dr. George Johnston, and Mrs. Johnston.

CLARENCE F. CHISHOLM (Eldest Two Girls)

In failing health for the past five or six years, Clarence Franklin Chisholm, 8th concession of Sidney township, died at his home early this Friday morning. He was born in Thurlow township 77 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chisholm and had resided almost his entire life in Sidney township.

He was a member of Trinity Anglican church, Frankford, and is survived by one brother, Murney Chisholm on the homestead and one sister, Miss Ethel Chisholm, also at home.

Full funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. CARMAN CLAPP and MISS FRANCES CLAPP

The funeral of Mrs. Frances Victoria Clapp and her daughter, Miss Frances Virginia Clapp, who died in a Toronto hospital as a resident on Tuesday evening near Bonarlaw, was held from the family residence on Thursday afternoon.

The funeral chapel was filled to capacity with intimate friends who came to pay their last tribute, assisted by Rev. H. B. Neal, spoke comforting words to the afflicted. A wealth of floral tributes showed in a small way the esteem in which the deceased were held in their community. Interment was in Bonarlaw cemetery.

The bearers for Mrs. Clapp were Gordon Aikens, Cecil Keene, Gerald Whalen, Manly Mitchell, Ralph Patrick and Ross Forsyth. Sprackett, and for Miss Clapp: Kenneth Sprackett, Donald Leonard, Gerald Aikens, Lloyd Greatrix, Donald Mitchell and Alex. Pocliuyko.

ANDREW JAMES WILSON (Son-in-law Dies)

MADOC—In falling health for the past five months, Andrew James Bannockburn, died at his home, Friday June 11. He was in his 80th year.

An Irish immigrant and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, he was resident in Tudor township 42 years. Previous to that he lived in Flinton, Ont. A retired section foreman on the CNR, Mr. Wilson was a member of St. Barnabas Anglican Church, Bannockburn.

Surviving are his wife, Isabel Anne, four daughters, Mrs. W. J. (Bessie) Tebworth, Belleville; Mrs. F. (Annie May) Hicks, Eldorado; Mrs. C. (Margaret) Davidson, Coe Hill; Mrs. Eva Davidson, Bannockburn and one son, Jack, Bannockburn; two sisters, Mrs. Isabel Harris, Mrs. Margaret Pringle, both of Flinton. Also surviving are a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

The tests included breath control and approaching a victim; seven methods of carrying a victim; the Holger Nielsen method of artificial respiration; various accessory tests; back crawl; elementary positions of five releases; endurance swim and a theory test on Life Saving and the Schaefer method.

Those passing the exams are

Senior Life Saving: Keith Running with 285 points.

Junior Life Saving: Ronald Poste, 263; Ronald McBride, 261½; Barry Webb, 259; Frank Stevens, 245½; Randall Evans, 244½; Bill Dickie, 240; Richard Hurst, 241½; Randall Cook, 240; Ronald Hurst, 240.

Candidates must have at least seven hours instruction and minimum points for passing is 225 points out of 300.

Conference Hears Reports On Various Phases of Work

Committee reports and addressed by representatives of various societies allied to church work occupied the business session of Thursday afternoon's session of the annual Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada being held in Bridge St. United Church.

Reports were presented by the Conference committee on ministerial, missionary, education and overseas missions, and archives.

Brief addresses were made on behalf of the Bible Society, Lord's Day Alliance, John Howard Society and the Canadian Journal of Theology.

The afternoon session opened with a worship service conducted by Rev. Ivor Prosser, chairman of Renfrew Presbytery.

The report of the committee on publications revealed that since the inception of United Church publications in 1925 the circulation of the Observer had increased from 4,000 to 11,000. In 1953, to its present figure of 163,-000. More than 1,200 congregational letters are mailed in the year with more than 137,000 families participating.

In the Bay of Quinte Conference 123 congregations and 11,838 families receive the Observer, it was pointed out, however, that much progress still has to be made as there are 561 congregational letters mailed and 34,000 families.

Delegate heard that bright new plans were being made to revamp the editorial and art departments for the forthcoming issue of the Canadian Girl, church magazines for girls. Subscription rate is $1.

MADE LARGER PROFIT

The United Church Publishing made a larger profit than last, but because of a $47,000 subsidy for the United Church Publishing House the profit of $47,000 was made to the pension fund.

Nominees to the Board of Publications were Rev. Mervin A. Gay, Cecil R. Kane. The report of the Archives committee presented by Rev. E. C. Kyle, stressed the importance of preserving church records and the sermons of ministers for the purpose of writing church history.

The report of the committee on Ministerial Education and Overseas Missions, dealt with the work of Rev. Robert Irwin in Korea, Japan, China, India, Trinidad, and Angola, and Northern Rhodesia, Africa.

Of 17 new missionaries appointed during the past year, 11 were assigned to work in India, two to Japan, two to Angola, and two to Northern Rhodesia. It was hoped that 46 candidates might be recruited during the coming year, and that consideration be given to the inauguration of a vigorous recruiting campaign, to be carried out in the Bay of Quinte area, at the next conference session. That report is printed elsewhere in this edition.

Recommendations to advance missionary work by an appeal to local congregations for support included the use of a film story being prepared on India; missionary addresses to pastoral charges by either a missionary or a representative of the mission field; use of a series of recorded interviews with the sale of 1,500 missionary calendars and other literature.

APPROVE COMMITTEE.

The standing committee on Missionary Education and Overseas Missions consisting of Rev. R. J. McNaught, chairman; Rev. F. J. Reid, secretary, and the convenors of the Presbytery committees and the convenor of the Y.P.U. committee on World Outreach, of the Conference, was approved.

The ministerial committee recommendation of a resolution submitted by the Kingston Presbytery requesting deletion of Section 12, "The Ministry", the Basis of Union, The Constitution of the United Church of Canada, was approved for forwarding to the General Council.

A memorial submitted by the Belleville Presbytery asking for a review of the ruling of Conference by which may dispense the sacraments, was referred back to Conference for rewriting because of ambiguity in the wording of the resolution.

Mrs. W. J. Campion presented the report of the nominating Committee Women and Women Workers.

NEW QUARTERLY

Dr. George Johnston, devotional speaker of the Conference, spoke briefly on behalf of the forthcoming Canadian Journal of Theology," asking for subscriptions and for interest and support of delegates for this new quarterly.

Rev. Gordon Young told delegates of the work of the Upper Canada Bible Society and of the importance and necessity of providing accurate translations of the Bible in the languages of the people spoken in different parts of the globe.

Rev. A. B. Casselman, speaking on behalf of the Lord's Day Alliance, said, "We need proper observance of the Lord's Day to maintain the church and spiritual life of the community."

He called on all Christians to resist the encroachments of commercialized sports on Sunday on the proper observance of the Sabbath.

Rev. Arthur E. Russell, on behalf of the John Howard Society, appealed to the Conference to take an interest "for relief and rehabilitation of the men and women "coming out of prisons and penitentiaries."

"The object of penology and theology is the reformation of the offender," he said.

The letter report on the election of ministerial and lay commissioners to the General Council was presented at the business session. That report is printed elsewhere in this edition.

Coca-Cola Co. Honors Workers With Awards

Tangible tribute to periodical years of service was paid to fifteen associates of the Coca-Cola Company, Belleville branch at a testimonial banquet given in the Hotel Quinte last night.

Three generations of the company, Manager Aubrey Coe, Wilbert Fraser and Carl Salisbury received handsome twenty-year awards; Ronald Bonisteel, a fifteen-year award; Ralph Downey, Nels Kiser and Jim Keichesen, three-year awards and J. Armstrong, F. Clarke, Jack Lynch, F. Moynes, G. Poste, Bill Reid, G. Sprague and Cecil A. Ireland, one-year awards.

The awards are handsome oval-shaped lapel pins with superimposed panels of various colors depicting the 15, 20 and 25 years.

The presentations were made by Jim Singlehurst, divisional manager of the company, Ottawa.

Manager Coe acted as chairman and formally welcomed the employees and their wives. About 65 were in attendance. Jimmy Conrad's piano wizardry added much to the entertainment on the occasion.

Mr. Singlehurst addressed the gathering following the dinner and presentation, reviewing the progress which had brought it to the top in its line of business.

He said the company through its policy of fair dealing, courtesy and honors the men and women who, through years of loyal service, have contributed so greatly towards the attainment of the position of leadership it enjoys. The service pin is a badge of distinction, he said, signifying an association of which both the wearer and the company may justifiably be proud.

Special entertainment rounded out an enjoyable evening.

Sawmill Worker Instantly Killed, Jackson Man Dies

Ernest Jackson, 59-year-old sawmill worker, at Mountain Grove, 30 miles north of Napanee, was instantly killed late Thursday afternoon when he was run over by the heel of a loaded slab wagon after the horses were scared by a sharp electrical storm.

Jackson was unloading slabs onto a stockpile at the mill when the horses bolted at a sharp crack of thunder. Jackson reached for the reins and as he did so part of the load fell off and he was thrown under the wheels. The wheel passed diagonally over his body and he died almost immediately.

The accident took place in view of other mill workers who were leaving the mill after quitting the day's work at five o'clock.

Provincial Constable Harvey Adams, of Sharbot Lake, investigated the accident with Det. R. H. Devereaux, from district headquarters at Belleville.

Police Blotter

A 19-year-old girl escaped injury yesterday when she darted into the side of a car passing on College Street near the Bay Countryes, Pine Street, reported to police that Beasie Telford had darted into the path of the car but claimed she had been unin-jured.

The drivers, who were apparently looking for a canoe ride, went to the Telford home and left it to satisfy their wishes, Douglas Telford, Dundas St. East, reported his canoe had been stolen from his backyard.

Window peepers were reported by a resident in the Wallbridge Road area, while prowlers were reported in the south John Street district. Checks by police failed to locate the persons responsible.

CUT-RATE PROBLEM

The Federal Government's restrictive trade practices commission, holding its first meeting in the Province of Quebec, heard a familiar theme, a demand that it protect retailers from cut-price competition.

A similar demand had been made earlier in connection with the sale of electrical appliances. The Toronto Star, in a vigorous editorial on Monday of this week, assailed the plea that manufacturers be permitted to resume their former price-maintenance policies. The Star argued that the consumer should not be required to pay the cost of inefficient merchandising by those dealers who find that they are unable to make a profit by selling appliances at narrow margins, more efficient, dealers find remunerative.

But the plea heard in Quebec was of a slightly different nature, and the difference was important. Manufacturers of electrical appliances and tobacco products were concerned. The Provincial Quebec Retail Tobacco Association complained about "ruinous competition" to the retailer from drug stores selling cigarets at a loss or at cut prices in other ducts. Manufacturers, dealers, we presume, sell TV sets or electric ranges or refrigerators at a loss, in order to attract buyers for other articles. But certain stores which handle cigarets, according to the Quebec Retail Tobacco Association, actually sell cigarets at a tenth of a cent a pack below cost.

Obviously the tobacconist who depends on his sale of cigarets for two-thirds of his revenue cannot meet this type of competition.

It would appear as if a different principle is involved here than in the sale of appliance dealers. That does not mean that price maintenance on cigarets should necessarily be permitted. Unfortunately there are many complexities of such a policy which would require study. Just where would the line be drawn? Considerable study would be required. If at all possible the small businessman should be protected against unjust competition. But at the same time we should not overlook the fact that the consumer, too, deserves protection and that he is best protected when businessmen have to compete for his patronage.

The complaints voiced before the restrictive trade practices commission indicate that the forces of competition are once more fully operative and are inducing merchants to employ all available costs in an effort to meet this competition.

DUPLESSIS MAY FACE TROUBLE

There may be trouble in store for Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec.

"Son of that province's three major labor groups are planning joint political action.

The Duplessis Government's actions have, on various occasions, displeased all three groups. Now these groups may combine to express this displeasure at the polls.

The significant thing about this development is that the groups favoring action are the Catholic Confederation of Labor and the Quebec Federation of Industrial Unions (Canadian Congress of Labor). The C.C.L. has endorsed the C.C.F., not through direct affiliation but by "endorsing the current principles which corresponds to the needs of the workers." Catholicism and socialism, generally speaking, do not mix, although there are some Catholic socialists. For socialist skill, it would appear unlikely that the Catholic Confederation of Labor, as a body, would agree to the C.C.L. policy of recognizing the C.C.F. as "the political arm of the labor movement."

Romeo Mathieu, the secretary general of the C.C.L. group, envisions the formation of a political party "which would have a platform akin to those of the C.C.F. party but with distinctively Quebec character" as the solution to the problem. In the past the possibilities of a Quebec labor party have been rejected by the Catholic Confederation of Labor. But now it has endorsed the C.C.F., and the general of the Catholic body, will not comment on such possibilities in the future.

Meanwhile the third group involved, the Quebec Federation of Labor (Trades and Labor Congress) is pursuing that body's traditional policy of political aloofness, having recently dissociated itself from joint action by the Canadian Congress and the C.C.L.

It would seem unlikely that any newly-organized labor party could hope to defeat the highly-organized Union Nationale party. But it might win enough votes to make it possible for the Liberals to return to power.

TOWN CHECKS EXPANSION

Point Claire, a suburb of Montreal, is deliberately checking expansion.

With almost every other municipality in the land dreaming up ways of growing bigger, Point Claire's council is following a five-year-old policy of curbing building. Last year applications were made for 2,000 building permits Council granted only 500 of those.

The reason? Council wants to make sure that housing does not outstrip sewage facilities. Seems like a reasonable viewpoint, too, but it just proves once again that one man's meat is another man's poison. Imagine what would happen in Belleville if the Council allowed only three out of every ten would-be home-builders to proceed with their plans!

ONLY UNDER FREEDOM

I believe the ballot better than are bullets fired in hate.
I believe that freedom's better than a regulated state.

I am sure no tyrant master, how so strong he gets to be,
Ever dares to let his people know the pride of being free.

I believe the Lord intended every one to live and enjoy
That the strong men of a nation should always befriend the weak.
I believe good will is better than

I believe that men are strifes that never cease,
And that only under freedom can the way be found to peace.

I put no faith in cannon or in bombs that spread despair.
I know that war leaves hatred,
deep and lasting,
everywhere.

I believe we're all God's children,
(Oh, how many times I've be!)
As He waits above and watches
'til we've set the whole world free.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 11, 1934.

Miss Marion Ketcheson is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mrs. Gerald Bateman and Mrs. A. E. Ketcheson are attending Dr. Chown's address in Belleville at the Ladies' College in Whitby.

Mr. A. Blackburn and Miss Edna Blackburn will leave shortly on a cruise to Bermuda. They will sail from Montreal.

On their return trip they will visit Mrs. Blackburn's son, Dr. H. Blackburn and Mrs. Blackburn in Rochester, N.Y.

Mrs. A. Gerow and grandson, Lorne, left by boat Sunday night for Charlotte en route to Rochester, N.Y., where they will visit her son, Robert, and granddaughter, Ethel.

Mrs. O. Reddick, Moira Street, entertained the members of Mrs. J. Arnold's group in St. Thomas' Parochial Guild, at a delightful luncheon at her home on Friday.

30 YEARS AGO

JUNE 11, 1924.

Miss E. Judd, who has faithfully and efficiently filled the position of postmistress at Stirling for many years has resigned and will be succeeded by Mr. F. R. Hulin. Miss Judd has been connected with the Stirling post office for fifty years, and was postmistress for a large part of that time.

Mrs. Frank Walsh, accompanied by her son and Mrs. Chapelle has returned home after a motor trip to Buffalo, N.Y., where she visited her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin have left for Denver, Col., where Mr. Griffin will attend the big Kiwanis convention as a delegate from the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Mrs. Percival Hamilton has returned home after spending three months visiting friends in Vancouver, B.C., Victoria, B.C., and Cranbrook, B.C.

40 YEARS AGO

JUNE 11, 1914.

Mr. J. W. Johnson of this city was enthusiastically renominated to be the candidate for the Conservative Party in West Hastings in the Provincial election next September 14th.

The 34th Battery of this city will leave tomorrow evening to go into camp at Petawawa.

Mr. Frank Harden of Johnsonville, Ont., is a visitor relatively here.

St. Thomas' Ponies were defeated by the Grand Trunk Juniors in a game of baseball on the Pine Street grounds last evening. The score was 4 to 3. The following composed the teams: Grand Trunk — C. Bowen, Boyle, C. Boyer, Deacon, Keech, McDonald, Stollicker, Merron, McElrath and W. Rose; Ponies — Patterson, Hampton, Sanford, Quinney, Lynch, C. Hunter, H. Hunter, W. Green and N. Phillips. Umpire on bases was R. Thomas and on strikes, C. Wilson.

50 YEARS AGO

JUNE 11, 1904.

Mrs. Sophia Adams of the Adams' sporting goods store, Front Street, is in Kingston today on business.

A convocation of Mr. F. E. O'Flynn's Bible Class in Bridge Street Methodist Church Sunday School, accompanied by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Crothers, the secretary of the Sunday School, Mr. James Coulson and Mr. C. Bowyer walked upon Mrs. William Johnson recently at her home and presented her with a handsome clover leaf brooch set in pearls as a token of their appreciation of the assistance she has always given the class and in the performance of his work in connection with the church and the Sunday School. The presentation was made by Dr. Crothers, the secretary of the class.

Weskit Faces Opposition

(New York Herald-Tribune)

Men who are fashion-inclined — and even some who are fashion-disinclined — will be interested in the news that experts have now proclaimed tattersall weskits to be a "standard menswear necessary." Standard men are, of course, a little hard to find in this intellectualistic era, but the weskit, which generally is of a checked and rather brash pattern, does pose a number of problems to the conscientious male.

His puzzling know, for instance, why the weskit should be regarded as an accessory rather than as a straight-forward article of clothing. No one would dream of describing a suit of trousers as an accessory, nad yet the fashion experts seem to have decided that weskits trousers as a necessary articles of male attire.

Most men, it is sad to observe, have a high weskit-resistance factor in their psychological make-up. They willingly accept the idea of a discreet covering for the midriff, but there is nothing discreet about a midriff adorned by a checkerboard striped weskit. In many cases, its jolly patterns invite disagreeable comments from one's friends, or even a playful poke in the stomach.

And, after all, there comes a time in every older the less said about his weskit line the better, the weskit may have more trouble than it looks for in winning universal acceptance. It may find it necessary to become increasingly modest and conservative, something like an old-fashioned vest that simple, honest garment they used to throw in free every time you bought a suit.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ETERNAL VERITIES

In conversation recently with a young author who has just published his first novel, I remarked that at the present time there is in this country to be experiencing a moral decline. He warned me to be sure that the decline really existed. To be sure that in some fields we have reached new low. He offered it as his opinion that the standard of morality today is the utter ignorance of some people regarding the existence of any standards of right and wrong.

This state of affairs has always existed among criminals, but it is shocking to realize that frequently today people who have been brought up in good homes have no other standard of conduct than what appears to them to be personal advantage, if a thing is pleasant, if it contributes to their comfort, if it makes money, if it causes them to be well thought of by the majority of men, then it is right. William James who was truly a great philosopher said one of the outstanding moralists of modern times, would be that any man who says he realized the extent to which his philosophy of pragmatism is being used to justify any conduct in which anyone cares at any time to indulge. If a thing works—that is if it appears to be the advantage of the person who does it—then people believe that this is right, no matter how much violence long accepted moral principles.

But more eternal than the ebb and flow of the tide of sin which is human conduct rests.

Conveyor Belts for Humans

By Lee Geist in the Wall Street Journal

Moving sidewalks, long a favourite dream are today sliding toward reality for many of the nation's shoppers and commuters.

For many years, of course, conveyor belts have been used to transport coal, iron ore, vegetables and other industrial and agricultural goods over distances ranging up to six miles.

But last week the first commercial adaption of such a "rubber road" to passenger use was opened to traffic in Jersey City, N.J. It carries commuters, homeward bound from New York, from the underground station of the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad up a 227-foot incline to the Erie Railroad terminal.

And Col. Sidney H. Bingham, executive director of the Port of New York City Transit Authority, says work will begin about September on a system of 3 moving sidewalk to carry passengers between Times Square and Grand Central Terminal, about four blocks away.

The Transit Authority's engineers are completing plans now for the underground system, which will move 14-place cars along an underground route in the Fulton Street stream, replacing the present subway shuttle.

Companies in the conveyor belt business now are negotiating for bidding for a score of other equally dramatic moving side-walk projects.

Here are a few of the projects the producers of the future in the works:

A huge southeastern city plans a five-block-long moving sidewalk leading to its downtown heart from "fringe-area" parking lots. The cost would be approximately $500,000 for the conveyor system itself, and construction of an underground tunnel through which the belt would run would more than double this figure.

The expected advantages: Extensive parking facilities could be built in an area of comparatively low land cost, on the perimeter of the downtown shopping district where shoppers and office workers could leave their cars, ride the belt in the rest of the way. Late in the day the sidewalk would move in an outgoing direction.

Theoretically, according to the city planners, it would both eliminate most of the passenger car traffic coming into the crowded central area, and persuade more shoppers to come downtown because of the eased movement.

A large Texas city is reported so enthusiastic about the moving-walk idea — it already has one way elevated belt to go right through the heart of a congested area and office buildings—that the big rubber company with which it is negotiating has the problem of trying to cut down the bids demands for a more practical operation.

The city of Cleveland is considering a moving sidewalk belt arrangement to carry shoppers between parking lots removed from its central surface transportation terminal throughout the 14-block-long stretch.

Pedestrian Illumination

(Hamilton Spectator)

Mr. Joseph Thompson, a Toronto engineer, has suggested in the Legislature's Select Committee on Highway Safety (among other proposals) that country pedestrians should carry red lights at night, and we don't doubt that considerable unwillingness will be found in the body-slogging public on the grounds both of infringement of the liberty of the subject and of cost.

Ourselves, we are inclined to disagree with Mr. Thompson for a rather different reason. We don't think that red lights are a basically sound idea quite through. A citizen who has taken to the road, a hot dog stand or a filling station will probably have turned green by the time you reach it. Furthermore, he is much more interested in observing on the wrong side of the road (if the car coming from the left, as he should be, facing traffic) is enough to jar any motorist into hysterics.

Obviously, it seems to us, the pedestrian's best safeguard is some color not already in use on the roads—cartreuse, for instance, or puce.

But a single light, whatever its color, is not enough. It is a word "Pedestrian!" and not what sort of pedestrian. Some signals in both dimensions and manoeuvrability just as widely as the difference in appearance and traffic from Volkswagen to Mack truck. Some system of clearance lights is therefore indicated, at least for the beamier pedestrians. It might be that there is also a strong case for some kind of "Keep Off" illumination signal—say two blue lights for a slow-reactioned grandmother-figure, and a red light for anyone capable of leaping nimbly out of the way of a truck; green lights over yellow for a girl stably based on sensible walking shoes, but red lights for a man in tight pants tering along on spike heels and likely to be mired down if he has to take to a soft shoulder. Then there is the matter of load: A man trudging home from work carrying an empty lunch bucket is in entirely another type of movement to traffic than a housewife laden with (and her visibility reflected by) two four loaves packed in two large bags from the supermarket. Perhaps, indeed, there would be identified (as a tug is when towing a barge) by two lights above the other one on the foreman. And how about the pedestrian who is known to be riding at anchor—waiting for a bus, say, or propping up a telephone pole—by the Police Commission inquiry into Pedestrian Illumination.

He Would Fain Be Without Rain

(Minneapolis Tribune)

A neighbor registered a beef the other day about the chilly, wet spring. He condemned the Minnesota climate generally and expressed a wish to be elsewhere —anywhere.

We asked him how he'd like the dust bowl. How would he enjoy a drouth? How much satisfaction would a water shortage give him? How would he like his shaving and bathing restricted and be barred from sprinkling the lawn?

We reminded him that the body has 4 70 per cent water content and that the average human must drink about three pints of liquid or body moisture lost daily. Men who suffer from a water shortage, we told him, die in two to four days.

He had to ck skip the dramatics. He merely was expressing the view that three rainy days so he could go fishing in comfort, or even so he could finish painting the house. He wasn't asking for a lecture.

Before we left him, we told him how fortunate we were to have a moist spring after the drouth-ridden one of last year.

What was wrong with last winter, our neighbor asked, was that its the first winter in years that he hadn't been forced to shovel his way out of the house and garage. He thought it was wonderful.

We asked him whether he knew how much moisture the winter's snow contributed to the watersheds as replenishment for our lakes and streams. He didn't know, too. we added, that the average winter's snowfall was supplied. How could fish and waterfowl live without water? He liked to fish, he said, from open water.

He said of course he liked to fish, too, but that there's more to do now was go fishing. He was just asking for a little dry weather.

We emphasized the sharp increase in industrial water use, later, a situation that, in many industrial areas, has caused shortages. It takes 2 of the underground water level. Did he know that it takes 2,000 gallons of water to process a ton of steel?

He didn't, he didn't, all he knew was that he'd like to go to a ball game and not have it postponed on account of rain.

It seemed obvious that the fellow has a phobia about rain. We tried a different approach. Didn't he realize that the better rain on the roof at night? Wasn't it a lullaby? He didn't certainly. He said when the thunder wasn't keeping him awake his wife was. She was considerately getting up to open or close windows.

We asked for a drink of water and went home.

Pincer Creek

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

"Quick Canadian Facts" clear up the mystery about another odd Canadian place name. /Pincer Creek, Alberta, was so named because an early prospector lost a pair of pincers there. That must make them just about the best-remembered carpenter's tool in history. In the interests of accuracy, we'll add that the fellow didn't lose a screwdriver or a brace and bit.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

FIRST, IF YOU PLEASE, DOCTOR, SOME NOVOCAIN.

A dentist says his "attention was called"—it would seem that V.I.P.s do not read this column otherwise —to my reply to Mrs. Quarry from Dr. M. P. He asked my opinion of the practice of a dentist who gives no vocain for small fillings and the like.

My reply was that I can't [illegible] of the item now) must have been more than ordinary, for the dentist lectures me about the right of dentists to the little doctor and suggests that I leave dentistry to the dentists and stick to my own field — self-defence.

Ouch!

Can this dentist or any other one say — oh, say, without prejudice, health authority or teacher if you prefer — one approach to American dentistry more highly than I? As an original factor of functional efficiency, good looks, vite and longevity?

Dr. Brady — dentist's paper made me say in my reply to Mrs. D. M. P., I wish to say here and now that whenever my dentist does any kind of work on my teeth I want him to give me novocain or whatever local anesthetic he uses if the treatment is going to cause me pain at all. Thus while the dentist is at work I can take a nap or write a column or go back to Durham for another breathless look at the most beautiful picture I ever laid my eyes on, the Valley of a Thousand Hills.

The absolute painlessness of dental surgery under local anesthesia is a boon to the patient for two reasons. First, it robs one of fear of the dentist. Second, it enables the dentist to do more and better work than he can do when the patient is cringing and recoiling from what is necessary.

So when I need dentistry I say OK, Doctor, give me the needle and do whatever you think best.

Notice I say Doctor... I defy anyone to show that I have ever addressed a dentist by other than his or her proper title, Doctor.

Something seems to be biting the dentists, and I think I know what it is. They're plumb perturbed because I have made so many people aware that the toothbrushinged people (gullible Yankees) have, with few exceptions, the worst set of jaws in the world, and people who never used toothbrushes or dentifrice up to 1900, and may never have the best teeth in the world. These undeniable facts make the dentists look like tooth never decays" look pretty silly — and who the dickens ever heard of brushing that unknown seriously for fifty years?

The people who never used toothbrushes or pretty nostrums are the inhabitants of Tristan da Cunha. They had the best teeth in the world in 1850 when I was there.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE GREATEST GIFT

Bring out every kindness and good deed into the light so that it can spread like a ray of hope and cheer. It isn't money that most people lack—it's love and appreciation. Many, with the means in buy anything, would far rather have kind words and friendship. To make people happy, from the substance of your heart, is the greatest gift of all.

When we render a kindness to some one, or give that one encouragement, the reaction is so pronounced that a new kind of happiness comes to us. I have never met a selfish person who was genuinely happy. And rarely have met a known endless others whose very life's glow was the love that they have distributed.

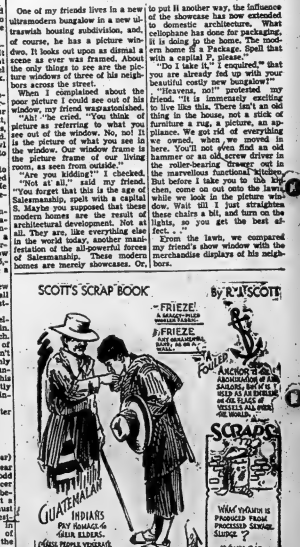
How many of us have heard the expression, "Some one must have had been told of a happy experience, thus: "Glad to get rid of it!" People can be paid in heart currency! Dividends of joy and happiness continue throughout life to those who think and perform for others. Recently I read a statement I have read of that Japanese gardener in Miami, Florida, who died in Detroit. The Reader's Digest for June from The Christian Herald. Here is the statement: "I'm glad I live."

Often when a prominent man or woman dies, people make a big fuss about the good he or she did. Why not before? Many a public servant has wondered around the world. The influence of a single kind word means more than anything money could buy. In a great book, the author has scattered himself through the ages. It's his greatest gift.

Jesus, the scientist, devoted a long lifetime to the study of insects, opening up a whole world of knowledge to us all. That was his heritage to each one of us. We have a right to be happy throughout all his years. He left knowledge—not material wealth.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK



One of my friends lives in a new ultramodern bungalow in a new ultrawish housing subdivision, and, of course, he has a picture window in his living room. Only a fool would be against picture windows and three in my neighbors across the street.

When I complained about the poor picture I could see out of his picture window, my friend protested mildly:

"Ah! 'he cried, "You think of picture as referring to what you see out the window. No, no! It is the picture of what you see in the room. You'll not often find an old hammer or an old screw driver in the picture frame of my living room, at any rate, so-called."

"Are you kidding?" I checked.

"Not at all," said my friend. "You forget the fact is the age of Salesmanship, spelt with a capital S. Maybe you supposed that these modern homes are the result of architectural development. Not at all. They are like everything else in the world today, another manifestation of the powerful forces of Salesmanship. These modern homes are merely showcases. Or

Catholic Women's League Holds Convention in City

National and district officials of the Catholic Women's League were in Belleville this week for the 34th annual convention of the C.W.L. for the Archdiocese of Kingston. Officials shown going over program are: Mrs. Ed. Logan, Belleville, local sub-division president; Mrs. U. Haughian, Stanleyville, Diocesan president; Mrs. F. Drake, L.L.D., Regina, national president, and Mrs. W. A. Brown, Renfrew, provincial treasurer.

Archbishop J. A. O'Sullivan of Kingston, together with other diocesan clergy, attended a noon luncheon Thursday sponsored by the Catholic Women's League of the Kingston Archdiocese during their convention held here this week. Part of the head table at the luncheon is shown. Left to right are: Father Michael; Mrs. U. Haughian; Stanleyville; Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. J. Byrne, Kingston; His Grace Archbishop J. A. O'Sullivan, Kingston; Mrs. F. Drake, Regina; Mrs. Ed. Logan, Belleville; Very Rev. L. B. Garvin, St. Michael's Church, Belleville, and Mrs. W. A. Brown, Renfrew.

Convention Concludes

Catholic Women's League Elected Mrs. U. E. Haughian, Stanleyville As President

The 34th annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, Archdiocese of Kingston, closed here last night, following a busy three-day session. At the election of officers Mrs. U. E. Haughian, Stanleyville, was elected president for the coming year.

On Thursday after High Mass at 8 a.m., which was celebrated by Rt. Rev. L. J. Byrne, for the intention of world peace and communion breakfast served in St. Andrew's Hall, business sessions of the second day of the 34th annual convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada were resumed in St. Michael's Academy.

Reports from the following standing committees were heard: Radio, screen and television by Mrs. E. Logan, Belleville; publicity and League magazines by Mrs. J. E. Boyd, Belleville; immigration and traveller's aid, Stella Matia, by Mrs. Charles Cook, Marmora; child and social welfare by Mrs. J. Doyle, Kingston; lay retreats and Catholic Action, Mrs. A. N. Keon, Kingston; health and nutrition, Mrs. E. B. Slavin, Picton; Girl Guides, Mrs. R. F. Andrews, Kingston; Red Cross, Mrs. W. C. Donovan, Prescott and Our Lady's Missionaries, Mrs. Wilfred Lesage, Tweed.

REPORTS GIVEN

Reports of group leaders of regional conferences: Mrs. J. P. Lemieux, Kingston; Mrs. Basil LaPorte, Prescott; Mrs. James Hinch, Napanee; Mrs. E. G. Hannon, Elgin; Mrs. H. B. Slavin, Picton; Mrs. James Hall, South Mountain, and Mrs. James Black, Marmora.

Luncheon was served at the Quinte Hotel, after grace and prayer for Pope Pius 12th, by His Grace, Archbishop J. A. O'Sullivan, D.D., Kingston, toast to the Queen was proposed by Rev. F. F. Murphy. After lunch the hostess, Mrs. M. E. Logan and Very Rev. Dean Garvin, welcomed the guests.

Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Helen Grant Gaffney, Belleville, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. Grant.

In his remarks to the audience Archbishop O'Sullivan touched on the small numbers of Catholic women in public life in Canada. The primary problem is to convince Catholic women to join the Catholic Women's League. They must do more than go to church, His Grace said. They must enter into the activity and work of the League which brings Catholic women together, on three levels, parish, provincial and national.

MORE MEMBERS

The increase in the membership is an encouraging sign. He pointed out there are 74,000 eligible Catholic women in the diocese whose duty is to join the organization.

Archbishop O'Sullivan was introduced by Rt. Rev. J. L. Byrne, Spiritual Director of the Catholic Women's League.

After his introduction, Monsignor Byrne urged the Catholic women of the diocese to make reservations for the Marian Year pilgrimage to Cap de Madeleine, Que., being held in August.

A presentation of $500 to the Bursary Fund of the Diocesan Council was then presented to the Archbishop by Mrs. B. T. McGrory, Prescott.

Monsignor Byrne received a presentation marking his 31st year as spiritual director of the Diocesan Council and 30 years in the priesthood. Presentation was made by Mrs. A. N. Keen, of Kingston, and Mrs. C. J. Brennan, Deseronto.

Mrs. F. Drake, L.L.D., Regina, National President of the Catholic Women's League, praised the formation of study clubs with the intention of building up an informed and articulate membership to wield the power that the C.W.L. should have as a national organization. Mrs. Drake emphasized that no one may have sound convictions without knowledge, and urged the gathering to study, read and multiply the discussion groups. Sound convictions, she said, will influence public opinion.

URGES FRIENDLINESS

Commenting on immigration, Mrs. Drake asked the delegates to assist with this work and to strive to integrate them into our family life and social gatherings. Immigrants should be treated as any other neighbor and cautioned against the tendency to segregate them.

Speaking heatedly against salacious literature, Mrs. Drake, said, the filth on newsstands and in advertising was one of the greatest barriers to carrying out our divine mission on the earth." She exhorted the delegates to demand that the laws against such material be enforced.

"This menace is a rot from within which can ruin our country," she said.

BRINGS GREETINGS

Mrs. Drake was introduced by Mrs. W. A. Brown of Renfrew provincial treasurer of the CWL, who brought greetings from the provincial president and council; Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, Elgin, presented Mrs. Brown with a remembrance from the Diocesan Council.

Another vocal solo by Mrs. Gaffney was a pleasing interlude before introducing Rev Fr. M Simon, pastor of the Queen of the Most Holy Rosary parish and Rev. J. J. Buckley, pastor of St. Joseph's parish, spiritual directors of the two baby subdivisions of the diocese.

Appreciation to the hostess sub-division, St. Michael the Archangel, was expressed by Mrs. M. Furlong, Perth.

After thanks to the guest artist and her accompanist the luncheon concluded with the singing of "O Canada."

The following officers were elected at resumption of business sessions, in St. Michael's Academy: president, Mrs. U. E. Haughian, of Stanleyville, organization and membership; first vice-president, Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, Brockville, citizenship, Red Cross and legislation; second vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Boyd, Belleville, education and scholarships; third vice-president, Mrs. J. McGlade, Gananoque, social and child welfare; recording secretary, Mrs. J. J. Lemieux, Kingston; publicity and League Magazine, Mrs. E. G. Hamilton, Elgin; Girl Guides; Mrs. R. F. Andrews, Kingston; resolutions and report forms, Mrs. H. B. Slavin, Picton; immigration and traveller's aid, Stella Maria, Mrs. J. B. Fisher, Kingston; radio, screen and television, Mrs. Ed. Logan, Belleville; Our Lady's Missionaries, Mrs. C. J. Brennan, Deseronto.

Group leaders of regional conferences: (1) Mrs. J. B. Fisher, Kingston; (2) Mrs. Basil LaPorte, Prescott; (3) Mrs. G. Gordon, Deseronto; (4) Mrs. M. Furlong, Perth; (5) Mrs. C. Bizeau, Trenton; (6) Miss Edna Leader, Merrickville; (7) Mrs. F. Tobin, Madoc.

At 7 p.m. a supper was served in St. Andrew's Hall with guest artists Robert Burke, who sang several selections and led a sing-song, and Mrs. Helen Grant Gaffney, who played the xylophone, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. Grant. At the conclusion Mrs. Ed Logan, president of St. Michael's subdivision extended thanks to the members of CWL who worked and contributed to the success of the convention.

The two-day convention closed with installation of officers by Monsignor Byrne in the Academy, following the Act of Consecration, and reading of the League promise, Mrs. Drake congratulated the newly-elected officers.

CAMPBELLFORD

Rotarians Hear Member Discuss Various Problems

CAMPBELLFORD — Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, speaking at the Rotary Club of Campbellford on Monday, stated that the desires of the people, whom he represents in the legislature, are the most effective guide for him in performing his duty. He said that rather than attempting to address such an audience, he would be happy to listen that he might the better represent his constituents.

UNDERSTANDING PROBLEMS.

His talk, though most interesting and informative, was most informal. At the outset he explained that understanding the people's problems is one of the chief functions of an elected representative. It is only thus that government can be truly effective. He further stated that serving the public is a job and that government must be regarded as a business. He expressed satisfaction in the statement of Hon. Leslie Frost, that more attention must be paid to the needs of Eastern Ontario, especially in view of the pending St. Lawrence Waterway.

HALF COST OF HIGHWAY.

He expressed concern over the fact that Ontario is contributing half the cost of the Trans-Canada highway built in the province, and Quebec refused to pay anything. He expressed the opinion that the millions spent on this project would be more effectively spent on No. 3 highway. Two-thirds of all motor vehicles registered in Ontario are within 20 miles of this great artery.

He said that Metropolitan Toronto is a great provincial problem. The needs of this area could well use up the entire provincial income. He pointed out that only two places on the continent had more automobile registrations than Metropolitan Toronto, these being Los Angeles and Detroit.

AESTHETIC NEW CANADIANS.

Though there is some slackening in certain industries, nothing can stop the great improvement to develop Ontario. "We must accept and assimilate the new Canadians, who come to our borders. We cannot expect to enjoy freedom and prosperity alone. It is only by giving honest value for the dollar that we can compete with the industrious immigrant, Mr. Goodfellow stated."

The speaker was introduced by past president Ralph Locke and thanked by past president F. S. Linton.

Paul O'Sullivan, chairman of the Youth Committee, reported that 13 children's ball games are being organized and that Mr. Al. Taylor has arranged for swimming instruction and supervision at Villa Trent.

Hailstorm Hits Toronto District

TORONTO (CP)—A freak, short-lived hailstorm with winds of gale force lashed half a dozen communities near Toronto Thursday, flattening crops and inflicting minor damage to homes and municipal facilities.

Hailstones the size of small apples were reported at Ceidon, 20 miles northeast of Toronto, where grain fields were flattened. Windows sheared off and tomato crops heavily damaged during the 25-minute blow.

In Bradford, 40 miles north of Toronto, vegetable crops were blown over as high winds whipped hailstones across Holland marsh fields, cutting a swath 300 yards wide.

At Oshawa, about 25 miles east, an estimated $1,000 damage was reported by M. E. Atkins whose four greenhouses were smashed by hail.

At Buffalo, N. Y., hailstones as big as ten to 12 diameter fell in the downtown area. In the Niagara peninsula the storm brought brief power failures.

Weddings

THAIN—BARLOW

St. Bride's Anglican Church, North Bay, was decorated with white gladioli, calla lilies and carnations for the ceremony on Saturday, May 22, of Elizabeth Ruth Barlow, to Lieutenant Glenn Thain, of Copper Cliff.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Barlow, Sherbrooke, North Bay, and the groom is the son of Mrs. F. E. Thain, of Stirling, and the late Mr. Thain.

The Rev. A. J. Whyman officiated.

The wedding music was played by Mr. Norman Vickers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a jacket dress of white lace and ribbed taffeta with the waists length skirt buttoning down a centre front. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a small net brim and she carried a beautiful bouquet of white gardenias, lily-of-the-valley, and Garnet Rhodenia.

Miss Dorothy Skuce, of Toronto, was maid of honor. She chose a gown styled similarly to the bride's in beige-pink faille taffeta with a matching headdress. Miss Skuce carried a nosegay of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. Clarence Thain, brother of the groom was groomsman for his brother, and Mr. Wilfred Barlow, of North Bay, brother of the bride, and Mr. Donald Rodgers, Stirling, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Bride's Parish Hall. The bride's mother chose a navy sheer and lace dress with pink and white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley. The bridegroom's mother, who assisted in receiving the guests, wore a navy mesh and lace gown with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations and lily-of-the-valley.

Following a wedding trip to Southern Ontario, and the United States, the bride and groom will reside at R.R. 1, Copper Cliff.

PREST—HAGEMAN

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 5, at 1:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. W. E. Belch, Belleville, when Eva Lillian Hageman, of Harold, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvenus Hageman, became the bride of Douglas John Prest, of Holloway, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Prest. Mr. Belch officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

During the signing of the register, Miss Mae Hageman, sister of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was charming in her street-length dress of pink Chantilly lace over taffeta. She wore a corsage of blue and white carnations and white accessories.

Mrs. Floyd MacInnes, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, wearing a pale blue nylon dress, with a corsage of pink roses and white accessories.

Mr. Floyd MacInnes attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, they left for a trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo and points west.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Prest will reside at Holloway.

Women's Activities

ST. MARGARET'S GUILD

The closing meeting of the season of St. Margaret's Guild of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill, was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Price.

Arrangements were made for the making of a quilt for the fall bazaar to be held in November, and a donation given to the church.

The Guild has had a most successful spring.

The first fall meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Pulman.

NORTHERN VOYAGES

Coats island in Hudson Bay was named after Capt. W. Coats of the Hudson's Bay Company, who made many voyages between 1727 and 1751.

Women's Activities

MELROSE W.M.S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Melrose W.M.S., was held at the home of Mrs. John Milligan on Wednesday last. A president, Mrs. George Morgan conducted the worship service with special prayers for the second assembly of the World Council of Churches, which will meet in Evanston, Illinois, in August, 1954.

Mrs. L. W. Scott read the Scripture lesson. Miss Bailey gave a reading on "Christianity and the Asian Problem." One of the two greatest unsolved problems is Race; the other is "Christianity."

Mrs. S. Demill read a poem "The Land of Beginning Again." Mrs. Russell MacFarlane, secretary of Christian Citizenship, gave a temperance reading, "Liquor," regarding securing that quota for schools. Two and one half times as much money is spent on liquor as for education. Per capita is spent on liquor in Canada.

Mrs. E. Badgley, Christian Stewardship secretary, gave a reading "God, Let Me Be a Giver."

Miss Bailey offered prayer for Miss Mary Louise Williams, missionary for special prayer.

Business period was conducted. Mrs. Jack MacFarlane kindly offered her home for the August meeting of the annual Baby Band party, when the members of the W.M.S. are host to the children. The date of the party is to be named later.

PROGRAM

Mrs. R. MacFarlane, group leader, took charge of the following program: Mrs. Osborn Smith, a reading "A Christian Manifesto." In these science days World forces are being shaped which, within a decade or two, will bring either a new advancing human destiny, or the utter wreckage of civilization. The issue depends in the last analysis, not upon decisions taken by a few statesmen in the back rooms of the nations, but upon the minds of the millions of individual men and women in the factory and on the farm, in the mine and in the home, will follow. If men and women will turn back to God and take the hand of Christ and walk with Him, there is nothing to fear.

Mrs. MacFarlane, assisted by Mrs. Fred Jeffrey and Miss Beatrice MacFarlane, presented a sketch play, "The Missionary Obligation of the Church," based on Willingen report of 1952. One hundred and ninety delegates representing over 50 countries, met at Willingen, Germany, in July 1952. They chose as their theme, "The Missionary Obligation of the Church." Deep concern was felt over the fact that in all these 1900 years as a Christian Church, "we have achieved so little of the task to which we are dedicated—making Jesus Christ known and loved in all the world. If our witness has been weak and ineffective, it is because we have not gone out to church, but also by individual church members, we have lost sight of our missionary calling.

RADICAL CHANGE

"We live in a world of radical change. We hear the cry of the masses—for a better life expressed in demands for land reform; higher standards of living; national independence, and racial equality.. in wide regions of the world, there is problem of hunger. These are the issues with which the Christian Church everywhere should be greatly concerned. Where there is a single member of the Church, there is one who is called to share in the final mission of the church by his witness in his daily life and work."

"Our church would be accomplished if we could interest all the women of the Church. The results would be unbelievable even if all the 90,000 adult members of the General Missionary Society took this matter seriously."

Mrs. Morgan graciously thanked all those who had assisted in the program and closed the meeting.

The summer meetings will be held in the church.

The hostess and helpers served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

ST. PAUL'S L.C.

MARMORA. — The monthly meeting of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild took place in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening with Mrs. Frank Leal presiding over a fair attendance of members.

The rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie, opened the meeting.

Subsequent to confirmation of minutes, the Dorcas department was read by Mrs. W. D. Lavender, treasurer, and found to be encouraging.

The only business on hand was the planning for the annual strawberry festival, and Wednesday, June 24, was decided on as the date, with the Parish Hall as the venue.

Yard sale party at the same hall on June 14, was also agreed upon.

Refreshments were served.

Capt. and Mrs. W. O. Frink Deseronto, Wed Fifty Years

A very happy event occurred at the home of Capt. and Mrs. W. O. Frink, Centre Street, Deseronto, on June 1st, when their children, relatives and friends, numbering over one hundred, visited them to tender their congratulations and best wishes. Also, over a hundred cards and telegrams from their many friends and relatives scattered over the United States and Canada have been received and many beautiful bouquets of flowers from neighbors and friends.

The dining room table was very tastefully decorated with a Chinese straw linen and lace embroidered cloth and centred with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, made and decorated by George Hagerman, baker, who has returned to Deseronto to reside. Mrs. Frink, the father, friend of the Frinks, was a baker for many years.

Delightful flower arrangements decorated the rooms, including a huge bouquet of golden brown roses, the Captain's gift to Mrs. Frink.

Among the many and beautiful gifts from relatives and friends, was a walnut Westminster Chimes clock from their children, and a silver tea set, gathered by Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, of Godfrey; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jordan, Deseronto, and Major and Mrs. W. D. H. Frink, Fort Petawawa Camp headquarters.

Mrs. George Tagg, Rochester, N.Y., poured tea. Mrs. G. Shea, Deseronto, and Mrs. Nelson Hart, Napanee, acted as hostesses to the callers received by Capt. and Mrs. Frink and Mrs. Clifford Smith, Napanee, Mrs. Garry Hagerman, Mrs. Nelson Hart, Napanee; Mrs. H. G. Babcock, Napanee, Mrs. Thomas Jordan, Deseronto and Mrs. Harry Brown, Godfrey, helped serve.

Among the many relatives present from the surrounding areas were Mr. and Mrs. George Field, of Rochester, New York, a niece of Capt. Frink and sister of Mrs. Shea of Deseronto and Mrs. Blake Gilbert of Napanee; and Mrs. Frink's aunt of Regina, a grandniece.

MARRIED IN 1904

Capt. W. O. Frink of Odessa, youngest son of the late Robert and Cynthia Frink, and Sarah A. Storey, daughter of the late Henry and Jessie Storey of Switzerville, were married in Napanee, on June 1st, 1904, by the Rev. George A. White. Their bridesmaid was Miss Pearl Mabee, of Odessa, and the best man Mr. Harry Frink, of Odessa.

Lieut. Frink joined the 21st Battalion and went over seas to England on May 5th, 1915, where he was joined two months later by Mrs. Frink and their three children. Their younger son, Major W. D. H. Frink was born at Lyninge, Kent, on the day of the Jutland Naval Battle, May 31st, 1916. Lieut. Frink was promoted to Captain in France. He was severely invalided to England in January, 1917, after three months in field hospital in France. In May, 1917, he returned to Canada with the family and in 1918 after further hospitalization was placed on the retired list with honorary rank of major.

In 1923, he joined the Provincial Police, was posted to Sudbury and in 1925 was transferred to the motorcycle patrol at Belleville.

Due to injuries and war service disability, he was retired in 1933.

Capt. and Mrs. Frink came to Deseronto in 1940 when their two sons were overseas with-the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Capt. Frink has been ill for many years, but Mrs. Frink is still able to carry on her household duties and is active in W.M.S., and W.A., and other United Church work. Mrs. R. A.

Bride, Bridegroom Feted by Reception

A reception was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rodgers, Stirling, when 60 relatives and friends gathered to greet Mr. and Mrs. Reeburn Thain, of Copper Cliff, who were recently married.

Receiving were, the groom's mother, Mrs. F. Thain, the bride and bridegroom and Mr. Garnet Thain.

The rooms were nicely decorated with cut flowers, pink and white predominating. The dining room table was prettily appointed with white cut-work linen cloth and centred with a three tiered wedding cake flanked by white candles.

The Rev. A. E. Baker was chairman for an enjoyable program including the singing of Mrs. Murray Meiklejohn; Miss Clara Thain, and Mr. Garnet Thain, accordion music by Mrs. Harold Linn; a humpel solo by Mr. Garnet Thain, and a Scottish dance by Beverley and Betty Linn with bagpipe music by their father, Mr. Carl Linn.

Response to the happy couple were voiced by Mr. Jonathan Thain, Mr. Rogart Linn and Mr. George Watson.

Refreshments were served, pictures were taken of the bride and bridegroom cutting the cake, and a social hour was enjoyed.

Q.F. Naturalists Enjoy Field Trip

Many member of the Quinte Field Naturalists club enjoyed another successful field trip, recently in spite of the cold, damp weather.

This time the host and hostesses were Mr. Roy and the Misses Minnie and Mina Moorcroft at their Valleycroft Farm, north of Foxboro.

Visitors were present from Ottawa and Haliburton.

One party enjoyed watching the blackbilled cuckoo do its best to help rid the country of tent caterpillars which are so plentiful in some areas.

Gilmour's were had of the beautiful blue bunting and the black-throated warbler with its flaming orange throat.

Weeds and wild flowers were studied as well as birds. One bush in the Moorcroft woods is a rarity for this area the bottle bush.

Picnic lunches were thoroughly enjoyed.

After the bird count, Miss Hart, the president, thanked the Moorcrofts for their hospitality.

Christ Church C.C. Has Successful Year

A most enjoyable bowling party was held by the Contact Club, Christ Church, on Monday evening, with six teams taking part in the play. Competition was keen both for first and bottom places. Prize winners were, Florence Lennox, with high score and Evelyn Hall, consolation. Catherine Roulet and Dorothy McCormick drew the lucky Hudson scores.

A short business session followed the bowling with president, Florence Lennox, presiding. The most important items on the agenda, were the reports of the various convenors of the recent "Summer Tea and Shopping Spree'. All reports showed that the event had been a most successful one and the members were thanked for their enthusiastic efforts in its accomplishment. Items which had not been purchased at the Spree were on display for the benefit of the members who wished to shop.

COOKING CLASSES

Evelyn Warham reported that the Contact Club cook book, "Cooking Classics" is proving most popular and that a large number of copies have already been sold. Anyone desiring to purchase this handy little book may obtain one by phoning Evelyn Warham at 4633J or Marg. Wiggins at 4701.

It was decided that the club should make a donation towards the curtains for the front door. A rummage sale will be held later in the month and members were asked to "round up the rummage".

New week's meeting will be the closing one for this season and will take the form of a picnic supper and social evening under the convenorship of the "June Girls". It is hoped that there will be a full turn-out of members. Refreshments, hot dogs and all the trimmings and coke, rounded out a most entertaining evening which saw the Bayview Queens who were conveners for this occasion.

New Executive For P.T. Assoc. Is Installed

The final meeting for the term for the Parent-Teacher, Association of the Separate Schools of Belleville and Rev. Sister Mary Claude, principal, was held in St. Michael's on Monday, Mr. R. Collins presided.

It was announced in the correspondence read by Mrs. Callaghan that Dr. Lloyd Jones is to be the guest speaker at the Archdiocesan Convention being held on June 13, in Kingston. Delegates to this meeting include Mr. R. Collins and Rev. Sister Mary Claude.

An interesting and encouraging report of the P.T.A. part of Ontario Educational Association convention in Toronto during Easter week was given by Mr. R. Collins and Mrs. Gallagher. The report dealt with the Parent-Teacher Association now contains over 15,000 names. There

Newsman Gets Top Honors With Housewife

BY PEGGY THOMAS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Newspaperman Robert K. Taylor is embarrassed. He shares top honors with his housewife in a national competition for the best design in handy household gadgets.

When the National Industrial Design committee and the Canadian Consumers Association today announced the results of their contest, Mr. Taylor, parliamentary correspondent for the Toronto Star, split the grand prize of $100 with Mrs. Stephen Dale of Hull, Que., a housewife.

Mr. Taylor, a 43-year-old bachelor who "lives alone and likes it," modestly described himself as "a very good cook." He submitted an idea for a kitchen table with an electrically-heated warming panel built in. This, he explained, would save housewives the bother of running to the stove every time a coffee cup, sky, needs refilling.

CONRAD TURREN

Mrs. Dale, whose husband is presentations officer at the CBC in Ottawa, thought of a combination soup pot-tureen with a detachable strainer inside. In an interview, she explained that the strainer is used to hold such delicate ingredients as bones.

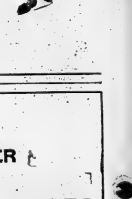
Once the soup is cooked, the strainer is removed, leaving nothing but the savor of a tooth-snapping bone. It saves pouring the soup through a strainer when serving, she explained.

Mr. Taylor, when interviewed shortly after learning his fate, was unhappily looking forward to the raising he expected from his press gallery colleagues.

"I thought the contest was a good idea and as a loyal member of the consumers association and as a good citizen, I entered but if I'd thought I was going to win, I wouldn't have. It's—it's—well—it's embarrassing. I'm very embarrassed."

ONLY MAN WINNER

Although he was the only man on the list of winners, Mr. Taylor was making no claims about male superiority in the kitchen.



"If more men had entered it would have been better, though," he added, somewhat wistfully.

The contest, for the best design in household articles, brought in nearly 1,000 ideas from 350 contestants.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

PAY NO ATTENTION TO RUDE PEOPLE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a boy I met some time ago at a party with whom I have been good friends.

Now he is going steady with a girl who is very catty towards me because she knows that I used to like his boy and that I still do. She is constantly trying to make me jealous, and it is getting annoying.

This boy used to stop to talk to me when we happened to meet, but now he only gives me dirty looks and passes by.

I know I haven't said or done anything wrong to either of them, but do you think I should ask him if anything is wrong, or pay no attention to either one? — B, Dear B.:

I think you should pay no attention to any sexton way to people who act as these two are doing. Be hello in a friendly way if you meet, so you will not rude to them as they are to you; then let it go at that. You must have plenty of other friends, so enjoy yourself with them and give these two no further thought.

HE'S NOT OF HER FAITH—HER MOTHER OPPOSES MARRIAGE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My mother opposes my marriage to a man I love very much simply because he is not of the same faith. She admits that she likes him and can find nothing else against him.

Since I am 21 and this man is 25, and since we have been going together for four years, which is certainly long enough for us to know whether or not we would be happy together, I feel we should follow our own wishes and not our mother or anyone else influence us.

Don't you agree? — Lois M.

While there is a great deal in what you say about making your own decision, but just let me suggest one thing to you that you might consider before flatly disregarding your mother's wishes.

While the fact that a young man a girl are not of the same faith should not, by any means, automatically shut the door on their marriage, you must, at the same time, fully realize that there are difficult and delicate questions involved in such a marriage. Your mother is obviously aware of these and worrying about them. She probably feels that you have no control of the conditions that might be up against if you were to marry someone whose ways of thinking differ greatly from yours.

On the other hand, if you and this chap realize these things, have gone into them seriously enough to fully understand each other, and have agreed on how you would get together on certain things points on which such agreement would be imperative if your marriage is to be successful, it might be that her attitude would change.

If the two of you have not really talked everything over in this way and figured out just exactly how you could reconcile your differences so that there would be no crises after marriage, then I suggest that you do so at once. Then, when you have everything worked out between you, ask your mother to sit down with you and hear your plans.

If these plans are as wise as can possibly be made, and if your mother still fails to accept and approve them, then I think you have a right to go ahead without her approval.

Stage Shows Brighten Nurses' Convention

By JANE SHERINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Two stage productions will be the highlight Wednesday at the biennial Canadian Nurses' Association convention here. One was serious; the other, a farce.

Tuesday day's business session was broken by a dramatized exhibition of teamwork among nurses' service. "Let's All Work Together," Script was by Mrs. Helen Tucker, special lecturer in oral expression at the University of Toronto.

Wednesday night students at the convention wound up a business card of their own with a skit and fashion parade on nursing in the last 30 years. Theme was old, old, something new."

Members getting back to 1870 were sent from all over Canada to the Westbank chapter of the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses, organizer of the show.

Committee chairman Jo Gordon is a full-length 1870 uniform complete with bustle: "You sure couldn't sit down on the job in those days."

SALARIES CRITICIZED

Keeler, delegates heard that many private nursing registrars and their assistants are being "grossly underpaid" and that salaries ranging from $335 to $2,000. Mrs. Eva Brackenridge of Peterborough Ont., said she has found a little improvement in salaries for nursing work. The great difference between private and public nurses' salaries.

Commenting on this report, given by the private nursing committee, Eileen Flanagan of Montreal, association president, told the Association of Nurses, said hospitals, industry and other employers follow nursing organizations in paying nurses, such as "grossly underpaid" salaries."

The health insurance committee reported a brief will be prepared by the CNA for immediate submission if and when a parliamentary health insurance committee is formed. The document would detail nursing services should a health insurance scheme be adopted.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMESON

THE CARE OF THE LIPS

The lipstick brightens and glorifies the mouth but it cannot camouflage an unpleasant expression. On the contrary it will accent it. It is fundamentally necessary that when the countenance is radiant with animation and charm.

There is an old saying to the effect that eyes remain ever the same, that the mouth changes. But the mouth is what you make it. Observe the sullen woman with drooping lip corner if her lips are thin, and the bitter face they may look like the mask of tragedy. If a woman cannot change her disposition for the better she might do as well throw the contents of the make-up box out of the window. Cosmetics cannot perform miracles. Make-up should be placed on a pleasing countenance if it is to accomplish the purpose for which it was intended.

When we say a person has a "weak mouth," it suggests a weak character. And so it does. Selfish desires and demands reflect themselves in a mouth that lacks character, in surrounding tissues that are soft and sagging.

The woman who is intolerant and critical will pull the lower lip inward. In the course of time she will develop a "machine-gun" face that will not win her beauty laurels. Whining, complaining women have lips that always seem about to quiver, like those of a spoiled child. Lip-biting, a deplorable habit will bring lines from nostrils to the lips. When they become established they are rightly termed the ninety-nine year lease. Only plastic surgery can erase them.

Of our facial habits few of us are aware. When we regard ourselves in the mirror, the opportunity is in a state of repose. We do not realize the acrobatic performances of which facial muscles are capable.

When applying cream to your face, do quick, light taps around your mouth. The fibers there are still and delicate. Light massage will help to keep them firm.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . do you know either pieces for the piano or how books of training hostey recipes? Canadian publications that is.—Agnes.

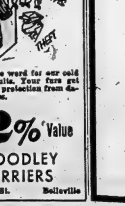
ANSWER:

Winnie asked about honey recipes last week. Here are two more ideas. I have a booklet entitled "Use More Ontario Honey." It is an Ontario Department of Agriculture Bulletin 274, published March 1933, from Macdonald Institute and by Mary Darby. Another from the Dominion Department of Agriculture entitled "Honey and Some Ways It May Be Used" by C. B. Goodersham is Publication 501, Household Bulletin 2, March 1940. You might try writing for them to see if any are still on hand.

QUESTION:

Could you please help me with a problem: A buffet supper banquet where individual tables are reserved for each party of guests, approximately 300 guests. Food to be small sandwiches (fancy), small cakes and cookies (fancy), assorted pickles. Sandwiches preferred: egg and onion, cheese, ham. Could you tell me how much bread, eggs, cheese, ham, onions and cake mixtures I will need. The previous caterer allowed three sandwiches per person, 2 cakes per person, More pickles than you needed per person. Do you agree?—Mrs. S.

ANSWER:



In October of 1952 I was convener and sandwich-maker-in-chief for a buffet party the Prince Club gave for 200 people. I wrote a column about it giving all of the ingredients. I'm sorry I'm not mailing you a copy of that, also a copy of the third instalment of wedding reception data printed here May 20 which includes sandwiches for large or large crowds. I hope these will be a help to you. The three sandwiches are quite sufficient, unless the food is served at a normal meal-time, then a dessert wouldn't be adequate anyway.

QUESTION:

I would be obliged if you would give me the benefit of your advice with regard to strawberry jam. Each year I make 18 quarts of strawberries (Sir Jam, using (commercial liquid pectin), and until last year the jam was successful and did not deteriorate. The jam that was made last year (I followed the recipe to date, trying to find the reason for this is factors I have taken into account are: (1) The fruit last year was perfect. My neighbor, a farmer who grows for the city market, invited me to help myself to the fruit. Last winter after the retail price dropped below 50c a quart, so naturally I picked as fast as possible. Some years I bought when retail price was 25c and fruit was not the best. (2) The jars were sterilized before using and were sealed with wax as in previous years, (3) Jam was stored in same place in basement. Some commercial liquid pectin) bought in (stores with fast turnover). I used the fruit for freezing too and it has kept perfectly. Also, other people who made jam from the same patch of berries have no complaints regarding their preserves as is there any other point which I have not taken into consideration?—M.S.B.

ANSWER:

Your method sounds infallible. However I read your letter to some of my Home Ec friends and have all agreed that to bringing your jam to the "full rolling boil" you may have cut it short by a matter of five seconds and the heat did not penetrate to the centre of the jam which were probably quite large, since you say you picked the perfect ones. Correct sterilization will cause fermentation, that is if your seal is perfect.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BECKMAN

FIANCEE'S PARENTS HURT

Dear Mrs. Beckman:

Bob and I have just become engaged, but our engagement has not been announced. His parents are giving a dinner party and a set party at their home to celebrate their Twenty-first Wedding Anniversary, and they told me they would very much like to announce our engagement on this occasion, because then all their relatives and family friends will be present. When I suggested this to my mother and father they were very much disturbed, said they were hurt that I would even consider letting anyone "take over" their privilege of making the announcement. Are they right about this? If so, can you suggest any plan I could make to please both families? — Carol L.

Your mother and father are absolutely right in their point of view. And I can understand their disappointment and hurt at your inconsiderate suggestion. Certainly they are the ones who should be given the honor of making the announcement. Assure them now of your complete faith in them. Then ask them if they will announce your engagement as soon as possible, and in any way they wish. As easily and simply as announcing it at a dinner-party, or giving a dinner or luncheon or tea for you. Tell them that you and Bob's parents are the only guests or (if the party is a large one) as the only guests for whom your parents having made the announcement. You and Bob may attend the wedding anniversary party as fiancee and fiance. . . your mother and father would be important guests at this celebration, and Bob and you should be formally introduced to all relatives and friends of your fiancee's family.

COUPLE NEEDS MONEY GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband's parents are to have their 40th Wedding Anniversary next month, and we are planning to make a contribution into the fund to help them celebrate. Could you please tell me how much money is generally given for a present of this kind? Should it be a money-tree. Now for the their anniversary? — Jonlo.

Giving the couple a check or a money-order would be a good way of making this money-presentation. . . convenient for both parties concerned. But this money-presentation. . . convenient for both parties concerned. But only a very sturdy cover, and cover the cover with a piece of attractive lining paper, or white moire, or white glazed chintz, giving as much as possible the effect of diamonds which are the symbol of the 40th Wedding Anniversary. Then give or send to each one to be invited a page from the book, ask the relative or friend to please write an anniversary-message to the couple, and wish, attach with a clip or transparent tape (this very, very white kind) an envelope containing a bill check for the amount they wish to give. Then the Anniversary Book would be assembled, and presented to the Couple at the Open House occasion. . . a real memorabilia!

Women's Institute

CANNIFTON-CORBYVILLE

The Canniton and Corbyville Women's Institute held its May meeting recently with 19 members present. The meeting was opening in the usual manner with the president, Mrs. H. Shorey, presiding.

A letter of thanks was read by Mrs. Ellsworth from Mrs. Rusk for a basket of groceries received.

After a business discussion, Mrs. Shorey gave an interesting report on her trip to the convention of W.I. presidents at Guelph.

Reports of standing committees were read by Mrs. F. Bleeckman, Mrs. Kay Windsor reported on "Citizenship."

The program was in charge of Mrs. F. Bleekman. The motto: "The world is taking your picture, look pleasant please," was carried out during the remainder of the program. Some amusing contents were held.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her helpers and a social hall hour was spent.

Marmora

MARMORA—Mr. Dick Meehan of Burlington, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Meehan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lavender visited their son, Ivan, and Mrs. Lavender, in Toronto, on Saturday, and also attended the wedding that day of their nephew, Glen Lavender.

Mr. Herbert Burnes, of Toronto, attended the C.O.T.C. Mothers meeting here on Saturday.

Mrs. Ted Symonds, (nee Hilda O'Connor), of Hamilton, daughter of Mr. Earl O'Connor of Marmora Township, left Montreal by plane on Sunday en route to her birthplace, Whitehorse, Shropshire, England. She will visit her uncle, Fred Barnes, in Shropshire also relatives and friends in Liverpool and London.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Church W.M.S., was held in the Ladies' Parlor on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. J. Craig was in the chair and Mrs. Kane took over the devotions in the form of a "Flight Around the World" discussion.

Mrs. Kane presented Japan and Mrs. G. Shaw the Indian and Chinese leader; Mrs. Thompson was a professor in Africa.

VARIED QUESTIONS

The guide asked many and varied questions as reports at home were varied and most confusing. It was noted that the work had been done extensively by Japan with the Koreans, and especially with young groups. The field is extensive but need is for a leader. It has been driven out. The Christian Mission in China really isn't "Export" work.

MORE CHRISTIANS NEEDED

In India the key to the Church has been mainly with the Christian Indians themselves. The people live in tight little units which are difficult to break in. It was the Christians who protected the helpless. Also the refugees and received the sick and wounded into hospitals. India needs more Christians.

One hundred years the Church has grown in Africa in spite of white opposition and injustices to because Christianity did not come to Africa as a white man's religion, but as a man.

The meeting closed with afternoon tea being served.

FOXBORO W.A.

The ladies of Foxboro Anglican W.A., met at the home of Mrs. Ivan Wannamaker, with President, Mrs. Gay, presiding.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read by Mrs. Hill; collection or dues made.

Plans were made to have a strawberry festival at Mrs. Gay's, the latter part of June.

An interesting report on the annual diocesan Women's Auxiliary meeting, held in Belleville, was given by the delegate, Mrs. Joslin.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stephens, assisted by Mrs. Churchill.

Modern Trend for Burlap Drapes Has Caught on in United States

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The lowly burlap bag has invaded the home again after being out of vogue for years.

The modern trend for burlap drapes, slip covers, place mats, aprons and tablecloths has caught on in the United States. It is in its infancy in Canada.

Most surprising note, considering the heavy textured coarseness of the jute fibre, is burlap's climb into fashion circles. New York designer Elizabeth Cowan has fashioned coats, suits, skirts and hats of burlap and expects to produce more as the idea catches on.

TRIED OUT IN PARIS

Paris couturiers are experimenting a little, and Miss Cowan tried out her own designs privately by making craft items such as place mats, tablecloths and dresser scarfs. Mail-order cloth has also turned up in men's fashion. Shortly after the craze in the U.S. a burlap-covered burlap suit was spotted in Montreal.

Designer Cowan got interested when using burlap as a backdrop for a party recently. She began

$417 in Pennies Is Collected

PICTON—A total of $417.56 or just under a half-mile of pennies, was collected in Saturday's Mile of Pennies drive for Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital. Girl Guides and Brownies of Bloomfield, Picton Heights and Picton, with their leaders were on duty from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. supervising the laying of pennies and other donations on a white line which town employees had painted along the sidewalk edge on Main St. A $25 donation from J. B. Falconer gave the drive a boost.

Town coin counters were used and the money was counted by W. D. MacArthur, Miss Maude Helmer, Miss McCaw, Mrs. MacArthur and others.

Tenders Called For 100 Houses As Rental Units

PICTON — Tenders are being received until next Thursday for the erection of one hundred houses in Picton. These units are to provide living quarters for service and civilian personnel of the local Artillery station. Owner of the rental units will be Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Seventy three-bedroom units, twenty four-bedroom units and ten two-bedroom units are envisioned in the proposal. Ownership of the units will be vested in the operator, who will provide necessary serviced land.

Various sites in the town have been checked but exact location has not yet been decided.

Tenders for the construction of chapels at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery have been received but no contract awarded. Each chapel will seat 250 persons, one being for Protestants and the other for Roman Catholics.

PRESIDENT RE-ELECTED

Mrs. Margery Percival, Cobourg, president of the Ontario Business and Professional Women's Association installed officers of Picton Association at a dinner meeting here, Wednesday night. Miss Dona Cooper was re-elected president, with Miss Laura Hall and Mrs. Gladys Porter as vice-president; Miss Lois Goodmurphy, recording secretary; Miss Mary Haylock, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Aleda Markland, treasurer. Chairladies of committees are: Mrs. Lois Gentile, program; Miss Maude Helmer, membership and International; Miss Mollie Hedges, ways and means; Mrs. Marjorie Drury, social; Mrs. G. Porter, publicity; Miss Peggy Cowan, sunshine; Miss Irene Fiewelling, bulletin.

Colored motion pictures of their 10,000 mile trip to California and Mexico were shown by Phil Dodds and Sam Gentile. A highlight was a complete film giving every detail of a bull fight in Mexico city.

PUBLISHER DIES

CHICAGO (AP)—Will Rossiter, publisher of popular music since 1890, died Thursday night at the age of 87. Rossiter's firm published "Turkey in the Straw," "Sons of These Days," "At the Darktown Strutter's Ball," and many other songs that became all-time favorites.

PICTON

Officials of CNR Railway, Steel Company Visit Plants

PICTON — Prominent officials of the Canadian National Railways and of the Bethlehem Steel Company visited the company's huge ore storage bin and dockside east of Picton, yesterday afternoon. This was a joint conference of executives to inspect progress at the large open pit mine and sintering plant at Marmora, and the rail to water transhipment point at Picton. The party left Marmora by special train at 11 a.m., arriving at Picton in early afternoon.

Ore will not commence to move to Picton from Marmora until late autumn, it was learned. At that time there will be special ceremonies to mark the opening of the transportation arrangement. From the beginning of ore movement by rail, it is expected that a train will move from Marmora to Picton daily, 365 days a year. This will be a movement of forty cars carrying two thousand tons daily. During the winter months the ore will be stock-piled in the huge bin which parallels the cliff at the dock-site here.

During the navigation season, the large ore carriers of the Bethlehem Steel Co. will receive their loads from the bin on the cliff above, for trans-shipment to Lackawanna, N.Y.

In connection with the shipment, new and heavier rails have been laid on the railway track from Trenton to Picton and a new siding was built from west of the town to the shipping point at Bethlehem east of Picton.

Representatives of the C.N.R. here yesterday included: M. A. Metcalfe, Montreal, vice-president; W. H. Kyle, vice-president Toronto; J. V. Maloney, Chicago, assistant vice-president; G. E. Smith, general freight traffic manager, Montreal; E. R. Dalrymple, freight traffic manager, Toronto; K. Huffman, chief engineer, Toronto; S. J. Raymond, Industrial and Joint Facility Commissioner, Toronto; E. H. Locke, general superintendent (Southern Ontario District (Toronto).

Representatives of Bethlehem Steel Co. were: A. B. Homer, president; A. F. Peterson, vice-president, mining division; F. S. Millikin, vice-president, Purchasing; R. H. Schlottman, vice-president and comptroller; W. C. Crawford, vice-president, Traffic; F. M. Huffman, general traffic manager, all of Bethlehem, Pa.; S. J. Shale, manager, Ore division, Toronto; J. Paj; H. C. Olsen, general superintendent, Marmora; S. S. Shaak, resident auditor, of Marmora.

Admit Failure On Narrow Rift Eden's Demand

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today called on the Indo-China peace conference to narrow East-West differences without delay or admit failure.

The British diplomat declared the differences are both wide and deep but he said his delegation is "still willing to attempt to resolve them."

"But if the positions remain as they are today," he said, "then it is our clear duty to say so to the world, and to admit that we have failed."

STIRLING

Over 100 Ladies Attend Afternoon Tea, Bake Sale

STIRLING— Mrs. Roy Duffin was hostess for a delightful afternoon tea and bake sale on Friday afternoon, June 4, at her home, 67 King Street, Stirling.

Approximately 100 ladies attended the function and these included guests from Belleville and nearby points.

The living room was decorated with sweetpeas and potted plants and as the guests enjoyed a quiet chat, Mrs. Ray Shortt and Mrs. Roscoe Vanderwater delighted with appropriate music.

A large vase of lily-of-the-valley, graced the hall table, and here the treasurers, Mrs. Sid Demorest, Mrs. Edna Wright, Mrs. C. A. Weir, Miss Gena Spry, were in charge of finances.

The hostess and the Mesdames Grand, Mrs. Harry Vandervoort, welcomed the guests as they arrived.

BOWER OF BEAUTY

The dining room was a bower of beauty with pastel sweetpeas and blush pink roses in low bowls with gleaming silver candelabra and green and pink tapers. Two silver services were placed at either end and here Miss Gena Spry, P.D.D.P., Mrs. Mabel Meggison, P.D.D.P., Mrs. Earl Bailey, P.D.D.P., Miss Evelyn Bailey, P.D.D.P., Mrs. W. H. V. Walker and Mrs. Earl Fox, District Deputy President, presided at the urns.

Fifteen guests were invited to the tearoom at each sitting by Mrs. Morley Ruttan, Vice-Grand and Mrs. Walter T. Elliott.

Dainty sandwiches and cookies in a variety of sizes with trays of relishes were served during the afternoon by Mrs. Robert Philp, Mrs. James Bailey, Mrs. Lorne Wright, Mrs. Harold Wells, Mrs. Don Heath and Mrs. Roy Eggleton.

Mrs. R. A. Patterson convened the tea-room and those assisting were, Mrs. Guy Bradshaw, Mrs. Joe Whitehead, Mrs. Hiram Munday, Mrs. S. J. Elliott, Mrs. Arthur Vandervoort, and Mrs. Mary Vandervoort.

DELICIOUS FOOD

The front porch was decorated with seasonal blooms supplied by Mrs. Ernest Ward. The food table contained a variety of delicious food, cakes of all descriptions, all lusciously iced; small cup cakes, cookies and macaroons, pies, rolls, tarts, large and small.

Eggs, cream, horseradish, pickles, mustard sauce, maple syrup and this netted the lodge over $25.

Mrs. Percy Usman, Mrs. Sid Williams, Mrs. Alex Bush, Mrs. Kenneth Belcour and Mrs. Edward Hessman catered to the buying public.

Mrs. Harvey Pitcher sold tickets on an amish cake which she provided and Mrs. A. E. Carleton was the lucky winner.

The event was most successful and it was ideal weather for such an occasion. Mrs. Noble Grand was most grateful for the assistance given by members.

FOXBORO

Many Friends Mark 25th Anniversary

FOXBORO—About 25 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart, on Friday evening, in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The rooms were gaily decorated with cut flowers for the occasion. In the centre of the table was a large bowl of white lilacs and lupins. On each side, tall white candles and silver tea service.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart received many lovely gifts for which both voiced appreciation. Mrs. Stewart received a cabinet of silverware a gift from the bridegroom.

A dainty luncheon was served. Flash pictures were taken and each one departed wishing them many more years of health, happiness and prosperity.

Relatives and friends were present from Picton, Belleville, Cannifton and Demorestville.

Mr. Archie McCullough and sister, Mrs. Mildred Way, spent a couple of days in Toronto, this week.

CANADIAN LEGION L.A.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion were hostesses to a cribbage and euchre party on Monday evening. Fifteen tables were in play. The winners were, euchre, ladies' high, Mrs. Ross of Picton; low, Mrs. Norman Vancleaf; men's high, Leonard Vancleaf, and low, Earl Lumley.

Winners for cribbage were, ladies' high, Mrs. Plain and low, Mrs. Ralph Moore; men, Carl Bryant and Wilbur King.

The ladies drew two lucky tickets from the tickets which had been sold recently on two lovely wool blankets. The winning numbers of these were 116, held by Mr. Burton Tice, Lakeshore Road and 794 held by Mrs. or J. Shields, Consecon. The proceeds of both the party and the draw go towards the purchase of the inhalator which the Legion and its Auxiliary are buying for the town and vicinity.

On Saturday night the Legion is holding a bingo in the town hall and invite everyone who can come to attend. The prizes will be hams and chickens and a jackpot.

W.C.S. ASSEMBLY

The W.C.S.'s last monthly assembly for the term opened with the school song. The Scripture and prayer were read by Bob Denard.

Program was prepared by the students, who were excused from writing their final examinations. The program opened with a vocal quartette, by Wanda Down, Carol Marvin, Marion Dales and Kathryn Ferguson, accompanied by Carley Cleaver; a tap dance by Patricia Ward, Barbara Dick and Colleen Yandi; quick comedy called "Ferry Fare", by Eldon Carson, Lanny Huff, Daryl Morden and Bob Denard presented a bit of humor. Patricia Ward, Barbara Dick, and Colleen Yandi did a second dance number.

Following this were two films, "Eskimo Summer," and "Circus at the Zoo."

Nelda Wasmund and Kathryn Ferguson led in a sing-song accompanied by Carley Cleaver.

Next came a third film, "Cadet Holiday," which was quite interesting and humorous. Murray Alexander favored with a guitar solo and received an encore. Ted Foster gave a humorous reading "Casey Up to Bat." Evelyn Wright favored with a piano solo, and an encore. Quick comedy, "She's a Beauty," acted by Sally East, Lois Wasmund, Joyce Dick, and Jean Ann Parks, was followed by the Grade 11 send-off introduced by Joan Mattis. Each student told some little happening throughout their school days and where they were going when they left school.

HOW TO AVOID FATIGUE ON LONG TRIPS!

Get plenty of rest before you start trip!

- Adjust your seat frequently to a new position. Don't slouch. Keep car cool and well ventilated — with at least one window open at all times.
- Stop occasionally to massage eyelids gently with fingers, and to rest your eyes by moving them up and down, then side to side.
- Keep meals light . . . avoid starchy, greasy foods.
- Stop every hundred miles. Get out and stretch your legs to relax tense muscles.

FOLLOW THESE SIMPLE RULES

1. Keep windows open
2. Don't slouch
3. Adjust seat to new position

"Where Parking Is No Problem"

MAKESHIFT KITCHEN

Communal feeding would become a problem if a Canadian city should be devastated by an atomic bomb. Even outside the area of heavy damage civic services such as gas, electricity and water would be knocked out. Part of the answer to the problem of feeding homeless hundreds is in this makeshift kitchen built by civil defence workers as part of their training. It would be made of old oil drums and brick from the rubble that an atomic bomb explosion would leave. (CP Photo).

RESCUE IN THE RUINS

In the event of an atomic-bomb attack on a Canadian city, the first to enter a ruined area will be the fire fighters, first-aid and rescue workers. Such well-trained personnel are part of a good civil defence program. This posed picture was taken during a demonstration of rescue-training technique at the Civil Defence College when it operated two years ago at Connaught Ranges, near Ottawa. (CP Photo).

Writer Envisages What Might Happen After Atomic Attack

Editor's Note: Forbes Rhude, Canadian Press business editor, has surveyed civil defence preparations across Canada, talked with civil defence authorities and studied reports on effects of nuclear explosions in Japan and the Pacific testing grounds. In this story, one of a series, he envisages what might happen after an atomic attack on a Canadian city.

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

Let imagination, the enemy is overhead and an atomic-bomb has been dropped over our city.

We have heard the wail of sirens, or other warning, if our city has them.

At 2,000 feet the missile explodes. We already know, from pictures and descriptions, that blinding flash of light, the wave of searing heat, the terrific wind, the roar of sound, the poisonous, rising mushroom cloud.

DESTRUCTION AREA

If we are within a half-mile of ground zero, the point beneath the explosion, we are encircled by ruin and death, probably dead ourselves.

Maybe, however, we are outside that mile-across ring, somewhere in an area which runs another half-mile in all directions from it, an area of severe damage.

Here, too, are the flash, the heat, but because we have read what to do, we have thrown ourselves under a desk, or into an entryway, and shielded our eyes. Perhaps we have had time to go to a basement shelter.

In the vicinity hundreds are injured and trapped. If we have taken rescue training we will know what to do.

For the most part, however, we are dazed and helpless, stumbling over rubble six and 10 feet deep through what used to be streets. We are refugees.

Beyond us, if ours is a considerable city, is a further area of moderate damage fanning out another half-mile and, beyond that, probably relative stability.

PROBLEMS HERE TOO

Those districts have their problems, too. Perhaps they have no electricity, gas, water services. Water and exposed food may be contaminated with radio-activity. Those who stored away fruit juices and food in containers are fortunate and life-savers to others.

At least a few know how to set up a communal kitchen out-of-doors, or make curbside cook stoves out of rubble, a garbage can and a pan of oil; perhaps groups of neighboring women have planned beforehand how they would operate jointly in such an event until more normal living is restored.

Even those fortunate people in the less damaged areas will still have problems, will have to care for their children, maintain some sort of life, perhaps worry about relatives in the destroyed area.

However, within those areas, we may hope, are men and women trained in first aid, fire fighting, rescue work, and there are doctors and nurses.

In a well-organized civil defence program they will know what to do, if they are able. You will meet them coming in, as you stumble out.

They will give first aid on the spot, and send the homeless to reception areas already being put into operation.

SEARCH FOR SURVIVORS

Others of the advance parties will try to dig out the trapped and fight the small fires or hem in the ones already out of control.

Wherever there is not complete destruction, surviving block wardens have gone to their posts, if there is a warden system.

They have in the banners of residents in every house and apartment and know who may be under that fallen building.

They know, too, the resources and skills of their block; where to look for shovels and pick axes; for electricians and plumbers.

These first minutes are precious, and doubly so in winter.

In the broader problems, the first hours are precious. The manner in which the people are handled then will decide whether their trust and confidence will be restored or whether they may become a fear-ridden rabble.

OTHER CITIES HELP

Meantime, your stricken city is not alone; communities ranging out to 30 or 100 miles know about your situation. Fire equipment is speeding in; rescue and welfare parties are on their way; homes and halls are preparing to receive refugees; feeding and clothing centres are being organized; a mutual aid area is in operation.

If a hydrogen bomb struck instead of a conventional A-bomb, multiply deaths and destruction by five. Your city can do less for itself and virtually the whole weight will fall upon the outside communities.

If it was blockbusters and incendiaries, the toll and damage are less, especially if you have an organization which will go to work fast.

Except for radio - activity, the problems are the same, only smaller, but they will multiply quickly in fire and unnecessary loss of life if you don't get to work on them at once.

UN REVIEW READY

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. Social Credit MP Charges CBC With Broadcasting Communist-Line Radio Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—A Social Credit member of Parliament Thursday night charged the CBC with broadcasting Communist-line radio talks and then heard himself described as "the best friend the Communists have."

John Blackmore (SC — Lethbridge) renewed in the Commons accusations against the publicly-owned CBC.

However, he faced more interruptions and questioning than last Friday, when he said some CBC broadcasts followed the Communist line because they taught revolution and socialism, questioned Biblical teachings and presented life in Russia in a favorable light.

At one point Thursday night, he was interrupted by Claude Ellis (SCF—Regina) who said: "You are the best friend the Communists have."

HIS QUESTIONS

Mr. Blackmore, in a series of questions, singled out the Canadian newspaper men who have made CBC broadcasts and asked who chose them. The two he named were J. B. McGeachy, a member of the editorial board of the Toronto Globe and Mail, and Charles Woodsworth, editor of the Ottawa Citizen and son of the late J. S. Woodsworth, founder of the CCF party.

Mr. Blackmore said people have mentioned CBC broadcasts for him.

"I must say that the broadcasts on which I have received a report do, to a surprising degree, follow the Communist line. As I said the other night, they are indoctrinating the people of Canada with the Communist line in speech after speech, and I have mentioned only two of the gentlemen concerned."

State Secretary Pickersgill interjected: "Is this some more bought control?"

Mr. Blackmore replied: "The member of Parliament for Lethbridge is not supposed to exercise any power over thought control, but McGeachy and Woodsworth Woodsworth are."

MEMBER REPLIES

A. M. Nicholson (CCF—Mackenzie) said that neither Mr. Woodsworth nor Mr. McGeachy could be branded as Communists. Their Newspapers would not have placed them in such responsible positions if there had been any doubt of their loyalty. Mr. McGeachy had done an outstanding job during the Second World War in broadcasts from London building up the cause of Britain and the Allies.

"I think the job those two particular men are doing on the CBC is one that is given people easier confidence in our democratic and free way of life," he said.

Mr. Blackmore replied that he does not question their loyalty. "I did not call in question whether or not they were Communists."

"The usual McCarthy technique" Mr. Ellis interjected, an apparent reference to investigation methods of the U.S. Senate sub-committee headed by Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Third Largest Lake in Israel May Disappear

HULATA, Israel (Reuters) — Lake Huleh, the third largest lake in Israel, and its adjoining marshes are to disappear within a year.

In their place about 25,000 acres of three-crops-a-year fertile land will provide a livelihood for hundreds of people.

Many miracles were enacted in Biblical times in this region. The present one is behind performed by engineers and machines.

Two Dredgers are piercing through the slimy, muddy waters amid a jungle of papyrus reeds and decayed vegetation to cut new riverbeds for the waters of the Jordan.

The Huleh basin in northeast Israel lies in the shadow of snow-capped Mount Hermon. It is a narrow triangular valley, 16 miles in length and 5½ miles in width.

Three streams, Hasbani, Leddan and Banias, run through the northern part of the valley and join at its centre to form the River Jordan.

A huge marsh, extending over 17,000 acres covers the southern part of the valley. South of the marsh lies shallow Lake Huleh covering about 1,250 acres and only six to 10 feet deep.

Millionaire Is Staking Future In Geraldton

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP)—Roy Barker, one of three Manitouwadge prospectors who each made more than $1,000,000 in one of the biggest base metal finds in Canadian history, is staking his fortune in the future of this town.

He's building a $100,000 home for his family on solid rock-bed near the huge log cabin in which he lived 20 years and plans to develop his 20-acre property into a park in this community 130 miles northeast of Port Arthur.

Already he's taken over $50,000 of the town's debentures, has offered another $50,000 to the community to extend water services to his land and the neighboring area about 1½ miles from the centre of town and has lifted the mortgage on the Presbyterian church.

The three "Sunday prospectors," auto dealer Jack Forster; Bill Dabrowdich, a former CNR employee now a lumber camp foreman, and Mr. Baker, staked claims little more than a year ago that made them rich and started a mining rush that rivalled Klondike days.

Churchill Will Be Installed As Member Order of Garter

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP) — In a ceremony of ritual and solemn music, Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill will be installed Monday as a member of the Order of the Garter.

The ceremony will be in St. George's chapel at Windsor, where kings and queens are buried.

It will be a moving moment in the life of the 79-year-old statesman. Soaring in with him will be the queen he adores, Elizabeth II, who elevated him to the exalted knighthood a year ago with the touch of a golden sword in a drawing room of Windsor castle.

The honor is one he turned down in 1945, shortly after the defeat of the Conservative party in the first post-war general election. He has never elaborated on why he refused then.

"ORDER OF THE BOOT"

A palace columnist said Churchill begged King George VI "that in the present circumstances he might be allowed to decline the office." One unverified story was that Churchill chimed remarked "How can I accept the Order of the Garter from my sovereign when his people have just given me the order of the boot."

But the voters later changed their mind. And so did Churchill.

The service in the chapel will complete his introduction into the select group. He will be assigned to one of the stalls which flank the cheir of the beautiful chapel in which knights sit to hold their infrequent ceremonies.

The Queen will preside.

IMPRESSIVE REGALIA

The regalia he will receive is impressive. Most important — the very heart of the order — is the garter itself. It is a gold-edged band of blue velvet on which golden letters proclaim the order's motto, "Honi soit qui mal y pense"—evil to him who thinks evil.

Legend says King Edward III, who established the order 600 years ago, overheard these words when the beautiful and demure Joan, Countess of Salisbury, lost her garter at a state ball. The king picked up the garter, wrapped it around his own leg and delivered the remark in rebuke to rude courtiers who snickered at the countess' plight.

Sir Winston will also receive what is called the collar, but which looks more like a necklace. Of gold, it weighs just two ounces short of two pounds. It consists of 24 pieces each in the form of a garter surrounding a Tudor rose and connected with 24 knots of chased gold.

ONLY FIVE COMMONERS

From it hangs a major pendant known as "the George," an enameled figure of St. George on horseback fighting the legendary dragon. Churchill will receive also the "lesser George," a golden inch figure worn over the left shoulder.

Another bit of regalia is an eight pointed star, of silver with a cross in the centre.

At present there are 21 knights of the Order of the Garter who are not of the royal family. The Queen, then Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, were installed in 1947.

There may be only 25 living knights in addition to members of royal families. In all the history of the order there have been only about 900 knights. Of these only five, including Churchill, have been commoners.

Code's Definition Of Psychopaths Not Accurate

OTTAWA (CP)—The definition given by Canadian law to criminal sexual psychopaths is inaccurate and should be removed from the Criminal Code, the deputy commissioner of penitentiaries said Thursday.

Dr. L. P. Gendreau said psychiatrists can not agree on what is a psychopath and the legal definition placed some restraint on efforts to treat men regarded as such.

He told a royal commission that the section in the code whereby sex offenders may be sentenced to indeterminate penitentiary term should be changed to eliminate the word.

The change would result in some sex offenders not legally recognized as psychopaths, but just as dangerous to society, being sent to penitentiaries for indeterminate periods for treatment.

STUDIES LAW

The commission is studying whether the law should be amended in connection with criminal sexual psychopaths.

Dr. Gendreau said that not all persons who are unable to control their sexual impulses are psychopaths, although they may be mentally defective, and can be treated more easily than psychopaths.

Experience with 19 men sentenced as criminal sexual psychopaths since 1948 showed that some progress was made in Canadian penitentiaries in the treatment of these illness. Sentences of indeterminate terms are reviewed automatically very three years. So far, none of the 19 have been released.

McCarthy-Army Row Probe Heads Into Home Stretch As Republicans Take Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The McCarthy-army inquiry headed into the home stretch today, impelled toward a possible wind-up next week by a Republican vote designating Senator McCarthy and two of his aides as final witnesses.

One of the controversy's central figures, Pfc. G. David Schine, millionaire draftee whose army service has become a national issue, apparently will not take the witness chair.

Schine and Clark Clifford, one-time legal counsel to former president Truman, may still submit letters asking chairman Karl Mundt for a chance to testify before the Senate investigations sub-committee. But in the absence of such formal requests, the action of the sub-committee at a closed session Thursday night seems likely to stand.

The four Republicans outvoted the two Democrats on the decision to inquire with testimony from McCarthy, to recall his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, for additional questioning and to hear the account of Francis P. Carr, the Wisconsin Republican senator's chief of staff.

Left open was the question of whether sworn statements might be resorted to later to fill out any gaps in the several-times-told tale of the McCarthy camp's difficulties with Army Secretary Robert Stevens and army counsel John G. Adams.

DENIES CHARGES

McCarthy denied under oath Thursday that he ever asked for any army commission for Schine or any army commission for Schine to live in caves or dense thickets, but not hibernate.

Frank H. Hall to Speak On Rail Strike Ballot

STRATFORD (CP) — Frank H. Hall, of Montreal will speak to some 1,000 Stratford railmen here June 27 on a strike ballot which this month goes out to 135,000 non-operating employees of Canadian railways.

There are indications here that Mr. Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee for the non-operating railway unions, will travel to several railway centres as part of a speaking tour on the strike vote question.

and swore he knows of no improper pressure for Schine. He faced further cross-examination today.

It was McCarthy's naming of Clifford as an "instigator" of the charges against him that prompted the Democrats to demand that the former Truman aide be called. They said McCarthy did not push his previous demand for testimony from Clifford.

The Democrats also proposed calling Schine, a move that was rejected along with the Clifford subpoena proposal.

TWEED

Earlscourt S.A. Band Gives Fine Concert

TWEED. — The famous Earlscourt Salvation Army Band of Toronto, paid a visit to Tweed, over the week-end, and music-lovers of Tweed and district had a real treat.

On the arrival of the band on Saturday afternoon, the village council sponsored a civic dinner at the Oddfellows' Hall, with the local Rebekah Lodge catering for the affair.

In the evening the band rendered a concert in the high school auditorium.

On Sunday large crowds heard the band both morning and evening at St. John's United Church and on Sunday afternoon an open air concert was presented at Tweed Memorial Park, with Lieut. William Brown, who is in charge of the local corps, playing a solo.

Wallace D. Mason, bandmaster of the group, is recognized as one of the best conductors in Canada, and during his residence in England, was considered one of the finest tuba players.

Reeve W. C. Graham extended the official welcome from the village.

Lieut. Brown is to be congratulated for his efforts in securing this famous musical band to visit Tweed.

Mrs. M. Wallace Celebrates Her 92nd Natal Day

TWEED — On June 2, Mrs. Melissa Wallace, Arthur Street, Tweed, celebrated her 92nd birthday, and was honored by her family, friends, and members of the Rebekah Lodge at a tea at her home.

Mrs. Wallace is a charter member of Rebekah Lodge, organized in Tweed, 32 years ago, and also a member of St. James' Anglican Church. In her younger years she was always most active in church work.

Mrs. Wallace was born in Thomasburg, a daughter of Henry and Mary Coyle, and on her marriage to Arthur Wallace, lived on a farm east of Tweed. Her husband was accidentally killed by a horse on the farm about 40 years ago. She later moved to Tweed where she has since resided.

There are two daughters living with her, Mrs. Fred Mitchell (Mary) and Emma Wallace, who taught school in Toronto until her retirement.

In excellent health for her age, Mrs. Wallace has lots of time for reading and usually reads about two books a week.

Her host of friends in Tweed and district join in wishing her many happy returns on her 92nd birthday.

DISTURB WORSHIPPERS

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters)—Two members of the leftist People's Progressive Party were stated in court Wednesday to have placed a copy of the party newspaper on the head of a statue of the Virgin Mary. They face charges of disturbing worshipers in a Roman Catholic church.

GOVT. REJECTS

Both CBOT and the new outlet will use the same television mast and studio facilities.

WAS OPPOSED

Concerning the separate regulatory body, Dr. McCann said a similar proposal was opposed by the Massey commission on arts, letters and sciences. The government accepted and still supports the commission's views on this subject.

He said statements favoring such a body often came from areas where the newspapers also had private radio interests. From what he had seen of the CARTB demand the regulatory body would have none of the powers held by the CBC. There would be no body to limit abuses of the public air channels.

CARTB COMMENT

T. J. Allard, executive vice-president of the CARTB, said in commenting on Dr. McCann's remarks that "we have certainly never advocated that a separate regulatory body should have no regulatory powers."

"We still believe that it is unjust and unfair that a commercial body—and that is what the CBC is—should exercise regulatory functions over its competitors.

"The democratic nature of the proposal for a separate regulatory body has been recognized by such groups as the Young Liberal Federation of Canada and many regional Liberal groups who have recalled that such a proposal is obviously in line with the fundamental traditions of liberalism."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) said Dr. McCann gave no reason why a separate regulatory body would not be the fairest method of regulation.

MINORITY REPORT

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) said Dr. McCann made no mention of the fact that a minority report of the Massey commission by Dr. Arthur Surveyor, made "overwhelmingly sound and convincing" argument for a separate regulatory body.

Dr. McCann also said the microwave network linking CBC stations could be completed from coast to coast in two or three years. It now links Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Buffalo with extensions to serve privately-owned stations at London and Kitchener.

Further extensions would be towards Windsor, Ont., and Quebec City with links to Halifax and western Canada later.

Other privately-owned stations now are telecasting at Sudbury and Hamilton and Saint John, N.B. The CBC has recommended that the government license privately-owned stations at Peterborough, Kingston, Windsor and Port Arthur in Ontario; Quebec City, Sherbrooke and Rimpuski in Quebec; Sydney, N.S.; Saskatoon and Regina; Calgary and Edmonton.

Horse-shoes by TIFFANY'S

AROUND THE END of the last century, when aluminum was practically a precious metal, a famous racing stable had one of its thoroughbreds shod with racing plates of the weight-saving metal. They were made at Tiffany's, the famous New York jewellery house.

Nowadays it is standard practice for race horses to run on aluminum shoes. Since the turn of the century the price of aluminum has been reduced to the point where it is now one of the most economical of all materials, extensively used for things like barns and boats and bus bodies. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

CHILLS FOR MILLS!

Cumbre Montana, three hundred and twenty-seven pounds of "master-of-the-hoof" rubbed a bewhiskered chin and remarked, "I'm going to be a sorry night for the Mills Brothers. The "Cumbre", who speaks with a Lower Slobbovia accent, teams up with the famous Habitant strong man from Quebec, Paul Baillargeon, in a tag-team tussle tonight in Memorial Arena against the Stormy Shetlands from Alberta. Baillargeon made the Montreal headlines a while back when he lifted a full-grown horse and placed it aboard a flat car.

The Mills Boys stop at nothing in their efforts to crush the opposition. They have a ferocious appearance with their fantastic hairdo's, one that is designed to hurt fear into the foeman. But Cumbre and Paul do not know what fear is. It should be one of the "wreckingest" main bout hassles seen in the Arena in some time.

Ray Villmar, popular mailman, will be on deck in a bout with Don Lewin, while Johnny Barend, Rochester sensation, will take on Nick Roberts.

GOOD SHOW!

The combination of a major league baseball game plus a diamond circus which has never been equalled on any ball field is expected to lure a capacity crowd into Belleville Exhibition Stadium on Wednesday night, June 16th, when the nationally famous Indianapolis Clowns clash with the Negro World Champion Kansas City Monarchs in an official Negro American League battle, scheduled to start at 8.30.

So hard do the comedians work, and so well are they received by the fans, that it's almost possible to tell which one is the best. Take "Circus Eddie" Hamman of the Monarchs. Eddie is a ball handler deluxe. He will play anyone $1,000 who can duplicate his back-hand throwing from third base to any other base and first plate. An incomparable showman, "Circus Eddie" plays third base in pregame practice and what a show he puts on!.. You'll have to see it to believe it.

King Tut, the Clowns' No. 1 comedian, has a bag full of tricks second to none. His show starts before the game and continues throughout. At times he even umpires behind the umpire. Assisting King Tut will be Spec Bebop, a 6' 7" middleman comedian, whose antics keep the customers in a dither. Add to the individual acts a team act which includes shadowball and pepper ball, and you have the greatest side show ever offered on any ball field.

READY TO GO!

With a week's rest and some stiff workouts under their collective belts the Belleville Bata senior baseball club is fit and "ready" to go in their Windsor-Ontario Senior League game at the Exhibition Grounds tomorrow night. The Terente Hoskings, the official opposition, has come up with unexpected power in their last two or three starts and the Batas will have to be on their best diamond behavior in the quest for their fourth victory. Coach Geyer's pitching staff is in good condition and although nothing is definite as yet, there is a strong possibility Morse Arthur Wright will be a-gunning for his third straight mound triumph.

THE OLD YOKER!

This spring the "Ole Cracker," after resolutely refusing to discuss retirement for the fourth annual season, rolled his eyes, cackled a few henhouse notes, and mournfully admitted, "We ain't gonna have no team this year."

All of which goes to prove you can't tell the size of the egg by the timbre of the cackle.

We went for it, hook, line and sinker. The "Cracker" had crocodile tears creeping down the five-o'clock shadow until they wilted the collar on the second shirt. Swulp me, that Herbert Edward Henn (no, kiddies, we are NOT on his payroll, he refuses any more to buy his own suds) would make a splendid tragedian. And the gang looked like a bevy of professional mourners at a graveside concerte.

Now what happens? We have since discovered that lump in his cheek was not a hunk of Whitman's "scrabble." He was merely holding out on the crew because he has come up With an outfit that has won its first five starts, and looks like the power squadron of the Belleville District Softball League.

He has a pitching corps that compares very favorably with that husky pair of Ox Painters, Bobby Hunter and Pat Mercola. He has in Johnny Batchelor one of the best lefthanders in the loop, a spot whose heavy artillery has blasted out home runs in four consecutive games, not to mention the occasional double and single.

What does the guy want? Charlie Justice, Jackie Robinson, with Stan Musial and Ed. Matthews as utility men?

In any event the Northerns have come up with an unexpected surge of power with plenty of strength in all departments. They're leading the loop and from their performances to date, it will take a strong team to dislodge them.

They will get an acid test tomorrow night at the CNR Recreation Park when they hook up with the Toronto White Sox, a bevy of ballcheaers from the Queen City, with a more than average reputation in their home ballwick. Should be a right lusty old softball brawl and the Memory Gang will be at full strength to meet the Toronto threat. Game at 8.30.

ESQUIRE TROPHY!

Twelve linksmen from each of four district golf and country clubs will open the annual battle for Esquire For Men trophy on Sunday, June 13. Entered are the Bay of Quinte, Trenton Napanee and Port Hope. Handicaps and the point system will be used in the tourney which will be played on the Quinte club links.

Representing the Bay of Quinte will be T. A. Carruthers, Dr. George Faulkner, Harry Ridley, Ben Vanover, Ted Parker, Lloyd Lance, Joey Pidutti, Val Smith, M. Pabbri, Murray McIntosh, Jim Ward and Murray Hunter.

The first round for the Tip Top Trophy get under way last Wednesday and will be played out tomorrow and Sunday. The second round must be played on June 14, 18 and 20th.

Have Won Seven Games in Row But Must Face Stadium Jinx; Tribe Slips; Giants, Bums Win

By Ben Pelegaie
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you feel the urge to make a friendly wager on tonight's big clash between the Chicago White Sox and the New York Yankees, you might consider backing the Yanks to win by one run while using at least two pitchers.

The two teams have met four times so far. New York has won three of the four, always with two or more pitchers. And every one of the games has been decided by a single run.

The white hot White Sox come into Yankee Stadium for a four-game series leading the American League by a game and a half. They've won 38 of their last 49, seven of them in a row.

But a lot of visiting winning streaks have become mere memories in the vast reaches of the Bronx Stadium.

RESTED THURSDAY

The Sox had a day of rest Thursday as rain washed out their scheduled game at Philadelphia. The Yanks, the best batting practice against Detroit, beating the Tigers 9-5 on home runs by Yogi Berra, Bobby Brown and Mickey Mantle.

Cleveland fell a game and a half behind Chicago by losing to Washington 8-4. Baltimore took a pair from Boston 5-1 and 9-0.

The New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers continued to share first place in the National League. The Giants edged Milwaukee 1-0 on Billy Loes's 10th pitching victory and hit homer. The Dodgers beat St. Louis 7-3 on Don Newcombe's 14th. Cincinnati defeated Chicago 6-0 and Fred Baczewski pitched Cincinnati to a 6-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

Ruben Gomez pitched his third shutout, blanking the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-0 on Milwaukee's string of scoreless innings to 35.

The Giants never threatened until Taylor's home run. They had only four hits off Gene Conley and hadn't moved a man past second. A brilliant throw by Willie Mays caught Bobby Aaron trying to score for the Braves after a fly ball in the seventh.

The Dodgers broke a two-game slump with a 10-hit attack on Vic Raschi and Stu Miller. The loss was Raschi's second straight after winning his first five in the National League.

Steve Ridzik and Jim Konstanty combined for the Philadelphia shutout over the Cubs. Ridzik left with the bases loaded in the fifth and Konstanty finished up for his second victory.

Washington jumped on Bob Lemon of Cleveland for five runs in the third inning, three of them coming after George Strickland threw wild on a potential double play ball. Dean Stone, a rookie, won his fourth straight for the Senators.

Boston's hopes of climbing out of second division received a double setback from Joe Coleman and Bobo Pillette of the Orioles. Coleman spaced seven hits in winning his seventh game in the opener. Pillette allowed only five in the nightcap shutout.

Leafs' Babe Hits Two Homers In 9-6 Victory

By The Associated Press

Loren Babe, Toronto Maple Leafs' third-sacker who failed to make the grade last year with New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics, is making an impressive bid for another shot at the majors.

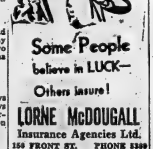
One of the key figures in Toronto's drive to the top of the International League, Babe has been a consistent .300 hitter and a steady fielder.

Thursday night he hit two home runs, one with a man on base, to provide the Leafs with the margin of victory in their 9-6 conquest of Rochester Red Wings. The victory gave the Leafs a 3-2 edge in the series and a firmer grip on first place.

Babe's two homers were numbers six and seven, four of them against Rochester.

Joe Black, recently acquired by Montreal Royals from the parent Brooklyn club, flashed his old form as he hooked up with Havana's ace Emilio Cueche in a 10-inning scoreless pitching duel which was called to permit the Royals to catch a plane. Black held the Cubans to three hits while the Royals got four.

Third-baseman Forest Smith knocked in six runs with a pair of singles and a bases-loaded double to lead Syracuse chiefs to a 12-6 victory over Buffalo Bisons.



Frank Fanovich pitched a four-hit shutout and drove in one of his team's runs as Richmond Virginians drove Ottawa Athletics deeper into the cellar with a 3-0 victory.

Remember When

Greentree Stables' game colt Capot won the 51st running of the Irish Belmont Stakes five years ago today at New York. Veteran jockey Ted Atkinson drove Capot to a stirring victory in the first Belmont victory. Capot also won the Preakness Stakes that year, but the third race in the triple crown—the Kentucky Derby—was taken by Ponder.

'King Maple' Quoted 4-to-5

TORONTO (CP) — There's been plenty "in" talk for months about two colts being the sure-things in Canada's richest turf classic. The experts will know in less than two minutes tomorrow just what they can do against each other.

The $20,000-added Queen's Plate has been marked as a two-horse affair since King Maple and Queen's Own were in spring training. King Maple is given the edge but the odds on both horses are mighty short.

It stood that way today as nine of the original 43 thoroughbreds were still on the list for the 85th consecutive running of the 1¼-mile Plate at Woodbine race track in east Toronto.

King Maple, owned by Mrs. Gordon McKaeken of Toronto, probably will go to the post at 4 to 5. Queen's Own, an outstanding three-year-old in the stable of industrialist E. P. Taylor of Toronto may go at 7 to 5.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Duane Pillette, Orioles, scattered five hits as Baltimore beat Boston 5-0

Batting—Bill Taylor, Giants, hit pinch home run in the 10th for the only run as New York beat Milwaukee 1-0.

Canadians Appear Even-Money Bet To Beat Americans in Golf Tourney

By JERRY LOUDHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Justifying locker-room speculation that this time Canada's young golfers have a national golf, this country's professional team tonny appears at least as even-money bet to beat the United States for the first time in the Dapkins Trophy matches.

Six-man teams representing both countries ended Thursday's opening-round singles play with an even split of points in the match play competition, scored under the Nassau system.

Each counted nine points—and Canada played without one of her top competitive performers, long-driving Stan Leonard of Vancouver.

Leonard was sidelined with a bad rash over his forearms and hands.

On past record, Canada's first-day showing was surprising. The Americans have won both previous tournaments sponsored by the International Golf Association and never should had the Canadians been able to gain even a tie after the first round.

Last year's tournament was won by the United States 12 points to 10. Only two of this year's American squad competed in 1953.

The pairings today are by lot. Locke and two last-minute substitutes, picked on each team highlighted Thursday's play at the Musisaugua Golf and Country Club at nearby Port Credit.

The South Africans greens expert carded five birdies and an eagle on the 490-yard par five hole, to defeat Ted Kroll of the United States 3 up and 2 to play. He cracked an unofficial 63 over the par-70 course—equal to the course record—capped by a difficult 25-foot putt on the 18th that had the large gallery and Kroll cheering at the shot. Locke is an honorary member of the South African Professional Golfers Association.

Jerry Barber, named in the draw still on the sidelines, substituted in the U.S. line-up, and turned in a sparkling 4-up 5-hole margin over Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon. Ed (Porky) Oliver was drawn against the big veteran Canadian linksman but arrived here tired and decided he wasn't fit.

The pro at the host Mississaugua club, Gordie Brydson, was the late morning starter, facing Lawrence's post against Dave Douglas, Milton native who now lives in Pendleton, winning the first nine holes 1 up, the second by a similar margin and the match.

Locke and Brydson netted two birdies for Canadian total. The other three points were gained this way: Edmonton's Henry Ransom golfing ex-patriate, 3½; Bill Kerr of Montreal, 1, and fellow Montrealer Doug Sanders, 1.

Martell, captain of the Canadian team, halved his match with his counterpart, Walt Burkemo. Each won a nine-round go with a 1 up edge and split the match point.

Tigers Trounce Mounties 20-6

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tigers trounced the last - place Mimico Mountaineers 20-6 in a senior intermediate baseball action game here Thursday night.

The Tigers were led by Dobe Dobson's almost single-handedly as he stated the Mimicoites scoring five goals. Skip Teal, Butch Guthro Tony Demarco, Bill Rankin each fired a pair with singles going to Jim McNulty, Red McLean, Tony Capale, Club Brown and Jack Doreny.

Joe Carrozzo scored two goals for the losers, Jack Kapasky, Burt Barrage, Don Mevis and Harold Donner notched one each.

Riders Acquire Seven Redskins

HAMILTON (CP)—Clem Crowe, coach of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four League, obtained seven players Thursday, formerly with the Brantford Redskins of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Brantford was dropped from the league when the club failed to post a $5,000 bond in the union. Former owner-manager Ernie Churchouse was named scout here for Ottawa.

The players on Crowe's list are Boris Kozoff, tackle; Bill Brady, back and punter; Hans Granby, back; Bill Sowalski, end; Reg and Ron Lewington, backs; Frank O'Hara, guard and tackle.

'Lip' Pays $100 For Homer, Game

CHICAGO (AP)—Leo Durocher bought the New York Giants a share of first place in the National League for $100.

The financial transaction came to light today. The New York manager admitted he made the offer as he sent rookie Bill Taylor up to pinch-hit in the 10th inning at Milwaukee Thursday.

"I told the players in the dugout 'if he hits a homer I'll give him $700,'" Durocher said.

Taylor, fresh from the Southern Association, pickled Gene Conley's 1-1 pitch for the only run of the game.

"That cost me $100 and I'm glad to pay it," Durocher said.

Quinte Tennis

The Trenton Tennis Club defeated St. Andrew's, Belleville Couriers by a 7-5 score in a Bay of Quinte Tennis League match held at Trenton.

The scores:

1st Men's—Bob Burns and Jerry Ireland of Trenton, defeated Bill Spencer and Bill Redquest of St. Andrew's, 6-4, 6-3.

2nd Men's—Jack Ethier and Bob Smithrim of Trenton, defeated Bill Campbell and Ken Holcombe of St. Andrew's, 6-3, 6-2.

1st Ladies—Isobel Farrar and Bob Sager of Trenton, defeated Josephine Hurst and John Campbell, of St. Andrew's, 6-3, 6-3.

2nd Mixed—Helen Johnston and Ron Gitelman of Trenton, defeated Sally Quinn and Ron Pollard of St. Andrew's, 6-4, 6-0.

Ladies—Jean Campbell and Ann Armstrong, of Trenton, defeated Marney Black and Pauline Lally, girls of St. Andrew's, 6-0, 6-3.

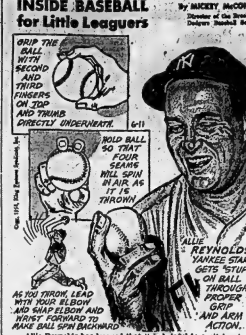
This One Is For The Birds



TORONTO (CP) — Myrtle the mallard is anticipating eight blessed events at her home in Woodbine's infield lake and track officials are fearful that the mother duck may be deadened with the horses in Saturday's running of the Queen's Plate.

Myrtle and her mate, Milton, established residence in Woodbine's infield last spring. Last week eight eggs were discovered in her nest behind the totalisator board.

The Ontario Jockey Club has assigned a track attendant to assist Myrtle in guarding her nest. The attendant must remain alert to ward off Gerda boys with partiality for omelets.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Director of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball School

Allie Reynolds has learned that it is helpful to a pitcher to grip the ball so that four seams will spin in the air. If only two seams spin, the batter sees more of the white cover and it is easier for him to judge the flight of the ball. With four seams spinning, the white surface is blurred and at the same time the seams create a friction which causes the ball to rise in flight. This makes the ball "take off" or hop when thrown with sufficient speed. The tips of the second and third fingers are placed on one of the four seams to make the ball spin backward when released. By snapping your elbow and wrist quickly forward as you throw, you speed up the spin of the ball and give it more life, making it more difficult for the batter to hit. At the same time you take strain off your shoulder in your throwing motion.

'Fix' Fight Held Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—A week ago today the news of a "fight fix" attempt startled the fans. Tonight "the" fight is to be held at Madison Square Garden with Jersey Giardello boxing Bobby Jones.

Jones turned down a reported $15,000 purse bribe, allegedly offered by heavyweight Clarence Henry, to "fix" the fight. A full-scale investigation has started. For a week Jones has trained with a detective as a bodyguard, day and night.

Despite all this Giardello still remains a 2-to-1 favorite but as he did a week ago.

The 10 - round middleweight match, scheduled for 10 p.m. EDT, will be carried on network radio (ABC) and television (NBC).

Red Sox Trim London 18-7; Nudge Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brantford Red Sox, led by catcher Sandy Consuegra, climbed to within one-half a game of first place in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League standings Thursday night, trouncing London Majors 18-7 in Brantford.

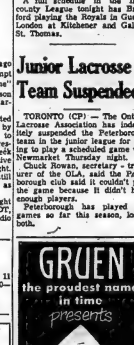
Clifford plated four runs, hitting five times in six trips to the plate. Two of his five hits were home runs and both were hit in the eighth inning when the Sox sent 13 men to the plate while scoring eight runs.

Leftfielder Tom McGrattan also belted a homer for Brantford and chalked up a total of five runs batted in for the night. All told, Brantford batters combed two London pitchers for 19 hits. Wilmer Fields slammed three doubles for the winners.

It was the fourth victory for Harry Fisher and he has yet to taste defeat this season. The win left the Sox with eleven victories and one defeat—a half game behind the league-leading Galt Terriers.

In the Nickel Belt Senior League two games were played. Creed of Tigers, led by the three-hit relief pitching of Syd Roy, defeated Garson Greyhounds 5-1 in Sudbury. The victory tied the Tigers and the Hounds for third place in the standings.

In the other game Sudbury Shamrocks downed Copper Cliff Redmen 3-1 in Copper Cliff. The win boosted the Shamrocks into a second-place tie with the idle Coniston Red Sox.



A full schedule in the Intercounty League tonight has Brantford playing the Royals in Guelph, London at Kitchener and Galt at St. Thomas.

Junior Lacrosse Team Suspended

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Lacrosse Association has indefinitely suspended the Peterborough team in the junior league for failing to play a scheduled game with Bramalea Thursday night.

Chuck Rowan, secretary - treasurer of the club said the Peterborough club said it couldn't play the game because it didn't have enough players.

Peterborough has played two games so far this season, losing both.

Soccer Gossip

Last Saturday over seventeen thousand spectator sat in the pouring rain in Varsity Stadium, Toronto, to see Chelsea beat the Glasgow Rangers by four goals to one. This was a real exhibition of soccer as evidenced by the fact that despite the fact that it was raining throughout the game very few spectators left the field before the final whistle. This was the only defeat suffered by the Chelsea squad during their Canadian tour, in fact prior to this game they had had only one goal scored against them.

Roy Bentley, who, incidentally, is an English international player, accounted for three of the Chelsea goals. Short, Plymouth Argyle's Welsh international goalkeeper, who was loaned to Chelsea when their own goalkeeper fell ill during their American tour, put up a first class display and seem the stocky set out for him the scoring could very easily have been closer.

Due to the big game being on in Toronto no games were scheduled in the Ontario League last week-end. On Saturday afternoon the teams get back in action in the E.O.F.L. In Belleville the Northern Electrics will meet the Belleville and Canadian Scottish at the Northern Electric sports ground while the kick-off is being slated for 3.30 p.m. In the other two scheduled games Batawa travel to Oshawa to meet the Kingston United and Peterborough Merchants tie up with Kingston Kenbordia in Peterborough.

In minor circles the Canadian Legion bantams and the Belleville juveniles are still training hard each Thursday evening for the Ontario championships. The draw for this knockout competition is scheduled to be made in Toronto on June 26th at the next meeting of the Ontario Soccer F. A. Council. On June 24th an exhibition minor match is being arranged to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the formation of the Federation of International Football Associations of which the Football Association of Canada is a member. This game will serve two purposes. It will be an exhibition game and will also provide match practice for both the juvenile and the bantam teams who will play each other. The Football Association of Canada is awarding suitable mementoes to all players participating in this game.

Two games were played in the Bay of Quinte League this week. On Tuesday, Batawa beat RCAF United at Trenton by six goals to three to increase their lead at the top of the league table. In the other game played on Wednesday evening in Belleville Jack Bennett's Northern Electric boys beat Trenton Merchants by three goals to nothing on markers by Carter, Gemmell and D. Robertson.

Next Tuesday sees RCAF United meeting Trenton Merchants at the Airforce station, while on Wednesday evening Northern Electric and Batawa meet on the Northern Electric sports grounds. Both games are called for 7 p.m.

This week's lip to the budding soccer star: "A fit player seldom plays badly . . . an unfit player seldom plays."

Panthers Sign Two Hurlers

KITCHENER (CP)—Two southpaw pitchers were signed by Kitchener Panthers Thursday, playing manager Tom Gallinger announced. Panthers, defending senior Intercounty Baseball League champions, won their first game in 10 starts Wednesday.

One is Gabe Garnet, a 19-year-old from Essex, who pitched in the Essex County League last year. The other is Art Cook of Indianapolis, who has had professional experience in the Border League and the Kitty League.

Garnet will make his debut in the opening game of the double-header against London Majors here Friday. Cook, who won 21 games for Kingston Ponies in 1948, will start in the nightcap.

Righthander Jim Hisner has been granted an outright release, Gallinger said.

GOLD MINE

The Yolo stable sold nine horses for a total of $124,200, Veale sold 14 for $130,400.

Of the Wood Vale sales, the highest price was bought by Brither Pete, two-year-old son of War Admiral, who sold for $38,000 to an unnicknosed buyer. Next Page, three-yearold son of Page Boots, was sold for $33,000 to W.C. Parke of Magnolia, Ark.

The Yolo stable's biggest price was brought by Temere, two-year-old brown colt by Alibhai, which went for $22,000 to C. C. Cummings of Santa Barbara.

68 Bangtails Bring $497,300 At Auction

NEW YORK (AP)—Three racing stables disposed of their stock Tuesday in a public auction at Belmont Park which saw a total of 68 horses go on the block for $497,300.

The biggest dispersal was that of Wood Vale Farm, owned by the late Royce G. Martin. This stable sold 18 thoroughbreds for $194,500, an average of $10,805.

One of Wood Vale's best known thoroughbreds, Goyamo, winner of the Blue Grass and Bahamas Stakes will be sold later.

Other stables to dispose of their stock were the Yolo Stable of Mr. and Mrs. John Dobbis Wack of Santa Barbara, Calif., and the Stable of Tinkham Veale II of Cleveland.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars for Saturday, June 12, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Try to foresee the obstacles you are likely to encounter. Strive to eliminate them quickly, agreeably. Domestic affairs need more careful handling.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Avoid anything or anyone spelling dissension; you may be to blame at times, so watch self. During the later hours there should be a release from tension.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Today's aspects are stimulating for earnest and well-run endeavors. Romance, marriage are highly favored but watch changing events and disposition.

July 23 to July 23 (Cancer) — With a shrewd but sincere approach you can make fresh progress in endeavors for which you are fitted. Avoid pessimism and sidestep talkative bod. Ins-inkrment period. Courage! Smile.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — First thoughts could well be, "Am I sufficiently informed on problems?" You need some assistance; seek it quietly, graciously. Don't expect much today and you'll do better.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — This may be your red letter day, folks! The optimistic in regard to duties; take some chances; you have good sense; use it. Worthwhile endeavors should prosper.

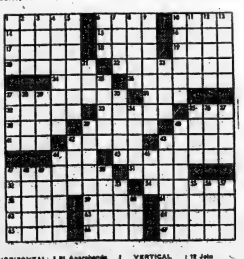
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — The aspects, while not so inspiring for financial matters, are better for personal, home affairs. Accomplishment will depend greatly on your will and effort.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—This day may be a little more difficult than you would wish but not so bad that clever you cannot conquer if you try hard enough. Continue at a progressive pace; be alert to hazards. You can achieve.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — A good day — particularly if you allocate work so as to avoid rush, strain. Take orders in stride. The truly great are humble about taking advice. News may be helpful; study it.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Controlling emotional reactions is a must; also any inclination to extravagance. Stay close to facts and your ledger will show accomplishment.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — You engaged in outdoor activities, sports, real estate, farming, transportation: new and substantial progress. Don't antagonize superiors, friends needlessly, nor become upset yourself.



February 1 to March 20 (Pisces) —It may not all be smooth sailing today, but as master of your craft, and with your dexterity, you can produce lucrative results. Be confident, well-informed — and don't fear!

YOU BORN TODAY are active, interesting, versatile, and sometimes very tantalizing. Make your fine talents and qualities work for you daily and you can give a more than satisfactory account of yourself. Avoid over-persistency, moodiness. Birthdate of: Sir Oliver Lodge, Eng. physicist.

LITERARY STYLE

LONDON (CP)—Paul Brickhill, author of "The Dam Busters" and "Reach for the Sky," wrote to friends about the birth of his son, Timothy: "He seems a pretty good first edition, very bold-face type, requiring extra end papers, well received by critics. No cereal rights yet."

No Communists Says Chairman Of CBC Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Screening of employees of the CBC international service has shown the service to be free of security difficulties, A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, said Thursday.

During an appearance before the Commons external affairs committee, Mr. Dunton said great care has been exercised in the course of years with the co-operation of "the proper security authorities" concerning staff and security.

The question of employee loyalty was raised by Michael Starr (PC—Ontario) in a series of questions to Charles Delafield, director of the international service which broadcasts to Europe, Latin America and Asia. He asked if Igor Gouzenko, Russian embassy cipher clerk who touched off the spy trials in 1946, ever broadcast for the international service to countries behind the Iron Curtain.

NEVER USED HIM

Mr. Delafield said no and in reply to a further question as to whether he considered such broadcasts would be of any value he said he would first consult with external affairs officials if the question of using Mr. Gouzenko ever was contemplated.

Mr. Starr asked how many employees are or have been Communists and Mr. Delafield replied that he knows of none.

Lead and Zinc Export Curbs Are Not Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Thursday that the United States has not asked Canada for voluntary restrictions on exports of lead and zinc.

He replied, during a Commons trade debate, to a member's statement that three had been reports of pressure from Washington for such action.

Mr. Howe said there has been no such request and Canada in fact had made a formal protest against any U.S. action that would restrict these exports, following a secret report on the subject by the U.S. tariff commission.

JOURNALISTS ESCAPE

BERLIN (Reuters)—Four leading East German journalists have sought asylum in West Berlin in the last few days to escape a "reliability investigation" by Communist officials, refugee authorities here said today.

Liberal Member Says Program Was Filthy

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal member of Parliament Thursday night accused the CBC of broadcasting the filthiest program he has ever heard on any radio station.

Henry Hosking, Wellington South said in the Commons that the program, broadcast March 19 by the CBC, was in the form of an appreciation of playwright Eugene O'Neill. The CBC should use a little common sense and not permit further programs of that type.

Revenue Minister McCann, who reports to Parliament for the CBC, said he is sorry that the program hurt the sensibilities of some of Mr. Hosking's electors.

ANOTHER SIDE

"But there is always another side to it," he said. "We received many more letters of commendation for that broadcast than we received protests against it."

Mr. Hosking said the profane language on the program was absolutely disgusting.

"There were some 125 pages of script, and I believe in 22 places they took the Lord's name in vain. It was a very low type of program. Eugene O'Neill may have been a very great writer, but I do not believe it was fitting or becoming for our radio broadcasting system to pay tribute to the man in a manner that would be disgusting to most Christian homes in the Dominion."

CAUSES DYSENTERY

TOKYO (AP) — Kyodo news agency said today the government plans stricter inspection of American rice because Japanese eating it are developing dysentery. The illness is brought on by morning glory seed fungus mixed with the rice, Kyodo said.

Trans-Canada Highway Work Behind Schedule

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Construction of the 3,400 miles of Trans-Canada highway in Ontario is so far behind schedule that it is anticipated the federal government will be asked for an extension on the federal-provincial agreement which runs out in 1956, it was learned here Thursday night.

H. A. Tregaskes, Trans-Canada highway engineer attached to the Ontario highways department, said in an interview that pressure of work in the southern part of the province, combined with the slowup resulting from the current highways department investigation has delayed the multi-million-dollar project.

Mr. Tregaskes, travelling with the touring highways investigation committee of the Ontario legislature which winds up a three-day tour of northern Ontario construction in the Sault Ste. Marie area today, was unable to estimate at what time the highway will be completed, or its final cost.

Sunday School Lesson:

Temporary Repentance

By ROY L. SMITH

There is something very modern about the prophecies of Hosea in the Old Testament for those who read just a little way beneath the surface. The nation at situation the brave young prophet faced, and the social denials of the people as well as the state, were so very much like the conditions of our own generation. The prophet could present to our day without having to go to the library for more than two or three hours of reading and research.

POLITICAL SITUATION

The people of Israel were face to face with a terrible national disaster which was producing a vast sense of insecurity. No H-bomb had been exploded anywhere in the land, but a deep fear was taking possession of the public. Rumors came floating in indicating that the giant Empire of Assyria was about to strike at Egypt, and when that happened, the tiny kingdom of Israel would lie directly athwart the path up and down which the contending armies would march and countermarch. In the process the Hebrews would be ground into the dust.

SOCIAL SITUATION

Not the least terrifying aspect of the situation was the fact that a series of social cancers had been eating away at the vitals of the nation through a period of at least three generations. The poor had been despoiled, the courts had become corrupt as a result of wholesale bribery, the leaders of the nation had become callous, and the national religion had been saturated with paganism.

RELIGIOUS SITUATION

The terror which gripped at the heart of the nation found expression in a series of religious reforms, all of which were entirely superficial. Men said "we must get back to God" but they meant that everyone else ought to be reforming while they continued "business as usual." Others agreed that a "revival of religion" was needed, but the only revival they could think of was one that multiplied the forms and made the ceremonies a bit more complicated. No one seemed interested in cleaning up his own establishment, mending his own ways, or sanctifying his own heart. It was a generation that was profoundly convinced that the wrongdoing of everyone else, without being aware of any of its own sins.

PROPHET OF LOVE

The preacher, Hosea was a man who lived through the most terrible experience through which any man ever lived. He had watched his wife dragged down into the quagmire of prostitution as a result of the invasion of paganism into the religion of Israel. At first his heart had been broken, and he had called at the mother of his children, even accusing his little ones of having been fathered by another.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 20: "Hosea Pleads With Israel," Hosea 4:6—7:16.

Then suddenly, one day, he discovered that, in spite of her errant ways, he loved the woman and his heart could not be won. And in that moment he made an historic discovery concerning God. If love like his could persist for a woman such as she was, then surely the love of God could not fail for even a nation such as Israel was.

From that point on it become the passion of his life to bring the nation to a state of penitence — to produce within the popular mind and conscience a awareness of its social, political, and personal sinning. Only as the nation prayed, "God be merciful to us, sinners" could he see any hope for the state.

STIRLING

40 Neighbors Present Gifts To Young Couple

STIRLING. — About 40 neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Anderson, Mill Street, on the occasion of their recent marriage.

Mr. Clarke Rodgers was master of ceremonies, with M. Frank Harding in charge of the singing. Humorous readings were given by Mrs. Sid Desmoreat and Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh; Misses Heather Rodgers and Louise Harding delighted with a vocal selection.

ADDRESSES

Brief addresses were given by Messrs. Mel Tanner, Harvey Pitcher, Charles Devolin, Bert Anderson and Charles Wood.

Miss Muriel Devolin read the address of appreciation and Mrs. Norman Ray and Mrs. Frank Harding presented Glenn and Evelyn with an occasional chair, and wall plaque. Both of the recipients voiced thanks, after which refreshments were served and a social half hour enjoyed.

The religious order of the Dominican Friars was founded in France in the early 13th century.

Day-to-Day Loan Market Opens Monday

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP)—T. H. Atkinson, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, today outlined a day-to-day loan market as an extension of the short-term money market in Canada.

The market will open Monday.

In an address prepared for delivery before the CBA annual meeting, Mr. Atkinson said discussions on details of the new market have been proceeding for months among the chartered banks the Bank of Canada and investment dealers.

The banks "will make available to jobbers in government of Canada securities who have been granted re-discount facilities with the Bank of Canada a new category of call loans."

These are the day-to-day loans. They will be secured by treasury bills or government of Canada bonds maturing within three years. The loans will be granted strictly on a day-to-day basis "at the convenience of the individual banks when they have surplus cash available to employ in this manner.

WILL FLUCTUATE

"The rates on these loans will, it is expected, tend to fluctuate within fairly narrow limits not far from the yield at any time on 90-day government of Canada treasury bills. This will apply to all loans coming within the day-to-day category regardless of the collateral but will be flexible and set by competition among the banks, varying as the underlying money market conditions vary."

Basically the new market, which will be extremely liquid, is one in which surplus funds of individuals or corporations can be set to work for short periods.

The period, for instance, may be only a few days or three or four weeks. The bank, if its cash position required, could recall the loan any day.

Mr. Atkinson said the new market should have a direct bearing on efficient channeling of funds for development purposes and capital investment.

It should also "increase the mobility of short-term capital, thereby helping to reduce the cost of doing business, a highly desirable factor in a nation such as Canada that is so dependent on world markets."

CANADA'S CEMENT NEEDS
met by the Canada Cement Company
Productive capacity of Company's plants increased by 91% since 1945
THE MARKED preference for concrete in so many building projects has created an ever-increasing country-wide demand for Canada Cement:
To cope with the demand, Canada Cement has nearly doubled its productive capacity in the past eight years. Through expansion of its plants and the installation of new machinery and equipment the Company's annual cement output has been increased to new high levels.
By 1955, when expansion plans at the Company's Fort Whyte, Manitoba, plant are completed, the annual production of Canada Cement will reach 19,100,000 barrels (76,400,000 bags).
No construction material offers all the advantages of concrete—low initial cost, extreme durability, fire safety and minimum maintenance.
Lasting satisfaction in every regard is assured when the concrete is made with Canada Cement.

Sub-Committee Aides in Clash, Mundt Annoyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting chairman Karl Mundt called today for an end to a "feud" between two Senate investigations subcommittee aides which exploded in hot words Friday and threatened to carry into next week's McCarthy-army hearings.

Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the sub-committee and one of the principals in the dispute between Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin and high army officials, was accused by Robert F. Kennedy of threatening in an after - session brush to "get" Senator Henry Jackson, a Democrat from Washington state, a Communist issue.

Cohn denied this and said Kennedy, brother of Senator John F. Kennedy (Massachusetts Democrat) and adviser to Democrats on the sub-committee, admitted "hatred" toward him and other members of McCarthy's staff.

Mundt, who said the incident escaped his notice when he recessed the hearings the first week-end, said in an interview "there is a feud which has been going on for a long time between Kennedy and Cohn."

"I don't know why and I don't care why," the Republican South Dakota senator said. "It is something that has no place in the hearings and it isn't going to have a place in them. I intend to put a foot popping off and they can stop it."

But Cohn already has demanded the right to ask a series of questions Friday which he said "would develop true facts" about some of the things Jackson had said in questions to McCarthy about Pte. G. David Schine and his activities.

DENIES THREAT

Whether Cohn would insist on following through on this Monday was not clear from his statements on arrival in New York for a week-end at his home. Aside from saying he never said Kennedy "can't be heard to get" Jackson, and that Kennedy "is indulging in a loosestanding prevarication" when he said he had no comment on the incident beyond a statement that "there's been enough fighting this week."

However McCarthy seemed to agree with Mundt when quizzed on it Milwaukee, where the Wisconsin Republican arrived to complete Friday to start a round of week-end speeches.

Saying he thought too many extraneous issues had been brought up at the Friday session, McCarthy told reporters:

"I do not intend to go into any senator's background at these hearings. I think that we ought to finish the army testimony and then get back to regular committee business as soon as possible."

Jackson, for his part, declared: "In spite of Mr. Cohn's statement I will continue to do everything in my power to get all the facts in order to reach a fair and honest decision as to the merits of this controversy."

VET DIES

STRATFORD (CP)—James Farquhar, First World War veteran and former regimental sergeant major with the Perth Regiment here, died Friday at the Canadian National Railways motive power shops after a heart attack.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A broad steam of hot humid air from the southern states which is breeding southeastern thunderstorms this morning will dominate the week-end weather over southern Ontario. Rising temperatures, increasing humidity and a few scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms describes the weather for today and Sunday. In northern Ontario cloudiness and scattered showers will keep temperatures 10 to 20 degrees cooler than in southern regions.

The efforts of three sea cadets who applied artificial respiration until firemen arrived proved fruitless here Friday night when Robert Jury, 16, was drowned in Belleville's inner harbor.

The youth was said to have been in the water only a matter of minutes when his body was recovered by Sea Cadet Jim Woodacre, 16, who dived five times into 12 feet of water.

Other cadets assisted in bringing the body ashore and then Cadet Officer Scott, Roy Fletcher, and Cadet Ross Alexander applied artificial respiration until firemen arrived.

The drowned boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jury, 152 Charles Street.

Firemen worked over the boy for close to an hour before he was pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. J. Ellis Scott. Dr. Russell Bradman and Dr. J. H. Forrester also attended at the scene. John Nesbitt, driver for Thompson's ambulance assisted in giving artificial respiration and took the boy's body to Belleville hospital where an autopsy was performed.

The youth had gone swimming in the Belleville harbor with two other boys. He was unable to be under after swimming or treading water but was thought to have swum beneath a nearby dock.

"It wasn't until he failed to re-appear after several minutes that I realized he must have gone under," stated Don Bladon, Earl Street youth, who was watching from the dock.

Belleville sea cadets and wrenettes were holding a social evening at the cadet headquarters, when the drowning took place just before dark only a few feet out in the harbor. Woodacre stripped off his uniform and dived to bring the boy's body to the surface.

Robert Jury was born in Belleville, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Jury. He received his education in Belleville schools at St. Michael's Academy and was attending St. Michael's High School at the time of his death.

He was a Boy Scout.

He is survived by his parents, and four brothers, Thomas Edward, William J., Peter G., and Donald J.

Resting at the Funeral Residence of Mervyn A. O'Brien. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Assisting Police

COBOURG (CP)—A provincial police laboratory expert, Det. Ward Smith of Toronto, is assisting police here in an investigation into the death Wednesday of Barbara Ann Hall, 3, struck by a vehicle on his way to school in Cobourg.

A truck driver, not yet identified, has been walked into a local station several minutes after the accident happened and said he had been driving the truck that struck the girl where the boy had been killed.

Siamese Twins Winning Early Battle for Life

Doctor Says Chances For Survival Poor

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—The Mousseau Siamese twins fought together today for the life medical men say would be snuffed out by any attempt to part them.

The condition of the twins 24 hours after birth was described as good but the boys' doctor said their chances of survival were poor although they could live for some time.

The twins, and a third normal, healthy boy, were born Thursday night at St. Boniface Hospital to 29-year-old Mrs. Yvonne Mousseau.

The twins weighed one pound, 9½ ounces and the third boy four pounds, 12 ounces.

Dr. R. L. Bowles, who attended the mother, said there was no way of separating the twins because of the way they are joined.

He said at the lower abdomen, facing each other, they share a number of vital organs and pelvis and have two complete legs. There is a third leg which is malformed.

Mrs. Mousseau's 33-year-old husband Victeur, a locomotive engineer with Canadian National Railways, told her Friday afternoon that she had given birth to Siamese twins.

WANT TWINS AT HOME

"She was quite upset at first but then became resigned to the fact shortly after," he said, adding that he and his wife hope to take the twins home when they are well enough to leave the incubator where they have been since birth.

The Mousseaus have two other children, Maurice, 8, and Gerald, 6. Mrs. Mousseau, who said she will "give them all the care" interviewed briefly Friday afternoon, said there had been no previous miscarriage or stillbirth on either side of the family.

Mr. Mousseau said the children would be named later by the godparents. Shortly after the twins' birth, they arrived 10 minutes before the third boy, they were baptized by the hospital chaplain.

The parents were married in February, 1945. They live on a quiet street near the eastern outskirts of this French-speaking city and adjoining Winnipeg.

Three Quebec Rivermen Die In Northern Lake

CHAPLEAU, Ont. (CP)—Three river men employed by a lumber company here were drowned when a boat overturned Friday at Racine Lake, 30 miles to the south.

The victims, all from LaSarre, Que., were identified by provincial police as Andre Lafreniere, Raymond Jurmaux and Gerard Hardy. They were employed by the Lafreniere Lumber Company.

Provincial police said the boat, towing a log boom when for some unexplained reason it overturned.

Racine Lake is about 150 miles northwest of Sudbury.

Sixteen Violent Deaths in 3 Weeks Believed Record for This District

With 16 fatalities reported in the Belleville area within the past three weeks, an all time high in violent deaths is believed to have been established for that area.

Five of the deaths were the result of traffic accident; two were killed in a plane crash, four were drowned, four were burned to death and one man was killed when he was run over by a wagon. Eight of the deaths occurred this week.

The long series of tragedies was started on May 22rd at Consecon Place when an early morning fire burned to death Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elliott, their son Cleon and Allen Tait.

A week later on June 2nd Mrs. Gordon Green, of Trenton, was killed in a motor mishap at Stockdale, while the next day Miss Evelyn Bowerman, 16, of Belleville, and Bernard Carman, Eldorado farmer, were killed in separate traffic accidents.

This week-end June 7th, a double highway fatality at Bonarlaw claimed the lives of Mrs. Carman Wallace, of Welland Corners, and that of her daughter, Frances.

Friday night's fatal crash of a Mitchell bomber at Allisonville, in Prince Edward County, killed Flying Officer J. G. O'Brien and Cpl. J. A. Aubry, both 26-Trenton men.

On June 9th Clarence Sine drowned in the Moira River at Latta, and on June 10th, Ernest Jackson, Moutain Grove, sawmill workman, was killed when he was run over by a wagon.

Friday noon Albert Prior, of Picton, and Clifford Murray, of Bloomfield, drowned at Bloomfield when they were overcome by gas and fell into a well. Last night Thomas Irving, 16, of Belleville, lost his life by drowning in the Belleville harbor.

DEFENCE CHIEFS MEET

On his first official visit to Canada, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther (left) of the United States army and Supreme Allied Commander in Europe, is welcomed on his arrival in Ottawa. Greeting him is Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, chief of Canada's air staff. At centre is Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of Canada's naval staff. (CP from National Defence).

Ford Co. May Move 7 Plants If Seniority Rule Remains

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A conciliation board hearing of a contract dispute between Ford Motor Company of Canada and Local 200, United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) was adjourned Friday after a bitter argument over seniority rights.

The three-man board, headed by Justice W. F. Schroeder of the Ontario Supreme Court, spent almost three days quietly listening to company and union briefs.

A supplement to the company brief, read by Wallace Clark, vice-president for industrial relations, asked the union to give up unlawful seniority rights granted after a 9-day strike in 1945. The hearing exploded into shouting as the union charged it was being threatened.

Mr. Clark said the company would be forced to consider further decentralization unless the union agreed to plant-wide instead of job-wide seniority.

Under the present agreement, the company can only lay off men on the basis of seniority in the whole bargaining unit. This means transfer of men from one plant to another to fill gaps.

Mr. Clark said moving men into jobs which they did not know had to cost the company more than $612,700 in 1953. He said the 1954 cost would have, exceeded this figure if the assembly operation had not been moved to Oakville.

Decentralization would probably mean the company would move its seven Windsor departments to seven different cities. Under such an arrangement, each department would have its own bargaining unit and would not be troubled with moving inexperienced men in from other departments during layoff periods of more than 14 days.

COULD FACE FORD ONE

Earlier, the union had requested that collective bargaining be put on a country-wide basis including Ford's needs in all parts of Canada. The company countered with the reduced seniority proposal.

The company brief said union demands for a 30-cent hourly wage increase and fringe benefits would increase the total hourly rate in the plant to $2.05. It estimated low-cost Ford vehicles would be increased in price by about $186. It said this could price Ford out of the market.

The union asked for time to reply to the supplementary company submission in writing. Justice Schroeder adjourned the hearing to June 19.

Grinning Unemployed Welder Held As Arizona Kidnapper

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A 41-year-old unemployed welder was jailed for investigation of kidnapping after Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith identified him. Friday night as her abductor.

The suspect, Daniel J. Marsin, refused to admit or deny his guilt.

He grinned broadly when Mrs. Smith, 23, wife of a Phoenix industrialist, picked him from a police line-up of five men.

"That's him," said Mrs. Smith. "There's no question about it."

Marsin, who has lived in Phoenix with his wife and two children since 1951, refused to make a statement to police. He would not discuss reports that the man who kidnapped the young mother at gunpoint Wednesday and held her captive for 24 hours until $15,000 was paid.

William Masoney, county attorney, closeted himself with Marsin for several hours and later announced:

"He gave marginal details of the kidnapping but would neither admit nor deny the act without full advice of counsel and conference."

"I won't say whether I'm guilty or not," Marsin had said after two days and more than 20 hours questioned on a Phoenix street. "I think you understand that my life is in jeopardy."

Police admitted they had no clues to what happened to the ransom money which the victim's husband, Herbert, said he left as directed at the Superstition mountains, 45 miles east of here.

When Marsin was arrested, five miles from the pay-off point, he had only 17 cents in his pockets.

Marsin has called to the attention of police that a check of his record for passing bad checks in Phoenix would show he was "quiet-spoken and mild-mannered."

He stumbled into a ranch house pleading for a drink of water, police said, because he was "quite exasperating and ran out of water, then tore off his shirt and undershirt when he became delirious."

Police said he made "several statements Friday night which conflicted with his original story."

When a reporter asked Mrs. Smith how she identified the suspect, she replied: "The arms, the hair, the red tie over the arms, and the ears were when the handkerchief was tied around."

Militiamen Beat Off Vietminh Raid on Village

HANOI (Reuters)—Several thousand local militia-men have beaten off a Vietminh attack against Vinh Mo, Inco-China village less than 50 miles northeast of Hanoi, it was disclosed today.

In spite of what were described as "considerable" casualties on both sides, several companies of the Communist - led Vietminh dismissed attacks against the village in its pockets.

RCAF to Train Beyond Civilian Airway Traffic

Decision Is Result Of Moose Jaw Tragedy

OTTAWA (CP) — The RCAF thinks it should locate areas for training flights beyond civilian air lanes.

Transport Minister Chevrier said Friday night in the Commons that this step has been accepted in principle during a study of air regulations launched after the Moose Jaw air tragedy last April 8 in which 31 persons lost their lives.

The RCAF now was studying the feasibility of putting the policy into effect at training bases situated on or near civil air lanes.

The air collision at the outskirts of Moose Jaw, Sask., killed all 35 persons in a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star, the pilot of an RCAF Harvard trainer and a woman in a house on which wreckage fell.

Mr. Chevrier cited the RCAF reaction as an example of the interim report of a joint RCAF-civilian committee set up following the accident.

ANOTHER PLAN

He said the RCAF also has accepted the principle of another plan whereby training bases which are near civil air lanes, training planes should be required to stay below 2,000 feet within air lanes when travelling to and from their bases. The feasibility of that move was being studied.

"I do not think it will be possible to deal fully and finally with this matter until such time as the final report is complete," Mr. Chevrier said.

The other steps being developed, he said:

1. The RCAF is considering the recommendation of civilian authorities for parallel civilian and military flight regulations governing visual flight. Present rules place pecuniary responsibility on the pilot to choose his altitude and course. The new proposal would separate flight paths by setting altitudes for planes crossing air lanes.

2. The other study will be given to procedure governing jet aircraft.

3. Civil and military authorities will improve liaison in connection with the reporting of incidents.

RCAF NOTIFIED

Davis Fulton (PC—Kamloops) said he understands that civilian flight plans do not have to be filed with the RCAF before their air routes.

Mr. Chevrier replied that that is not necessary when planes fly visually—according to the requirement of flight plans were filed the RCAF was notified. However, pilots must file flight plans in any cases where poor visibility requires instrument flying.

Mr. Fulton suggested the posting of regular airline flights at RCAF stations so that pilots would be clear of civilian routes at the time civilian planes were due to pass.

FOUR FINED

GUELPH (CP) — Four Guelph youths were fined $50 and costs Friday after attempting to resist arrest when police earlier tried to break up a fight in an alleyway behind a dance. Those fined were Edward Ford, Donald Clayton, Ronald Wagg and Victor Lehenki.

Cabinet Minister of French Descent Would Don Kilts to Open Causeway

OTTAWA (CP)—A cabinet minister of French extraction said Friday he will be happy to don kilts when Prince Edward Island holds a parade of 100 pipers across the Canso causeway when it opens July 15.

Transport Minister Chevrier asserted the Commons he would be perfectly at home in kilts because he has worn them on many occasions as honorary colonel of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in his home town of Cornwall.

Mr. Chevrier was commenting on a statement by George Nowlan (PC — Digby-Annapolis-Kings) for the government he would wear kilts and Charlie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) would lead the procession at the opening of the causeway. Mr. Gillis is a member of the MacPherson clan.

Mr. Chevrier will span the Strait of Canso between the Nova Scotia mainland and Cape Breton Island.

Mr. Nowlan said if Mr. Chevrier agrees to wear kilts during the "spectacle would be the greatest tourist attraction that has ever been known in the province of Nova Scotia."

Mr. Chevrier said if he receives an invitation he will be happy to join Mr. Gillis and others in the procession. Coming as he did from the Stormont and Glengarry constituency he would be proud to march to the tune of the bagpipes as smartly as anyone else.

French Assembly Voted Against Him By Narrow Margin

Laniel Not Forced to Quit President Urged Him to Stay

PARIS (Reuters)—The government of Premier Joseph Laniel today offered his resignation to President Rene Coty.

PARIS (CP) — Premier Joseph Laniel went to the Elysee Palace to confer with President Rene Coty today after the French National Assembly had defeated him on a vote of confidence by 306 votes to 293.

The premier planned to decide whether to stay in office or resign after conferences with the president and members of his cabinet. The vote was not an absolute majority against the Laniel government coalition.

Under the French constitution, a government must resign only if it is defeated by an absolute majority of all members of the assembly. This absolute majority is 313 votes.

In practice, governments have resigned if put in a minority on a vote of confidence, even if the government do not rally the absolute majority. An aide to Laniel had indicated that he would be present to vote himself only if the vote was expected to be close.

Pressures were being put on him to resign, however. Coty was reported to be urging Laniel not to quit unless forced to.

ASSEMBLY RECESSES

Immediately after the votes were counted the National Assembly was recessed until 11 a.m. EDT to give Laniel time for conferences.

In a brief address at the start of the debate, Laniel said his government should be kept in office unless "a new team can be formed immediately with a large and faithful majority."

His words apparently fell on deaf ears. He got only scattered applause at the finish, and from the cold, critical glances of the assembly where he needed help most.

NO ASIATIC MUNICH

Laniel also had not believe that the assembly was ready to accept an "Asiatic Munich" by agreeing to give up its fight on honorable terms in Indo - China, and he did not believe that a majority of the assembly was willing to vote down the Atlantic alliance.

He implied that a defeat for his government might lead to one or both of these consequences.

Laniel's position has been on the downgrade for months. His government, formed 11 months ago, survived confidence votes during the last five weeks largely on the basis that France should present a strong front for the Geneva negotiations May 26 with only two votes to spare.

The premier was defeated early Thursday night on a motion to open up the assembly's debate on France's plans for the creation of a European-sized Vietminh rebel state in Indo-China. The vote came on a motion by Communists who feared the government to continue efforts to seek a peaceful settlement.

The assembly turned down the motion, 324-to-269. Laniel immediately asked for a vote of confidence on the confidence vote on the motion, 324-to-269. Laniel immediately asked for a vote of confidence on the confidence vote on the Friday night resolution asking the government to continue efforts to seek a peaceful settlement.

Police Release Names of Three Injured Girls

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP) — Police late Friday released the names of three New Jersey girls injured when a station wagon crashed into a parked car here Friday.

They are Marion O'Connell, 16; Sheila MacAllister, 16; and Barbara Sirkrigh, 15. All are from Montclair, N.J.

Police said a key chain identification found in the wrecked station wagon bore the name of Lewis Knight of Montclair.

Police said the eastbound station wagon early Friday rammed into the car transport which was parked at the east end of Napanee for a change of drivers. The girls were taken to hospital in Kingston, about 30 miles east of here, two of them unconscious.

The driver of the transport was in charge of Harold Ungar and Ralph Shetler of Napanee, police said.

Charges laid against them of Napanee is continuing the investigation.

Quarantine Of Guatemala Planned by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed officials today said the United States is tentatively scheduled to confer on Monday for a special conference of foreign ministers of the American republics to take united action to quarantine Communist Guatemala.

In preliminary consultations, the republics have already agreed unanimously on the advisability of holding the conference — probably around the end of this month at Montevideo, Uruguay.

Two Broadcasts Superimposed

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—For 10 minutes Friday night, the Albuquerque army hearings had several participants coming to blows at least that's the way it sounded in Albuquerque.

A bitch in patching wires caused two recorded excerpts of the hearings, broadcast over KGGM, to be superimposed over the Gene Grescello-Bobby Jones fight, broadcast over KOAT.

The fight program went out over both stations.

HEAVY PROPERTY DAMAGE RESULTS FROM COLLISION

Property damage amounting to approximately $300 resulted to two vehicles early this morning at the corner of Front, Bridge and Dundas Streets when a highway transport and the car of an American tourist collided.

Lawrence Pagett, Kitchener, driver for Reliable Transport, was southbound on Front and as he turned east onto Dundas street a westbound car driven by Cecil Thompson of Royal Oak, Michigan, collided with the side of his vehicle. Damage to the transport amounted to approximately $100 and to the American car about $400.

KINGSTON MAN INJURED IN CRASH

A Kingston man, Orville Valenlenuve, was admitted to Belleville hospital this afternoon early today following injuries received when the car in which he was riding left the highway and turned over a mile east of Trenton. No other car was involved in the accident. The injured man was taken to hospital by Thompson's ambulance.

Raccoon Spends Night in Tree On Meyers Street

Keeping up with the Joneses is one of the precepts for successful home-living. But for a while yesterday, the Joneses had something few, if any, other households can boast. They had a raccoon.

Unasked for, it's true, but it was there — right in their backyard at 31 Meyers Street.

Mrs. Robert Jones tells it this way:

Thursday night as usual before going to bed they tied up the family dog in the garden. Several times during the night they were wakened by the dog's barking, but aside from a holler to remind it people were trying to sleep, they paid no attention to its fussing.

In the morning Mrs. Jones found the dog broken loose from its halter and part of a flower bed torn up.

Puzzled she investigated further, and there in a tree at the bottom of the garden saw the raccoon.

All day yesterday it slept in the sun, high up in the tree. This morning it was gone.

This is the second time a raccoon has used the Jones' tree for a doss-down.

Last month another of the species spent a weekend in the same tree and disappeared during the night.

Since they all look the same to her, Mrs. Jones isn't certain if yesterday's raccoon is the same one paying a return.

Maybe, if the animal keeps this up, someone will be sporting a brand new fur cape round Meyers Street next winter.

Sen. Fraser, Ex-Mayor Couch Given Awards of Merit by Lions

TRENTON (Special)—The Trenton Lions Club's first "Awards of Merit" went to two prominent Trenton businessmen and community builders, Senator W. A. Fraser and ex-Mayor Couch.

Harry Sager, Presentation of the award to Senator Fraser was received by Mrs. Fraser from Mayor R. E. Whitley, past president of the club. Couch's contribution to the Trenton Memorial Hospital during the time he served as a member of the board, he mentioned the service he rendered the town as president of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce. "If we had a few more citizens like Mr. Couch we would have a bigger and better Trenton," Mr. Sager stated.

FIRST AWARDS

The Lions Club in making the awards for the first time, singled out Senator Fraser and ex-Mayor Couch because it was felt that these two men should receive the awards more than any two other citizens in Trenton. Congratulations made by the Senator and Mr. Couch while they worked as a team in Mayor and Council session were considered.

Thanking the club for his award Mr. Couch estimated that Senator Fraser and himself have brought almost $500,000 in new security to 2,000 Trenton people since the commencement of the new industries. Mr. Couch credited Senator Fraser with the location of these industries and figured he was responsible for attracting five at a total of 14 industries that established plants here in the last 25 years.

NO LONGER SERVICE

Senator Fraser and Mr. Couch are no longer serving in an official capacity as the industrial commissioners of Trenton. Clarifying this matter Mr. Couch announced that Senator Fraser and himself had decided to do all they could for Trenton, the town they loved so much. "I cannot understand why there should be any attempt to create a division between a man who has been working in the town's interest," he said. "There is much satisfaction for doing a job gratis when some people say if he didn't get something out of it he didn't get it under the table," Mr. Couch remarked. "I hope the time will come when some people will realize that Trenton had a clean council and a clean police force. I hope the time will come when some people will realize that Trenton is a clean city

A Lift for Living

Growing Up

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

At this season our thoughts turn to our schools, which are holding their commencements, and to the young people. What are we to in all this training of our youth?

In our national budget the biggest bulk of money goes for military defence. But next to this billions spent for war, the largest amount which Americans spend for public service is for education.

We want our children to grow up mentally and physically. To be sure, parents have moods when they wish they could keep their children in the childhood stage of unfolding surprises and unfadeing charm, but this parental feeling is not nearly so deep as the desire to see the child develop.

In a certain house out in Knox County, Ohio, there is a doorway which shows marks registering the growth of a boy. On his birthday that boy would stand up against the door-jamb, make himself as tall as he could, and his father would mark the height. The proud father would stretch his son to measure his gain in height and then almost stretch the truth to prove to his friends how much above the average his offspring was.

ALL WANT TO GROW

Yes, we all want to grow up. And what sadness is caused by failure to grow. When physical growth is arrested, leaving a stunted body, it is a tragedy. And for the mind development in the mind stops the body goes on growing, the result is still more pathetic.

There are other forms of arrested development not so outwardly apparent which may have very serious social consequences. Thinker about Adolph Hitler wrought because his emotional development was arrested in childhood.

A mother, exasperated by the tantrums of an eight-year-old cried, "Don't be a baby!" And another mother in a restaurant so lost her temper and poise over some trivial discomfiture that her daughter home from school, blushed and was heard to say, "Mother, act your age."

ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT

How numerous are the examples of arrested development—the boy who won't play unless he can run the show; the woman who sulks when she cannot have her own way; the man of forty who, finding himself thwarted in something, takes the morning around the office or browbeating his wife.

Growing up is a growing-out-of. We outgrow our childhood clothes, our childish fears, as Saint Paul said, "When I became a man, I put away childish things." And that should mean our childishness.

Babies are born self-centered. The infant is the center of attention and desires. It wants what it wants when it wants it. If a child's desires are not trained and disciplined, its childishness expands, but it does not grow up. The result is like that of the disillusioned young father who followed his self indulgence until he sadly said, "I took what I wanted until I no longer wanted what I took."

In a good home a child's selfishness is soon tempered by environment. The father's guiding hand, the mother's all-encompassing love, the living together—all combine to make the child aware that he belongs to a group. Then the little self expands to include the interests of the others, so that what hurts sister Mary hurts brother John, and when one member of the family wins an honor, all rejoice.

Growing-up is a growing-into as well as a growing-out-of. The boy goes to school and grows up into the interests of the school. When he finishes school, he settles in a community. And if he is a good citizen, he grows up into the activities and responsibilities of the community. Then if he is patriotic enough to be worthy of the land which protects him, he grows up into the interests of his nation, and is concerned for its welfare.

If he is godly enough he grows up into the interests of the whole family of God throughout the world.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BABIES' APPETITES

We are told that it takes a bee a month to eat its own weight in food. A bird must eat at least half its own weight daily in order to survive and most nestlings are fed their entire weight each day. Pity the poor parents who are thus obliged to "grow" this amount of food to each infant finding enough for self-preservation.

Because the nests are near enough to our dwellings for casual observation, more statistics have been made about the feeding of young robins and starlings than any other kinds of birds. It has been reported that a baby robin eats 86 angle worms or 65 cut worms in 24 hours; and somebody estimated that the life of the fire of earth worms totalled 14 feet.

HEAVY SCUTTLE

Did you ever watch a family of young wrens? There may be two or even eight babies, and their food consists wholly of tiny insects and spiders. Some people counted that one day between sunrise and nightfall 1,217 trips were made to a wren's home, carrying aphids, butterflies, and the like. Somebody else declared that he saw one wren "pick up 1,700 morsels in a day."

Even birds known definitely as prodigious seed eaters very often feed their young on insects.

Bobolinks, considered pests in the southern states where they gather in the autumn and ruin rice fields, give insects to their offspring.

A young black tern weighing 21 grams was found to consume 14 grams of food daily. This consisted of grasshoppers, locusts, dragonflies and weevils.

EAGLETS EAT WELL

Eaglets are at first fed by regurgitation. Then the two parents bring to the big nest rabbits, opossums, large birds (such as great blue herons), and quantities of fish. It is nine weeks before eaglets are able to feed themselves. A bald eagle was said to have carried a lamb about five miles.

As cowbirds place their eggs in the homes of any species liable to look after the children, cowbird babies are brought up on a great variety of foods, depending upon the habits of their foster parents. Usually nests of birds smaller than themselves are chosen. Consequently, the big baby cowbird takes up too much room, is able to grab the proffered food before its little foster-brothers can get it, progresses faster, and finally pushes all other infants out of the nest.

It is pitiful to see a pair of tiny yellow-throats giving all their time and energy to stuffing the big baby cowbird which was the cause of the death of their own three or four little yellowthroats.

Twelve Roman Catholic Nuns At Convention

MONTREAL (CP)—Contrast in beliefs and ideas is part of the 14th International Congress of Psychology being held here, and the 100 women delegates are no exception.

But the dedication to their work the women have in common is probably more interesting than the contrasts. This was shown in interviews with the delegates Thursday.

Twelve Roman Catholic nuns from the United States and Canada are among the delegates. So is Dr. Cecily de Monchaux, London, England, who is a close collaborator of the daughter of Dr. Sidmund Freud, the founder of psychoanalysis. She is a devoted follower of Freud's theories of psychoanalysis.

CHANCE TO LEARN

To the nuns, the international congress is a thrilling new experience and a chance to learn. To Dr. de Monchaux, congresses are old stuff and this one is a chance to discuss what she has learned since the last one.

Among the things they have in common is their desire to help children.

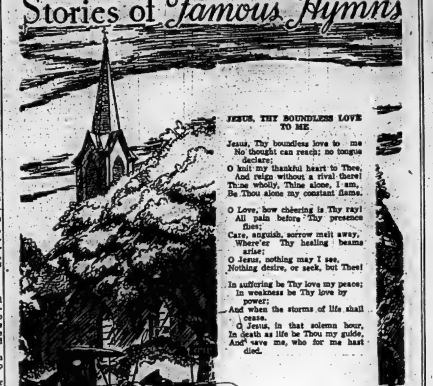
ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOR

"These children find it very hard to make warm relationships with others now that they are adolescent. They reveal an aggressive, uncaring attitude to authority; they are detached, feel no respect for others and therefore no responsibility. They have formed an anti-social behavior pattern," she said. She said it takes two or three years of patient treatment to straighten out the youngsters.



DIES FROM FALL

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Charles Taylor, 85, proprietor of hotels at Chatsworth, Wiarton and Sarnia, died in hospital here Thursday, from injuries suffered in a fall Wednesday night, Mr. Taylor, who walked with a crutch, fell down the cellar stairs of the hotel at Chatsworth, nine miles south of here.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Mrs. Lucille Sutherland, 29, found guilty of failing to provide the necessities of life for her young son, Thursday was given a one year suspended sentence. The charge was laid following the death March 23 of her son, Gordon, 3 months. Doctors said the child was undernourished but death was caused by a fractured skull.

Stories of Famous Hymns

JESUS, THY BOUNDLESS LOVE TO ME

Jesus, Thy boundless love to me
No thought can reach; no tongue declare;
O knit my thankful heart to Thee,
And reign without a rival there!
Thine wholly, Thine alone, I am,
Be Thou alone my constant flame.

O Love, how cheering is Thy ray!
All pain before Thy presence flies;
Care, anguish, sorrow melt away,
Where'er Thy healing beams arise;
O Jesus, nothing may I see,
Nothing desire, or seek, but Thee!

In suffering be Thy love my peace;
In weakness be Thy love by power;
And when the storms of life shall cease,
O Jesus, in that solemn hour,
In death as life be Thou my guide,
And save me, who for me hast died.

English speaking Christians will be forever grateful to John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, for this famous and favorite hymn.

Though it was written nearly three centuries ago by the Rev. Paul Gerhardt, German pastor and hymnist, it might never have found its way into English hymnals but for Wesley's translation, made in 1738.

Wesley found the German version of the hymn in the Herrnhuti Gesang Buch. His translation contained 16 verses and the hymn as we know it today is made up of the four of these. Those cited above are the first, third and final stanzas of Wesley's poem which was published for the first time in his "Hymns and Sacred Poems," in 1739.

When German hymn writers are being discussed, the names of Paul Gerhardt and Martin Luther are usually mentioned together. Gerhardt was born in Saxony in 1607; his most distinguished ministry was at the Church of St. Nicholas in Berlin, which he served from 1657 to 166, when he lost his parish for refusing to yield to an edict designed to make all preaching in Germany conform to the Reformed or Calvinistic faith. He died in 1676.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL ACTION ORDERED

The Provincial Government is at last taking action to force the construction of sewage disposal plants in communities which now discharge their sewage into highly polluted waters.

Hon. Mackinnon Phillips, Ontario Minister of Health, has given municipalities in the Grand River valley three years to prepare plans for suitable sewage disposal plants. Among the cities and towns affected are Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Brantford and Guelph.

Dr. Phillips said his department will give every possible help in the preparation of plans and will undertake public educational work throughout the area. But when it comes to money—the Ontario government can not do any more for Grand River valley municipalities than for those in any other part of the province.

That is a reasonable policy—but it does not decide the question of whether the province should be prepared to provide financial assistance in the erection of sewage disposal plants wherever they are necessary.

In principle, it must be admitted that the disposal of sewage is a task which should be undertaken by the municipality concerned and paid for by its residents.

In practice, however, it may well prove that the financial burden of constructing not only sewage plants but expensive connector sewers may prove too heavy for municipal taxpayers to carry.

Dr. A. B. Berry, head of the department's sanitary engineering division, suggests that municipalities might finance these projects by adopting "service rental plans." It is true that this would produce some slight shift in the financial burden, but largely it would still fall on the same people. Insofar as this is true, it would be immaterial whether the charge was called a tax or a rental payment.

This question of the cost of sewage disposal plants cannot be considered an academic one by municipalities of Belleville, or by councils in many other municipalities outside the Grand River Valley. Many of these municipalities face similar problems—and the time may not be distant when they, like the Grand River municipalities, will receive orders from the provincial government to proceed with plans for the construction of plants to end pollution of public waters.

AN HONEST MAN

An honest man is a pearl above price—and when he is a politician he perhaps really has a legitimate claim to that over-worked adjective, fabulous.

Such a man, we gather, is Hon. Douglas Abbott, minister of finance.

Arthur Blakely, writing in the Montreal Gazette, reports that J. W. Monteith, Progressive-Conservative member for Perth, was punished by a clause in a bill to amend the Income Tax Act. The clause read: "Where depreciable property of a taxpayer as defined for the purpose of section 20 has been disposed of in circumstances that subsection (4) of section 20 is applicable, for the purpose of Paragraph (A) of subsection (1) of section 11, the capital cost of the property to the taxpayer by whom the property was acquired, subsections (2), (5) and (6) are not applicable in respect of the disposition."

Mr. Abbott agreed that the bill was intricate and complex, but he believed that it was reasonably clear.

He added: "I should like to say that it will become simpler in future years, but I just do not believe it will."

An honest man—and a brave one!

THEFT IN BRAZIL

Is stealing a sin—always?

That is one of those questions of ethics which have provided food for many hours of entertaining debate for young men—and women—who have just reached the age when they know all the answers to the world's problems.

The two lines of argument are familiar to us all.

1.—The Ten Commandments forbid us to steal and a sin is a sin, no matter what the circumstances.

2.—There are greater evils than taking from a man who possesses a surplus of this world's goods in order to save the life of another.

Two Brazilian convicts have now ruled on this matter —and it is with surprise that most of us will learn that the legal mind has decided against the application of the letter of the law.

A labor court, on appeal, has upheld a lower court's decision that "to steal in a case of extreme necessity, as for example when there is sickness in the family, does not constitute a crime punishable by imprisonment." A shoe factory was ordered to reinstate a workman caught stealing, defence counsel having contended that he had been earning a "starvation wage" and had been made desperate by his family's needs.

NEW WAY TO APPLY FOR JOB

An ambitious worker in an advertising agency who wished to make a change got a 100 per cent response to twelve applications sent to twelve agency executives. His hobby is homing pigeons. He sent a bird and a carefully prepared folder about himself by special messenger to each executive. A note on the cage said: "Release the pigeon and he'll wing Straight home with your answer inserted in his band." ("Marketing," Toronto).

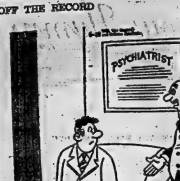
APPEARANCE



The man who has no one at home to care
Whether his tie should be straightened be,
Or whether he ought to brush his hair,
Displays it for all to see.

Man's shoes are shined for a woman's eye,
And for her delight his coat is pressed;
For whenever to her he says good-bye
She wants him at his best.

A woman would keep all his garments trim,
On every hook and shelf,
For how he appears she cares more for him
Than he cares for himself.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 12, 1934.

Mrs. Gerald Bristol, Cedar Street, has returned home after spending a week in Toronto, Miss Jean Tonton and Mr. Jim Totton accompanied their sister to Toronto and remained there for a few days before returning home.

Miss Olive Sneath and Miss Lulu Beadle of Toronto were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Callaghan, Charles Street.

Miss Ruby Kaiser, McDonald Avenue, attended the June ball at the Royal Military College, Kingston, last night.

Mr. Cedric Smith was home from Ottawa to spend the week end at his home on Bridge Street east.

In further reference to the days when Belleville was a lumber town, here is an interesting item with regards to the drive of logs which came down the Moira River, taken from our file copy at this time in 1894: "The big drive of logs comprising some 200,000 pieces began to arrive at the booms at Belleville and is now running freely. Sorting was commenced this afternoon."

Here is an item from our file copy of June 13th, 1834: "Twenty-five years ago this morning a man was hanged here on the scaffold of the new jail. The rain was falling heavily. The execution was public and was witnessed by a large crowd. This happened 85 years years ago from this year 1834."

We are pleased to report that the strawberry crop is doing fine, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Robb of this city were aboard the steamer Canada which was sunk this morning as a result of a collision with the steamer Cape Breton off Scrol and five persons were drowned. Mr. and Mrs. Robb were asleep when the collision happened and they sprang from their beds and put on life preservers. Reaching the deck it was dark, and they became s parated and Mr. Robb was precipitated overboard. He lost his life preserver but was able to grasp a chair and hold himself afloat. He was carried down stream about a mile when he was picked up. Mrs. Robb was rescued before Mr. Robb and to his great joy he found that Mrs. Robb had reached Breton. Neither of them suffered any ill effects. Mr. Fred Ross, a former newspaperman here was also a passenger on the steamer Canada and was rescued.

'Mobiles' New Menace

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

We think it quite wonderful when relatives take up such crafts as leatherwork or old pumping organ, with the risk of being termed old fashioned, we must say that we quite see why anyone would want to take up this modern hobby of making "mobiles." We're not quite sure if this is the correct term for it—but it should convey what the results are confusing under any name!

A "mobile," as we understand it, is a sort of a thing that is fashioned from some old wire, possibly a coat hanger, and any other pieces of strange looking equipment. It has no particular use or purpose — but may be suspended from a chandelier or even used as a chandelier, we suppose. We have no idea who invented mobiles — but it must have been a retarded child with not too much to do.

We have nothing against making things with your hands for fun, at that. But what earthly use are they? Mobiles, as far as we can see, are even more repulsive forms of modern day paintings. We could see a far as we can see, are even more repulsive forms of modern day paintings. We could see a far as we can see, are even more repulsive forms of modern day paintings. We could see a

Miss B. Meiklejohn's Music Class Gives Fine Concert

MARMORA. — Students of the music class of Miss Barbara Meiklejohn, which was opened last September, and includes 18 beginners, took part in a music recital in Marmora high school auditorium, on Wednesday, which was attended by a good sized audience.

The event was sponsored by Marmora Public Library and C. W. Nicholson, its chairman, was chairman for the evening.

Baskets of white, blue and yellow iris, peonies, delphinium, phlox and carnations, made a pretty foreground for the stage.

With a few preliminary remarks, Mr. Nicholson welcomed the audience and then announced each performer who in turn announced his or her number.

GUEST ARTIST

The guest artist of the evening, John Druif, made a great impression. Born in Holland, he has been a resident of Marmora for only two months, and has only been one year in Canada. He possesses a sweet, high tenor voice and following his training in his native land, has sung there in operettas as well as in music halls. He hopes to pursue his career further in this country.

The program opened with a group of piano solos—"La Donna a Mobile," by Allan Grant; "Ballet Dancer," Keith McFaul; "The Spanish Dancer," Lois Lough; "Cornish May-pole Dance," Judy Spry; "Top Toad", Darlene Vermeer.

Next came a piano duet, "Coming round the Mountain," played by Jimmy Stubbs and Bonny Lawlor, accompanied by her sister, Barbara, on the piano, Linda Meiklejohn sang "Christopher Robin."

PIANO SOLOS

Another group of five piano solos was next heard in the following order: "Merry Farmer," Helen Walsh; "Wonderful Copenhagen," Vivian Orr; "Shady Brook," Helen McFaul; "The Juggler," Doreen Lough; "From a Wigwam," Betty McFaul.

Angela Pritchard and her friend, Phyllis Walsh, contributed the next number, "The Parade of the Tin Soldiers."

The guest artist was here introduced and sang "Santa Lucia," in Italian, and "Songs of Songs," in English, receiving a much merited ovation.

A further group of five piano solos was then presented: "British Grenadiers," Jimmy Allaire; "Pop Goes the Weasel," Jimmy Stubbs; "Circus Parade," Mary Lesley Brady.

The first half of the program ended with the humorous vocal duet, "I Love Geography" by the sisters, Vivian and Margaret Orr.

A silver collection which amounted to a little over $20 was taken in the intermission for the funds of Marmora Public Library.

The second half of the program commenced with the "Skater's Waltz" by eight girl pupils, Mrs. Bohyk's dancing class.

Another group of five piano soloists was heard, their names and numbers follow: "Merry Go Round," Bernadette Warren; "Yellow Butterfly," Susan McEvoy; "Russian Cradle Song," Joan Crawford; "Anywhere I Wander," Margaret Orr; "Two Little Froggies," Angela Pritchard.

Allan Grant performing on the bones, made a pleasing diversion.

ITALIAN NUMBERS

John Druif returned to the stage to be heard to good effect in two Italian numbers, "La Spagnola" and "La Donna e Mobile."

The final group of piano solos came next "Nola," by Sandra Meiklejohn; "Marines' Hymn," Bob McFaul; "Triumphal March," Douglas Stubbs; and "Blue Danube Waltz," Ruby Spry.

This group was succeeded by a piano duet, "Under the Mistletoe," in which Barbara Meiklejohn and Sandra Bear participated.

John Druif was recalled to sing "The Merry Widow Waltz," in German to conclude the program.

The full number of entertainers then grouped on the stage to lead in the singing of the National Anthem.

The chairman on behalf of the Library Board, thanked Miss Meiklejohn, her class, and her supporters, for their support of the library through a program which had entailed so much effort.

PRESENTATION

Little Judy Grant then made the presentation of a bouquet of red roses to Miss Meiklejohn to be followed by Miss Helen McFaul with the presentation of a lazy Susan dish to their teacher, by the Springbrook pupils of her class.

Miss Meiklejohn flitingly voiced her thanks for the gifts and to all who co-operated with her in the program, stage decorations, and other preparations.

Refreshments were served to all who had taken part in the program.

Weddings

DAFOE—BARRIE

In a double ring ceremony before a background of spires, tulips, iris, phlox and oriental poppies, Marilyn Jean, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Barrie, Mill Street, became the bride of Donald Allan Dafoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dafoe, Corbyville, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, at two o'clock on Saturday last, Rev. W. H. T. Walker officiated.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. R. H. Williams an Mrs. Roy Eggleton, soloist, sang "O Perfect Love" preceding the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Lindrum Reilly of Stockdale the bride was charming in a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin in walts length, featuring a molded bodice with V-shaped neckline and full length sleeves ending in points over the hands. The skirt was accented by a panel of white accordion pleated net. She wore a full length veil of tulle illusion held by a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and carried a full cascade of Sweetheart roses tied with white lace.

Miss Helen Howard, of Belleville, was maid of honor, wearing a ballerina length gown of mauve net over taffeta with matching jacket, mitts and headdress. She carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and rosebuds. Miss Grace Barrie was her sister's bridesmaid, wearing a ballerina length gown of yellow net over taffeta, with net jacket, mitts and headdress, and carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and rosebuds.

Little Miss Gloria Reilly, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of pale green net over taffeta with matching mitts and headdress and carried a basket of sweetpeas and rosebuds.

Mr. John Dafoe, of Fort-Erie, was his brother's groomsman and Messrs. Thomas (Ted) Dafoe, of Corbyville, brother of the groom, and Gordon Barrie, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, decorated with spring flowers. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with forget-me-not and fern. Mrs. Barrie received her guests in a gown of mauve flowered nylon, with white accessories, and wore a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, in a gray flowered nylon gown, with mauve accessories, and wore a corsage of cream roses.

For travelling the bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories and corsage of red roses. On their return from a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the young couple will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Belleville, Trenton and Fort Erie, Ontario.

CHAPMAN—LANGMAN

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, was the setting Saturday, May 29th, at 3:30 p.m., for a lovely wedding ceremony, when Maxine Ruth Langman, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Langman, became the bride of Ronald E. Chapman, of Campbellford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chapman. The Rev. J. G. Hornsby, pastor of the church, officiated before a background of beautiful summer flowers, phlox, tulips, white lilacs, snapdragon, iris and ferns.

Mr. Egerton Boyce, church organist, provided the wedding music, and the soloist, Mr. Alan Cunningham, sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her imported gown of embroidered snowfall white net, featuring a molded basque with short sleeves, and low "V" neckline edged with pleated tulle. The bouffant skirt billowed over a taffeta underskirt to waltz-length. The shoulder-length veil was gathered to a jewelled net cap, and she carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses, lily-of-the-valley, forget-me-nots and trailing ivy.

Mrs. Ronald Buskard, of Belleville, as matron of honor and the bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Langman, Toronto, sister of the bride, and Donna Churchill, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, as senior and junior bridesmaids, were attired alike in waltz-length gowns in pink taffeta. They wore coronets of lily-of-the-valley, forget-me-nots, and blue cornflowers, sweetpeas and ivy, and carried nosegays of similar flowers.

The bridegroom was attended by P.O. Don Langman, of Moncton, N.B., brother, and Norm Scotia, brother of the bride; while Mr. Jack Barr, of Toronto, and Mr. Trevor Chapman, of Campbellford, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

At the reception held in the church parlors, the bride's mother received wearing black with white accessories. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in mauve and white with white accessories. Both wore sweetpea corsages.

For travelling by motor to points west, the bride chose a rose-colored suit, with white accessories, and corsage of sweetpeas. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman are residing in Belleville.

Guests were present from Dartmouth, N.S.; Toronto, Campbellford, Peterborough, Brighton, Ottawa, Montreal, Foxboro, Picton and Kingston.

A pleasing feature was the attendance of the bride's pupils at the church.

Prior to her marriage the bride was honored at the home of Mrs. Ronald Buskard, of Belleville, with a miscellaneous shower, and by the pupils and their parents, of Foxboro, when she was presented with a hostess chair and stool.

REYNOLDS—HARRISON

PICTON — The Church of St. Mary Magdalene, was the scene of an interesting wedding at three o'clock, Sunday, June 6, 1954, when Sandra Ann Harrison, became the bride of Leland Glynn Reynolds. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osborne A. Harrison, Jr., R. 8, Picton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith C. Reynolds, R. 3,

Mr. and Mrs. David Kenneth Richardson are shown signing the register after their wedding ceremony in Trinity United Church, Madoc. The bride is the former Miss Joyce Emma Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore, of Madoc. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson, of Marmora.

Treated Like One of Boys Says Member

TORONTO (CP)—Ann Shipley, onergetic member of Parliament for Timiskaming, says "the men in Ottawa pay me the greatest compliment that they treat me like one of the boys."

"This is what every woman in public life should strive for, to be treated like any other member," she told the Toronto and York region of the Ontario Liberal Women's Association Friday.

She said that a woman in politics will get along fine provided she doesn't ask for any special favors because she is a woman.

Since she went to Ottawa last fall she has been busier than ever before, said Mrs. Shipley, who for 10 years was reeve of Teck township in northern Ontario.

"It isn't true that once you are elected you can sit back and relax," she added.

Picton. Rev. W. G. H. Swayne officiated.

White snowballs, red peonies, white and rust iris decorated the altar.

Frank Bronskill, at the organ, played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a pretty picture in ballerina-length dress of net over satin, with ruffles around the skirt, a strapless tucked bodice featuring a matching jacket. Her veil of white tulle was caught by a halo of white roses. She wore white net gloves and carried deep pink carnations.

Miss Gail Harrison attended her sister, wearing pale blue net over pink satin, with tucked bodice and matching stole jacket. Her headdress was of blue roses and net and she carried yellow baby mums and carnations.

Mr. Douglas Reynolds was groomsman for his brother.

The reception followed at the Zike' Hall. The bride's mother wore a navy suit with white collar and cuffs, and corsage of deep red carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose navy sheer with corsage of pink roses.

Servers were, Miss Marina Valieau, Miss Joe Cowan and Miss Marlene Ralston.

For travelling by motor to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a green plaid cotton dress with white linen trim, white accessories and corsage of rust roses. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will reside at 42 Hill Street, Picton.

Religious Education Inter-School Contest Won by Marsh Hill

This week marked the annual inter-school contest for Religious Education in Foxboro and surrounding school area. The area composed of the schools of Zion Hill, Turner's, Marsh Hill, and Foxboro with five classes participating.

The various classes were judged for learning some 33 Scripture verses given with the lessons of the year, and memorizing a chosen portion of the Bible.

The teacher of the Religious Education class for R.W. Giffin, tested carefully each class on their Scripture verse, heard the class as a whole repeat the chosen portion of the Bible passage, and to heighten the occasion, one representative of the class was chosen to repeat this passage, judged on public speaking ability, presentation and memorization.

This contest is in its third year. The first year was judged by the Rev. R. Baker, of Stirling, the second year by the Rev. R. F. Middleton, of Bayside, and this current year by the Rev. Ray Rowley, of Belleville.

The prize is a shield of oak to run until some school will win it three times. It is engraved in silver with the winning name plate added each year, and hung before the winning pupils.

VARIETY OF SCRIPTURE VERSES

Variety marked the choice of Scripture passages although the same passage was chosen by two classes. The senior class of Foxboro with Mrs. Ina Rose, as teacher, chose the gospel account of "Ten Virgins." The intermediate class with teacher, Miss Marylin Parks, chose the 23rd Psalm. Th junior class of the Foxboro school did not participate. Zion Hill school, with teacher, Mrs. L. Ketcheson, chose the Beatitudes. Turner's school with Mrs. V. Rose, chose the account of "The Ten Virgins." Marsh Hill school with teacher, Mrs. J. Good, chose the 13th chapter of Jos on "Wisdom."

The judge, Rev. R. Rowley, was gratified with what he heard and praised both pupil and teacher. He stated that, "These verses and passages of the Bible would always be remembered and would prove a constant unfailing inspiration with helpful significance in coming years ahead."

The competitive spirit was keen and decisions were quite close, though the following points were added up Mr. Rowley found that by a few points Mrs.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

If your shopping purse is always too small to carry the dozen and one things you need, as well as the odd small parcel, then this is for you. We have just received a wonderful bag as a birthday present . . . It is actually a photographer's shoulder bag with extra pouch and interior divisions for flash bulbs, films and camera gadgets.

These bags are made of strong leather-like plastic. They sell for half the price of a similar, but smaller handbag. You can even tuck a lunch inside, making them useful for many school girls and office workers.

FRUIT SALAD

Most recipes call for a sweet mayonnaise dressing on fruit salad. Here's a fruit sauce we like. It's good for the youngsters too.

For the salad, chop up two or three apples, one banana, two oranges, a grapefruit if desired. Add some chopped nuts.

For the sauce, mix a heaping dessertspoon of cornstarch with about half a cup of cold water until smooth. Put the juice of two oranges and one lemon in the top of a double boiler and heat to boiling point.

Add cornstarch mixture and stir constantly until thick. Add some sugar to taste. Sauce should be quite tart and lemony. Allow to cool. Then mix with fresh fruit and serve at once.

GARDEN

Something new for children and a means of revenue for a person with a large enclosed lawn appeared in a Toronto newspaper advertisement this week.

It is a Morning Baby Park, open from 8.30 to 12, five days a week at 50c per child per week. Nothing is said in the ad about looking after the children. We presume the mother or baby sitter must accompany the children and take full responsibility for the youngsters.

Now that so many people with young families are forced to be apartment dwellers, this new baby parks will be most helpful.

Uncle Dudley's garden is not so fed up trying to close the doors in the old car that he bought a brand new car. Now, some of the new doors will not open at all and another will rot close unless somebody slams it from the outside.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

PEOPLE THINK HE'S AN IDEAL HUSBAND—WIFE DOESN'T!

Sometimes I wonder how husbands there are who have one personality for the outside world and a quite different one at home.

For instance:

"I have been married for 15 years to a man who, from all outside appearances, is an ideal husband."

Get that? He's an ideal husband — "from all outside appearances."

So liked, in fact, that this wife says: "Women envy me the happiness and contentment that they assume I am enjoying."

But would these same women be as envious if they could see the other side of the picture? Here it is:

"This husband of mine is in a business where the work is done mostly for women. Each job he does runs for some length of time, so he immediately becomes very impressed with his woman customers and in a few days knows every last detail about them.

"He starts a campaign with flattery and attentions that continue long after the work with them is over. In this way he has acquired quite a few unattached women friends, most of whom are spinsters and each of whom is convinced his attentions are for her only.

"All this has become a constant source of trouble between us. I say that he has no right to lead these women on and get telephone calls from them and accept gifts, and he says he is just being nice to them; that it is all purely business and a necessary part of his work. On my side, however, it has caused me great embarrassment, because so many husbands have seen him with different women and have met me about it. I have even seen him myself.

"My husband has a perfectly fine home and seems fairly happy and content in it. If I were so much in love with him and had some so tired of these women assisting him that I am sure they would be glad to have me to shield him, as I have been doing all these years. As I do not feel that I can do so he likes with these women, knowing that he will make as long as he is married to me.

"When a man reaches his sixties, and has an attractive wife several years younger than himself, wouldn't you think he would be satisfied to be with one woman, his wife, and what would you say was the right time for his wife to take in such a case?"

I would say that the right attitude to take with such an adolescent husband would be amused ignorance. That is, so far as the wife is sure this dancing attendance on women customers will not develop into anything more serious.

While it is readily understood that such childish behavior can only be really amusing to the wife of such a man, perhaps, if she is a good enough actress, she can pretend it does. It would be worth trying for awhile, anyway.

Nobody likes to be laughed at and, I think, I have met a few men of whom take themselves pretty seriously when it comes right down to their egos. If this man's wife were to joke about the whole thing now and again, piling gently at him for being still an adolescent so far as women are concerned, he might in time begin to feel a little foolish. The average man who carries on any such shenanigans usually thinks himself to be quite a sophisticated fellow if he finds that his wife considers him practically a teenager in this respect, it may give him a different view of himself. Of course he would resent it, at first, to be but she might see evidence of it in a change on his part.

She would have to be a little careful, though, not to make such fun of him as to be harm to these other women to bolster up his ego. It will take a nice bit of balance on her part to tease him just enough and not too much.

The job calls for a deft piece of psychological slight-of-hand. I wonder how good she will be at it.

BREAKS RECORD

MOSCOW (AP) — Tass news agency Thursday said pilot V. Kalinin broke his own world altitude record for "sporting planes, fifth weight category," by climbing to 11,246 meters (36,890 feet). The said the flight was over Kiev, and broke Kalinin's record of 10,296 metres. (British Wing Cmdr. W. F. Gibb set the world's recognized altitude record in 1953 by flying a Canberra bomber to 63,668 feet).

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . want to tell you how much I enjoy your daily column . . . though not a homemaker myself find it interesting. . . have a little problem which you may have a solution. Mother makes Brownies and ices them with a chocolate butter icing, consisting of melted chocolate, butter, icing sugar and a little milk. That's taste fine, but the icing is dull and not very smooth, like the boughs ones which are so glossy looking. Do you know how to make this type of icing?—Mrs. Ivan.

ANSWER:

Sure.

GLOSSY CHOCOLATE FROSTING

In top of double boiler melt together 4 tablespoons cocoa, 4 tablespoons shortening and four squares (ounces) unsweetened chocolate. Remove from heat as soon as melted and blend, then stir in 1 cup sifted icing sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, and 1-3 cup evaporated milk, 1 to 4 teaspoons vanilla. Beat until smooth and glossy and thick enough to spread.

QUESTION:

Could you give me some information as to whether or not the eggs of the grain weevil are always—or sometimes—in flour when purchased? I understand that country flour is kept on shelves in stores will also breed this insect. Is this so? Anything else you could tell me about this would be appreciated.—M. A. G.

ANSWER:

No. You are right but there is no cause for alarm. Just think this way: In refined white flour germs don't keep so shelves can't. They live in whole grained because of its high nutritional qualities. The only way to be sure your product is of high quality is to buy it in small quantities, fresh from store with quick turnover, and in summer to store it in the refrigerator. That's what I do.

QUESTION:

I was glad to see your column about flours which are of great importance. . . I have just moved here from Victoria and have had many samples of many breads here, but none I've had has been 100 per cent whole wheat. . . could you tell me where I could get it? Then in turn I'll get you the author's name of a very valuable book you should have on flours.—Mrs. MCL

ANSWER:

I am interested in the title and author of the book on flours that you refer to and shall be glad to here from you again when you have them. I have written to you about where you can buy whole wheat flour.

QUESTION:

. . . enclosed recipe (for Windblown Cake) has brought up a number of questions because I want to prevent a fallen cake. Recipe calls for cake flour but at the last time there is fairly large amount of liquid. Could you recommend a particular brand of flour? . . . is double action baking powder implied? I like a flat wife, but for beating up whites after I have folded in flour, I find they pile up better if I take 1 tablespoon sugar for each egg white from amount called for in recipe and beat this in gradually. However I haven't tried this method. Please comment. Would it spoil texture of cake?—Marie P.

ANSWER:

Yes, it would. Use best quality of cake flour you can buy. Use single acting baking powder unobtrusive follow the recipe exactly as directed. This is a delicate cake and each step must be followed as described, I have returned your clipping of the recipe for Windblown cake.

QUESTION:

. . . have enjoyed some wonderful recipes but think the one my whole family really enjoyed the most was the Cucumber Crock Pickles . . . but I have lost the recipe.—S. D.

ANSWER:

CROCK CUCUMBER PICKLES

(This recipe was given to us by a reader—Mrs. Alex. M. and appeared September 4, 1953.) Pour clarity cucumbers (small ones or large ones cut up). Wash and cover with 2-3 cup salt and boiling water in crock. Let stand overnight. Drain and add: 1 quart vinegar, 4 teaspoons salt, 3 teaspoon ground ginger, 6 teaspoons mustard, 6 teaspoons mixed sugar. Next day add 1-2 cup sugar and add 1-2 cup sugar each day for 12 days. This makes pickles sweet and crisp. At end of 12 days, sterilize jars and put pickles and juice in jars, or keep in crock.—Mrs. Alex M. says she prefers putting hers in jars.)

Beauty

"SHAPING UP" FOR SUMMER

Women who have gained weight and who have given thought to the subject of dieting, have found out that a lot can be done to promote an appearance of slender lines. As shown, Therefore, the overweight must face the truth. She is constantly more restless than a man needs for her day's activities, so she begins to literally itself away in the form of adipose tissue.

She has the usual will-power on practically nothing a day! But her eating habits are all wrong. She eats a quantity of foods that build adipose tissue.

The appetite may have to be turn-about. Instead of those nice sweet rolls or waffles for breakfast she might have unbuttered rye bread. No cream or sugar in coffee. There are plenty of good things for her to eat—lean meat, fish, poultry, eggs, vegetables that grow above ground, fruits and fruit juices, cottage cheese, buttermilk. She must not have cereals, sweets, ice cream, fried foods or more than a pat of butter a day. She can afford to lose two pounds a week, and that is reducing fast enough.

If the overweight sticks to the right regime, never falls off, she should have on flours.—Mrs. MCL

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WEDDING QUESTIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. There is no centre aisle in our church. Would you advise that I walk up the aisle on my father's left arm (thus being nearer to the guests)?

2. I have been advised that at a 3.30 afternoon wedding it is now correct for the men in the wedding party to wear white jackets. Do you agree?—Bride-to-be.

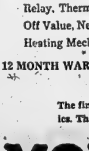
1. I advise that you consult with the clergyman of the church about this. . . or if there is to be a rehearsal, ask him then. I am quite sure that he will suggest that you do as you prefer, for in some denominations there is no strict rule about whether the bride walks up the aisle on her father's right or left arm.

2. By "white jackets" do you mean white dinner jackets (tuxedos)? If you do, I most certainly don't agree with the advice that you have been given. It is incorrect for the men in the wedding party at an afternoon wedding to wear evening attire.

THE PROMISE-TO-WED MAKES PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please answer this question, more important to me. It is correct, appropriate, to put an announcement of an engagement in the newspaper when the newly engaged girl has not received an engagement ring, and, because of financial circumstances, is not to receive an engagement ring? . . . Of course, it is correct, appropriate too, to send the announcement of the engagement to the newspapers . . . even though the girl, for any reason whatever, is not to have an engagement ring. The truth that an engagement ring means just a man and a woman have promised to marry each other . . . has nothing at all dependent on the fact that the man has given or is to give the woman any kind of symbol of the engagement . . . a ring, or bracelet or anything else. When they announce their engagement as they wish to, it is simple as that without an engagement ring!



FESTIVE ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My in-laws are to celebrate their Golden Wedding soon, and we are planning a party for them. Will you please give me some help on what refreshments to serve?

2. Is it correct for us to invite our friends also, or should we invite only those known by our parents?—Interested.

1. The two important features of the refreshments should be: (a) the Anniversary Cake, as handsome and fine a cake as you can possibly afford, and (b) a punch beverage with which to drink the toasts that naturally will be made.

Question Box

A Public Education Service of
THE HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA
131 Avenue Road, Toronto 5.
In co-operation with this newspaper.

All questions submitted are answered anonymously by members of the medical advisory board or special technical sections of the HEALTH LEAGUE.

The "Health League Question Box" grew out of questions submitted over the years to the Health League of Canada—a unique voluntary lay organization which enlists the advisory support of leading specialists in every field of medicine to combat preventable sickness by means of public education. All questions submitted to the "Question Box" are answered by medical or scientific experts and checked for accuracy by members of the specialized technical sections of the Health League.

The Health League, in presenting this weekly newspaper feature, hopes, by making good medical advice available, to counteract the bad advice on health matters freely offered by non-professional passersby and old wives. Readers are invited to submit questions to the League's address. Of course, the "Question Box" cannot undertake to diagnose specific ailments by mail. However, all questions will be given courteous attention and answered as fully as possible.

BEER ON WHISKEY

Someday someone should make a collection of "old wives tales" about health. They would fill . . .

. . . to "The Bride and Groom." The Anniversary Dinner is over, a white bannquod, decorated with golden-colored icing with the date . . . 1904-1954 . . . on it, and the couple's initials. It may be a tiered cake topped by a golden doll or a bride-and-groom in wedding attire; or by a golden 50 or it may be one of the new motioned cakes, made in the form of 50.

When the guests are all assembled, they are given the signal to gather around while the bride and groom cut the first slice, sharing it with each other, as on their wedding day. The guests should heartily and gaily sing, "The Bride Cuts the Cake," to the easy old tune, "The Farmer in the Dell." Then there should be a toast "To the Bride and Groom."

Whatever else you serve should, of course, be appropriate to the time of day you are giving the party, and this you didn't tell me. Usually the refreshments are simple: small, dainty sandwiches; small cakes or interesting cookies; accessories, such as assorted nuts, candies, and so forth; tea and/or coffee, as well as the toast-beverage.

2. You and, even more, your husband, would know best about this one . . . whether his mother and father would prefer to have only their relatives and friends, or whether the list of group enlarged to include you and your husband's friends. My suggestions would be to ask them directly.

book, and if they were properly answered, do not accept advance public health anywhere from 100 to 1000 years.

Here are still people extant who believe:

1. That smallpox vaccination produces syphilis.

2. That aluminum dinnerware produces cancer.

3. That fluoridation of water supplies is a form of mass-poisoning. Sickness, nerve. One can go on enumerating the .. as long as the paper mills can go on turning out paper.

The subject of alcoholism has produced more of these old wives tales, probably, than any other health subject. One function of the Alcoholism Committee of the Health League is to knock these in the head as fast as they spring up. Alcoholism can be prevented but only by looking at alcohol squarely and honestly and not through a haze of word-of-mouth myths.

QUESTION: "Is there any truth in the saying 'Beer on Whiskey, pretty risky. Whiskey on Beer: never fear.' Of course I know that the 'never fear' is exaggerated, but is it based on any truth at all? Or have I got it the wrong way round? Don't say 'alcohol is risky, period,' because that is not the answer to my question."

ANSWER:

It is related to the well-established fact that beer is more fattening in mixing drinks. Actually the danger from drinking is either from drinking too much and obtaining blood alcohol levels that are serious anesthetic effects, or because one might have an atypical, uncontrollable reaction to alcohol. There is no particular safety or danger from a medical standpoint in drinking beer first and whiskey later, or vice versa, except under the conditions mentioned.

Fortified wines are fattural wines fortified with pure ethyl alcohol, and are the least expensive ways of procuring alcohol in the form of a social beverage. The serious effects produced by wine would be produced by any other alcoholic beverage that would achieve a comparable level of alcohol in the body.

"SNEAKY PETE"

QUESTION: "Does fortified wine like muscatel have anything in it besides alcohol that makes it more dangerous than whiskey or beer or natural wine? I have seen people called 'winos' around here in the far west, who are popularly supposed to be in worse shape than other kinds of alcoholics because of the effects of 'Sneaky Pete' (their name by muscatel). They are usually dreamy and gentle and utterly useless mentally and physically—more like hopheads than ordinary drunks."

ANSWER: To the best of my knowledge, fortified wines do not contain other ingredients which make them more dangerous than whiskey, beer or natural wines. Most people who could be called "winos" have had a deterioration in their personality structure. Accordingly they experience anesthetic effects from smaller amounts of alcohol than most people.

BELLEVILLE INDUSTRIAL, HOME AND

Coasters, Trays For Party Use Easily Made From Plywood Dies

Die-cast cardboard coasters and trays, renewable for every party occasion, can be produced at home with simple dies made of fir plywood.

Die shapes may be varied, of course, to suit individual purposes and are handily cut with a jig saw. Junior can keep the family supply of these attractive party gadgets always up to date with a few minutes work.

Pressure block, base block and matrix of the die for the coasters should be of one-half inch Douglas fir plywood, while the die itself is or three-eighth inch plywood. For large trays three-quarter inch dies would be more suitable.

Here's how you or junior can go into production. Cut down a piece of cardboard to the shape of the die but one-half inch oversize all around. Soak it in water until pliable. Form the coaster shape then clamp the dies together between the pressure block and the base block until dry.

The finished product may be painted or tinted any combination of colors to match table decorations. Striking effect may be obtained with bronzing powders.

At least part of new cardboard, additional coasters and trays can be made when new color schemes are desired.

Clothes Hamper Of Fir Plywood Easy to Build

No washday aid, perhaps, is of more use throughout the rest of the week than the clothes hamper.

Simple as a box, convenient as a third hand, the easy-to-build Douglas fir plywood hamper shown here fits neatly into either the bathroom or utility area.

Front and side panels are of one-quarter inch fir plywood. Holes for air should be spaced in the one-half inch hinged top. Bottom should be of heavier three-quarter inch plywood to give stability.

The frame of five-eighth x one-half inch strips can be assembled with and nails (or use screws). The panels and quarter-round corners are similarly attached. The partition of the fir plywood hamper can be installed using small, triangular strips to hold it in place.

Pre-Fab Homes Ideal For Handyman Finish Inside For Comfort, Charm

By HERMAN HANDY

"When is the housing industry going to follow the example of the automobile industry and give us low-cost, mass production homes?"

A friend asked us that question the other day, and it must have been the hundredth time we've heard it asked, with minor variations. The answer is, of course, that it already has. Pre-cut, pre-fabricated homes are lived in by thousands all over the continent, and more are going up every day.

They have achieved a degree of acceptance which many experts prophesied would never take place. And nowhere have they been more popular than with handymen.

NOT FROM SCRATCH

One amateur craftsman put it this way:

"I'm not ready to build a home from scratch, and even if I could do it I wouldn't have time. But the pre-fab, I'm buying will go up quickly and cheaply, and I can give it individuality and special features by finishing it myself."

Industry production figures show many others have the same idea. Sales last year were up sharply from the year before, and spokesmen predict 1954 will be their biggest year in history.

Typical of the customers they are winning is Jack M., an acquaintance of ours who has made his pre-cut house into one of the prettiest establishments we have seen.

FOREST SETTING

It is set well back on a wooded lot, with picture windows at the rear facing out on an idyllic stream. A natural stone fireplace (which Jack built himself) sets off the front, and the natural wood finish and careful landscaping makes the house blend right in with its surroundings.

But the big surprise is when you go inside. Jack, who is an apprentice accountant by profession with no prior experience at carpentry, has made his pre-fab into a showplace.

Take his livingroom. It's beautifully panelled with decorative plywoods, which give a uniform surface with no visible joints. Across one end is a combination bookshelf-desk, built of five-ply with built-in radio phonograph and storage cupboards.

LIGHTING CONCEALED

The wall above this unit is panelled in decorative plywood tiles, and above them concealed lights shine down vertically to bring out the clear-varnished grain.

The effect is striking, but Jack takes no credit himself. "Just shows what can be done with a pre-fab and modern materials," he says. "I wouldn't have dreamed I could do it a year ago."

The house Jack chose has three bedrooms (two of them quite small, for his Grade One daughter and kindergarten son), a medium sized livingroom and combination kitchen-dinette.

It is a standard type being produced by most pre-fab and pre-cut housing firms, and sells in the $3,000 range exclusive of foundations, plumbing and other extras. He was able to move into the house when its basic structure was complete, and finish off the interior room by room.

Firms which produce these houses don't ever expect to take over any more than a small chunk of the building industry. They know that Canadians in general want their house to differ from their neighbor's, even if it costs them more.

But for the handyman, the pre-fab may be the answer to a prayer!

How To Install Hot Water Heater

If you're one of those people, and there are quite a few, who is going to install a hot water heater in the summer cottage or farm home this year, here are a few tips that will save both time and money. What's more, you'll get a lot more service from your hot water system by just following these hints from the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating.

First and foremost, be sure that the heater you buy is big enough to take care of your needs. Most of us drive 120 horsepower cars when 25 horsepower would be enough for normal use, because we want that extra power when an emergency crops up. It's the same with hot water heaters. Yet, there are still people who expect 30-gallon heaters to do a 50-gallon job.

So tick off the uses your heater will be put to. Kitchen sink . . bathroom . . shower . . utility room . . washing machine . . washbuns . . . Be sure to get a heater that will provide hot water in plenty for them all. Even if you haven't all of these amenities today, remember that there's always tomorrow, and chances are you'll be installing them one of those tomorrows. What a disappointment it will be, if you find out too late that your heater can't keep up with the demands being made on it.

Then location of the heater is important, too. No doubt you've noticed when turning on a hot water tap that it's a little while before the really hot water begins to run. This is because water in the pipe between heater and tap is cold. Not only does this water have to be run away, but the hot water has to warm up the pipe itself before you get the full 120 degree hot water from the heater.

Then, when the tap is turned off, the hot water that remains in that piece of pipe is wasted. To cut off the whole process is repeated when next the tap is used.

So it's important to locate the heater as close to the main tap in the house as possible. In this case, the waste is not too serious. But if there is 30 ft. to 50 ft. of pipe between the two, the cost in wasted hot water can amount to a considerable sum over the year. Not only that, but it is most inconvenient to have to wait every time you need hot water.

Taps in the bathroom and for washing machines normally use larger amounts of water at one time than the kitchen sink tap, but as far less frequent intervals. So it is usually best to have the heater close to the kitchen sink. The best location is perhaps in the basement directly beneath the sink. Otherwise, it could be put right in the kitchen, because modern heaters are both attractive in appearance and clean in operation.

A third, and equally important thing to bear in mind is the type of pipe to be used. Those normally used are 3-4" iron and 3-8" copper pipe. Of the two, 3-8" copper is considered by many to be the more satisfactory and economical.

To begin with, let's go back to the business of wasted hot water in the pipe between heater and taps. Twenty feet of 3-4" iron pipe holds 2 1-4 quarts of water, and nearly 4 1-2 quarts of water must be run from the faucet before full 120 degree hot water comes through. In twenty feet of 3-8" copper tubing there is less than a quart of water and only 1.3 quarts have to be run off to get full hot water.

As for the flow of water, 3-8" tubing will carry as much water as the normal faucet will be able to run off. Furthermore, it is more flexible than iron pipe, and can usually be installed in an already built house much more easily because of this.

With these tips in mind, install your hot water heater, and you can look forward to much happier summer months if you're the owner of a "country cottage," or to much easier all-year-round living if you're one of those modern Canadian farm families who have discovered the all-round of the benefits that running water can bring.

FIFTEEN FORCED OUT

Metal Insulation Helps Cut Summer Attic Heat

By J. RALPH DALZELL
Author of Books on Home Building and Repair

Many readers have asked how to prevent objectionable attic heat during the hot summer months. They find that when attic spaces get hot, rooms under the attic also become too hot for comfort. Here is why this happens, and a method of avoiding much of the heat is explained.

We can feel the heat of the sun when in the direct rays of the sun, and how much cooler we feel when we sit in the shade. The picture shows two sides of a typical roof. The sun may make the roof as hot as 160 degrees, and the roofing materials soak up much of that heat.

As the roof absorbs the heat, it radiates the heat in the opposite direction it came from originally. Building materials can absorb only so much heat, and the excess is radiated into the attic space.

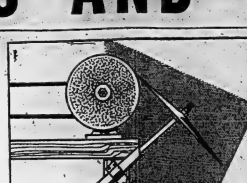
Let's imagine that the wavy lines 1 to 8 in the picture are heat waves originating from the roof as indicated by the arrows. Let's also imagine that side XY of the roof does not have a reflecting insulation between the rafters.

Heat rays from the sun strike the roof at points A, B and C. The roofing materials absorb the heat. Within a short time the roofing materials become so hot they radiate heat into the attic. As indicated by arrows 1 to 8, the radiated heat strikes the attic floor, which becomes so hot it, in turn, radiates heat to the rooms below, which become too hot for comfort.

To prevent much of the sun's heat from entering the attic, insulation can be placed between the rafters down on the XZ side of the roof pictured. Such insulation should have very little bulk so it cannot absorb much heat, and be a type that reflects heat away from the attic space.

Aluminum foil is one good type to reflect heat. As shown by the curved arrows at E, F, G and H, much heat from the sun is reflected away from the roof. Because this insulation has little bulk, little heat is absorbed. When the attic space is cooler, the rooms below are less cooler.

Aluminum foil insulation can be purchased in rolls of the correct width to fit between rafters. The material is tacked into position from the top or ridge of the roof down to the attic floor.



QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Q.—During hot summers the inside surfaces of my basement walls get damp. Can it be prevented by coating the exterior with asphaltum?

A.—No. When moisture-laden hot air contacts the cool foundation, it is cooled so it cannot hold its moisture, and the excess is deposited on the wall. Insulation applied to the interior would prevent most dampness if the insulation has a moisture barrier. Other than this the only remedy is to keep the basement well ventilated.

Q.—We want painted shingles on our new house. Should we paint them before or after applying them?

A.—Before. Dip them in paint so both sides are covered. They will last much longer.

The accent is on comfort in the design of this two-bedroom bungalow which presents a pleasing exterior appearance highlighted by a novel use of exterior finishes, large living room windows and a colorful planting box.

Architect F. R. Barnes, of Toronto, has planned the interior layout to provide generous room sizes and numerous added features which contribute to convenient living. This is apparent in the well-arranged kitchen which is handy to both entrance; the spacious and bright living room featuring a fireplace with tile hearth extending from wall to wall; the protected entrances to basement and living area; and the complete separation of living and sleeping quarters.

The floor area of this house is 992 square feet and the cubic measurement is 19,100 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 39 feet by 39 feet, eight inches, including garage. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 129, are available from Paint your home in ½ the time*...

For Repainting Surfaces in Reasonable Condition Use TITAN WHITE*

A wonderful new warm white with extra Titanium content, giving it greater hiding power. Brushed smoothly over all but unpainted or badly weathered surfaces according to directions, just one coat of Titan White has an opaqueness equalling two coats of ordinary paint, saving you 50% of the work of repainting. By carefully controlled 'chalking' Titan White retains its gleaming whiteness season after season, allowing minute particles of the paint film to chalk away, taking with them accumulated surface dirt and grime.

For New or Badly Weathered Surfaces Use... High Standard House Paint TWO-COAT SYSTEM

For new wood and painted surfaces in poor condition, whether brick, concrete or stucco, this 2-coat system provides beauty plus complete scientific protection. By means of 'Controlled Penetration' specially compounded oils in High Standard 260 Primer seal all porous surfaces, penetrating the immediate sub-surface just far enough to ensure firmness of the prime coat. Enough oil is left on the surface to form a tough, elastic film, providing an ideal foundation for a finish coat of Titan White or Lowe Brothers' High Standard Exterior Paint.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1954

Chevrier Does Not Expect There Will Be Further Delay In Starting Seaway Project

May Revise Rate Structure For Air Cargo

OTTAWA (CP)—Possibilities of revising the rate structure for air cargo are being studied by federal and airline officials.

Transport Minister Chevrier said in the Commons Friday night the air transport board has established a working committee with the two major air lines, the public-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian Pacific Airlines.

Purpose of the committee was "to study the principles underlying freight rates and to ascertain whether, in the light of the recommendations that may come from that committee, it will not be possible to revise the structure."

Mr. Chevrier made the statement in reply to a query by John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert), who said northern development is held up by high passenger and air cargo rates and lack of necessary air facilities.

Mr. Diefenbaker urged government support for a program of expansion of airfields and other facilities in the north as the private lines could provide service at cheaper cost.

Training May Be Provided For Seamen

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier promised Friday to see what can be done to provide vocational training for seamen displaced by the current transfers of Canadian merchant ships to United Kingdom registry.

He denied, however, that his department had been prepared to approve a special rehabilitation program for seamen who lost their jobs in the transfers.

During Commons study of transport estimates, Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) referred to a recent meeting of the veteran affairs committee at which officials of the labor and transport departments said the government had rejected a rehabilitation program.

It was understood the original proposal called for federal payment for training courses to lay seamen for other jobs.

Mr. Chevrier said he is not aware that any such scheme was rejected. However, he understood Labor Minister Gregg was continuing with the provinces on vocational training.

HONOR WAR DEAD

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Brig. R. L. Purves, commander of the central Ontario command, will take the salute at Niagara Falls, N.Y., today during the Canadian corps 10th annual pilgrimage to pay tribute to the war dead of the United States. Thousands of veterans from Ontario will cross the international boundary by the rainbow bridge and will parade to the cenotaph in Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Toronto Casino Only Vaudeville House in Canada

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Vaudeville in Canada is breathing its last in Toronto.

And Murray Little, manager of the Casino theatre here, says he expects to hear the death rattle at any time.

The closing of the Seville theatre in Montreal two months ago left the Casino as the only vaudeville house in Canada; one of five left on the North American continent.

It's been death by slow strangulation. The talking picture started it, television hastened it and now lack of talent is swinging the fatal blow.

TALENT GETS SCARCE

"Show business is like hockey; you can't have a big-league team unless you have farm clubs," says Mr. Little. "The better talent is dying out and we are left with no talent at all."

Vaudeville is fed into Canada through United States booking agencies, but Mr. Little says the U.S. hasn't produced one good vaudeville act in the last 10 years.

The majority of jugglers, tumblers, magicians and the like that make up the four-a-day bill come from Europe, where the variety show still breathes a fairly lively existence.

"Nowadays the show has to star a headliner but you can't get very many good headliners any more."

A good headliner early in vaudeville operated on a bit of a chunk from the box-office receipts. The Casino pays $6,000 for a week's work from some of the current headliners—Eartha Kitt, Johnnie Ray, Billy Daniels and Jane Powell.

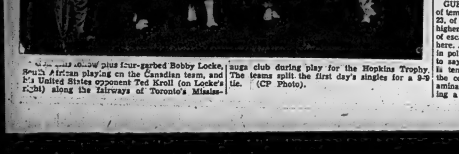
"That's 10 times as much as they used to get in the good old days back in the 20s when vaudeville was at its greatest."

"GOOD OLD DAYS"

At one time during the early '20s, five vaudeville houses were operating in Toronto. Trixie Friganza, Fanny Brice, Weber and Fields and Nora Bayes used to pack them in and asked the top price of $1,000-$1,250 a week.

Then Sally Rand began waving her fan and the breeze she stirred up revived the business and vaudeville sailed back on a wave of sex.

Burlesque at its peak provided her-alded opening of the Casino in 1936 and the bump-and-grind gals lured the Toronto boards until 1949, when even the bald-headed row lost interest.



The strip was replaced with the son, and top recording stars lured the crowds back. John Charles starters set the Casino house record in 1952 with a $27,000 gross for one week.

That was the year television established itself in Canada. That was the year vaudeville in Canada started on the skids again.

Today, the Casino is scraping the bottom of the barrel for talent. The "gimmick gals" with their bubble baths, swimming tanks and trick horses d i s p l a y their physical charms between the appearances of the headliner.

"As far as our theatre goes we're still making some money, but I'm not very happy about the future," says Mr. Little.

'Enemy' Aircraft Will Hurl Mock Atomic Bomb Attack At U.S. and Canada Monday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Imaginary enemy bombers will hurl a mock atomic attack on North America Monday while experts in the ground look for the weak links in the continent's civil defence chain.

Six of Canada's 10 provinces and 42 United States centres joining in exercise Alert hope it will teach them the lessons they need to be ready for the real thing should it ever come.

The public will see little of the action. In most centres they will not even hear air raid sirens.

Only in the civil defence headquarters and outposts will there be an air of frightening reality.

Busiest of all will be a big room in Ottawa's civil defence college at Arnprior, Ont., 45 miles west of Ottawa. For days technicians, industried with charts, maps and teletypes, have been testing communications with provincial capitals from Halifax to Victoria.

The main job here will be correlating reports, assessing damage and needs of various areas and outgoing medical and food supplies accordingly.

At Jasper, the toll will be astronomical. In Toronto alone, experts estimate an atomic blast would kill about 200,000 persons, seriously injure another 67,000 and leave 300,000 homeless.

Theoretically the civil defence units in disaster areas, with help from safer localities, will be able to look after all the refugees. They will have about 12 hours to do it Monday, from 9:30 a.m. local time when the first alert sounds, to the all-clear late at night.

EXPECT MISTAKES

Nobody expects things to work out smoothly. Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defence chief, predicted plenty of mistakes "but that's the best way to find our weaknesses."

Here is how the mock attack will be handled across Canada:

In Halifax it will be mostly a communications workout. The civil defence centre will have a teletype connection with Ottawa and an extensive link with amateur radio operators throughout the province.

The main Montreal control centre will be atop Mount Royal and full-scale preparations here call for a yellow alarm, indicating "enemy" planes are over northern Canada, followed by a red alarm warning of an explosion in 15 minutes.

By then officials of fire and police, health, ambulance, rescue, public works and other services will be ready to analyze extent of damage, number of casualties and requirements for aid.

They may have to seek help from Quebec City, Hull or points in northern New York state, and will be in touch with smaller places in the surrounding area to discover how many evacuees they can handle.

LIMITED TORONTO ACTIVITY

Toronto activity will be confined to the Ontario civil defence headquarters with the city's organization taking no part. Aside from handling Toronto casualties, the civil defence force will have to cope with the hypothetical entry into Canada of as many as 200,000 refugees from another imaginary attack on the industrial Detroit-Windsor area.

Windsor will get help from London, Ont., which will be responsible for Fort Erie, Ont., as well. It will prepare to receive refugees from Windsor and will set up a mobile column ready to move to either.

Saskatchewan has no probable target areas but the control point at Regina will be responsible for aiding Winnipeg to the east and Edmonton to the west. Its biggest task will be handling refugees.

Edmonton will seek to cope with a theoretical attack on the rich oil centre by atomic, high explosive and incendiary bombs. Units throughout the province will be put on the alert for conventional attacks on other centres.

Communications to be tested include interarranged and lines of commercial and amateur radio.

In British Columbia, Vancouver will be the atomic target but there are plans for incendiary and high explosive attacks on Victoria and other centres. Vancouver sirens will sound but sirens will sound in Victoria.

Killed by Tractor

WELLAND (CP)—A four-year-old Pelham, township boy died in hospital here Friday a short time after he was run over by a tractor driven by his father, Roy Furry, 38.

The boy, who had been riding with his father, bounced off when the tractor hit a ditch at the end of the field. He was dead when the tractor passed over his chest.

ASKS EXAMINATION

GUELPH (CP)—Despite a plea of temporary insanity, Ross Daniels, 23, of Toronto was committed to a higher court Friday on acharge of escaping from reformatory near here. Asked by Magistrate F. Watt in police court if he had anything to say, Daniels replied: "My plea is temporary insanity and I ask the court to order a mental examination." Daniels had been serving a term for theft.

Parade Before Queen

LONDON (CP)—A contingent of Canada's naval volunteer reserve, Royal Canadian Naval Reserve divisions paraded today before the Queen at London's Buckingham Palace barracks.

The parade, marking the 50th anniversary of the formation of naval reserve divisions in Britain, was attended by more than 2,000 officers and men from Britain and th Commonwealth. Canada's contribution exceeded the combined strength of the six other Commonwealth contingents.

POLIO REPORT

TORONTO (CP)—Five poliomyelitis cases have been reported in Ontario so far this year, the provincial department of health announced Friday. That is about one-third as many as there were by this time last year. Dr. R. P. Harding of the department said that what is considered the polio season usually starts about mid-July.

Nuclear Weapons Will Be Used In Event of War

OTTAWA (CP)—The West's military strategy is predicated on use of nuclear weapons in the event of war, Gen. Alfred Gruenther said Friday.

And, mainly because the West holds a preponderance of air power over Russia, it has an over-all military advantage over the Communist bloc for the moment at least, the supreme commander of allied powers in Europe told a press conference.

Gen. Gruenther, at the start of the interview in the parliamentary press gallery, announced that Air Vice-Marshal Frank R. Miller, 46, vice-chief of the Canadian air staff, will become deputy and chief of staff to Gen. Gruenther, Nato commander of allied forces in Europe, Aug. 18. He will be promoted to the acting rank of air marshal.

NO GUARANTEE

Miller, a native of Kamloops, B.C., will be the first Canadian to hold such a high post in an international force.

The decentralized, four-star general said that though the West now held the upper hand over Russia there was no guarantee this situation would continue. Russia was building up its armaments and Canada for that reason the North Atlantic alliance needed more military forces.

Gen. Gruenther said that if there were war Russia would not decade, but there might be no winner. Russia would lose much of the West's preponderance of air power.

At the same time, he was concerned about a tendency toward relaxation by the West. This situation was not yet critical but it might become so if there were further relaxation.

Mayor Whitton Dances Waltz With Reaume

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Whitton of Ottawa and Mayor Reaume of Windsor danced a gay waltz with Mayor Arthur Bourque of Sherbrooke Friday but underwent a sharp change of mood before leaving by plane for home.

Mayor Whitton offered sharp criticism of the "Chinese betrayal business" attitude of the annual conference of the Association of Canadian Travel Agents. The conference ended business sessions with a reception and banquet to conclude the gathering.

At a luncheon Friday the irrepressible Ottawa mayor invited Mayor Reaume to circle the floor with a rendition of "The Merry Widow Waltz." Mayor Reaume was willing to comply, to the applause of delegates.

Later Miss Whitton released the news a resolution she had intended to present to the conference. She said she was promised she would be heard and had lined up support for the measure but was unable to present it when the chairman told her buses were waiting to take delegates on a pleasure jaunt.

"That's why things are going to pot in so many places today," she said. "People are putting pleasure before business."

The resolution asked that provincial governments be given legal grants act, liberalizing the act, be rushed through Parliament before the end of the present session.

The conference gave approval to the principle of establishing toll roads in the province provided there was an alternate route available by which a motorist could travel if he did not wish to pay the toll.

Rush of London Elected Pres. Mayors' Assoc.

WINDSOR (CP)—Mayor Allan Rush of London, Ont., was elected president of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves at the final sessions of the group's annual conference Friday.

Mayor Rush succeeds Reeve Oliver Crockford of Scarborough township.

Vice-presidents are: Mayors Sid Arbour, Tecumseh; W. A. Donovan, Chatham; Allan A. Lampert, Toronto; F. G. Leeson, Merritton; W. C. Nelson, Sarnia; R. M. Simpson, Arnprior; J. W. Spooner, Timmins; Reeve Fred W. Hall, York township.

Authorities on Soil, Arctic, Leave for North in Mid-July To Study Farming Possibilities

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is planning an on-the-spot investigation of Arctic conditions to learn whether the north can support farms of shaggy yaks, sheep and other ducks.

Government authorities on soil and the Arctic will leave for the north in mid-July to study farming possibilities around the Fort Chimo region on Ungava bay, about 900 miles north of Ottawa. Other areas will be visited later.

TO HEAD GROUP

Heading the group will be William Jarmour, of Toronto, wartime naval officer who has concentrated on northern problems. He now is on the research staff of the northern affairs department.

Both Mr. Larmour and David A. Munro, senior ornithologist in the wildlife service, recently returned from Ireland where they were astonished to find that the Irish farmers are making good livings by collecting the eiderdown from eiderducks.

The down is turned into comforters, pillows and used to pad winter clothing.

"Farming with the elder duck is really simple," Mr. Larmour said. "The mother plucks the down from her own breast to line her nest after she has laid her eggs.

"She becomes very tame while nesting and likes to lay her eggs in areas where there are humans. During the 18 days she is nesting, she doesn't eat and that eliminates the feeding problem."

Farmers collect the down while cleaning out the nests and the nests periodically and after the young birds are hatched and fly out to sea.

TAKES VERSATILE

Yaks present a tougher problem. They live mostly around Tibet, though it is understood the Indian government would be willing to ship some to Canada if Canada wants to import them.

They are reported to be a "walking factory." They look somewhat like a buffalo, but the hair can be milked and their milk is reported to be rich. The hides can be used for leather. And the meat is reported to be healthy and tasty, somewhat like beef.

What's more, the yak has long, shaggy hair on its body which can be woven into cloth. It feeds on lichen and other low-lying plants in climate similar to the Canadian north.

ELDERLY MAN KILLED

GUELPH (CP)—Thomas Archibald, 71, was killed and his wife, Carrie, seriously injured Friday in a two-car crash three miles south of Elora. Elora is about 20 miles northwest of here. Police said they have not been able to get a statement from Mrs. Archibald, who was taken to hospital.

Property Bought From CNR for $1 Sold for $50,000

OTTAWA (CP)—J. W. Murphy (PC—Lambton West) said Friday CNR property near Sarnia, which was sold for $1 and "other consideration" recently was disposed of by the purchaser for about $50,000.

He said in the Commons that a parliamentary return tabled in May, 1953, disclosed the CNR sale, but the return named D. F. Stone-house as the purchaser.

It also showed that other CNR property was sold to W. C. Nelson for $10,500, Mr. Nelson is the mayor of Sarnia.

Mr. Murphy did not name Mr. Nelson in the Commons, but he said he understand the asking price for one land is $60,000.

Both pieces of property in Point Edward, adjacent to Sarnia, were sold by the CNR within the last three years.

Mr. Murphy said he believes he knows what is meant by "other consideration," but he did not give his views. Nor would he say outside the Commons.

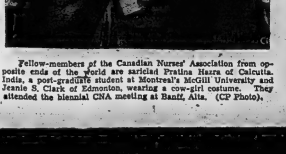
He said, too, he believes Transport Minister Chevrier, whose estimates were under study, also knows.

Mr. Chevrier quickly denied it, saying that he does not know what Mr. Murphy is talking about. Sale of CNR property was entirely the railway's business.

However, he said he would make inquiries and report later.

Outside the Commons, Mr. Murphy said a $250,000 motel is being built on the property sold to and by Mr. Stonehouse.

He pursued Chevrier's return by Mr. Chevrier quoted the CNR as giving the information that the property sold to Mr. Stonehouse came after direct negotiations. Mr. Nelson's property was acquired after tenders were entered.



Award Contract For Elevator At Churchill

OTTAWA (CP)—Approval of a Toronto firm's bid for construction of a new grain elevator at the Hudson bay port of Churchill, Man., was announced Friday by Transport Minister Chevrier.

He told the Commons a cabinet decision has been passed recommending acceptance of the tender of the Carter Construction Company to build the elevator, which will double present storage capacity at Churchill to 2,500,000 bushels from 2,500,000.

A department official said later the bid was $1,729,000. It is expected work will start next month.

NURSES MEET AT BANFF

Fellow-members of the Canadian Nurses' Association from opposite ends of the world are satisfied Pratima Nasra of Calcutta, India, a post-graduate student at Montreal's McGill University and Jeanie S. Clark of Edmonton, wearing a cow-girl costume. They attended the biennial CNA meeting at Banff, Alta. (CP Photo).

Frankford

FRANKFORD — Mr. H. J. Madill and Mr. Ray Moran represented the Frankford Lions Club Branch at the annual meeting of the Hastings Advisory Board for the Blind in the school hall at Foxboro, recently. The Frankford Lions Club sponsored Blind activities in the Community last spring.

Mr. Arthur Magill, who spent the past year with the RUSSCO in Egypt, was the guest speaker.

On Wednesday evening Gilbert Gilmour was honored by many of his friends and associates, who met in the Armouries, on his approaching marriage. Gilbert was presented with a fine floor lamp by Mr. Ed Loucks, on behalf of those present. Gil responded.

Refreshments were served.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Smith on the birth of a son, in the Trenton Memorial Hospital, on Thursday, June 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Wannamaker are the recipients of congratulations on the birth of baby boy in the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday, June 3rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Suckle and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jobbins are attending the Lions Club convention in Rouyn, Quebec, this week.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Madeline Solmes, who passed away last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Osterhoff and family spent the week-end with friends in Ralston, Ontario.

Mr. Eugene Lohnes, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lohnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hearns and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Howard are vacationing in Northern Ontario.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking comfortable in his private chair and ma was reading her new Home and Table Magazine, saying, Here's an interesting article.

William. It's about a woman who broke her husband of the cigar habit, she said.

Didn't she have any housework or anything to do? pop said, and ma said, You'll open your eyes and ears when you hear what she used to wean him away from cigars. She used sourballs.

Yes gods, pop said, and ma said, The theory is that the only reason men smoke is because they want to have something to do with their mouths. So every time this woman's husband reached for a cigar, she would jump up and pop a sourball into his mouth.

By gollies that's an intriuing theory, pop said, and ma said, Do you really think so, William?

Of course, but it doesn't go far enough, pop said. A man also smokes because he wants to have something to do with his eyes and his nose. While his mouth is busy rolling a cigar around, his eyes are busy watching the infinite patterns in the air made by the delicate tendrils of smoke, and his nose, if busy inhaling the inexpressible aromas of burning tobacco. Of course if he juggled a few sourballs at the same time, his hands would be busy, too. You've got to be something to that, pop said.

Now William why cant you be serious? ma said, and pop said, I am, my dear. The truth is, the man in the magazine must of smoked cigars that didn't taste any better than sour-balls, but the only candy that tastes better than my cigars are chocolit butter creems, and they're too fattening, he said.

The result being ma gave up the idea.

12 Farmers Forced to Move Due to Govt. Making Park

By JOHN VAN DUSEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Twelve farming families may be moved from the farm where he was born 61 years ago to make way for the expansion of Gatineau National Park.

He is one of 12 farmers to move from the area near Wakefield, Que., about 30 miles north of Ottawa. Their land was bought by the Federal District Commission as part of its program to enlarge the 41,000-acre park. About 2,500 acres were involved.

Kingsbury, a bachelor, is living in a new home about two miles north of Wakefield village. He and the rest have dropped farming. Some are of retiring age; the younger men have turned to other occupations.

HAPPY RETIREMENT

In the village, Mrs. George Trowsse is learning to use an electric stove for the first time in her 75 years. George, 72, spends most of his time "doing little accessory they got for the farm, there. George was born, gave his first cry, started to school, raised 10 children, five girls and five boys, on their 50-acre bush lot.

Gatineau park began at the northwestern limits of Hull, Que., across the river from the capital. It extends about 30 miles north and west from Hull.

"The plan is to provide a huge playground," said F. S. Richards, park superintendent. Land recently purchased is unfit for agriculture.

The park with its 20 lakes, mountains and 100 miles of foot paths is open to all. Lac Philippe, about two miles long, has sandy beaches and 100 acres of camping grounds.

The park has been made on a 30-mile, scenic motor road through the park.

Mr. Richards predicts that eventually hotels will be built where people can stay both winter and summer.

PLAN SKI PROJECT

A group of Ottawa business men has asked the Federal District Commission for permission to build a chair lift and a five-ton ski project at Harrington lake, about 19 miles northwest of the capital.

A 60-page brief submitted to the FDC said the development would be "without equal in Canada." It would be built in Harrington mountain, the highest accessible land in the Gatineau hills with an elevation of 1,250 feet.

The FDC has asked the group to wait a year while it studies all aspects of the plan.

Dr. Rodolphe Leduc, member of Parliament for Gatineau, recently told the Lower Gatineau Chamber of Commerce that the 13-year-old park on the limits of Hull, Que., across the river from the capital. It extends about 30 miles north and west from Hull.

"The plan is to provide a huge playground," said F. S. Richards, park superintendent. Land recently the lakes in the park.

Garden Notes

Chemical and Organic Fertilizers

By FLORA SAVILLE

"Feed your plants." This is the advice of the garden experts. They do not always tell us what to feed them, or how and when. Plants do better when they are fed the right kind of food at the right time, and in the right way.

First let us look at the different kinds of fertilizers which you may choose. These are organic and chemical fertilizers. The organic may be one of several kinds such as a sewage sludge, which is baked, ground and treated to be odorless. Then there is bonemeal, bloodmeal, fish meal, cow manure, and sheep manure. All of these are dried and sold in bulk in the seed, or feed stores. Also in the organic list are leaf mold and compost. Leaf mold is what is left when a pile of leaves have rotted. Compost is produced by piling up all the refuse vegetable matter you can gather from grass clippings, weeds, vegetable and flower discards. These should be covered with a thin layer of soil for each four inches of trash and also a thin layer of some animal, or chicken manure. The whole is turned and watered until all or most of the fleshy parts have decayed and the stems and residue is left to be used as a plant food.

Chemical fertilizers may be a balanced mixture of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium. When you see a package of fertilizer marked 5-10-5, it means that the mixture is made up of five parts nitrogen, ten parts phosphorus and five parts potassium. They are always in that order, nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium.

Then there are the complete plant foods which contain beside these basic three ten to fifteen other chemical elements needed by plants. These are the trace elements, which have been added after careful analysis of many samples of soil. These fertilizers are usually in granules.

Then there are the liquid fertilizers which have been found to be rather expensive, and do not reach the roots as well. Then too there are the newer kinds of quick dissolving chemicals which melt almost instantly, like wet sugar. They can be mixed with a syphon hose attachment. They made transplanting easy, and give a quick lift to plants by feeding them through their leaves.

Each of these fertilizers or plant foods must be broken down, or displayed so their chemical parts may be taken up by the plant in liquid form. Chemical fertilizers should be spread around the plant, or added in a shallow side trench, watered in well, worked in lightly and watered well to send the food within reach of the feeder roots.

In the case of organic fertilizers they must be reduced to a solution by moisture, and bacterial action which can only take place when the temperature reach around 80 degrees. If you want a prolonged meal for your plants use organic fertilizers. If you are in a hurry the chemical types are the right choice.

As for the right time, early spring is the best time for most plants. Additional feeding should be added at three to six-week intervals for quick growing plants such as cabbage, lawns and annuals flowers. Organic fertilizers are favored by many used for perennials, bulbs, shrubs and trees. Many packs are kept in the pink of perfection by the use of the single type organic fertilizers. Do not apply quick acting fertilizers after the middle of August. This year's weed should have time to harden before frost.

BIG MOSCOW PARTY

MOSCOW (AP) — Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan and Marshals Georgi K. Zhukov and Vassily D. Sokolovsky were among numerous Russians who attended the British embassy's party Thursday night in celebration of Queen Elizabeth's birthday.

Pock-Marks On Windshields Only Road Damage

SEATTLE (AP) — Take a long-time accumulation of pock-marks by sand-blasting rain and wind, add sudden public interest in the matter and you have the probable reason for the sudden popularity of windshield-pitting epidemic, two University of Washington scientists reported here.

The recipe was the result of an intensive investigation into every reported possible cause of the pitting, ranging from sand-flea eggs to the H-bomb, by Harley H. Bowse, a research chemist, and Ross N. Kuslan, director of the university's environmental research laboratory.

The flea eggs and H-bombs were ruled out quickly in the report, which discussed the step-by-step investigation made by Bowse and Kuslan.

The facts, they said, support only a "normal road-damage theory."

Their findings, the researchers reported, support the general hypothesis of damage caused by road gravel and rocks being thrown up into the path of oncoming cars.

"The large number of reports were then due to people looking closely at their windshields for the first time, and a wave of mass hysteria. . . ."

Yankees Move Closer To Top By Shading White Sox; Brooks Back In Lead

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carter, Sports Editor

TORONTO HERE TONIGHT — TWICE

Trying to figure out the midweek standing of this Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League is like taking a second guess at who will be Tommy Manville's eleventh spouse.

Down fishaway, at least, all we can do is sit and twaddle the schmoer thumbs until Sunday morning when comes along a telephone call that brings the standing as of the night previous. Practically every newspaper on the circuit has a different standing throughout the week, and for once you can't believe anything you see in the papers.

As of now we believe the Quinte Sports Transporters are topping the loop with five wins and three losses with the Toronto Dependables and Belleville Batas tied for second slot with three and two—or does our side hold down the place spot alone? The Petes and the Hockings have a two and five record—but we are not taking any affidavit on that.

However, tonight the Batas take on the Hockings in a tinie game and they're pretty confident they can reach up their fourth victory. The Haskin-Wa-Wa play the Petes in an afternoon fixture and their attitude will depend a lot on whether they've got lost. They have had the Deaths sign the Littlejohns up for this season, but the Lowery gaze might send that agitumering this afternoon.

The Batas have come up with some neat performances on their last three efforts, and weather permitting tonight should see a goodly crowd of fans decorating the new grandstand. Game at 8.30.

WHITE SOX - ELECTRICS

The second Toronto quad to appear here today will debut at the CNE Recreation Park where the White Sox of Queen City clash with Herby Rema's fast-travelling Northern Electrics. The Hennery crew are undefeated in the district tennis schedule, and with the White Sox boasting a similar record pastiming should be on hand. You can take in both games since the softball tussle starts at 6.30.

THE BRANSCOMBE TROPHY

Some drastic changes have taken place in the rules and regulations governing the Branscombe Golf trophy. The trophy originated in Picton, where it was donated by the late Bill Branscombe for annual competition among district clubs.

Up to this point, the two-man team winning the trophy over a season, defended the cup on their home links. That has been changed under the new set-up. From here in the trophy will be returned each year to the Picton Golf Club, and representatives of the donor's family for refurbishing and presentation. The team representing the Picton Golf and Country Club will play the defending champions each spring in the opening challenge match, on the former's course.

The Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club won the honor in 1953 and 1952. Last year Mike Agostreda and Val Smith were the winners. Under the new ruling, the Quinte team, consisting this year of Mike and Ernie Pugh, at least they will start the ball rolling, will tie off in the opening challenge match tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. They will tangle with the Picton duo of Walter Fraser and Pearce Jones, president of the Picton club, over in the Prince Edward county town.

And while on the golf subject, the first round for the Belcquine trophy gets under way tomorrow morning on the Quinte links where golfers from Quinte, Napanee, Trenton and Port Hope will vie for opening honors. The Tip-Top trophy first event will finish its three-day play also on the Quinte course tomorrow.

PLEADING IT UP

There apparently has been some confusion over the interpretation of the new OSA ruling regarding a batter being hit by a pitched ball. Secretary Frank Fraser sends along a clarification. The rule reads: "A batter, being struck by a pitched ball, who makes a sincere effort to avoid the pitch, shall be awarded first base, and runners shall advance without prejudice."

Fraser points out that if the batter does not make a sincere effort to avoid the pitch, the play is a live ball ball, but the batter does not receive a base. It counts as a ball. If the ball hits the ground prior to striking the batter, it does not apply to this rule, but is a ball and the batter does not receive a base. The play, if the player receives a base is scored as an error to the pitcher, and is not included in time-at-bat.

YACHT RACES

The yacht club's will inaugurate the 1954 season with a short course race on Sunday in which approximately ten boats are expected to enter. Four of them will be the new small-craft class, the Y Fiyers.

The race which starts at two p.m., starts from the government dock, thence to the buoy bridge, to Cow Island, to the Yacht Club. The boats will negotiate the course twice.

REGENTS PRACTICE

Bayne Reid's intermediate baseball team has a date with the Trenton ECAF diamonders on the Flyers' tarmac on Monday night which will open the newly formed Belleville District Baseball League. To pep and tune up the boys the Alderman, along with coach Chuck Barbara, has ordered a practice for tomorrow afternoon at the Fair Grounds. Better be on hand boys. This is the most important get-together of the season. Time, 5 p.m.

KERWIN WINS

NEW YORK (CP)—Gayle Kerwin of Ottawa won a four-round decision over Mel Brown of Paterson, N.J., in a boxing match at Madison Square Garden here Friday night.

Kerwin, fighting out of Valley Stream, N.Y., weighed 135½; Brown 134.

Champions Starting to Climb But Tribe Is Keeping Pace; Brooklyn Takes Over Top Spot

By REN FRLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major baseball leagues moved over the middle third of the campaign today with the previous experts still on shaky ground.

The experts, of course, picked Brooklyn and New York Yankees to repeat as champions, with Milwaukee and Cleveland runners-up, just like last year.

Brooklyn has dodged in and out of first place all spring, holding the top rung at the moment by one game over New York Giants. But the Yankees haven't found the consistency they need to take charge.

They moved within three games of the top by shading Chicago White Sox 3-2 Friday night. The White Sox are tied Cleveland by half a game, with New York third. The Yanks haven't been in first place even for a day so far.

Brooklyn regained sole possession of first place Friday night by thumping Cincinnati 10-8 after the Giants had been the Cubs' victims in a 10-inning day game decided on Monday Homer Kenner by the season. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 8-5 and Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings, breaking a five game losing streak.

Cleveland moved up on the White Sox by beating Boston 6-2. Washington outlasted Baltimore 9-8 and Detroit took a pair with Philadelphia A's winning 16-5 and losing 3-1.

Larry Doby hit a three-run home run before the first out was made at Boston. George Strickland and Wally Westlake gave Art Houteman and Mickey McDermott homers in the fourth and eighth. The Cleveland infielder scored 30 men in order after Ted Lepcio opened the fourth with a single. Ray Boone also tied a major league record with four grand slam home runs last season, but his first of 1954 is the Detroit victory at Philadelphia.

Washington cashed on Bob Chakales for five runs in the first inning, then withstood Eddie Yost's bases-full attempt to score in the park for the Senators.

SIX ERRORS

The Giants, who had won eight out of nine on the road, fell apart in Chicago. They committed six errors in the first nine innings and lost to the 10th as Mikkie drilled the first pitch into the left-field barrier.

Pittsburgh battered St. Louis pitching for 19 hits, their heaviest attack of the season.

Brooklyn gained the nod at Cincinnati despite a late home run assault by the Redlegs. They hit three in the seventh and a total of five. Duke Snider went in front to stay with six runs in the top half of the inning when pitcher Bob Milliken singled twice.

Milwaukee, beaten twice in a row on shutouts, scored a run in the first inning off Curt Simmons and made it stand up as Lew Burdette scattered five Philadelphia hits.

Giardello Wins Over Jones; Verdict Boo'ed

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Giardello stayed off a furious last-round finish by Bobby Jones, the man the wise guys couldn't "fix" to win an unanimous decision in a brutally-scored match Friday night at Madison Square Garden. A chorus of boos greeted the verdict. Giardello weighed 158½, Jones 157.

Jones, who spurned an alleged $15,000 bribe offer by heavyweight Clarence Henry a week ago, went all out in a driving finish that didn't quite convince the judges.

The scores were the same on all three official cards. Judges Frank Forbes and Artie Aidala and referee Al Berl Wach voting 5-4-1. The Philadelphia slugger who was upset by Pierre Langlois in his last fight, May 21.

Petes Tran St. Kitts 11-5

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The Petes' Trailermen trimmed St. Catharines Athletic 11-5 here Friday night before 2,000 fans to tighten their grip on top spot in the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association standing over the As. The home crew led 3-0 in the first, 8-3 halfway through and 8-4 to end the third period.

Best on attack for St. Catharines was Norm Corcoran with two tallies, as Ian Bradshaw, Ross Fowlers and Roger Smith each scored once.

Pt. Anne Trims Stewart Warner By 14-4 Score

By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The Point Anne Cementmen handed Stewart Warner their fourth loss of the year last night as they poured across a 14-4 win and a 15-hit attack which included three home runs and a triple.

Stewart Warner appeared helpless as the Pointers went to work early with three runs in the first, singles in the next two frames, two in the fourth, five in the sixth and three in the last of the sixth and eighth.

Warner's runs came in the 6th with three and another in the sixth. A home run by Jerry Lewis, two walks and a single by Don Ashley told the story in the sixth whilst a bases empty homer by Chick Janes completed the scoring.

"Old Reliable" Pat Marcoke continued his distance for the victory, allowed five hits with three strikeouts and five walks and was helped with a pair of double plays by his mates.

Bill Hurst used a trio of pitchers in a vain attempt to halt the Pointer attack with starter Jack Canning taking the setback. Between them they issued 10 free passes with Canning getting one on strikes. He pitched 4⅓ innings with 10 runs and nine hits off against him. Charlie Jones had no better luck but Dip Young and Hull helped a little after Genereaux reached base by error in the opening frame with Nick Sero doubling and scoring later on Young's second error of the inning. Jack Wade's single made it 4-0 next time around, bringing Hull home from second, with Elliott adding another on a single and passed ball in the third. Strahan's triple a run counted for the sixth run and he scored later on an error.

Ten men batted in the fifth inning for the Pointers as Genereaux, Hull, Bob Strahan, Elliott, Marcole and a homer by big Jake Wade smashing for five more markers. Doug Hull slapped his second triple of the game in the following inning. Three hits and an error rounded out the 14 runs.

Doug Hull, Jack Elliott, Jake Wade and Bob Strahan provided most of the hitting power. Hull with a brace of homers and a triple, Elliott, two of singles, Wade a homer and single, while Strahan helped himself to a triple and one single.

Doug Ashley hit two infield hits for the Warner, while James and Lewis had four-suckers. Shorty Miller lined the other single.

The line-up:

Point Anne—Genereaux, Brannigan, Hull, Gilmour, Sero, Wade, R. Strahan, Elliott, W. Strahan, Marcole.

Stewart Warner — Ed. Donovan, Vs. Powers, Bertrim, Ashley, Creeggan, Miller, Jeffery, James, Canning, Dracup, Young.

Batteries — Marcole and Hull; Canning, Dracup and Young; Jones and James.

'King Maple, Queen's Own' Isolate Field in Plate Run

TORONTO (CP) — One of the smallest fields in the race's long history and headed by two colts with a tinge of royalty to their names goes to the post today in bid for the richest Queen's Plate purse in history.

The exact number which will shoot for the purse of $22,420 and the 'Queen's' 50 guineas remained up in the air as the big day arrived but there was no doubt that the race is considered a two-horse affair between the mighty King Maple and the nearly-equally impressive Queen's Own.

They were among the 10 horses still eligible with the final entry payment Friday, but the field which will enter the starting gate at Woodbine race track at the scheduled 5:35 p.m. post time may still be reduced. There is a possibility that Welcome Home, owned by Oliver Armstrong of Toronto, may be scratched.

The 95th consecutive running of Canada's blue-ribbon racing classic sends King Maple and Queen's Own against each other for the first time and the past performances of the two Toronto-owned horses indicate the record for the plate stands a good chance of being broken.

The record for the one mile and one-eighth race is 1:52. It was set by Jim Fair's Last Mark in 1946.

King Maple, owned by Mrs. Gordon McKeen, and Queen's Own from the E. P. Taylor stable, have been the one-two choices of the bettors for months and they have lived up to all their advance notices in the plate trials.

King Maple, horse of the year in Canada in 1953, is the 1-2 choice. The odds on Queen's Own are expected to be around 8-5.

King Maple, trained by Johnny Hornsby, drew the No. 2 post position and will be ridden by Herb Lindberg, one of the three jockeys in the race who have previously brought home a plate winner.

Bert Albert will be up on Queen's Own and he along with his trainer Pete McCann are confident that their fast-breaking chestnut will go to the front early from his No. 6 post position and be able to withstand the stretch running of King Maple.

A crowd of more than 30,000, including Governor-General Vincent Massey, is expected. The weatherman has forecast a finish the west's hope for its first plate triumph, all the entries are from Ontario.

Mrs. Armstrong brothers of Brampton have entered Heptad and the famous Seagram stable of Waterloo, will start Three Striper.

Montana, Baillargeon Win In Fan-Yawning Main Bout

By GEO. R. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

The long-haired contributions from Pachydermia, those Mills Brothers, are probably chuckling in their cuds this morning.

The witch-haired throwbacks from a beauty parlor had the danged audacity to stage a knock-of-three decision over pot-bellied Ombre Montana and the much-touted Paul Baillargeon, regaled strong man from Quebec.

It was a and bout. As a matter of fact the defeat of the Mills Brothers in Toronto the night previous at the hands of Whisper Billy Watson and Tex MacKenzie, may have had much to do with the matter.

True, they were a duo that, through the media of their face-draped masks, got many a head some strange attraction, but to this observer they do not rate even mouse and other leg teams that have displayed their wares here.

No, Marse Tunney, as far as this observer is concerned the Mills Brothers may be a big attraction in the big centres as here they proved run-of-the-mine. You can have 'em.

It is the first time this so-called ruthy duet has appeared here. At various times we saw Al, or was it Bert, with both arms (the same noggin' spinach) get in a chore on the main bout. The Whitnal boys were in good form.

Oh, it was entertainment in a sort of way, we suppose, but we liked 'em in Toronto and Peterborough, but from the exhibition last night, well, you can keep 'em in Toronto or any points out of here.

Ombre Montana was badly cast with this Paul Baillargeon, much touted French Canadian strong man.

Both are good wrestlers, Montana with his bulk and Paul with his agility. But they did not mix with any degree of enthusiasm last night and thereby hangs their tale of defeat.

Well, maybe, the casting made these Mills brothers look as good as they did. It was a regular tag-team match —if you want to call it that — the final 1,000 of the faithful watching the proceedings.

True there were exciting moments when Al Mills and slither of his opposition indulged in hair-pulling operations.

Sammy Godder, the referee, was more or less inclined to get away with his shirt let alone his underwear. He still has hair.

Sammy, however, we're do not mind the Mills boys coming here, but beware about wrestling the Whip and Texie MacKenzie down here next week to give the faithful an eyeful.

By the way, Ray Villneau and Don Lewin staged a more or less nifty bout, fighting to a draw, while Johnny Barend and Nick Roberts did likewise in the curtain raiser.

Panthers Win Three in Row; Hurlers Star

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It cut gose to show how much difference a couple of players can make.

Kitchener Panthers, last year's Senior "A" champions, Eastern League champions, lost their first nine games this season. Then they added a couple of pitchers and infielders and now. . . .

The Panthers made it three wins in a row Friday night by sweeping a doubleheader from London Majors. Nineteen-year-old Garnet Jodin from Essex, a new Panther pitcher, threw a two-hitter in the seven-inning first game and hit the only home run in winning 7-0.

The Majors were also shut out in the second game when southpaw Art Cook from Indianapolis, another new Kitchener hurler, handcuffed them for six hits and was fed in Guelph. Brantford Red Sox and Guelph-Wellington Royals split. The Royals took the seven-inning opener 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Gus Gardner, and dropped the second game 6-3.

HOLD LEAD

Galt Terriers maintained a one-game lead on first place in trouncing St. Thomas Elgins 12-3 in Galt. Terriers have won their last only four hits.

The Panthers were played in the Nickel Belt Senior League—both in Sudbury, Coniston Red Sox and Garson Sherbrooks battled to a 7-7 tie in a seven-inning game halted by darkness. Coniston pitcher Cliff Redmen upset Sudbury Shamrocks 8-4 in the other game.

In the second game of the London, first baseman Charlie Wolf drove in four of the six Panther runs He had three hits in four trips, including two home runs and a single.

TWO-HITTER

Schmurr faced only 25 men while walking four and hit two hitter in Guelph. He walked two, struck out three and also hit a run-scoring single. Only extra-base hit of the game—to earn his first victory of the season in as many decisions.

It was a good night for newcomers. Perry Goldschell, a recent addition to the Brantford staff, worked 6 1-3 innings in relief and held the Royals to three hits to earn the second-game victory.

Pitcher Wally swung the big bat for the Red Sox with three hits. Royals erred five times.

Kenny's relief pitching by Thomas at Galt was his fourth without a defeat. Galt got the four hits off him was a two-run homer by Willie Casanova.

Nightfielder Ed Steele produced the winning Terrier runs with a three-run homer. Ken Thomas and Joe Parise also belted long-ruers for the winners.

GRAND SLAM HOMER

Pinchhitter Tubby Halverson clouted a bases-loaded home run for Cornwall to help the Red Sox defeat the Terriers 7-1 tie in Sudbury.

Bobcats Bow To Bluebirds 14-2 In Softball Tilt

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Bob Green's fine hurling effort and a great deal of timely hitting gave Paul Mercier's Bluebird Juniors a 14-2 victory over the Bobcats in a Belleville and District Softball League game played at the Alemite field last night.

Green scattered four hits over the nine inning route sent no less than twelve Bobcats back to the bench on third strikes and walked six. He fanned two pitch hitters. The last inning was loaded last one struckout each inning except the seventh.

Buck Burshaw and Buzz Young shared the infield duties for the Bobcats and were touched for 12 hits, including homers by Dave Baker, threw a two-hitter in the seven-inning first game and hit the only home run in winning 7-0.

The Majors were also shut out in the second game when southpaw Art Cook from Indianapolis, another new Kitchener hurler, handcuffed them for six hits and was fed in Guelph. Brantford Red Sox and Guelph-Wellington Royals split. The Royals took the seven-inning opener 3-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Gus Gardner, and dropped the second game 6-3.

Pitcher Wally swung the big bat for the Red Sox with three hits. Royals erred five times.

Kenny's relief pitching by Thomas at Galt was his fourth without a defeat. Galt got the four hits off him was a two-run homer by Willie Casanova.

Nightfielder Ed Steele produced the winning Terrier runs with a three-run homer. Ken Thomas and Joe Parise also belted long-ruers for the winners.

GRAND SLAM HOMER

Pinchhitter Tubby Halverson clouted a bases-loaded home run for Cornwall to help the Red Sox defeat the Terriers 7-1 tie in Sudbury.

King sized bat for a pint-sized entertainer. That's what Spec Bebop, centre, holds as he prepares to be the stooge for King Tut, left, and Ed Hamman, Ed Hamman, right, in the fun-show which will be presented when the mighty Indianapolis Clowns and the champion Kansas City Monarchs clash at Exhibition Park, Bellefville, on Wednesday night, June 16th, in an official Negro American League appearance, with game time commencing at 8.00 p.m. Clowns, featuring their clowning and batswinging show, this trio can't be beat and they're guaranteed to send the fans rolling in the aisles with their hilarious pantomime antics.

Record Field for Belmont Winner Will Draw $90,000

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The richest of all Belmont stakes drew a record-qualifying field of 14 three-year-olds to Belmont Park today for the $125,000 added 1½ mile mile-and-a-half race.

Alsab's of Determine, the Kentucky Derby winner, and Hasty Road, victor in the Preakness—the other two events in American racing's "triple crown"—and various ailments conferred by their well regarded colts made this Belmont one of the most wide open in years.

Not since 1875, the year Calvin Grinstead rode Aristides, first Kentucky Derby winner, have as many as 14 started together. If all answer the call to boots and saddles at 4:50 p.m. EDT, the race will have a gross value of $125,100, with $90,000 going to the winner.

Oddly enough the rich race also attracted one filly—Horatius Fox Robert Kleberg's King Ranch.

Bigcrisa alone probably wouldn't attract much support from the expected crowd of close to 50,000 but the filly has regained the waistline with High Gun, who carried the King Ranch silks to victory in the Peter Pan handicap last Saturday.

The early odds quoted the King Ranch entry at 5-to-2, with Frederick S. Lyle's Correlation the second favorite at 3-to-1, and Porterhouse, from Mrs. M. E. Pearson's Llangollen farm, third in line at 5-to-1.

There's a change of jockeys on Correlation, Eddie Arcaro, winner of five Belmonts, substitutes for the suspended Willie Shoemaker. Eric Guerin, who won last year with Native Dancer, pilots High Gun while Willie Boland again has been assigned to ride Porterhouse.

Americans Break Loose in Tourney Make Clean Sweep Against Canada

By GERRY LOUGHEED
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Held in check for one day, the powerful United States baseball team broke Friday for an almost clean sweep against Canada and carried a healthy lead in today's wind-up of the Hopkins Trophy golf tournament.

Canadian hopes were high after Thursday's opening round when the points were split evenly, nine apiece. Friday the U.S. squad's ace assets started flexing the muscles and it was a parade for the Americans against their as the visitors cleaned up 85½ of a possible nine points in the match play and because top-heavy favorites by retaining the trophy donated by John Jay Hoskins, Montreal industrialist.

The tournament is a match play affair scored under the Nassau system which gives a point to the winner of each nine holes and another for the match.

Friday's results consisted of berbal foursome and the Americans lapped it to the tune of sparkling 6½ to 1½ victory.

Harper, from Portsmouth, W. Va., turned in one of the sparkling amateur medal score of 66, seven under par for the Mississaugua Golf and Country Club in suburban Port Credit.

Oliver turned in a 67 and won four holes.

GOLF HALF-POINT

The precision golf was an insurmountable block for Bill Kerr and Gordon Bryden of the Canadian team who were down three holes on the first nine and one off on the second.

Kerr, from Montreal, and Bryden, the home pro, turned in respectable two under par 72s.

It was a similar tale in the Jerry Barber - Ted Kroll versus Bobby Locke and Pat Fletcher, U.S.-Canada pairings.

The Americans ended the first nine 1 up and took the back stretch by a 2 up margin. Locke didn't have his usual putting magic.

He missed an 18-inch effort on the eighth hole which would have halved the first nine for Fletcher Canada's half a point. He was two under par, 70, but couldn't cope with Barber and Kroll who were 67 and 68 respectively. Fletcher from Saskatoon had a 71.

Canada's only score, the half-point, came from the clubs of Edmonton's Emery Marcell and Stan Leonard of Vancouver. They were 1 down to Walt Burkemo and Marty Furgol at the turn but were

Electrics Trim Frankford 4-0 For Six in Row

The league leading Northern Electric softball nine traked to Frankford last night where they won their sixth consecutive game without a defeat over the Frankford Merchants, 4-0.

Lum Carson went all the way for the win giving up five hits, fanning one and walking two while Doug Radner was touched for 12 base knocks, got three on strikes and issued the same number of free passes.

Counsins Radner got out a homer for the winners in the fourth while Whiting had a double and a single. John Batchelor's home run streak was snapped after four games but he made a good try in the ninth with a double. Wickson had a brace of hits in a lost cause.

The batteries: N.E. Carson and Lockey; Fr. Radner and Wickson.

Bisons Edge Toronto 9-8 To Snap String

(By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Every so often the downtrodden rise up and turn on their tormentors.

This was the case Friday night as the three top teams in the International League were knocked off by the second division.

The most surprising development was the manner in which the seventh-place Buffalo Bisons outslugged the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs 9-8 in 13 innings.

The Bisons' victory ended a seven-game losing streak and snapped a string of three straight wins which the Leafs had garnered at the expense of Rochester Red Wings.

The Red Wings, in second place, were unable to take advantage of Toronto's misfortune as they were victimized by the fifth-place Syracuse Chiefs 5-4. Lefty Mary Williams made his first start for the Chiefs and held the Red Wings to three singles. It put Syracuse within a half a game of the fourth-place Montreal Royals.

The sixth-place Richmond Virginians scored seven runs in the sixth inning and three in the ninth to defeat the third-place Havana Sugar Kings 10-7 in Cuba. Marvin Rackley led the Virginians' attack with four hits.

Montreal and Ottawa were not scheduled.

Threats To Our Fishing

By JOHN MALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Science Talks)

The march of progress and growth of our nation constitutes a constant threat to the quality of our angling. Like many things we sport fishing, the favorite outdoor recreation of millions, it ought to be relegated into the discard unless we, the anglers of the nation, take active steps to prevent it.

All too often the changes—usually labeled "improvements"—benefit only a profound minority. Yet these improvements, generally quite expensive and paid for out of the public funds, go merrily along. Contracts are let, funds are allocated, and the damage is done before most of us find out about the plans.

BIG DAMS

One of the constant threats to fishing in rivers and brook streams is the construction of big dams. While I know in a general way of the big-dam plans of the Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation, there is no local control dam with which I have had the first-hand experience.

About 30 miles from this desk is a trout stream called Little Pine Creek. During the first few months of the trout season, Little Pine is a lovely thing. At least to this fan. Clear, cold water, clean rocks, and a tight, wooded valley make ideal streams. Trout are also bedded in ample supply of trout.

Then the idea was conceived by some of our politicians to install a flood-control dam in the lower part of this valley. The scenic and fish and the work started, despite the protests of many truly and a group of conservation-minded citizens.

Now we have a monstrous dam in the Little Pine valley. No fish ladder now installed, so that trout migrations are totally blocked. To Pine with trout, to the limits of hatchery capabilities, but that is far from enough. Today, fishing in Little Pine Creek is not worth the effort.

As a flood-control measure, the Little Pine Creek dam is of dubious value. The structure cost well over a million dollars, paid out of public funds. This expenditure financed the ruination of one of our good trout streams. After balancing up the plus and minus values of Little Pine, I honestly feel that the anglers of this area have suffered an irretrievable loss for which they have received no recompense.

This can happen and, moreover, is happening elsewhere in the nation. It will continue to happen unless the anglers, as a group, do something to stop it.

STEAM CLEARANCE

You may or may not be familiar with the plan for the systematic ruination of our streams, known as "stream clearance." This, purportedly is a flood-control measure. Actually it is a flagrant waste of the public funds.

Stream clearance is this. In times of low water either bulldozers or power shovels are allowed in to the stream bed. Islands are removed, the bottom is scoured out and deepened, and the material is piled along the edge of the stream. Before this stream clearance act is dyies (at least, for a short while, until high water removes them) are called "disposal banks." As I understand it, only the Army Engineers are empowered to build dykes. In any event, at the conclusion of a stream cleaned out operation, the stream looks like a second-grade drainage ditch.

As a trout stream or a bass river, the stream is ruined. All cover is gone, bottom has been pulverized, the fish move to more suitable quarters, always provided that such can be found.

BOTTOM UNSTABLE

Eventually comes high water. Deprived of the natural stabilities of the stream bottom, so that rocks and pebbles are scoured out, the stream to be deposited in deeper water. The disposal banks of loose soil are washed away, to be deposited along down-stream.

Any flood-protection that may have been afforded temporarily is soon lost. Meanwhile the stream bottom lower down actually is raised by the washed-in fill. Thus, the lower reaches the banks are more easily overflowed than they were formerly. I can show you several such projects in this immediate area which not only have been done twice but are in need of doing again.

Meanwhile, John Z. Angler is taking a double licking. Not only is he being robbed of fishing that should be his by right, but public funds, his funds, are paying for it.

LAST FRONTIERS

There are not many last frontiers in our national picture as matters now stand. Air travel, good roads and durable cars have made good fishing spots easily available which formerly could be reached only by rail or steamer. With this ease of accessibility come, inevitably, the occasional vacation-type anglers.

Be sure, these occasion-al visitors do not catch many fish as a rule. However, the combined catch of a large and constant number of rods soon skims the cream of the angling, leaving only skimmed milk. Then, what remains can be found fairly close to home.

Alaska is, perhaps, with the possible exception of northwestern Canada, the outstanding "last frontier" of American angling today. Few men who are interested in fishing have not dreamed of casting a fly into the virgin waters of Alaska—not so virginal as they once were maybe, but still good.

Now even the fishing is being threatened. Of late years the salmon run in Alaskan streams has not been good and the commercial boys are complaining bitterly. They wish to restore the bounty on trout in Alaskan rivers, it being their belief that trout do untold damage to the salmon spawn.

No need to elaborate on the dangers of such a step. A bounty on trout would mean the gentle and sudden end of good trout fishing in Alaska.

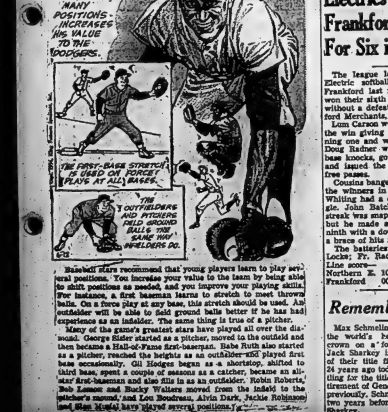
So What!



KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — The Abitibi Edelmac took a 15-7 win over the USAF Jets from Ramore in a championship Baseball League game Friday. The win was the first in two starts for the Edelmac while the Jets have dropped three straight.

Jerry Shisko went the route for the winners and gave up five hits during the 9-inning affair. The game was called because of darkness. Losing was Vic Setina who gave up seven runs. Charlie Panciera finished up on the mound. The hitters for the Edelmac were Ernie Mason and Johnny Brandetti.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Director of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball School

Baseball stars recommend that young players learn to play several positions. You increase your value to the team by being able to shift positions as needed, and you improve your playing ability. Pee Wee Reese, a first baseman learns to stretch to meet throws balls. On a force play at any base, this stretch should be used. An outfielder will be able to field grounds better if he has had experience as an infielder. The same thing is true of a pitcher.

Many of the game's greatest stars have played all over the diamond. George Sisler started as a pitcher, moved to the outfield and then became a Hall-of-Fame first-baseman. Babe Ruth also started as a pitcher, then played the outfield and first base occasionally. Gil Hodges began as a shortstop, shifted to third base, spent a couple of seasons as a catcher, became an all-star first baseman and also fills in as an outfielder. Nellie Fox, Red Schoendienst, Bob Lemon and Bucky Walters moved from the infield to the pitcher's mound, and Don Newcombe, Alvin Dark, Jackie Robinson and Stan Musial have played several positions.

Wilf Carter and his daughters are coming in person to the Belleville Memorial Arena on Wednesday, June 16, under Belleville Kiwanis auspices. Carter has an enviable, unbroken record of 22-years of recording for Bluebird and R.C.A. Victor. Over two hundred and fifty songs and ballads have been recorded by the one time cowboy star. Throughout the years Wilf has maintained his reputation to please and satisfy every audience and now for the third year in Canada he brings two beautiful and talented daughters Carol and Sheila along with him. They're eight and eleven respectively. They've proven terrific little entertainers — winning the hearts of thousands as they sing and yodel in harmony with their famous daddy and then skip back on stage for ballet and tap dancing. On stage too, routining out the fine family attraction, will be Red Garrett and his Tennessee Pioneers of Grand Ole Opry fame. Red is noted for his impersonation of Boy vocalists. His group consists of four musicians and a hilarious comedian. Adult admission to the two hour program is $1.00 for adults, children 50 cents. Following the stage show, a dance with 50 cents admission will be held.

The son of a Glasgow laborer, he had never thought about acting until this chance came along, but now Tommy is keen to learn all he can about film work. It was at his own request on condition the film that he was given his present lowly job in the studios.

He hopes to work his way through all the Production Departments until he knows the job inside out.

A joy to the other members of the location unit, Tommy also thoroughly enjoyed himself in front of the cameras. And found only one thing that he disliked about his acting chore. This was the close cropped pudding basin hair cut which was forced upon him to suit the character.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for Sunday, June 13, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Necessary work, study, all wholesome interests are under stars. Enjoy your church, spiritual comfort.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — So many things are pleasant! Are we appreciative enough of our privileges and benefits? Thank God.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Do nothing to darken this day's promise for contentment. Help your family, friends, community interests; enjoy wholesome activities. Start day by going to church.

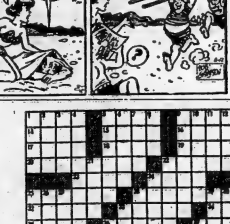
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Music, all the fine arts, outdoor sports and healthy recreation are but a few of the good things to be enjoyed today. Prayer should come first.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You bright, entertaining folk have good indications for a healthy Sunday. May you have peace of mind to enjoy it thoroughly. Bring some sunshine to others less fortunate.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — This can be a peak period for you and yours. Don't tire yourself to the point of exhaustion. Do necessary tasks quickly and make some time for rest, recreation, a hobby.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Your Venus is among the brightly aspected planets. Contentment, happiness and achievement can be yours now.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — The position of Saturn and Mars today does not favor unnecessary work or aggressiveness. Other planets sponsor all wholesome interests, especially those honoring the Sabbath. Enjoy children, good fun.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — All who can should lend a helping hand to church, charity, hospital affairs — finding that aids mankind. Splendid advantages; enjoy them.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — The best methods are usually the simplest, just as the truly great are humble, considerate and gracious. You have these fine qualities; exercise them daily.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — New and unusual activities and work interests sponsored now. A full, generous day for finest matters. Don't neglect your soul.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Your Neptune is among the planets favorably situated so you should enjoy this good Sunday. Housework and other necessary duties can be pleasantly handled. Prayer, rest encouraged.

YOU BORN TODAY are friendly, highly talented but not always consistently constructive in efforts. You must control a constant desire for change. You can be likeable irritating and cause heartache to and interesting but can also be those you love and desire to please. Practice patience, consideration for others, especially those in your family, and don't scatter your energies on too many interests at a time. Pray for guidance; develop your many fine qualities. Birthdate: Wm. Butler Yeats, Irish poet and novelist.

Prestige of Nations Will Ride On Thin Hulls of Racing Shells

Fraser Valley Times Staff Writer

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP)—The prestige of nations will ride on thin hulls or racing shells for two days in the British Empire Games.

So far, only England and Canada have entered all rowing events of the British Empire Games Aug. 3 and 4, Australia and New Zealand have indicated they will send singles, doubles and fours.

But whatever excitement prevails in the competition will be a climax to the contention over selection of the rowing course near the Fraser valley town.

The question of venue had every district in the province with enough water to float a duck bidding to become the site of the rowing events.

The games committee settled on Vedder canal after considering stretches of water which bordered the shipping channels and mud flats at side Burrard inlet at Vancouver and the quiet reaches of lakes to look over prospects.

The site chosen, a man-made canal, is about an hour's drive by car from the east-the-pe parade of athletes and the Duke of Edinburgh. His guard will have Aug. 3 will be his first visit in connection with the games.

13,000 SEATS

There will be 13,000 uncovered seats in grandstand lining both sides of the canal. Of these, 5,000 on each side will be reserved.

Eighty-one acres are available for parking.

Admission will be $2 and $3 for reserved seats and $1 for rail.

Should the crowd exceed 13,000, temporary bleachers will be thrown up further along the 2,000-foot course.

At one end will be dressing rooms for oarsmen and a tent for shell racks. A pontoon bridge will be thrown up by army engineers just past the finish line to enable officials to pass from one bank to another.

And to keep the canal calm and at the proper depth, a $24,000 dam will be thrown across the waterway just beyond the bridge.

Across from the shell tents will be a royal box and accommodation for officials, a victory ramparade, press box, bandstand and first aid tent. A loudspeaker system will be strung the length of the course.

The Vedder is 250 feet wide at the point where the races will be held and will be divided into five lanes. The middle three will be used for rowing and the outside ones for television press launches and official craft.

The athletes will be housed and fed at the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering here.

About 20 miles from the B.C. government set out to turn Sumas lake, a farm district situated where the Vedder emptied into the lake, the river was turned at right angles and channelled into the Fraser. Earthen dikes were thrown up for two miles, the new canal ran straight as a die, north to south. Later, two-lane bridges were built on the tops of both retaining walls and have since become landmark for aircraft.

Charles Said To Be at Peak

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Ezzard Charles hit the home stretch of his training camp again Friday and looked sharp and hitting sharp. He is very close to his peak.

The 32-year-old champion faced four rounds. He was sparred 132 rounds to date and is down to 191 pounds, just about the weight he'll be expects to weigh on June 17 when he goes after Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown in Yankee Stadium.

Meanwhile at Grossinger, N.Y., down the road aways, Marciano was also in great trim and worked without benefit of spectators.

Rocky, however, was dissatisfied with his sparring Thursday and asked to go two rounds today although he was scheduled to rest.

Well, Well, Look at This

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—In one of the most spectacular finishes in the 50-year history of the tournament, 61-year-old John Ellis Knowles of Rye, N.Y., Friday tied with Joseph M. Wells of Newell, W. Va, for the United States seniors' golf championship at the Apawamis Club.

Knowles, five-time winner of this title, holed out from a trap 40-feet away for a birdie-3 at the 18th hole to gain the tie.

The veteran senior star, who won the championship at Apawamis in 1947, will play Wells, 45-year-old former champion, who played Tuesday and Wednesday, had tours of 73-73 — 146.

NOT "CODDLED"

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House armed services subcommittee has informed Billy Martin, former New York Yankee second baseman, that it can find no evidence he got more severe army treatment than other draftees.

The subcommittee, investigating charges of "coddling" of name athletes, had asked Martin how he fared at training camp. The ball player replied that, instead of coddling, at times his treatment seemed "more severe" than fellow soldiers.

BREAKS OFF RELATIONS

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Nicaragua announced Friday it broke off diplomatic relations with Costa Rica, charging implication in an abortive revolutionary plot here last month in which an attempt was made to slay President Anastasio Somoza.

Will Decide Feather Title

KITCHENER (CP) — Negotiations were completed Friday night for a bout to determine the Canadian professional featherweight title.

Don Grinton of Brantford and Marian Jan of Kitchener will meet here July 2 to determine a successor to the title left vacant when Orville Trudell of Val Leters of Vancouver. The Canadian Boxing Federation and the Ontario Athletic Commission have given their approval to the bout.

Grinton has won 13 of his 15 professional fights—six by knockout—and has had only one that he had 88 amateur fights before he turned professional two years ago.

Garisah has been a professional for three years. He has won 12 fights, lost four by decision and one and drawn one.

The winner of the fight must lay the title on the line within 30 days of the bout to one of four contenders. The contenders are Jean Blanc of Moncton, N.B., Walters and George Sinclair and Tommy Corrick, both of Toronto.

Ben Hogan Does It Today

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—National open champion Ben Hogan will go out today to see if he can break his own record when he, for instance, the vice-president of the United States, a blind man and a cripple boy.

The round will be played at Baltusrol Golf Club, defending title defends his title starting Thursday, as part of a three-day affair.

Hogan was scheduled to match his shots against those of some 125,000 other golfers, from clubs largeats, last Saturday but had to postpone the event a week because of a virus infection.

The people shooting against Hogan on the course will be given ahead, however and took their rounds at any time.

OFFER REWARD

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A reward of $100 was offered Thursday for information revealing the identity of the person who killed a female labrador retriever to a tree and left it to starve to death. Officials of the Thunder Bay Humane Society said the dog's body was found Sunday at Loon lake.

Three-Day Deal Is Completed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics, Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators Friday completed a three-day trade of six players and some cash, with southpaw Morrie Martin, the chief figure in the deal, winding up with the White Sox.

Frank Lane, the super-trader of the White Sox, started the trade by swapping Constantine (Gus) Kerizakos, $60,000 bonus pitcher, to the Senators for John (Sonny) Dixon and $20,000. The Athletics coveted Dixon so Lane had to get the 28-year-old relief specialist to do business with the A's.

Lane sent Dixon, together with another hurler, Al Sima, and promising rookie outfielder Bill Wilson, along with a reported $20,000 to the A's for Martin and outfielder Ed McGhee.

FRENCH-LANGUAGE EDITOR

Louis Gagne, editor of the French-language daily Le Messager of Lewiston, Maine, says the Franco-American likes to preserve in New England what is best in French Canada. Thousands of French Canadians migrated to New England 50 or 60 years ago and many settled in towns like Lewiston but they have retained their language and much of their customs and traditions. Gagne holds a copy of the newspaper he edits for the descendants of the immigrants from Quebec. (CP Photo).

Are Many Franco-Americans Who Cannot Speak English

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTPELIER, Vt. (CP) — The thousands of French - Canadians who migrated to New England some decades ago came to work in the textile mills but their descendants have achieved fame in other fields.

The mills and the chance of steady employment brought them south in the "great migration" of 1880-1910. But their mastery of the language and hard work soon opened up other opportunities and they ranged into the other New England states from Maine and Vermont.

They acquired their own professional men—doctors, dentists, lawyers and newspaper men—to deal with them in their own language. There are hundreds of Franco-Americans even today who do not speak English.

WELL-KNOWN NAMES

Possibly the most publicized "native son" was Rocky Valley. The crooner who made "My Time Is Your Time" almost as well known as the National Anthem in the 1930s was born at Island Pond, Vt., in 1901. His forebears were Acadian French.

Another was Lew Cody whose name previously was Louis Cote. Lew left Maine to become one of Hollywood's standard cowboy stars of the 1920s.

John C. Garand invented the Garand semi-automatic rifle, now the standard rifle of the U.S. armed forces. Garand later settled in Springfield, Mass.—the home, incidentally, of former Canadian public works minister A. L. Fournier who was of French stock.

Ernest John Sam Soucl left Saco, Me., to become governor of Rhode Island from 1939-1941. He also served as lieutenant-governor and secretary of state and was collector for the port of Providence.

SHARE PUBLIC SERVICE

Maine's Republican administration records show a Democrat—Alfred Belliveau—for chief justice of the Supreme Court.

Nearly every New England state legislature includes Franco-American senators and representatives. Jean Charles Boucher, 59, has been a Democratic senator in Maine for 14 years. He was born at Riviere Ouelle, Que.

The New England states have appointed Franco-American state commissioners, police chiefs, mayors and tax collectors. Citizens can find Franco-American physicians and barristers in any French centre.

Counties streets in the preponderantly French coastal towns of Maine have French names. The French language is spoken widely in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Franco - Americans made their strongest showing here in Vermont as business men on a moderate scale.

Names like Girois, Guillaume and Lalibert appear on store windows in towns along the Central Vermont Railway line.

OLD FRENCH STYLE

The men who became famous and the men who didn't came from homes that differed little from those in the small towns of Quebec.

Franco - American families sit down on le four de l'An (New Year's Day) to feasts of roast turkey stuffed with "fort." That's a conglomeration which includes pork and cloves.

A firm in Manchester, N.H., specializes in the old habitant pea soup. One recipe calls for two quarts of water, one pound of salt pork (lune luque), one onion, three cups of diced, one pinch of summer savory (sarriette), two pinches of chives (ciboulettes). That serves six.

The French in New England love tourtieres. These are made with lean pork, mutney, onion and salt. They're named after the fourtes or quail found in Canada at the time of the migration.

Franco-Americans sing songs imported from French Canada at their social gatherings. They are toward numbers like "Alouette," "A La Claire Fontaine," and "La Guignolee." There has been an increase in interest all over New England in French Canadian folk music.

LINK ACROSS BORDER

There is a close bond between the French on both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border.

Louis Gagne, editor of the French-language daily le Messager of Lewiston, Me., says the Franco-American "don't want to be divorced morally from French Canada."

"We like to preserve here in New England what is the best in French Canada," Mr. Gagne says.

The difference between the two vast groups of North American French, Mr. Gagne says, is that "you live there and we live here; you think first of Canada and we think first of the United States."

But, he adds, "you can be assured that if anyone speaks unfavorably against French Canada here in our midst there is, what would you say—a small revolution!"

Pearson Hints Geneva Parley May End Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson hinted Friday that the Geneva conference may end soon—in failure.

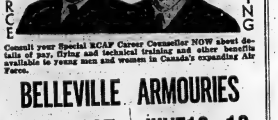
He told the Commons:

"On the western side the feeling seems to be growing that no useful, and indeed some harmful, purpose would be served by prolonging and continuing the conference once it has been made clear that the Communists are using it not to bring about an end of the fighting but to pursue their own political and propaganda aims."

He said he wanted to emphasize that failure of the conference should not mean a resumption of fighting in Korea.

Neither would failure impose on Canada any obligation, direct or indirect, to participate in any action to unify Korea by force.

In reply to John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative foreign affairs spokesman, Mr. Pearson said that if Korea can't be unified by peaceful methods, the indefinite retention of Canadian troops in Korea would have to be reconsidered.



BANK REVISION

OTTAWA (CP)—A revision of Bank of Canada legislation giving the central bank power to move in against inflation or deflation received final parliamentary approval Thursday. The main provision is to enable the bank to tell chartered banks how much credit they can issue in relation to the money they have on deposit. This control of the flow of money could influence the economy.

Railways, Unions Agree to Resume Contract Talks

Labor Minister Makes Announcement in House

OTTAWA (CP)—The railways and their non-operating unions have agreed to resume contract negotiations at the federal government's request, Labor Minister Gregg announced today.

Mr. Gregg told the Commons he expected the first meeting will be held at Montreal this week.

The railways and a group of unions representing about 145,000 persons have been deadlocked for months over employee demands for fringe benefits.

The unions recently ordered a strike vote of their memberships, and returns from the vote were expected by about mid-August.

VOTE UNCERTAIN

Mr. Gregg did not indicate whether the strike vote is to proceed or if it will be suspended for the duration of the resumed negotiations.

The unions involved are basically the same as those which called the crippling rail strike in August, 1950, that consist of workers who do not actually run the trains, such as station, yard and right-of-way employees.

Mr. Gregg said the disputants had been asked to get together "with a view to reaching agreement by the process of collective bargaining."

TO MEET THURSDAY

In Montreal, Frank Hall, chairman of the railways' negotiating committee, said the first meeting with the railways is scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

He said resumption of negotiations will not mean a delay in getting the strike vote underway.

"The ballots are scheduled to be distributed June 21," he said. "There's plenty of time for a settlement before then. There will be no postponement of plans for the vote."

Members of the unions' negotiating committee are on their way to Montreal for the meeting Thursday, he said.

Pilot Breaks Sound Barrier At 690 MPH

OTTAWA (CP)—Squdn. Ldr. Bob Church of Vancouver and Ottawa crossed Rockcliffe airport in his Sabre jet fighter at about 730 miles an hour.

The man on the loudspeaker said "He's going to Montreal. He'll be back in around 15 minutes."

Church, 30-year-old RCAF test pilot, was a few seconds late. He covered the 104-mile round-trip in 15 minutes and 4 3-10 seconds, which mathematically inclined persons said worked out to an official speed of 732.5 miles an hour. He was going fast—he had to—to cover 12 miles to make his turn-around at Montreal, but it was not an attempt at any speed record.

NO RECORDS

Curtiss's flight was part of the stuning display of flying put on by the boys in blue Saturday to mark a force day.

The RCAF doesn't try for speed records. The display was staged to let air force bases across the country were Canadians what they're getting for the $200,000,000 being spent on the RCAF this year.

Christie wound up the show by breaking the sound barrier at 42,000 feet. Though the speed of sound is 740 miles an hour at sea level, it decreases with height as the air temperatures. It was 65 degrees below zero at 42,000 feet so that Christie went through the barrier at about 690 miles an hour.

Will Augment Picket Lines At Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP)—Street railway fleet lines here will be augmented today by eight carloads of members of the Toronto division of the Street Railway Union (AFL). So far there had been no violence in the bus strike, now in its third week.

Dorland Windover, president of division 1255, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, said only company superintendents will be allowed to drive TTC diesel lines into the Canadian National Railways freight yards.

The union members are holding out for the paid statutory holidays and other fringe benefits recommended by a federal conciliation board.

Confirm Victory Of Robt. Young In Railway Fight

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Financier Robert R. Young was officially certified today as the winner of the bitter war for control of the New Jet York Central Railroad.

The election inspectors announced that the 15-member slate of directors put up by the Young forces had won by a margin of 1,007,182 votes. The Central management's present board, headed by President William White.

The Young group received a total of more than 3,407,000 and the management group slightly less than 2,340,000.

White, who presided at the reconvened session of the annual meeting of the New York Central, announced: "I will not remain as President of New York Central. I will nevertheless co-operate with the new group in effecting an orderly transition."

SALE OF NEW AND USED CARS DOWN SHARPLY

'Layoff' Ominous Word Around Auto Plants

By JIM PEACHELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The automobile salesman is on the offensive. Urgency is in his voice.

Sales of new and used cars so far in 1954 are down from the volume of 1953—15 per cent, says a leading maker. "Layoff" is the ominous word around the auto plants.

Whatever the reason for hesitancy—fear of a big buying public—cold, wet weather is the announced reason in Winnipeg—the plain "hard to sell" is Toronto's admission—it is clear that the lush early post-war years are gone. Then, almost anything on wheels was a cinch to find a ready buyer.

Prices have been cut, particularly in Toronto where new cars of the leading popular makes can be obtained for as much as $300 under list price. Reductions on higher-priced cars are greater.

Used cars are "jammed. Prices are down from this time last year—$200 on the average, a record in itself, with every buyer "Name your own down payment" and "Take as long as you like" advertisements. A Regina dealer offers a set of golf clubs with every car.

GIMMICKS VARIED

Gimmicks employed by the dealers in a buyer's market are many and varied. "Up to $695 worth of accessories free with every brand new 1954 car," announces a Toronto firm. Free radios, 100 gallons of gasoline and free seat covers are other inducements in this and other cities.

A total of 6,500 workers has been laid off by Ford Motor Company of Canada for varying p r i o d s. Of 2,500 laid off at Ford's Oakville, Ont., plant, 1,000 have been told that the layoff is indefinite.

Other companies have announced correspondingly severe layoffs and General Motors at Oshawa, Ont., where by ordering a shorter week is warns: "No company is entirely immune to the economic trends."

In a letter to employees, Ford President Henry M. Sale said: "This shrinkage of the over-all market now has caught up with us, as it had already with some other companies, and we do not have enough orders ahead of us to support our present production schedules."

Labor leaders are angry. Charles McDonald, president of the United Auto Workers of America (CIO-CCL) termed Ford layoffs "more proof that the dog-eat-dog production race in the Canadian automobile industry has caught up with passenger car sales."

Fast Canadian National Train Starts June 20

TORONTO — "The Lakeshore Express," fast Canadian National day train between Toronto and Montreal, will go into service on June 20, railway officers said today. It makes the run in 8:35—three hours less than, leaving Toronto at 9:15 a.m., Standard Time, with stops at Cobourg, Oshawa, Belleville and Kingston.

Queen Invests Winston Churchill With Insignia of Knight of Garter

WINDSOR, England (Reuters)—The Queen today invested Sir Winston Churchill with the insignia of Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter — Europe's oldest chivalric order—in the throne room of Windsor Castle.

The Duke of Edinburgh and Queen Mother Elizabeth, also members of the order, were present at the ceremony.

Queen Elizabeth, sovereign of the order, gave the command summoning the knights-elect."

The doors of the hall swept open and the prime minister was ushered into the royal presence. The jewelled garter of the order was buckled around his left knee, as the Bishop of Winchester, prelate of the order, pronounced the admonition:

"To the honor of God omnipotent and the memory of the blessed martyr St. George, tie about the leg for thy renown this most noble garter . . . never to be forgotten or laid aside."

Then Queen next placed the blue riband of the order over Churchill's left shoulder and attached the star of the order, belped by his colleagues Sir Gerald Templer, the Marquis of Salisbury and Field Marshal Earl Alexander.

In accompaniment of further admonitions, the blue mantle of the order, collar and badge were draped over the prime minister's shoulders.

Churchill bowed to the Queen, and was then conducted to his seat in the royal closet, where the order was administered by the Dean of Windsor.

After the investiture service, the Queen entertained the knights and their ladies at lunch at Windsor Castle.

Churchill, the 813th knight of the 600-year-old order, follows in the footsteps of his illustrious ancestor, the first Duke of Marlborough, who was Britain's leading general in the first half of the 18th century.

Laos, Cambodia Plan Appeal To UN As Parley's End Near

GENEVA (Reuters) — The French-associated states of Laos and Cambodia have decided to take the Indo-China issue before the United Nations if the East-West conference here fails to produce a settlement, diplomatic sources said today.

The report came as Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden was said to have told Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov that the conference must be suspended until progress gets a new government.

Eden and Molotov, meeting privately at Eden's lakeside villa, agreed that a session of the deadlocked nine-power Indo-China peace group should be held this afternoon (at 10 a.m. EDT). Conference sources said it would be a restricted meeting.

The two foreign ministers also scheduled a plenary session of the 19-country Geneva conference for Tuesday, the sources said.

LIKELY LAST MEETINGS

These are likely to be wind-up meetings for the long and statemated conference. Delegates today said that French President René Coty's acceptance of the Laniel government's resignation means that no decisions can be taken at Geneva, as no one expects any chances might be of an East-West compromise.

If Laos and Cambodia present their complaints against Communist aggression to the UN, it will be the first time the Indo-China war will have been brought formally before the international body.

Thailand last week took a preliminary step by asking the UN for a team of neutral observers to be sent in her border with Indo-China to study the threat posed by active Communists to Southeast Asia.

Laos and Cambodia, smaller sister states of war-ravaged Viet Nam, are backed by the Western powers in their insistence that the only rebel forces within their borders are Vietminh invaders. They insist that these troops must be withdrawn before any settlement can be reached.

DISCUSS BREAK-OFF

As Molotov visited Eden, leading delegates of the 18 anti-Communist UN partners in Korea gathered at the Palace of Nations for a crucial meeting on their tactics for breaking off the seven-week abortive negotiations to try to unite Korea. Absence of all but a caretaker government in Paris now makes it problematical whether even these talks can be held before Tuesday.

Delegates said that technically this part of the conference might have to go into "cold storage" with the Laniel regime.

The general expectation on the non-Communist side is that the military representatives of the opposing high commands in Indo-China, meeting separately, will open talks about possible cease-fire arrangements and the regrouping of opposing forces.

Political experts may also be needed in Paris on the sidelines to reach an understanding, it is believed.

Monty Refuses to Give Up German Surrender Document

By SHERWOOD DICKERMAN
LONDON (Reuters) — British Parliament members unhappily girded themselves today for battle against Prime Minister Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Prize of the contest is a piece of paper which is one of Britain's most cherished trophies of the Second World War—the original surrender document by which Germany's northern armies gave in to Montgomery's British forces May 4, 1945.

Montgomery has held on to the document ever since—and he set off a storm last week by announcing that he intends to keep it.

Parliament moved yesterday by Labor member George Thompson. Sunday announced they will debate in Parliament Thursday that Montgomery hand over the historic document to national archives.

UNEAGER FOR TUSSLE

None of them, however, seem really anxious to tangle with the unbending "Monty." They are frequently cantankerous nature—and most time out of mind is beyond American military memoirs.

Montgomery, now deputy commander at the Atlantic treaty headquarters, set off the wrangle himself in a BBC-TV program broadcast. He told how he had taken the document from beaten German commanders and then proceeded copies to Gen. Eisenhower at Allied headquarters.

"I was asked for the original," Montgomery said offhandedly—without revealing who asked him. "I refused to part with it and I will never do it."

HEALTHY RESPECT

British officials, who may have wondered about the document's fate but had never ventured to ask before showed a healthy respect for the sharp-tongued soldier they were dealing with.

The Imperial War Museum, storehouse of Britain's military treasures, said it didn't think Montgomery "really means what he says."

The war office noted vaguely that arrangements had been made by officials belong to the government, but refused to speculate whether the topic applied to soldiers too.

BUCK PASSING

It passed the buck to the cabinet office's historical section, which promptly passed it back with a statement that it was "rather surprising" the war office had not made a claim.

Newspapers were more outspoken. The Daily Express charged Montgomery with "knocking off an article of historic international value purely by virtue of his army rank and status."

His "skill would cause any unpaid lance-jack who ever 'acquired' an egg from underneath an unsuspecting chicken to spring smartly to attention in pure admiration," the Mirror said.

Smaller Centres Need More Town Planners

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian centres, especially the smaller ones, need full-time town planners, the Community Planning Association said today in opening Community Planning Week.

Between now and the end of the week associations in 30 other Canadian centres the country will sponsor planning institutes, group discussions, exhibits and all other activities in what it frankly admits is an effort to "sell" the advantages of the cause of community planning.

Jacques Simard, executive director of the association, said in a statement that a national survey by the association, which was formed in 1947 to foster public interest and participation in community planning, showed that only one-fifth of Canadian municipalities with a population over 5,000 have, as yet, any steps toward planning their own development.

3,000 Britons Bid Farewell To Evangelist

LONDON (Reuters)—Three thousand Londoners jammed St. Paul's Cross railroad station and sang hymns Sunday as Billy Graham left Britain for a three-week tour of the continent.

As the train pulled out, the crowds sang "God Be with You Till We Meet Again," led by a clergyman wielding an umbrella as a baton.

The American evangelist will preach in Stockholm, Sweden; Helsinki, Finland; Copenhagen, Denmark; Frankfurt and Berlin, Germany; and Paris, Fr., his wife and his party are sailing tonight.

Imperial Oil Cuts Gas Price Half Cent

TORONTO (CP)—Imperial Oil Ltd. announced today a reduction of half a cent a gallon in wholesale price of its regular grade of gasoline, effective immediately, in Ontario.

Exso Extra, the company's premium gasoline, remains unchanged in price.

The company said whether the cut will be passed on to consumers is up to individual retail dealers who set their own prices. Average retail price in Toronto was 41.5 cents before the reduction.

The price cut was a reflection of more highly competitive market, a company spokesman said.

HAMILTON TAXI DRIVER FOUND DEAD IN CAB

May Have Been Victim Of Revenge Killing

HAMILTON (CP) — A young Hamilton taxi driver was shot in his cab on a lonely mountain road Sunday and police are checking on the possibility he may have been the victim of a revenge killing.

Anthony Codispoti, 23, was found slumped behind the wheel of his car with two bullets in his head. They were fired from close quarters, possibly by someone in the back seat.

Police found $28 in his pockets and ruled out a robbery motive.

They started checking on the Saturday night movements of Codispoti, who was last reported to the police at 11:30 p.m. by a radio dispatcher shortly after midnight on a city call.

Provincial police constable Douglas Duff of the Dundas detachment found the body as he made a routine check of the lonely road on top of Hamilton mountain between highway 2 and 5, about 10 miles northeast of here.

The car was driven off the road and into a clearing in the woods. Police believed Codispoti was shot as soon as he parked.

Investigating police today ventured no theory as to who might have spoil was slain. They say he may have been the victim of underworld vengeance, or that he may have been involved with a woman.

Chief Fred Lockyer, and two other members of the township police force, worked on the latter theory, questioned several girl friends and acquaintances of the dead man Sunday afternoon, but had no statement to make.

Monopoly Case Brought Against Bread Firm

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Bread Co. Ltd. has been a staunch advocate of cuts in military spending and government economy as a way to get Canada back on her financial feet. He insists that only after France has a healthy economy can she make her full contribution to Western defence.

In seeking assembly confirmation for premier last year, he said he would support the European Defence Community and French ratification of the pact, which would rearm West Germany in a six-country army, has been stymied by heavy opposition from all quarters in the French Assembly.

Until confirmation of a new government, Laniel and his ministers and their departments on a caretaker basis.

Foreign Minister Bidault plans to return to Geneva to carry on negotiations for peace in Indo-China, even though he has no backing from the assembly.

The task of forming a new cabinet which could win assembly approval appears a formidable one. Any government would have to be a coalition, like the Laniel cabinet. Support would be needed from at least six parties, none of whom can see eye to eye.

IN TRAINING AT 90

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Harry Barton, former professional boxer, is just about ready for a comeback. He keeps in trim with daily exercise on the punchbag and a little road work. Barton, 90, says it's a good way to keep from getting old.

Source of Bogus Poker Chips Is Discovered

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police reported today that the source of a supply of bogus Las Vegas poker chips was cut off with the arrest of three men and confiscation of chip-making equipment in a garage.

Investigators said $2,500 worth of chips already had been made in the Burbank garage and converted into cash in Las Vegas at a second bitch worth $150,000 was in the making.

Arrested and booked on suspicion of grand theft were James Patterson, 30, Los Angeles; Tom Cantrell, 37, and Douglas R. Anderson, 30.

Police said all three of the men had worked in Las Vegas gambling houses during recent years.

Overcome by Heat

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A four-month-old baby girl was placed in an oxygen tent in hospital here Sunday suffering from extreme heat stroke. Her condition was described as critical.

Police said the child, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hoffman of Toronto, was left for about an hour in its bassinet in a parked car under a tree while its parents viewed the falls. They returned to discover the sun had shifted its position and was beating in on the infant.

Business Man Spends Part of Each Day Trying to Give Money Away

DETROIT (AP) — A slight, friendly business man here spends 30 per cent of each working day figuring out how to give money away.

He's pretty good at it. So far he's given away at least $10,000,000.

Nathan S. Shapero, now president and chairman of the board of the 175-store Cunningham Drug chain, started making his first charity because "the break a man gave me is still fresh in my mind."

That was 32 years ago. Shapero, just out of the navy, wanted a $1,000 bank loan to clinch the purchase of a bankrupt basement drugstore.

DEPENDED ON BANKER

"A friend had given me $1,000. My mother had scraped up every spare cent to give me another $1,-000. My last chance to get the loan depended on the banker.

The banker sized him up and decided he was a good risk. The loan closed.

In the depression '30s, Shapero had started him on the way around success with brotherly encouragement. He has given away business operating in Detroit, Ohio, Pennsylvania and California.

At present Shapero is wading through 8,000 personal appeals for help received from all parts of the world. If the request is genuine, chances are the philanthropist-dispenser—who 35 years ago had barely enough money to pay rent—will take a personal interest.

President Asks French Leftist To Form Govt.

Mendes-France Not Likely To Get Required Majority

By PRESTON GROVER
PARIS (AP) — Pierre Mendes-France, who wants to negotiate with rebel leader Ho Chi Minh to end the war in Indo-China agreed today to try to form France's 20th postwar cabinet.

Many political figures doubt that the 47-year-old economic and financial expert can get a majority in the divided National Assembly to go along with his policy, which calls for cutting down expenditures in Indo-China and slowing down France's military participation in European defense.

Mendes - France was nominated Sunday night by President Rene Coty after meeting privately with Joseph Laniel, defeated Saturday in a confidence vote. The president also accepted Laniel's resignation.

NORMAL PROCEDURE

Mendes - France is a leader of the moderate Radical Socialist (moderate) bloc which was credited with bringing down the Laniel government. Following normal procedure, he was the first person to talk to Coty about a replacement.

Coty delayed accepting Laniel's resignation for a day. It was believed he hoped Laniel might still be without a government during the week-end in case important decisions were needed from Indo-China.

Chief Fred Lockyer, and two other members of the township police force, worked on the latter theory, questioned several girl friends and acquaintances of the dead man Sunday afternoon, but had no statement to make.

Thirty Persons Die Violently In East Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thirty persons lost their lives in a variety of accidents throughout eastern Canada during the weekend. One of the worst violent deaths took place in Ontario when a taxi driver was shot through the back of his head.

Ontario led provincial totals with half the deaths—15. Highway accidents accounted for eight of these, a Canadian Press survey shows. Drownings were recorded in Quebec, three in New Brunswick and two each in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. There are no fatalities in Prince Edward Island.

In Ontario, Anthony Codispoti, a 25-year-old taxi driver, was found shot to death in his cab, which was found in a clump of wood near Hamilton. Police suspect he may have been the victim of a revenge slaying.

HEARD BURGLAR ALARM

Kettle Point Reserve Indian, Clarence George, 36, was shot to death after St. Joseph when he and another Indian, Stanley Cook, 29, broke into a cabin. Hector Forcier, 43, a service station operator next door, told police he was wakened by the burglar alarm, shouted a warning and then fired "blind" through a club window.

Two Kingston men were killed when their plane nose-dived into Lake Ontario during a rain storm. Dead are Sinclair Sweet, 22, and James Patterson.

Raymond Bouchard, 23, of Toronto was drowned in Prospect Lake.

Eugene Blais, also of Georges Falls, was killed when he jumped into the swirling waters of the Ottawa River. Michael Lamoureux, 28, of Toronto, was electrocuted when he touched a power pole. A power saw for his new cottage at Sutton.

Teenagers Rob Man

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Three teenagers, one armed with a gun, robbed 22-year-old Edward Rocheleau at midnight Sunday of seven dollars and escaped after shooting a hole into his front tire.

Police said Rochelleau and a female companion were flagged down by the hidden road and robbed by the teenagers who wore polka dot masks.

CITY & DISTRICT NEWS

POLICE FAIL TO FIND REPORTED BLACK BEAR

The night watchmen at the Stephenson-Adenson plant in Foster Ward is likely to come in for a bit of good-natured ribbing when plant employees learn that during the week-end he was "seeing things."

It seems that shortly after midnight Saturday the plant night watchmen called the desk sergeant at the city police station that a black bear was strolling around the factory parking lot.

Police officers made a thorough inspection of the premises but nary a black bear did they see.

"The closest thing to a bear that we saw was a big black dog," one of the investigating officers commented.

STONE SHATTERS HOUSE WINDOW

The Gist family at 223 Charles street was startled Saturday evening when shortly before dark the living room window was shattered by a stone.

Mischievous boys were suspected for the damage but investigation by police officers failed to round up the lads responsible.

WEEK-END ROAST RUINED IN OVEN

With the present high price for meat no chances should be taken with roast intended for the family dinner once it is in the kitchen range.

That is just what a Parkwood Heights district housewife learned over the week-end when her roast was ruined while in the stove. The roast was put in the oven before the kitchen and Belleville firemen were called to bring matters under control.

Firemen reported only smoke damage to the home. But the roast at was ruined.

BANDED PIGEON DIES ON FOXBORO LAWN

Just as Saturday evening's storm started, a pigeon dropped on the lawn of the home of Mrs. George H. Priest, at Foxboro, and died a few moments later. It carried leather bands on its legs, a metal band was the number CU-47821. A rubber band on the other leg bore the number 443 on one side and D-120 on the other side.

New Playground To Be Opened At Q. E. School

Through the kindness of the Public School Board, the Recreation Committee has secured a portion of the Queen Elizabeth school grounds for a playgrounds and the committee at a regular meeting on Friday afternoon called for tenders to level and build-doze the ground of land granted and also ordered the new equipment for their latest playground in the city.

The city is now well equipped to handle a large number of children during the summer months and the supervisors who have been secured will be most capable to instruct and guide these children. A course of instruction has been laid out and the supervisors will leave on Sunday next for Gale-Mc-Lac for ten days of instruction.

The Recreation Committee is seriously handicapped with respect to facilities to handle smaller groups that wish to increase their knowledge of hobbies they are interested in and a committee was appointed to interview the Board. Another committee was appointed to ascertain what steps can be taken to alleviate this difficulty.

The minor citizens have had a most successful season and will close their winter activities with a picnic to Wellington. The committee will provide transportation for these older citizens.

A course for leaders in square dancing is to be held at the Kiwanis Centre in the near future and in the fall, it is the intention of the committee to hold a series of square dancing in the Centre and this recreation will be charged so that everyone may become proficient in this healthy form of exercise.

Other projects were discussed by the committee and it is hoped that a full program of recreation will be under the supervision of the committee this fall and winter.

Those present at the meeting were: Chairman, Claude D. Tice, and committeemen Mrs. W. Gander, Frank Grandame, William VanTassel, secretary Drury Denyes and Recreational Director L. G. "Red" Doran.

DON. E. ENGDAHL, who was elected president of Kiwanis International at the 38th annual convention held in Miami, Fla.

Toothpick Tower Will Make Trip To Vancouver

Sixteen thousand artificially arranged toothpicks have been involved to make a trip from Belleville to Vancouver this summer.

The toothpicks made up "Toothpick Tower", a seven-foot structure designed and built by Carl Rolof as one project of an interesting hobby.

The tower, which took first prize at the international Hobby Fair in Toronto last February, has attracted the attention of the lobby show at the Pacific National Exhibition slated to be held in Vancouver from August 25th to September 6th.

Officials of the P.N.E., in asking Mr. Rolof to submit his tower stated that approximately 100,000 are expected to visit the hobby fair during exhibition time.

Mr. Rolof has accepted the invitation and the tower will be sent to Vancouver by Express.

City Escapes Heavy Damage In Severe Storm

The weather producer staged a brilliant electrical show over the district Saturday night, completely with thunderous crashes and what is a miniature cyclone tossed in as an added attraction.

The storm broke over the city about seven-thirty, roaring in from the northwest with black, sullen thunderheads slashed vividly with rhumbing forks of brilliant lightning.

A Stirling resident, who witnessed the storm from his home said: "It was the weirdest sight I ever saw. The lightning started to be three layers of swiftly-moving clouds travelling in various directions. Then the storm clouds headed downward as the wind suddenly increased in a gale. There was an eerie light at times screened through the heavy downpour of rain."

Members of the Belleville Bazaar senior baseball club were seated in the Exhibition Park grandstand, heard a heavy crash. The "Honeymoon" section was blown asunder as it was brief, ripped off a large limb from a big tree at a point in line with the left field foul line.

The storm was freakish in its path. It seems Picton bore the brunt of the storm with power being off for several hours and traffic held up on outgoing highways due to the branches littering the travel lanes. Wellington got a heavy rain but no material damage was reported.

The storm exacted a toll of two lives in the Kingston district when a private plane crashed killing its occupants.

Night baseball games were called off due to the rain. The young baseballers have been at the CNR Recreation Field, where Belleville and Trenton teams were playing softball, and converted the diamond into a swirling mass of dust and rain, thus delaying postponement of the fixture.

City Engineer Charles Mott said the storm caused little or, no damage in city, with the exception of a few branches blown down in various parts, but nothing of a serious nature.

The storm was freakish in its path. It seems Picton bore the brunt of the storm with power being off for several hours and traffic held up on outgoing highways due to the branches littering the travel lanes. Wellington got a heavy rain but no material damage was reported.

The storm exacted a toll of two lives in the Kingston district when a private plane crashed killing its occupants.

Night baseball games were called off due to the rain. The young baseballers have been at the CNR Recreation Field, where Belleville and Trenton teams were playing softball, and converted the diamond into a swirling mass of dust and rain, thus delaying postponement of the fixture.

City Engineer Charles Mott said the storm caused little or, no damage in city, with the exception of a few branches blown down in various parts, but nothing of a serious nature.

New Playground To Be Opened At Q. E. School

Through the kindness of the Public School Board, the Recreation Committee has secured a portion of the Queen Elizabeth school grounds for a playgrounds and the committee at a regular meeting on Friday afternoon called for tenders to level and build-doze the ground of land granted and also ordered the new equipment for their latest playground in the city.

The city is now well equipped to handle a large number of children during the summer months and the supervisors who have been secured will be most capable to instruct and guide these children. A course of instruction has been laid out and the supervisors will leave on Sunday next for Gale-Mc-Lac for ten days of instruction.

The Recreation Committee is seriously handicapped with respect to facilities to handle smaller groups that wish to increase their knowledge of hobbies they are interested in and a committee was appointed to interview the Board. Another committee was appointed to ascertain what steps can be taken to alleviate this difficulty.

The minor citizens have had a most successful season and will close their winter activities with a picnic to Wellington. The committee will provide transportation for these older citizens.

A course for leaders in square dancing is to be held at the Kiwanis Centre in the near future and in the fall, it is the intention of the committee to hold a series of square dancing in the Centre and this recreation will be charged so that everyone may become proficient in this healthy form of exercise.

Other projects were discussed by the committee and it is hoped that a full program of recreation will be under the supervision of the committee this fall and winter.

Those present at the meeting were: Chairman, Claude D. Tice, and committeemen Mrs. W. Gander, Frank Grandame, William VanTassel, secretary Drury Denyes and Recreational Director L. G. "Red" Doran.

Safe-Crackers Labor Mightily Then Overlook Their Meagre Loot

Safe-crackers went to a lot of work for nothing Saturday night when they trundled a 1,300-lb. safe from the office of the Armstrong Lumber Company at Stirling and then smashed it open with sledge hammers before abandoning it along a lonely Stirling township road.

Police said only a few dollars in change had been in the safe and this was found in the ditch alongside the abandoned safe, the safe-crackers apparently not relishing the silver had fallen from the battered strongbox.

It is believed that at least four men must have been present to move the safe from the lumber company office to a waiting truck backed up to the door. The safe was then taken to a lonely section on the 7th concession of Sidney below Oak Lake, where it was opened.

First the combination was knocked off the safe, then, when this failed to open the strong box, the top of the safe was smashed in with sledges.

Provincial police had the damaged safe taken back to the lumber company at Stirling.

Mrs. E. Grills Hurt in Accident

Mrs. Everett Grills, R.R. 2, Stirling, is in Belleville hospital with a broken pelvis following a motor accident on Highway 2 about one mile west of Stirling Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Grills were driving west toward Stirling when their car was in collision with a northbound car on the fairground road, driven by Dan Margeson, of Toronto. The Grills car was thrown out of control and turned over on the roadway.

The injured woman was taken to the office of Dr. Cornett by Thompson's ambulance and then taken on to Belleville hospital.

Damage to the Grills auto is estimated at about $600 and to the Margeson car about $150, Provincial Constable Al Cockburn investigated.

'Bob' Patterson Serves 50 Years In Church Choir

Half a century as a church worker and member of St. Paul's United church choir at Stirling was recognized Sunday when R. A. "Bob" Patterson was presented with an embossed gold lettered hymnary by choir members.

The presentation was made to Mr. Patterson at the conclusion of the regular church service.

In private life the owner of a men's furnishing store, Mr. Patterson has been an active interest in welfare and church work. He is a member and song leader for the Stirling Rotary Club and has served as trustee and steward at St. Paul's Church and is now an elder of the congregation.

"A fine community and church worker" Rev. A. E. Baker, pastor at St. Paul's stated in reference to the man, who has been a choir member for 50 years.

Only Two Games Were Played Due to Storm

Due to the heavy electrical storm, which passed over the city on Saturday night, the bowling tournament, which had progressed through the afternoon, had to be called off and the awards were handed out on the standing of the two games played. It was a men's doubles tournament and 26 rinks from the district, which included gents from Kingston, Trenton, Brighton, Stirling, Campbellford and Belleville, took part in the play.

W. B. "Skit" Vandervoort and Gordon Edwards conducted the draw in a most satisfactory manner and Ald. Gerald B. Hyde, president of the club, greeted the bowlers to the first tourney in the city and also distributed the prizes.

The greens were in excellent condition and after the rain had soaked them it was felt they would be seriously damaged if played on for the third game.

Art McConnell and George Colling, of Brighton, stood highest at the end of two games, with Charlie Smart and Sid Dennis, of Kingston, in the second spot. Jack Hanna and Dave Fisher of the local club, were in third place; W. Harvey and E. Gage, of Trenton, fourth; Walter Elliott and Bert Cook, of Belleville, fifth, and Horace Ormshaw and Robt. Hacker, of Trenton, sixth, and last.

The bowlers will journey to Campbellford on Wednesday for the men's doubles and to Kingston on Saturday for the same kind of tournament.

Reds Jail Four For Organizing Revolt Last June

PERLIN (AP) — Four Germans charged with leading the June 17 revolt last year against the Soviet-backed East German government were sentenced today to long terms at hard labor.

The East German Supreme Court imposed 15 years each on Wolfang Silgner and Werner Mangelsdorf, 10 years on Hans Fuchner and five years on Horst Gassa.

The state charged in the three-day trial that the four were the main organizers of the widespread rebellion and that they were on the payroll of Western espionage networks.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Trade was very slow at the Ontario Stockyards today. There was no active trade on steers. Receipts: cattle 4,500 (including 600 western cattle); calves 425; hogs 300; sheep and lambs 135; holdover from weekend 600 cattle.

Heifers and fed yearlings were fifty cents a hundredweight lower. Cows were steady at last week's close. Bulls were steady and in demand. Prices: good heifers $18; medium down to $16; good cows $14.50-15; a few at $15.50; an odd lot of high heifer cows $16; canners downward to $8; good heavy bologna bulls $15-16; choice fed yearlings $19.50-20; a few tops at $20.50; medium fed yearlings down to $18; medium quality stockers $18-$18.50.

Calves were over with good to choice vealers being $22-24; common to medium $12-21.

Hog prices were not established. Choice spring lambs sold mostly at $28; a few small lots with some common at $26 and $24. Medium to good light sheep $8-12; common down to $4.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market prices failed to establish strong trends today in moderate forenoon trading.

Industrials were narrowly ahead. Base metals were strong in senior lots while golds were irregular. Western oils weakened from opening firmness and all gold groups were lower. First-hour volume was just after 500,000 shares.

Industrial strength was in utilities, constructions, steels, and foods. Liquors, refining oils and financial institutions were weak. Papers, agriculturals and manufacturers were irregular.

Senior base metal gains were generally minor fractions, are were losses in juniors.

Uraniums and Manitouwadge issues were weak.

Air Show Called 'Terrific' By 18,000 in Attendance

TRENTON — (Special) — Two 15-year-old air cadets from Kingston summed up the Air Show at Station Trenton in one word "Terrific." Bob Rider and Reg. Buse chorused when asked how they liked the static and flying displays that attracted a crowd of an estimated 18,000 people here on Saturday.

Bob, an air cadet representing 58/Air Cadet Squadron of Kingston as guests of their big brothers, the RCAF, Corp. Jim Rider, youth-came from the Limestone City to watch the show of all shows since the first show was staged here eight years ago.

The schoolers had everything in their favor after dark clouds and light sprinkles of rains threatened to spoil the effort. Visibility became exceptionally good as the sun gave light and seek behind high scattered clouds.

EIGHT MILES UP

As the spectacular exhibition approached the climax the announcer took the crowd up to 41,000 feet, eight miles up. Perspired in a Mark II Sabre Jet was F/O. O'Dey Lavery 31, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Levere of Cloyne, Ontario, waiting to dive on the Trenton air base. His part of the program called for an attempt at breaking the sound barrier.

A curving vapor trail gave the 30,000 upturned eyes an idea of where O'Dey Levere was dropping from. Sooner than it takes to tell it the powerful jet plane climbed through the sonic wall and reports of the successful breakthrough thudded against the hangar roof, press observers used as a point of vantage. Two distinct reports and a lesser jolt indicated that F/O. Levere had again cracked the formidable barrier.

COMPLIMENTS PILOTS

Group Capt. J. B. Millward, DFC (D), Commanding Officer of Station Trenton complimented his pilots and ground personnel after the show. Levere's feat wrapped up the three-hour demonstration.

Cracking the sound barrier to F/O. Levere means as much to him as packing meat from the kitchen into the living room does to the ordinary housewife. He notices the plane starting to shudder as it approaches the speed of sound about 700 m.p.h. Then a slight pressure is put out and there is a strange silence. There is more violent vibrating as the aircraft returns from the sonic field back into the normal stratum of flight.

F/O. Levere feels little or no variation in altitude pressures because the cockpit of his Sabre is pressurized to simulate a height of 17,000 feet after passing that mark. From his lofty post at eight miles up, he found the spacious Trenton air establishment looking like a five cent postage stamp. Upon his judgment of accurately depended whether or not air show crowds would hear the sonic boom. Levere got a good view of the Sabre with the swept back wings when the pilot crossed in the distance the hangar line at a mere 300 m.p.h.

O'Dey Levere is a soft spoken man who would win a contest "the man most expected to become a jet- pilot." He weighs under 150 pounds and has to look up when he talks to a six-foot tall person. If you are impressed by his black piercing eyes, you become startled by his apparent lack of emotion. There is the weird feeling that you are talking to a man, who has been in another world.

FINEST TO DATE

The eighth Annual "At Home" for Station Trenton will go down in the records as the finest effort to date. People responsible for staging the big undertaking have been praised. Interest was never allowed to lag as one attraction followed on the heels of the other. As a fellow newspaperman remarked: "The show was perfect."

An out-of-town man who saw his first air show was affected in another way. He went home feeling happy and convinced that Canada's defence dollars were being well spent. "Up until Saturday," he said, "I often wondered if every cent of the popular show deserves praise. Four para-rescue jumpers including Corporal Slater Ruth Kelly floated down to the airfield while a 881 Sikorski helicopter grabbed his position to simulate the rescue of an injured pilot and swaying him to a waiting aircraft for removal to hospital. The casualty was lifted into the Helicopter by a power operated cable. He was then lowered to a team of waiting stretcher bearers. The mock rescue drew rounds of applause from the huge crowd.

Equally appreciated was the Woman Walks Into Path Of Motorcycle

TRENTON (Special) — Mrs. Daisy Tripp, 46, of Batawa walked into the path of an oncoming motorcycle on Saturday, suffering a three bump over her right eye and lacerations in the left arm and elbow. The motorcycle was operated by Percy Cooney, Victoria Street, Frankford. Betty Johnson of Trenton was a passenger on the pillion seat.

The motorcycle, proceeding east on Dundas East, was struck just on the left of a line of cars stopped for the traffic light at Front and Dundas Streets.

Mrs. Tripp was the line of cars stopped stepped out from between two cars. She was crossing from south to north in front of the Bank of Montreal. She was knocked to the pavement. Dr. D. Campbell attended the injured woman at the scene.

DAMAGE IS HEAVY.

Visitors to Trenton became involved in a traffic accident that caused personal injury and property damage on Saturday.

On Saturday Mrs. Javanovich of Madoc received cuts on her forehead and nose when her face hit the rear vision mirror as the result of a two car collision between a car driven by her husband, Dobrosivoe Javanovich and one driven by Leroy Sizer, Madoc, and Leslie Arnold Ray, 19 Kidd Avenue, Trenton.

The accident happened at Byron and Dundas Streets during the height of the traffic jam between Trenton and the airbase.

Spike Jones Show To Visit Kingston

The Spike Jones show with its full galaxy of stars including currvaceous Helen Grayco, George Rock, Freddy Morgan, the Wayne-Marlin Trio, Bernie Jones, Billy King, the City Slickers, Sir Fredrick Cas and many others will be in Kingston, Ontario, for a one night stand tomorrow night at the Community Memorial Centre in Jones, who started the ball rolling with his initial Depression hour, a few years ago has developed into one of television's top drawer stars and is now on a long session of one-nighters with his Musical Insanities of 1954.

The show, a riotous affair from beginning to end will contain all the names familiar to Spike Jones' fans and television listeners. The singing of Helen Grayco, the trumpet playing and novelty singing of George Rock, the comedy of Sir Frederick Gas plus the famous City Slickers'gang with many other entertaining acts all point up to one of the most entertaining nights of the summer season.

This will be Jones' first appearance in this part of the country since his inauguration of the Musical Insanities version of his program, which incidentally premiered at Las Vegas, Nevada, a little while back. All indications point to a big crowd but there are still plenty of good seats to be had at show time, which has been set for eight-thirty o'clock.

Picton Blacked Out 6 Hours Due to Heavy Electric Storm

PICTON — Saturday was a black night in Picton. As a result of severe wind, rain and electrical storm, hydro power was off from 8 p.m. Saturday night until 2.30 Sunday morning. Limbs of falling trees carried many hydro wires and streets were littered with limbs and leaves. Lightning was brilliant and thunder really thundered as the bitter storm lashed the town, for more than an hour. The torrents of rain were a blinding sheet.

The storm came out of the northwest just as the influx of thousands of shoppers were heading into town. Rural residents had hydro service interrupted only for five minutes and experienced heavy rain; but in Picton it was a different story. In places the wind was like a miniature cyclone. Loss of business ran into thousands of dollars for merchants, most of whom closed earlier than usual because of the blackout. Many restaurants were forced to serve meals by candlelight.

Hydro lowers were ripped down on Bridge Street, as a tree on the corner of May Street fell. A huge limb of a tree, corner of Main and Talbot Streets, partly blocked the highway and ripped down more wires. Trees on Dr. Gerald Allison's lawn fell but missed the house and a car parked near by. Other limbs of trees in many sections were blown down.

Sgt. George Pott quickly had men on guard at danger points. All available hydro repair men and linemen worked night through the elements to repair damage.

One farmer west of Picton said a gust of wind picked up a pile of sand and carried it all off in a whirling mass.

Fortunately property damage was at a minimum. Farmers welcomed the rain, though in some places it beat down hay in the shocks ready for the binder. Many of gas lamps or candles.

Drag for Body Missing In Plane Crash

KINGSTON (CP) — Dragging operations continued today for the body of one of two airmen aboard a plane which nose-dived into Lake Ontario off the city during a quick storm just before dusk Saturday.

The body missing is that of Lloyd Bell, 22-year-old Second World War pilot with the RCAF, was found in the wreckage of the plane off Wolfe Island near here.

His companion, Sinclair Sweet, 22, is missing and presumed dead in the crash.

Both pilots, both experienced pilots, had taken off from Kingston airport only minutes before the single-engined plane. Shortly after takeoff the aircraft was seen in a dive, headed for the water about a mile off shore.

The search was located several hours later and towed to shore and the body of Patterson was found in the wreck.

Department of transport official are also conducting an investigation into the crash.

PROMOTE GUIDED MISSILES

LONDON (Reuters) — Supply Minister Duncan Sandys said in the House of Commons from Washington that his talks there with Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson should help to speed up development of guided missiles. Sandys told reporters that among other things discussed were "ways and means of working together more closely and actively over the development of guided missiles for the armed forces of our two countries."

Conservatory Pupils Give Music Recital

Little girls in their frilly best dresses, and boys polished and shining with unaccustomed brilliance, made their appearance at Albert College on Saturday night at a recital in Memorial Chapel. It was Junior night for the students of the Conservatory of Music, and for many of them it was their initial appearance as public performers, but they proceeded with confidence and aplomb through the 56 numbers on the program.

Some of the numbers took less than a minute however, which did not make the recital as lengthy as it might appear. The students of the violin pupils of Barrett Taylor, had had only a short period of study, but gave creditable performances. They were accompanied by Raymond Taylor, who is himself a lad of just fourteen.

The principal of the school, Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, B.A., was present and some fine parents and guests who filled the chapel. Mr. MacKenzie announced that in the near future he hoped that the facilities for both resident and city pupils of the Conservatory would be much improved with the addition of a practice residence which would have a well-appointed music room.

At the back (or chancel) was the silver cross, a gift of the graduating class, flanked by graceful, branched candelabra. Ferns and bouquets of spring flowers were arranged on the platform where the pianos were placed.

The pianists included: studied with Miss Beasie Handley, Egerton Boyce and William Cooper. Second students were trained by Egerton Boyce and the students of violin by Barnett Taylor.

Prince Edward and Hastings Masons Assemble 400 Strong For Annual Church Service

The basic principles of Masonry and how members of this ancient and honored society are sworn to Christian living and love of fellowman, were outlined to a packed audience at Holloway Street United Church, Sunday afternoon.

The occasion was the annual church service for Masonic members of Prince Edward District. Over 400 members from 13 lodges and a large number of other worshippers heard Grand Chaplain Rt. Wor. Bro. Rev. Harold Neal, D.D., of Lindsay, deliver an inspiring sermon on the principles of Masonry.

"Masonry is an ancient and honorable institution of free men unionized in its conception of light," the Grand Chaplain said. "It is an organization of free and devout men built on the foundation of righteous and noble living in God."

Headed by parade marshal, Rt. Wor. Bro. W. Jerald Anderson, the over-all Masons attending the service convened on the Queen Mary public school grounds and marched to the church.

ALL 'LODGES REPRESENTED

All lodges throughout Prince Edward and surrounding counties were represented in the parade with members marching order of their lodges. Rt. Wor. Bro. Lorne Wegg Master Masons and junior Wardens of the lodges and Past Masters and Grand Lodge officers.

Senior officers sat in the front pews of the church.

District chaplain, Wor. Bro. Canon J. Bothwell Jones, who conducted the service, assisted by Bro. Rev. Sidney Hall, pastor of the host church, Holloway St. Church, who welcomed district Masons to worship there. "It is a special honor here in the worship of Almighty God," he said.

A former minister of Holloway Street United Church, Mr. Hall said he was happy to renew associations in Belleville which he had left years ago.

"It is an honor and a delight to be here, and to have associations renewed in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville Brownlie, and with Mr. Larman, present pastor, minister of the church," he said.

Outlining the principles of Masonry, Mr. Neal stated it was significant that there were in Masonry the skilled craftsmen, like the builders who in Biblical times built the Masonic temples. "Others might have been choristers, but only skilled craftsmen were chosen to build the temples of God," he continued. "How fitting that the art of building was made the basis of the order of Masonry which has now spread throughout the world."

MUST BELIEVE IN GOD

Faith in God and belief in the Supreme Being was the first requirement of Masonry. No man can cross the threshold of Masonry unless he believes in God.

"We cannot define faith, but we can describe its power," the speaker said. "We must have faith in friendship, in family, and in God. Masonry teaches a living, vital faith in God. We must believe in God and humbly serve Him."

Faith in the Bible was another requirement of a Mason. Only from the sacred law of the Holy Scriptures can be obtained the truth. It was from the Bible that members learned tolerance, love, equity, friendship and brotherly love.

The third requirement of a Mason was a belief in the immortality of the soul. "He who loses his life for the sake of truth shall find it anew."

The fourth principle of Masonry was friendship and brotherly love. Members of the fraternity strove to do away with racial barriers and man's injustice to man.

"Suspicion, jealousies and intolerance have no part in the life of a Mason," Mr. Neal said. "Injustices cannot live in the light and spirit of Masonic friendship and brotherly love."

Masonry was the realization of God through brotherly love. We must establish a world brotherhood if we are to have any part

AFRICA—TROUBLE SPOT OF THE FUTURE

There was a day when the Balkans were the powder-keg of Europe—and as such were watched with anxious eyes by statesmen in the capitals of all the world's great nations.

Today it is Asia that is the cynosure of all eyes and the watched powder-keg has been transformed into the awesome shape of the H-bomb.

Tomorrow Africa may erupt as the boil on the world's body politic. That the germs of strife are already actively spreading their poisons through the vast and backward continent we all know. The dispute between Britain and Egypt over the Sues Canal, the resentment among Arab nationalists over French rule in Morocco, the hieroglyphic activities of the Mau Mau in Kenya, the unrest amongst the native population in South Africa as the result of Malan's apartheid policy—all these have made their appearance on the front pages of the daily press of the world's newspapers.

If they have failed to stir the same deep alarm as that reserved for events in Asia, it is only because the African peoples lack the political and military power to touch off a conflagration.

Time may change that, for the Communism which has swept China into the Red fold will almost certainly spread throughout much of Africa unless remedial action is taken. Repression will prove no cure. Deep and valid grievances exist. Their elimination will be difficult—but it is a task which ought to be undertaken and attempted soon. Later may be too late.

As an example of some of the problems consider these three reports, appearing in the same issue of the New York Times:

1—A charge by Syria and Brazil that South Africa has failed to promote the political advancement of the native peoples in South-West Africa, a territory which South Africa administers under a League of Nations mandate.

2—A report from Beira, Portuguese Mozambique, that in the territory where Livingstone started his anti-slavery campaign in the past century, forced labor still exists. The Negro is compelled by law to work for an employer for six months a year, unless he can obtain a certificate showing that he has put in the necessary quota of work on his land. Theoretically, this is supposed to be "an essential element in the civilizing process" designed to discourage the natives from utilizing the products their wives till the tribal lands. But the suspicion exists that in practice it is little more than a modified form of the old "hut tax" levy.

3—A report from Zanzibar, a British protectorate off the east coast of Africa, stating that "the tyranny of the bazaar, a group of merchant profiteers and money lenders bears heavily on the population." The tradition of profiteering and usury, it is declared, is deeply rooted and plagues all of East Africa. British settlers contend that the blame now must be shared with Hindus from India, is slowly taking over Britain's East African colonies and protectorates, making the British administration a mere policeman keeping order while the Oriental bazaar controls the whole economic life of the area.

ENGLISH JUSTICE

Statistics fascinate some people—and we plead guilty. But even those who are allergic to figures might be pardoned for getting out their pencils and doing a little juggling when they see the following bit of news.

It seems that Alonzo Counsell, 38, of Newport was knocked down by a motorcyclist and lost his senses of smell and taste. He complained he had been forced to resign from his club, because it is a waste of money to buy beer you cannot taste. The court awarded him 1,500 pounds, or roughly $4,000.

Now the plaintiff's moan is three score and ten. That means that Mr. Counsell may be considered to have 32 beer-drinking years left to him. The Englishman traditionally likes his beer "not cold and tasty" but the taste may be. What with Sundays and holidays, we do not suppose that Mr. Counsell's club meets more than 300 times a year. He would therefore, but for his unfortunate accident, have consumed 9,600 pints of beer and consumed 9,600 pints—let us make it 10,000 pints, allowing for a few celebrations. For the loss of these 10,000 pints he has been awarded $4,000, or 40 cents a pint.

But hold! This is getting a little involved. Mr. Counsell is in 1,500 pounds—and the amount of money which he would otherwise have had to pay for the 10,000 pints. He is out the pleasure of 10,000 tastes. So His Honor evidently figures that a pint of beer is worth the price demanded plus 40 cents. Hmm . . .

HOTTER THAN IT OUGHT TO BE

How hot is the inside of an atomic bomb?

The approximate answer is 40,000,000 degrees. Whether that is fahrenheit or centigrade we do not know. There is, of course, a considerable difference—but for the purpose of this comment the difference is immaterial.

The point that we want to make is that the Scientific American, in an article on a different subject, casually mentions the temperatures of the inside of an atomic bomb and of the surface of the sun.

Of course, you will exclaim, the sun is much hotter than the bomb.

Wrong! The temperature for the surface of the sun is given as 6,000 degrees. The bomb is just 6,666 times hotter.

Much hotter than it ought to be.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JUNE 14, 1934.

WRITTEN by ANDREW DAVIE in his Column "SIDELIGHTS".

A POET HAS TOLD US that life is real, life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal; dust thou art, to dust returneth, was not spoken of the soul. Also something to the effect that like the flash of the lightning, the break of the wave, he goeth from life to his home in the grave. Poet's reference covers a multitude of mistastes, for here we have the soul rising superior to the grave where only the body and earthly garments are deposited — and another statement that he goeth from life to his home in the grave.

Surely not!

* * *

Another poet sang of Home Sweet Home, but there is nothing sweet about it. Home is a jail.

And, speaking of us! a few splendid characters of our acquaintance who have taken the one-way journey over the hill recently it is impossible to harbor the thought that they have passed from life to a home in the grave. It couldn't be — such brave, fine, kindly spirits, fashioned by the Great Designer, bright and shining with virtue, and embellished by a few unimportant human defects just for contrast, to give more brilliance to the virtues, perhaps—those fine, bright spirits are now with the Immortals, surely, enjoying that rest and satisfaction prepared from the beginning of the world for those who come through the testing fires of this exasperating old world, like the fine gold which remains in the placer miner's pan after the dross has washed away — the grace IS NOT its goal.

(NOTE 1954—Andrew Davie, known as Andy to many friends, died suddenly at his desk on the morning of Oct. 21, 1938—close to five years after he had written the above "sad and happy" "SIDELIGHTS" appeared daily on the editorial page of the Ontario Intelligencer and widely read.

Letter to the Editor

Modest Adjustment Could Get Big Results

Editor,
The Ontario Intelligencer.

This reader got some of that famed 'food for thought' from that article in your June 7 news columns from London and Ottawa. Much more from the United Kingdom, Britain's trade deficit with Canada would be wiped out in a few months, if it better able to buy Canadian products. Certainly I heartily agree with the above speaker's conclusion: "I am sure no thinking American would suggest that so modest an adjustment would cause any serious harm to the over-all United States export export market. By Forbes Rhode, Canadian Press Business Editor.

I will say this: I find it decidedly encouraging to learn that "top brass" in Canadian industrial scene are coming to think in the above terms. On the other hand, unfortunately, I cannot say the latter said than done? An example, which I have mentioned before, it comes to this reader's mind in which experts, in touch with the Dafoe Government, said in a brief if the Canadian people would just cut down to their needs and avoid extra, in their daily rations, the so-called 'surplus' would disappear. Take all the products of this same thought sequence, and which would be the result? Just what when I ran across it: One of the political columnists, dealing with the fact the Communists have made huge and poverty, suggested that might be a smart move to be considered to be adequately strong in offensive defensive weapons, it begin by diverting say 5 per cent of the $12 billions our fellow-mates on 'Defence' commitments into such organizations as UNESCO and the Colombo special agencies at the UN level, enabling the free nations to help the have-not's to overcome the ravages of food and fibres, the ideological battle. At this point, it occurs to me to use the attractive words credited to the late Senator Borah: "I think I am sure no thinking American" for Canadian to suggest that so modest an adjustment would cause any serious harm . . . " to the military strength of the apples of the free nations? That, too, Mr. Editor, is easier to say than do.

"ENGINEER."

Star Exploded Long, Long Ago

(New York Times).

About seven billion years ago a catastrophe occurred in the constellation Virgo, which lies beyond the Milky Way. A star exploded. We are only now hearing about the event because the distance kept before man appeared. That explosion could be equaled only by detonating many billions of hydrogen bombs. Hydrogen is the most plentiful element in the universe, and there is little doubt that the transmutation played some part in the catastrophe that is being observed at this late day. So the comparison with the hydrogen bomb is perhaps substance than may be supposed.

Why a star should blow up and become a nova is a mystery, and in time, only to fade again, is not yet clear. There is a theory propounded by Drs. W. Baade and F. Zwicky have suggested that a nova flares up when a star in a certain state of equilibrium collapses, with the result that the star's outer layers blows off the outer layer. Others believe that a supernova occurs when two stars collide. Whatever the cause, Sir James Jeans, such a collision would be a most unlikely way about one in a million years, which is not long in astronomy. Since the stars are not solid structures, ordinary novae and supernovae must be blown up inside out, and since the solar system was created it is possible that our sun may be all that is left of what was not an exploding nova — or that it is destined to become one.

It may be, too, that those outer layers of gases are thrust off in a stellar explosion—layers of which appear as shells of gas — may consume long before that time. What happened in Virgo twenty million years ago may well have been the destruction of a solar system like ours — a system composed of worlds inhabited by rational beings similar to ourselves. We have a right to speculate on the possibility that the explosion of a nova or a supernova flares up a planetary system may have come to an end and that the long process of creating a new one is about to begin. Astronomers form no such romantic speculations, yet they cannot refrain from indulging in them and even treating them mathematically. If we never speculated what is there to come out of a discovery, science would not be worth pursuing.

Loaded Syllogism

(Hamilton Spectator)

The more we mull over the most recent outburst by Mr. John Blackmore, the member of Parliament for Lethbridge, the more perturbed we become.

Mr. Blackmore contended that the C.I.S. program about terminus was Communist propaganda because it mentioned evolution. As we see it, we can follow the Blackmore brand of logic runs: "Communism believes in evolution; therefore anybody who believes in evolution is a Communist."

Disregarding the question whether Communists do in fact believe in evolution (a question which involves rehashing the whole Lysenko affair), let us consider for a moment one clear implication of this pattern of logic.

Moscow is a capital city with trolley-buses, so is Ottawa; therefore Ottawa is Moscow. Patagonians wear trousers; so do Canadians in Lethbridge; therefore people in Lethbridge are Patagonians. Both have dark hair; so has Mr. Blackmore; therefore Mr. Blackmore is a Patagonian. In other words, by his own logic, Mr. Blackmore is a Hottentot regardless of whether he is riding in Moscow or something else most familiar to Lethbridge. Proof of such mischievous physic, especially the first dose ever came off inflicted on the newborn infant, is derangement of the internal automatic automatic mechanism. INVOLUNTARY MALNUTRITION.

Grandma J. F. says her grandson, 2½ years old, weighs 23½ pounds.

Dr. Brady

The lady does not say what the poor little tot gets to eat. If anything.

Nor does she say how many teeth the baby has cut. A baby nearly 30 months old should have cut all twenty temporary teeth, about in this order.

(1) Two lower central incisors at 6 to 9 months
(2) Four upper incisors at 8 to 12 months
(3) Two more lower incisors and four front molars at 12 to 15 months
(4) Four canine ("eye") teeth at 18 to 24 months
(5) Four back molars at 14 to 25 months.

Some healthy babies vary a month or two early or late in cutting the teeth, temporary, but not permanent.

On p. 25 of the baby book the last a-tter-sheets of earlier cell and other laxatives, physics, cathartic or "aids" are described. Perhaps the most familiar kind is the habit of such mischievous physic, especially the first dose ever came off inflicted on the newborn infant, is derangement of the internal automatic automatic mechanism. That, if not interfered with, regulates the bowels in just as it does the heart beat and the breathing.

Grandma J. F. gives no information concerning the malnourished child's diet, but she says: "He has been given laxatives of some kind ever since he came into the world."

The time has come (I hope it isn't too late) to rescue the unhappy child from the laxative habit and to teach those parents what every young American should be taught in school, namely, the care and feeding of infants.

Aside from the bad after-effects of life physic these parents feed their baby, sweet, as cereal, as the inhibiting influence of magnesia upon assimilation of calcium, it is very likely that the pap or pabulum such parents deem "digestible" is inadequate nutritionally to maintain normal growth.

A normal baby a year to 1½ to 2 years old should have plain whole milk, eggs, home cooked oatmeal gruel, cracklings, heart or meat, buttered, mashed potato, ripe banana, raw fresh fruit juice or stewed fruit, and if it starves for cereal, gravy, macaroni and cheese, plain wheat crackled and cooked as breakfast cereal, and the less sugar, candy, cake and sweetened cheat-food the better. If these parents make difference whether it is sweetened with cane sugar, brown sugar, milk sugar, glucose, dextrose, corn sugar, maltose or some trick-sugar.

Let it be stated, or perhaps I should say food, soy and every kind of starch should be cooked until the maximum good digestion, the physical water movements of the alimentary tract. So a diet that is not retarded by starchy digestible pap keeps the baby happy. A diet filmed, declared, fried, fortified, enized, sterilized, fortified, modified, certified and algebraically computed, at $25 per month, by a trick specialist, would hamper the growth and development of the sturdiest baby.

June is Not Merry Month

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Two matrons of the city chanced to meet on a downtown street. They celebrated their meeting by stepping into a restaurant for an afternoon cup of tea. It was then that a gentleman at the next table heard the following comment from one of the two:

"They call it the 'Merry month of June,' but I don't see it. It seems that almost every one of my friends has a birthday in the month, and each is having a party. So I have to go shopping all the time. Up to now we have five wedding invitations to buy gifts for, and I'm not sure what that means. And Tom—why he made me so mad. He has invited the whole office staff to a shindig at the camp on the 19th. I'm not sure that place really will take me three days at least. They can have June. I'll take February, preferably in Florida."

Could Not Lie To Monarch

(St. Thomas Times-Journal).

The best sea serpent story we ever came across concerned the boarder and crew of a Scottish trawler.

One morning the trawler came into port with a huge amount of a foremast, and all the rigging torn away. The explanation given was this: About 100 miles off shore a sea serpent 30 feet long, suddenly reared itself out of the water, alongside the trawler. Up to rear ship, and to the horror of the crew it slid down the mast, destroying in the most horrifying manner. As the crew dived below, the beast twisted its head around the foot of mast and snapped it off with ease, destroying the rigging with it. Then it disappeared.

The story created a great sensation, coming from the lips of Sir Edward VI, who requested that the skipper appear at Buckingham Palace and give him a firsthand account of the unprecedented adventure. That was something the man had not counted upon, and there was nothing for him to do but tell the truth. The truth was that he and the entire crew had embarked upon a heavy binge, and he decided to run for the nearest port.

He was acquainted with the harbor, and as he sailed in the mast struck a low bridge and was torn away. He was afraid to tell the truth for his home port. He invented the sea serpent story to explain his expensive destruction.

Fast-Moving Money

(St. Catharines Standard)

The dollar may not go as far as in prewar days, but its acceleration is terrific.

Harder Than It Seems

(Brantford Expositor).

A British writer on scientific subjects, telling how to get more sleep, says, it's easy; all we have to do is shed our worries before we shed our clothes. Of course, that's the hardest part. But you tell us, old chap, just how does one shed one's worries?

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A SATISFYING GOAL

There is a man in one of the large eastern cities who gives an interesting lecture on how to open a can of beans. He is employed in employment in opening safes for explosives and blowing safes. Many estates of men who have died and left no record of their safe combination.

But this man says that in order to know how to open a safe he must be quite sure as to the type of lock which is behind the combination. Each of this man's successors arises from the fact that, as a result of lifelong study, he can practically always tell by taking one look at a safe what is the nature of the lock behind the combination dial. His achievement is half accomplished because of his knowledge.

I could not help but think as I listened to his lecture how necessary it is that we know what is behind certain projects to which we address ourselves, particularly how necessary it is that we know what is behind this thing we call living. It is nothing unfinished. If it just happened, if it will all happen some way or other, if each of the material elements out of which it appears to come, then that is nothing to live for, things, and a hopeless way. But if behind the wrenching of things material is a God whom the Bible describes as purposeful, just, loving, and responsive then there is purpose in what we do and are. Then we have a satisfying goal toward which to press.

Bay of Quinte Power Squadron Is Formally Presented With Charter

The Bay of Quinte Power Squadron emerged into a full-fledged member of the Canadian Power Squadron here Friday night when the newest "baby" of the yachting organization was formally presented with its charter.

The presentation was made at a dinner given in the Queen's Hotel which attracted upwards of seventy members and their guests.

The charter was presented to Lieut. Commander Ian Morch by Chief Commander C. Lent of the Toronto Power Squadron.

Certificates and flags were presented to the charter members by Rear Commander Tom Fendley, also of the Toronto squadron.

The banquet and presentations were held under the chairmanship of Commander Morch. Visiting dignitaries included besides the officials mentioned, Rear Commanders William E. Thomson, Toronto; A. R. Pratt, Hamilton; Dean Churchill, Toronto, and Commander A. Crombie McNeil, Toronto.

The charter membership of the Bay of Quinte squadron consists of sixteen men and three ladies. These include: Bill Bell, Bob Boyce, Freeman Burrows, G. H. Craig, Milt Davison, F. H. Dunnett, James W. Jenkins, Rolf A. Knudsen, Frank Leach, Jack A. Marshall, Ian Morch, G. W. (Phil) Morrell, Doug Pearsall, Rogers Reidel, J. Lennox Smith, John G. Tatham, Leatha L. Knudsen, Patricia McDougall and Catharine T. Smith.

RECORD MARKS

And incidentally the Bay of Quinte squadron charter members set a record for Canadian power squadrons in their course examinations. They achieved an average of 89 per cent, the highest made thus far in Canadian squadrons.

The lady members of the squadron received certificates, while the men received flags which they will fly at the mastheads of their yachts. The ladies will not fly the burgees.

The piloting course which started in October, 1953, and concluded in March of this year under instructors Ian Morch and Freeman Burrows, included such subjects as Rules of the Road; Safety at Sea; Compass, Charts; Weather and Marlinspike Seamanship.

The power squadron flags which will flutter from sixteen Bay of Quinte craft from now on has five vertical blue stripes and four vertical white stripes with a red maple leaf in the centre. The nine stripes represent the nine provinces of Canada. The flag apparently was designed before Newfoundland was made a Canadian province.

The Canadian Power Squadron, registered with and recognized by the Government of Canada, was designed primarily to promote safer and better boating. It is affiliated with the United States Power Squadron which will serve to bring more United States craft to Canadian waters, especially the Bay of Quinte and thus promote more interest and nautical camaraderie between United States and Canadian yachtsmen.

As a direct result of power squadron activities here, four new cruisers have been added to the Bay of Quinte flotilla with a strong possibility of three more "joining" this season.

The local squadron will concentrate its efforts on the instruction of younger members and new members with Dr. Jack Marshall named lieutenant of education.

The squadron has tentatively planned a cruise and manoeuvres for late July or August, while the Toronto Power Squadron will cruise the Bay of Quinte in July with a rendezvous at Gananoque.

It is expected that power squadron craft from Alexandria Bay, Rome and other American points, as well as Toronto, Hamilton and Canadian ports will visit the new squadron at various times this summer.

During the presentation ceremonies on Friday night charter members took the pledge of the Canadian Power Squadron.

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The Swedish National Gallery has been reopened after a thorough restoration with important new donations added. The hall containing 17th century Flemish art, including seven Rembrandt masterpieces, has been given a particularly fine appearance.

Quinte Golfers Shade Picton; Retain Trophy

Mike Aquafredda and Ernie Pugh of the Bay of Quinte Country Club held off the Picton Golf Club challenge for the Branscombe Trophy on the Picton links on Sunday, edging Walter Fraser and Pearce Jones one up in a close links battle. The Quinte Club has held the bauble for the past two seasons.

Under the new regulations the cup-holders must play representatives of the Picton Golf Club, home of the donor the late Bill Branscombe in the first challenge match of the season. After that golfers of any district club may challenge the winners at any time.

Fraser and Jones put up a spirited battle before acknowledging defeat. The match was all square at nine holes and the Picton duo were one up with four to go. Aquafredda squared the match at the 16th hole and his birdie gave the Quinte team the lead in the 17th. The 18th was halved and the trophy came back to Belleville, figuratively speaking.

Mrs. Gerald Allison, congratulated the winners, saying she hoped the trophy would prove an incentive for younger players.

On the heels of the victory came a challenge from the Port Hope Golf and Country Club and the match will be played on the Quinte links Wednesday starting at 1.30 p.m. Babe Bulger and Brian Sherry, Port Hope aces, will represent their club while T. A. Carruthers and Murray McIntosh will do battle for the defending Bay of Quinte.

Weddings

McBRIEN—WESTON

A lovely morning wedding was solemnized Saturday, June 5, at 11:00 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Weston, Charles Street, when their daughter, Charlotte Caroline, became the bride of Leroy George McBrien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. McBrien, of Bellevue. Rev. L. K. Daniel officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The wedding music was rendered by Miss Eleanor Austin of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed in front of the fireplace, which was banked with spires and white lilacs. Basket of peonies and iris were attractively arranged in the living rooms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a ballerina-length gown of white brocaded satin. The fitted bodice was trimmed with minute buttons, and had a Peter Pan collar. She wore matching gloves, white shoes and a shoulder-length veil, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley with white heather ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Helen Weston, sister of the bride, chose a powder blue gown, with white picture hat and matching gloves and shoes. She carried a nosegay centred with Talisman roses, white sweetpeas, forget-me-nots and lily-of-the-valley.

The best man was Mr. Ralph Cornish, of Toronto.

The bride's mother received the guests in a navy sheer gown, with a corsage of pink sweetpeas and lily-of-the-valley. To assist Mrs. Weston, Mrs. McBrien chose a gown of midnight blue nylon organdy with white accessories.

22 Red Cross Home Nursing Girls Receive Diplomas

On Friday evening, at Picton Heights R.C.A.F. Station, 23 girls of the Red Cross Home Nursing class received their diplomas and pins. The diplomas were presented by Captain, Darvelson, R.C.A.F. medical officer, and the pins by Mrs. A. R. Ketcheson, vice-president of the local Red Cross, assisted by Mrs. Larry Henning, convener of the local Home Nursing Unit.

Following the presentation of diplomas and pins, they were entertained by the Acting C.O. Major Hillier.

Nursing Sister Hogan was responsible for the training of the Red Cross class.

Dr. Edward J. and Mrs. Boyce are pictured following their marriage in the Blessed Sacrament Church, Toronto. and corsage of multi-colored sweetpeas.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, surrounded by white tulle, and flanked with small white flowers. Included in the guests were two grandmothers and a great grandmother of the bridegroom.

For travelling, the bride chose a navy nylon with white accessories.

Following a honeymoon at Aylen Lake, the newly married couple will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests present for the wedding luncheon were, Miss Daphne Wylie, Toronto; Miss Diane Gibson, Miss Dona Wambolst, Mrs. H. R. Gibson and Mrs. A. G. Dean.

HOYLE—WYLIE

Lovely candlesticks of spring flowers and lighted candles formed the setting on Saturday, June 5th, at 10.00 a.m., in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Toronto, when Miss Daphne Carmel Wylie, of Toronto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James William Wylie, was united in marriage to Dr. Edward James Boyle, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vincent Boyle. The Right Reverend Hugh J. Callaghan officiated.

Mrs. Bartley Dean, organist, rendered the wedding music. The soloist was Mr. Frank Kelly.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her bridal gown of white limelight, fashioned with Queen Anne collar of lace, the full skirt, caught in bustle effect, ended in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil was held by a matching lace crown, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink lilacs and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Harold J. Murphy, of Toronto, as matron of honor, Misses Kathleen MacDonald, of Montreal, Dorothy Gilchrist, of Toronto, and Elaine Fitzpatrick, also of Toronto, were gowned alike in tulip pink taffeta, with white matching headdresses, and carried floral bouquets of pastel-tinted spring flowers.

Mr. Douglas Boyle, of Belleville, was groomsman, with Dr. Earl Wynands, of Montreal; Mr. Harold Murphy, Mr. Patrick Duffy, and Mr. Kenneth McIntyre, all of Toronto, acted as ushers.

The reception was held in the Tudor Room, Royal York Hotel, where the bride's mother, attired in delphinium blue sheer, small blue flowered hat, white gloves and pink rosebuds corsage, received the many guests. The bridegroom's mother, gowned in grey faille with nylon lace yoke, shell pink hat, white gloves, with pale-pink rosebuds and sweetpea corsage, assisted.

For the wedding trip to Quebec, the bride chose a blue-grey dressmaker suit with white accessories, and white carnation corsage. Dr. and Mrs. Boyle will reside in Toronto.

Guests were present from Ashigonish, Montreal, Ottawa, and Kouyn and Belleville.

SULLY—WILKIE

On Saturday, June 12th, at 2 o'clock, a lovely wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, by the Reverend J. G. Hornsby, pastor of the church, when Patricia Anne Wilkie, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wilkie, became the bride of John Kaye Sully, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sully.

Tall standards of white and pink gladioli, pink peonies, white lupins, blue delphiniums and ferns adorned the chancel rail and altar.

Mr. Egerton Boyce, church organist, played the traditional wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss Edna O'Neill, who sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her gown of waltz-length, cloud-white tulle and shadow lace. Shirred tulle and panels of lace fashioned the fitted, strapless bodice, and from the nipped-in waistline billowed the full skirt of tulle over taffeta, having panels of scalloped lace. A long-sleeved tulle and lace redingote with self buttons and V-shaped neckline offset by a wide collar band, and skirt of tulle with scalloped lace panels, lent a delightful accent. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was attached to a coronet-cap of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Miss Larry King, of Toronto, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Miss Norma Sully, of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, as bridesmaid, were attired in identically fashioned gowns; the former in pale green tulle over taffeta with full skirt in petal effect, and fitted bodice with matching lace bolero, and the latter in mauve. Both wore matching mitts and matching bandeau headdresses of forget-me-nots and carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Little Linda Wiggins, of Toronto, was flower girl, sweet in her short yellow nylon frock over taffeta with matching bandeau of pink roses. She carried a nosegay of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Comras Schibler, of Listowel, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, and Mr. Donald Humes, Mr. Larry King, brother-in-law of the bride, both of Toronto, and Mr. James Robertson, of Belleville, were ushers.

At the reception held in the church parlors, the bride's mother received, wearing a navy sheer-lace dress with white accessories, and corsage of pink Sweetheart rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother assisted, attired in navy blue sheer with white accessories and corsage of red rosebuds.

For travelling to Cleveland, Ohio, the bride chose a two-piece grey fitted dress with green shoes and purse, white hat and gloves and corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Sully will reside in Toronto upon their return.

Guests were present from Toronto, Montreal, Ingersoll, Listowel, Oshawa, Peterborough, Port Stanley, Norwich and Mimico.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton, Wellington, wed 50 Years

PICTON. — Mr. and Mrs. William H. Morton of Wellington, were honored on the occasion of their Golden Wedding anniversary, June 8, 1954. During the afternoon, they were at home to relatives and friends at their residence on Consecon Street in the lakeside village. Baskets of summer flowers were used in decoration. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and centred with a bowl of lily-of-the-valley flanked with gold tapers. Mrs. Morton welcomed her guests wearing a dress of light blue mesh with corsage of golden colored rosebuds.

In the afternoon those assisting in serving were Mrs. Lela Weeks, Mrs. Merritt Huyck of Consecon, Mrs. Fred Morton, Mrs. Norman Webster, Mrs. Duncan McKenzie, Mrs. Fred Russell, Mrs. W. G. Adams. Those who poured at the silver tea service were Mrs. W. H. Teskey, Wellington, and Mrs. James Morton, and Mrs. Morton was Ethel Crippen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crippen. Attendants at the wedding were Gertrude McKee of Wellington, cousin of the bride, and Ernest Crippen the bride's twin brother. Mr. Morton was a successful farmer in Hillier township before retiring to live in Wellington. They both recall that they spent their honeymoon in Brockville, going by train from Hillier and returning to the steamer Alexandria to Toronto.

Mr. Morton is a Past Master of Lakeside Lodge, No. 467, A.F. and A.M., Ameliasburg. Mrs. Morton is a Past Matron of Quinte Chapter No. 50. Both have given freely of their time to church and community events, and in all ways proved themselves good neighbors and friends.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

"SHOULD AUD ACQUAINTANCE BE FORGOT"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Over two years ago I was going with a young man for quite some time. We had a misunderstanding, and our friendship terminated. We both have married, and live in cities. He lives out of town. This year his father passed on, and while he was here for the funeral, he broke the silence of twenty years and telephoned me. We had a delightful visit. He asked me to contact him if we ever made a trip to the East. It so happens that my husband and I are planning a business trip East quite soon. Would it be proper to telephone him or not? — Mi.

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot"... it needn't be, if on the basis of the past friendship between you two you can establish a good, mature friendship between your two families. However, first this plan and procedure must have your husband's complete knowledge and approval! I advise you should not telephone your friend. . . instead write a cordial little note to him and his wife (home address, please), inviting them to lunch or dine with you and your husband at your hotel or restaurant. His or their response (or non-response) to this invitation will give you the idea as to whether or not the friendship-renewal-plan has his wife's complete approval!

HOME-OWNERS USUALLY GIVE THE HOUSEWARMING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have just bought a new home, and we would like to have a Housewarming. Is it good form for us to give the Housewarming party ourselves? If so, do we send out invitations, or make a news-item announcement, about the House-warming be given for us by another member of the family circle or by some intimate friend? — Constant Reader

It is customary, and I think the best taste, for the hostess and host of the new home to give the House-warming. Naturally, I think, they should be the ones to send the invitations that welcome their relatives and friends to "our new home." This shows a charming spirit of hospitality, warm friendliness. And this procedure is more practical, too, for the owners of the new home know best when they will be prepared to open their doors to their guests when everything (including all closets!) will be in the spic-and-span order that will bear the close inspection that is taken for granted at a Housewarming!

You and your husband should send invitations. Housewarming invitations are delightful items. You might do what so many people do today, pleasantly and most practically. . . write the invitations on informals, names engraved or written in the center of the first page, with the new address engraved or written in the lower right corner. Invitations written on the inside page or pages . . . perhaps with your new telephone number.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

ROUNDED SHOULDERS

If you want to make a slinky little teen-ager as mad as a hornet slap her on the shoulders and tell her to stand straight. What once was called the "debutante slouch" still prevails, despite the teachings of instructors of physical education. The kids seem to think it "arty" to assume a slouchy posture; they don't seem to realize that if they are to appear beautifully dressed they must carry their clothes with grace.

Throwing the shoulders forward puts the body out of balance, distorts the fine lines of the silhouette. The chest sinks in, the neat nip in at the back of the waist disappears. This attitude also compresses the lungs and makes for shallow breathing which, in turn, slows up circulation, causes the complexion to lose coloring—Break one beauty law and you often bring on a whole flock of penalties. And why take on the outline of a question mark? It is not pretty.

It is especially necessary that carriage should be correct during exercises. Here is an easy one:

Stand erect, hands at the sides; lift them slowly with a strong muscle pull on the chest while you come up on the toes, stretching the entire body. Throw the hands far out at the sides and back, bringing them down to first position. This will promote ease at the shoulders and flexibility of the muscles.

Second exercise: hands on hips, legs rigid, feet six inches apart. Pull in tummy muscles. See how far back you can bend. Pull the shoulder blades together and then relax them. Repeat several times.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HIS GIRL HEARD A RUMOR ABOUT HIM—HE DENIES IT

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For two years I have been going steady with a girl who is 18. I am 19.

All of a sudden my girl tells me that she has heard a rumor that I have been going out with another girl, and she won't believe me when I tell her I haven't. In fact she has gone so far as to tell me that if I can go with other girls, she can go with other boys, and she's doing it.

I am really very fond of this girl and feel very bad about breaking up with her, so I wish you would give me some advice on what I should do. —Pal J.

It's always a little mysterious to me how rumors like the one you mention can get around if they are completely without foundation. Of course I do realize that sometimes a very big story can grow out of a very little one, such as that if a boy simply stops to speak to a girl on the street, someone who sees him will decide there's a romance between them and start a rumor.

If this is all that has happened to you, it seems rather odd that a girl who has been going out for two years is so quick to jump to conclusions, and to disbelieve you. If she's the type of girl, you're not losing much if she throws you over, and if you're the type of boy who has done things that make a girl feel she doesn't trust his word, then you're getting only what's coming to you.

Either way, I suggest you stop trying to convince this girl that the rumor is false. If it really is, and you have already made several efforts to convince her, then you've done all you can. Now sit back and wait to see what she says about going out with others, and let her see that you can have fun without her.

A GIRL WHO DOESN'T HAVE ENOUGH BOY FRIENDS

Dear Miss Fairfax: .

Two summers ago while I was visiting my girl friend, I met a very nice boy and fell in love with him at once. But since we live some distance apart, I have only seen him once again, and that was last summer.

I am sure that he likes me, too, but he is rather bashful. None of the boys around here interest me, because I am always thinking of him. Do you think I should keep waiting for him? I will probably see him this summer. — A.S.

Dear A.S.:

Do you really mean that for two years you have never been interested in any other boy than the one you have seen only twice in all that time? You don't even say that there has been any correspondence between you to further your acquaintance. Don't you think this is pretty silly? I do.

And just what, do you mean when you say a girl should "keep waiting for him"? What would you be waiting for?

If you expect to see this boy again this summer, why not just take him as you find him and not try to make such a big thing out of it? The only sensible way to act with boys is to be good friends with them and not be in too much of a hurry to manufacture a romance out of a casual friendship. If you really haven't ever been interested in any other boy for two years, but keep your thoughts concentrated on this particular one, then I suspect you much be one of those teen-agers who find it a little hard to find boy friends. I don't think you would be making too much of this one boy if there were a lot of boys around with whom you could have dates.

If my guess is correct, them perhaps you would like me to send you my suggestions on how to be popular. If you would, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and so that I can forward them to you.

Lunch Box Ideas For The Workers of The World

By Mary Moore

The nourishment of our workers has to be given serious thought always, and when one of you writes to me expressing appreciation of a few suggestions for lunch boxes and hoping for more, I'm your gal.

BASIC HEALTH RULES

If you keep in mind a few general rules when packing lunches the battle is half won. For good nutrition these foods are needed every day:

Milk: Adults—1-2 pint. Children—more than 1 pint plus some cheese.

Fruits—At least one serving of tomatoes or of a citrus fruit (orange, grapefruit, lemon, lime, tangerine), or of tomato or citrus fruit juices plus one serving of other fruits available—preferably fresh and raw, but frozen, canned or dried if fresh are not available.

Vegetables—One serving of potatoes (preferably baked or cooked in jackets) plus two servings of other vegetables, preferably leafy green or yellow, and frequently raw.

Cereals and Bread—One serving whole-grain cereal plus 4 slices bread preferably whole wheat.

Meat, Fish, Eggs—One serving a day, or meat, etc. or meat substitutes such as cheese, extra eggs, nuts, Liver, heart or kidney once a week, plus 3 or 4 eggs weekly.

After all of these foods are included daily, and you are still hungry, then eat your favorite eatss.

GOOD ITEMS FOR LUNCH BOXES

Cold meat or chicken, meat or fish loaf, meat pies, hard-cooked eggs, wedges of cheese, baked beans.

Fillings for Sandwiches— Cold sliced or ground meat; canned fish with chopped pickle; hard-cooked egg with onion or chives or chopped pickle; peanut butter with bacon; soft cheese with chopped nuts.

Lettuce, radishes, celery, green pepper, cucumber, raw carrot, tomatoes or other salad vegetables in season.

Fresh or dried fruits, cookies, cupcakes, custards, applesauce.

For vacuum bottle—soup, milk, cocoa, fruit juice, tea or coffee.

LUNCH BOX MENUS

(1) Two 2-slice whole wheat sandwiches of corned beef with mustard and lettuce; 1 clean carrot, 4 radishes; 2 bananas, 2 oatmeal-date cookies, coffee in thermos.

(2) One 2-slice dark rye sandwich with Swiss cheese, lettuce, sliced dill; one 2-slice whole wheat sandwich of sliced beef with mustard and lettuce; half green pepper; 1 tomato; One orange, frosted chocolate cup cake, tea in thermos.

(3) Vegetable Soup in thermos; Two 2-slice enriched bread sandwiches of peanut butter and bacon; 1 hard-cooked egg; celery hearts; piece of rhubarb or apple pie in special lunch box container, milk.

(4) Salmon salad sandwich on whole wheat; potato salad in covered container; 1-4 cucumber, sweet pickel, 1 banana, grapes, hermits, cocoa in thermos.

(5) Clam Chowder in thermos; chopped hard-cooked egg sandwiches on whole wheat with lettuce; celery and carrot sticks; washed but unhulled whole strawberries in covered jar; angel cake, milk.

(6) Two 2-slice whole wheat sandwiches of nippy cream cheese with almonds or walnuts or pecans; wedge of head lettuce; baked custard in covered container; raisins; applesauce cake; coffee.

Decade in Office Has Cooled Antagonism to CCF Govt.

By WILF CRESLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—A decade in office has cooled antagonism toward Saskatchewan's CCF government and the brand of socialism it has implemented.

Once a target from all sides, the provincial administration in a period of relative political calm observes its 10th anniversary as North America's only socialist government.

There still are major differences. But much of the bitterness that characterized Saskatchewan politics after the CCF victory in the provincial election, June 15, 1944, has disappeared.

OPPONENTS CRITICAL

Before and immediately after its election, opponents of the CCF charged it would socialize everything in sight, including the land. Critics said the party would drive industry out of the province. Business men were worried.

The CCF, although it maintains it still holds to the Regina Manifesto which advocates public ownership and state development of natural resources, has a long way to go to reach that goal.

The 18 government-owned enterprises had a combined worth of $45,000,000 worth of business last year. By way of comparison, Alberta's share in Canada's gross national product for 1953 is estimated at $1,300,000,000.

Except for minor development by government enterprises, the CCF has left exploitation of the province's rapidly developing oil and mineral wealth largely to private enterprise.

WIN THREE ELECTIONS

Electors have given the CCF a mandate in three provincial elections in which public ownership was a major issue.

Asmundur Loptson, Liberal leader in the legislature and a main critic of the CCF, while contending the government enterprises have failed in every undertaking where they had to meet private competition, said in an interview he would be "only fair to retain any enterprise which tends to give service at a fair rate."

Private capital, with Premier T. C. Douglas says in Saskatchewan's prime need, has been flowing into the province in greater amounts each year—$40,000,000 last year compared with $243,000,000 in 1945.

The premier, a spark plug in the socialist movement since it assumed the name co-operative Commonwealth Federation in 1932, said in an interview the change in attitude towards his government has come from within and without the party. He said the party opponents' attacks have cooled in the last 10 years, party members who at times have plugged for more extensive socialism have been softened by experience.

IMPLEMENTED PROMISES

Another reason for the change was that the government had done only what it said it would do—not what critics claimed it would.

Mr. Loptson said the CCF government has forgotten its socialist theories, but only for the time being. He said the government finds it profitable to have a "capitalistic front" now. But he contends as long as it retains the Regina Manifesto, the CCF framework of socialism, it will be only a matter of time before it has to adopt its principles.

Premier Douglas disagrees. He contended the manifesto does not call for compulsory socialism or establishment of a co-operative economy.

The premier has reassured private companies that oil and mineral deposits will not be expropriated. He says there is room in Saskatchewan for government, private and co-operative business.

Mr. Douglas said capitalism has nothing to fear from the CCF, providing it considers the interests of Saskatchewan citizens. Only one industry, a small box factory at Prince Albert, had been expropriated under the Crown Corporations Act.

To promote the idea of co-operation, a co-operative development department was set up by the government with the premier at its head.

A contract with Consumers' Co-operative Refineries Ltd., put the government in hot water with oil companies three months ago. The government granted development rights in two sections of Crown land in the Smiley field of west-central Saskatchewan to the refinery on a farm-out basis with profits, if any, to be shared. Oil companies which will spend an estimated $60,000,000 in Saskatchewan searching for oil this year condemned the agreement.

LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

The move was interpreted by Liberal party officials as a step to socialize the oil industry.

George Urwin, head of Saskatchewan Federated Co - operatives, Limited, said the refinery, said the agreement was made to appease those who plug for state development of oil resources without forcing the government to enter the oil business.

The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, formed in 1932 from the old Independent Labor party of Saskatchewan and the United Farmers of Canada, always has had some difficulty with the word "socialism," confused at times with "communism." Students of government say socialist ideals have been toned down in the intervening years. The CCF platform for the 1938 provincial election contained no mention of socialism.

The future of CCF in Saskatchewan, Mr. Douglas says, is secure.

Liberals say they may be able to defeat the CCF in the next provincial election, which may be held in 1956. Progressive Conservatives say they expect to make gains in the next election, but name 1960 as the year for their big bid.

Social Credit, which has been able to elect only two members to date to the legislature, is an unknown quantity in future political calculations. Social Credit won two seats in 1938 and lost them in 1944. Present standing in the 53-seat Saskatchewan legislature is CCF 42, Liberals 9 and Progressive Conservatives 1.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a walk with pop to give him exercise before dinner, and I said, G, pop, we better not forget ma warned us to bring her back a half a pound of butter.

That's a fact, we better not, pop said, and I said, Well what shall we do to remember, pop, instead of relying our walk by keeping on trying not to forget?

Have you got any ideas? pop said, and I said, Yes sir, let's both untie our shoelaces, and our loose shoes will keep reminding us.

That's very ingenious in an insane way, but I've got a better idea, pop said. We'll keeping thinking of words riming with butter, he said.

Which we started to, taking terms saying were like mutter and utter and flutter, till we ran out of real words, and I said, Smutter.

That's a good word, what does it mean? pop said, and I said, When you smutter your hands, it means you get them a little dirty but not enough so it's absolutely necessary to wash them. You can say the same thing about your neck, I said.

True enough, pop said, and I said, Now it's your turn.

That's a good one, pop said. That means to reprove gently with a mild tut tut, he said, and we kept on making up new ones, like dutter, meaning to half believe somebody and half doubt them, and jutter, meaning to talk crazy but not quite as crazy as when you jabber.

Being so mutch fun we forgot all about buying ma's butter.

CATCHY TITLE

OLDHAM, England (CP)—"The Frying Enterprise" is a new fish-and-chip shop on wheels in this Lancashire town. The pun recalls the saga of the American freighter Flying Enterprise and her skipper Capt. Kurt Carlsen, who stayed with the ship until it sank off the English coast in 1952.

HISTORIC RESERVES

Reserves were set aside for the Indians at New Brunswick as early as 1780.

Cottage Owners Forced to Leave Due to Fires

TORONTO (CP)—Summer residents Sunday night evacuated their cottages in the Star Lake area 30 miles southwest of Timmins as a 2,000-acre forest fire raged out of control. It was feared some of the cottages would be destroyed.

The fire was moving westward toward the Warren lake road, only access to the new Star lake resort area. About 25 summer homes were built there last year and more are under construction.

The blaze was being fought by 100 men, 14 pumps and six bulldozers. Another outbreak covered a larger area about 12 miles to the east. Both were believed started by summer lightning.

Five-Year Plan For South Korea Is Announced

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The UN Sunday night published a new five-year plan designed to make South Korea self-supporting by 1958 at a cost of $1,250,000,000, including $1,240,000,000 in UN and U.S. aid.

The plan covers the period between April 1, 1953 and March 31, 1958 and calls for sharp increases in manufacturing and construction; 16-per-cent increase in food consumption with more barley, sweet potatoes and less rice in the diet; construction of 300,000 homes; 200-per-cent increase in electricity power; encouragement of private enterprise, an increase of 800 per cent in trade with Japan, and a "single realistic" exchange rate for the Korean won.

GOOD SWIMMERS

Minks, valued for their fur, frequent streams and lakes and are fast swimmers.

Students Stage Sit-Down Strike At Chinese School

SINGAPORE (AP)—A thousand students, staging the second sit-down strike at the Chung Cheng Chinese High School here in less than a month to protest compulsory military service, Sunday defied their parents and advisers.

The students clenched their fists and sang patriotic songs when their parents and other Chinese leaders pleaded with them through loudspeakers to leave the barricaded school.

Student spokesmen said they would send the British colonial government a new demand for exemption from conscription. If it is not granted by Tuesday, they added, "We shall ask the government to jail 130 of us who are liable for national service."

Says Statement By PC Member Is 'Ridiculous'

JARNIA (CP)—D. J. Stonehouse said Sunday that a statement made Friday in the House of Commons by J. W. Murphy, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Lambton West, was "absolutely ridiculous."

Mr. Murphy said he thinks "there was something wrong somewhere" in land deals made by D. J. Stonehouse and Mayor W. C. Nelson of Sarnia.

He said Mr. Stonehouse bought Canadian National Railways property in nearby Point Edward "for $1 and other considerations" and shortly sold it for $50,000 for a motel.

Mr. Stonehouse said he did buy property from the CNR but "I paid a lot more than $1 for it."

He declined to comment further on the statement.

Mayor Nelson said Saturday he made the highest bid for property at Point Edward and bought it for $10,500.

Democrats Keep Hands Off In Flanders' Move to Strip McCarthy of Chairmanships

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hands-off policy adopted by the United States Senate Democratic leadership has exempt all but one move by Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep., Vt.) to strip Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin of his investigating chairmanships.

Senator William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, has already made it abundantly clear that, as a representative of the administration, he does not want to come against the Wisconsin Republican in the way Flanders suggested on the floor of the Senate Friday.

While Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, would make no public statement on the issue, he was reliably reported today to have told party colleagues he regards McCarthy as a "Republican problem."

Apparently Johnson is advising Democrats not to give any encouragement to Flanders, who last year he will move by mid-July for action on a motion to strip McCarthy of his chairmanship unless the Wisconsin senator removes certain names raised in 1953 by a Senate elections sub-committee about his financial affairs.

The motion, which could be called up by any senator at any time, would remove McCarthy as chairman of the government operations committee, as well as head of its investigations sub-committee. Such a step is rare in Senate history.

McCarthy termed Flanders' criticism of him a "smear," and said the Vermont senator may be senile.

So far only one senator, John S. Cooper of Kentucky, a Republican, has publicly lined up behind Flanders' move.

Democratic leaders are said to feel that any time the Republican leadership wants to try to chastise McCarthy it can have Democratic help. But many Senate precedents on customs are involved which the Democrats don't want to upset for fear that if or when they return to control of the Senate they might face a challenge to their own organization control.

FOUR RESCUED

TORONTO (CP)—A sudden windstorm which swept Toronto late Saturday upset two boats in Toronto harbor. The four occupants were rescued by harbor police. Margot Thompson, 18, and Gail Wright, 19, clung to the hull of their overturned sailing dinghy until police arrived, Arnold Webber, 21, and Harry Selver, 18, were making for cover when waves upset their canoe. All are from Toronto.

ELEPHANTS FOR SALE

SHEFFIELD, England (CP) — Notice in a pet shop window in this Nottinghamshire town: "42 lame Indian elephants for sale." The owner said: "I don't really expect to sell any, but you never know."

Anti-Aircraft Shells Held Up In W. Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — Six tons of Swiss anti-aircraft munition being shipped to Guatemala have been held up in Hamburg, the United States high commission announced here today.

The 20-millimetre anti-aircraft shells were to have been sent to Guatemala in a German ship, but the West German government intervened at the request of the U. S. high commission and the shipment was detained in Hamburg, an American official said.

The official said, "The German authorities were most co-operative and the transport ministry contacted the German Hamburg-America line, in whose ship, the Coburg, the consignment was to be shipped."

The ship sailed May 26 without the ammunition.

The U. S. official said it is not known to whom the ammunition was consigned in Guatemala; it was addressed merely to a Guatemalan forwarding agent.

Canada's Medical Profession Launches Action-Packed Convention in Vancouver

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's medical profession launched an action-packed convention program today designed to protect and benefit the health of Canadians.

About 1,500 doctors, including some of the world's leading specialists were in attendance for opening sessions of the five-day 87th annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

Major convention business today was proceeding behind closed doors at a meeting of the 150-member CMA general council.

In day-long sessions today and Tuesday, the council will consider reports of 16 special committees. The reports include such controversial subjects as fee splitting and fluoridation of drinking water.

DISCUSS INTERNES

Other reports will deal with the possibility of training and broadening the standard of internship instruction for newly-graduated doctors; accreditation of hospitals; suitability of aluminum for cooking utensils and the possibility of making certain painkilling drugs available without prescription.

The reports, together with the CMA's stand on the questions, will be made public before the convention ends Friday. The first general association session will be held Wednesday under the chairmanship of CMA president C. W. Burns of Winnipeg.

While the council was considering the reports behind closed doors, rank and file association members launched an exhaustive clinical refresher program that includes more than 115 papers and panel discussions during the five days.

SPECIAL GROUPS MEET

Four specialist groups met today. Members of the Canadian Anaesthetists' Society heard technical papers and talks from Dr. Alan B. Noble of Kingston, Ont., and Drs. Donalda M. H. Higgins and Lionel F. G. Cruikshank of Winnipeg. Addressing the Canadian Association of Pathologists were Dr. J. W. Macgregor of Edmonton, Dr. J. E. Pritchard of Montreal and Dr. John Hamilton, Toronto. The Canadian Psychiatric Association and the Canadian Rheumatism Association also held clinical discussions.

A feature of the clinical program was a colored television broadcast. The broadcasts, which will continue Tuesday and Wednesday, allow doctors in the convention floor to watch operations at the Willow chest centre of Vancouver General Hospital two miles away.

Actress Making Ear-Ring News On British TV

LONDON (CP)—Vancouver actress Barbara Kelly is making earring news on British television with exotic, out-size ear ornaments.

Miss Kelly and Lady Barnett, members of a team seen each Sunday in "What's My Line," one of Britain's oldest and most popular quiz programs, have their jewelry chosen for them.

Mrs. Dicky Leeman, wife of the producer, figured viewers would like to see jewelry they could afford and the choice is rhinestone, diamante and gilt sets costing from £3 to £50.

Recent choice for Miss Kelly was a choker of gilt that looked like a necklace of teeth worn by an African witch doctor. Matching earrings dangled against each cheek.

FORMER TEACHER DIES

KITCHENER (CP)—Mrs. Donald Davidson, 80, wife of Dr. Donald Davidson, died at her home here Saturday. She had been active in educational and civic affairs in Woodstock before moving here two years ago. She was born in Kingsville, and taught high school at Leamington, Essex, Orillia, Renfrew, Woodstock and at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, before her marriage.

Celebration to Honor Oldest Practising Doctor in Sask.

FRONTIER, Sask. (CP) — A "baby" roundup is planned in this town 200 miles southwest of Regina for July 9.

The occasion is a celebration in honor of Dr.. Murrough O'Brien of Qu'Apelle who at 96 is the oldest practising country doctor in Saskatchewan.

The committee in charge of the celebration wants as many of the 96-ville of the 9,000 babies that Dr. O'Brien has delivered during his 67 years of Prairie practice.

The celebration is to honor Dr. O'Brien in "recognition of a life of service that earned few comforts and no wealth."

Dr. O'Brien delivered his first baby in England in 1889. Before the turn of the century he emigrated to Canada and set up practice in a lean-to behind a laundry in Dominion City, Man.

This summer Dr. O'Brien's life and work will appear in book form under the title "Saddleback Surgeon." The 80,000-word biography, by Robert Tyre, a Regina newspaper man, will be issued by the Toronto publishing house of J. M. Dent. Half of the royalties from Canadian and other sales will go to Dr. O'Brien.

The Saskatchewan sale of the book will be sponsored by the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, by way of recognition for the doctor's long service to farm populations.

"Dr. O'Brien was a farmers' doctor and it is rather fitting that the organization of farmers should undertake to sponsor his published life story and this way materially increase the royalties to be received by the doctor," said J. L. Phelps, SFU president.

INJURED IN DIVE

PICKERING (CP)—Charles Aldrich, 20, of Toronto, who weighs 240 pounds, suffered a broken neck Saturday when he dived into three feet of water in the Rouge river near this town about 10 miles west of Oshawa. Hospital authorities said Sunday night his condition is fair but he is paralyzed from the waist down.

He's changing the nation's landscape

You may see the result of what he is doing in the city's changing skyline — or out where the corn grows tall . . . in the mushrooming suburbs — or in the new look of Main Street in a mellow old town.

Where many a vacant lot once stood, he helps fill it with a fine new school. Where you used to see a structure that was an eyesore you may now see a new apartment house, store or other building he played a role in providing.

Thanks in part to him, many houses rise here and there, or row on row, in community after community. New ribbons of asphalt tie town to town. Somewhere, a new bridge is built.

New industrial plants, too, are sometimes the by-products of his helping hand. Perhaps one of them has provided you with a job.

And do you see those great steel towers that parade across the rolling farmlands, bearing power-laden wires in their outstretched arms? They may be monuments to this same man.

Who is he?

He represents all the millions of life insurance policyholders in Canada. And it's money from their premiums, which life insurance companies invest for them, that makes possible many such improvements as these throughout the nation.

So, if you are a life insurance policyholder building security for your family and yourself, you're also helping to build a better Canada!

AT YOUR SERVICE!
A trained life underwriter, representing one of the more than 50 Canadian, British and United States life insurance companies in Canada, will gladly help you plan for your family's security and your own needs in later years. Rely on him!

BOMB DEVASTATION

This is an artist's conception of what Canada's Parliament Buildings would look like if an enemy exploded a bomb over Ottawa. The stately buildings would be a smoking mass of rubble and the well-kept lawns would be covered with debris as in this picture drawn for civil defence authorities. If a bomb of the type used against Hiroshima were exploded over the Parliament Buildings, it is estimated it would cause virtually complete destruction up to a half-mile radius from the Peace Tower; severe damage for another half mile, and moderate damage for an additional half mile. (CP Photo).

GROUND WATCHERS

A Ground Observer Corps, numbering 50,000 civilians, is spread across Canada watching for enemy planes which might approach major Canadian centres. The civilians in this picture taken at the Ground Observer Corps plotting board at Truro, N.S., give their time voluntarily. Note the United States serviceman in the picture for detection of possible enemy aircraft is a joint Canada-U.S. task. At the plotting board are: (left to right) P/O. J. H. Waugh of the RCAF, Summerside, P.E.I.; Airman 1st Class Gerald Garrigan from the U.S. Ground Observer Flitter Centre at Bangor, Me.; and Mrs. R. A. Melanson of Truro, civilian air plotter. Hydrogen Bomb Has Focused Fresh Attention on Civil Defence Planning in Canada

Editor's Note: The hydrogen bomb has focused fresh attention on civil defence preparations in Canada. Foreso Rhude, Canadian Press business editor, has just completed a coast-to-coast survey of CD planning. In this story, one of a series, he tells what he learned about the damage and casualties that would be caused by new weapons used in warfare.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

What may we expect in warning, death and destruction if an enemy attacks us?

The enemy will decide much of that, and may do what we don't expect.

However, it has been envisaged as follows:

Four hundred or more planes coming in over northern Canada or from the northwest and northeast sea approaches. One high-ranking American officer pinpoints the probable time as 4 a.m. EST.

The planes would probably carry a mixed bag of atomic and possibly bacteriological and chemical weapons, plus blockbusters of the type used in the Second World War and incendiaries.

WARNING SYSTEM VITAL

A ground observer corps, at present numbering 50,000 civilians including trappers, miners, lumbermen, fire wardens, police, clergymen and housewives, now is watching for them across and down through the area of approach.

Also watching is a radar screen extending outward from areas of large population.

This screen is linked with Canadian and United States air forces by high-frequency radio and land lines, and unidentified planes are investigated by the nearest interceptor force. Other watches are kept.

If the present radar screen is first to spot attackers—and at present that might well be the case—we will have warning of probably less than 30 minutes.

TEST OF EFFICIENCY

Suppose the attackers are observed, possibly by a number of sources. Information goes first to "filter centres," which assess it and pass it to an air defence control centre, commonly called ADCC. The armed services take appropriate action, the civil defence officer at ADCC is advised, and civil defence starts.

The ADCC officer alerts his nearest central point. The central point alerts key cities which advise their civil defence agencies such as fire departments, police, wardens and hospitals, their industries and neighboring municipalities.

Effectiveness of this system will be tested in the country-wide Exercise Alert June 14-15.

Within a year or so we may have two hours' warning or more. However, a 5,000-mile-long early warning chain sometimes called the McGill fence is being built farther north in Canada, and warning systems are being pushed out to sea.

In the West the ADCC officer sends his warning to Vancouver which, over a telephone system now operating, advises Victoria, Trail, Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg. Those cities take it from there.

VITAL SIGNALS

I have seen the Vancouver set-up. You would hear an exchange like this:

Vancouver: "Air defence warning—red. Air defence warning—red. Stand by to acknowledge."

In reply: "Edmonton — rod—Roger."

The first warning is called a "yellow alert" and indicates attack is probable. It would be widely distributed but, under present plans, public sirens would not be sounded. This may be changed.

Next comes the "red alert" and sirens would sound—a rising-and-falling blast.

Canadian and U.S. warning systems connect at such points as Vancouver, Sault Ste. Marie, Sarnia, Windsor and Niagara Falls.

The third signal is "white" for all clear—bringing a steady, prolonged siren blast.

If an attack comes, blockbusters and incendiaries are what most targets in Canada are expected to get. But nuclear weapons may be used.

DISASTROUS WEAPONS

The atom bomb that fell on Hiroshima in 1945 was considered to have the energy of 20,000 tons of TNT. It killed 70,000 persons, injured another 70,000.

Bombs of the same type have been developed with up to 50 times the energy of Hiroshima's, though not with 50 times the destructive power.

Bombs smaller than Hiroshima's capable of delivery by small rocket or artillery, have also been developed.

The hydrogen device exploded at Eniwetok atoll in November, 1952, is said to have had the energy of millions of tons of TNT. It is probable that it has not yet been developed as a bomb which can be delivered by aircraft.

Later hydrogen explosions are said to have been still stronger, with energy estimates running up to 12,000,000 tons of TNT.

ISLAND VANISHED

The Eniwetok explosion blew out of existence test island of Elugelab, a half-mile long and a quarter-mile wide, and replaced it with a crater in the ocean floor a mile across, sloping to a depth of 175 feet—deep enough to cover a 17-storey building.

Fortunately there is a law of diminishing returns and destruction by a hydrogen bomb would be very much less than indicated by the energy figures. Additionally, a city's buildings probably would protect one another to some extent.

An atomic or hydrogen bomb burst at ground level, as at Eniwetok, would probably pulverize buildings and it is unlikely that any shelter would be effective.

Damage from this type of weapon extends over a wider area when the bomb is exploded at height, although shelters might be built to give protection from bombs exploded at 2,000 feet—even for "ground zero," the point directly under the burst.

But it has been estimated that a conventional Hiroshima-type bomb, if exploded at 2,000 feet, would cause virtually complete destruction up to a half-mile radius from a ground zero; severe damage for another half-mile; and moderate damage for an additional half-mile.

FEARSOME POTENTIAL

Without a public alarm system and without organized civil defence it has been estimated such a strike would kill 35,000 in Vancouver and injure 30,000; kill 25,000 in Edmonton and injure 25,000; kill 45,000 in Winnipeg and injure 38,000; kill 100,000 in Toronto and injure 85,000; kill 130,000 in Montreal and injure 150,000; kill 42,000 in Halifax and injure 38,000.

With an alarm system and adequate organization, civil defence people estimate up to 50 per cent reduction in deaths and injuries, although population density makes for variations. This does not envisage dispersal or evacuation of population, a project talked about.

The hydrogen bomb, it is estimated, would result in virtually complete destruction and death up to three miles from ground zero; severe damage for another four miles; moderate damage for another three miles.

Under the law of diminishing returns it may be reasonable to speculate that deaths and injuries would be five or six times greater than the ordinary A-bomb toll.

American estimates, apparently based on hydrogen attack and without dispersal of population, envisage 1,400,000 dead and 400,000 injured in New York's borough of Manhattan alone; 1,000,000 dead in Chicago; 440,000 in Boston and Detroit; 420,000 in Washington; 200,000 in Seattle.

DEADLY ARSENAL

Val Peterson, head of United States civil defence, has said a nuclear attack on 67 major American population centres would, at conservative estimate, kill 9,000,000 and cause 22,000,000 hospital cases.

But we should not forget the other weapons in the attacker's bag.

We know what incendiaries did to London in one night. Think of them on your community; on forest and prairie farms. A Saskatchewan civil defence booklet says:

"For a short period of the year crops are particularly susceptible to firing by incendiary bombs. Repeated under any system of combining and swathing it would seem a relatively simple matter for planes travelling 350 miles an hour to sow small bombs at a rate of one per second, every 175 yards."

Defence against bacteriological and chemical weapons is still largely a matter for study by scientists and laboratories, but it is becoming a growing part of civil defence.

SENTENCED TO HANG

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

KEPE THE JERK!

Call it what you will — the Curse of the Carsons; the Bar of the Bates; the Gremlin of the Gayers, or just plain comedienne on the part of the weather bloke, it is still riding herd on the luckless senior baseballers. Saturday night with both the Bates and the Toronto Hoskings champing at the bit, the gods of the wind and sun cooked up a cloud effect that swept serks at times and chastity at others, and sent down an eleventh hour deluge to put an effective quietus on diamond activities for the fourth time in a row for the Carson crew.

The Hoskings Burners were ignited, mentally that is, too, and you can't blame 'em. They played an inning against the Peterborough Petes in the afternoon when the rains came and wiped that one off the record books. Incidentally the Petes had a two-run lead when the weather man blew the "Cease Fire." However, it seems the controversial "travelling expenses, the Toronto teams, likewise Oshawa collect, are payable come rain, hell or highwater, so the Queen City boys had some salve for their rained-out feelings.

The weather bloke stared a bit at a show about 7:45. He blew his top in what appeared to be a miniature twister, backgrounded by thunder and lightning sound and colors effects that ripped a large hole in the sky over the exhibition Park just over the fence from the third-base foul line.

What should be the game of the season up to this point is scheduled for Tuesday night when the league-leading Oshawa Transporters pay their initial visit here in a vitrect October 1 game. The Oshawans have a five-two record while our side has won three and lost a couple. A newspaper report from Oshawa stated the other day the Transporters had signed an Australian pitcher, name unknown, somewhere in Pennsylvania. Thought there were to be no American imports in this loop, and at whose suggestion? You guessed it, Mr. Natural Host Ben Heidt!

However, the stormy stuff stayed away long enough for the Ole Colour's Electrics and the Toronto White Sox to get in six innings of classy softball. The score was tied four-all at the end of six when the storm struck, mostly wind and lightning. Dust and rain whipped in small cloud effects from Richmond, but the crowd was satisfied with what they had received when the game was called. Al Adams went all the way for the Electrics, who added a few much-needed bucks to the club exchequer.

Seems there must be a credit for every debit and this time the golfers got in on the beneficial side of the ledger. Charlie Pifcuiti, pro at the Country Club, was all smiles Sunday morning when we dropped around to gape at the links. The rain, said Charles, did the greens a world of good and they were in excellent condition for the Tip Top Trophy tournament which got under way bright and early. Getting in a few holes with Jamieson Bone, was Dr. George Stobie, who with Mrs. Stobie recently returned from a continental safari in Europe and the British Isles. The genial doctor and Mrs. Stobie looked fit as the proverbial fiddles with the dual consensus being, "A grand trip, good time, but there's no place like home."

"Twenty-seven Quinte thinkstery "took on" Ben Horan in the "Beat Horan" Invitational Golf Day tournament, but with the "little master" in rare form shooting a sixty-four, nary a medal came the Quinte way. Closest were Murray Mcclelland and J. Mitchell with 72's, while T. A. Carruthers, D. Duffy, Lloyd Lamb, Joe Legault of Quinte and Roy Bamford of Miramichi, Que., carded 73's.

DOTS 'N' FLASHES

Point Anne and Northern Electrics, which should be the "game of the season" scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock has been moved forward to 6.30. The teams play at Alemlite field. The change in time was made on account of the Batas-Oshawa baseball game at Exhibition Park at 8.30 . . . The YMCA annual golf tourney is scheduled for the Belle Quinte links on June 23 starting at 2.30. There are plenty of prizes. Those desirous of playing should contact Di Diamantides at the YMCA . . . Starting tomorrow this newspaper will publish a short series of YMCA swimming and water safety rules, illustrated. You're never too old to learn, so have junior look them over while you're glancing at them yourself. . . . Oshawa defeated Toronto Dependables and the losers trimmed Oakville in Viaduct League games Sunday. The win gives the Oshawa team a 5-3 record for the loop lead. The Batas are next with 3-2.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT!!

Believe it or not, two umpires are the rage of the Negro American League this season and have drawn plaudits from crowds wherever they appear with the Indianapolis Clowns — Kansas City Monarch tour of games, who play here Wednesday night.

Mark VanBuren, working behind the plate, has a booming voice that permits every fan in the ball park to hear his strike-ball calls, but the fans have been getting a special "kick" out of the gyrations of Bob Motley, who works the bases. When a play is made, the arbiter rushes to the base, lunges high into the air and then comes down or up into a split with the safe or out sign.

Syd Pollock, general manager of the Clowns, witnessed their performance for the first time at Kansas City and St. Louis last week had this to say: "I believe we have the two best officials in baseball now working our games and it is the first time in all my experience that I have ever seen fans in the stands applauding umpires, but it happened time and again at Busch Stadium, St. Louis."

Tribe Scalps Sox For Pair As Chicago, Champs Divide; National Leaders Win Twins

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Imagine where the St. Louis Cardinals would be today without the man and the kitten? Redbird skipper Eddie Stanky must shudder whenever this thought occurs to him.

The man, of course, is Stan Musial, the greatest hitter in the National League. The kitten is Harvey Haddix, the winningest pitcher in the senior circuit.

The man and the kitten, combined their talents Sunday to give the Cardinals their first double-header victory of the season. Haddix hurled his second straight shutout and his 10th victory as the Cards defeated Pittsburgh 5-0 in the first game. Musial, who drove in two runs in the opener with a pair of singles, snapped a 3-3 tie in the second game with his 21st home run. The Cards went on to win 5-3.

FIRST-PLACE TIE

Scoring all their runs in the seventh inning, the Brooklyn Dodgers overcame a 4-0 deficit to edge out Cincinnati 6-4 in the opener and came back to run over the Redlegs 12-3 in the nightcap.

The New York Giants thrashed the Chicago Cubs 9-4 in breaking through for six runs in the 11th to snap a 3-3 tie in the first game.

The three triumphs enabled the deadlocked Dodgers and Giants to keep in a virtual first-place tie, bulge on their nearest pursuers—Milwaukee and Philadelphia. The Braves trimmed the Phils for third place, defeating them 9-5 for Warren Spahn's seventh victory.

Cleveland used the lowly Boston Red Sox to boost its American League lead to two games over the Chicago White Sox and 3½ over the New York Yankees. The Indians' 6-1 and 9-1 triumphs ran their latest victory streak to five in a row and slipped Boston into last place.

After dropping their sixth straight decision to the Yankees, 4-2 in the opener of a double-header, the White Sox thrashed the world champions 9-3.

The Philadelphia Athletics, who had been fighting among themselves, decided to express some of it to the opposition and as a result captured two come-from-behind victories from the Detroit Tigers 4-3 and 6-4. The double win moved the Athletics out of the cellar, only a half game behind the sixth place Baltimore Orioles.

Bob Porterfield shut out Baltimore 4-0 after the Orioles had clobbed five Washington pitchers for 14 hits to take the opener 6-4.

Blind Champion Takes Lead

HAMILTON (CP)—Charles Tooth, Canada's blind golf champion, took the lead in the third inter-club match of the championship here Sunday.

But the Ancaster golfer won't know until the middle of the week whether his nine-hole 55 is best score. Two other golfers, Phil Lederhouse of Prince Albert, Sask., and Jack Sherbino of Regina, are participating in the tournament and will mail their card to the club chairman.

Top golfers in the inter-club tournament for the Ontario blind golfers tournament, which will be played June 19 at Niagara-On-The-Lake, will make up a six-man team representing Canada in the American national blind golfers tournament July 18 at Worcester, Mass. The results of Sunday's matches included: Harold Mitchell, Hamilton, 57; Claude Patterson, Hamilton, 59; Jack Bowman, Burlington, 66; Nick Geoovese, Dundas, 66 and Robert Faddon, Kingston, 67.

Western League May Operate Two Sections

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Sun said in a sportspage story Saturday the Western Hockey League will probably operate two divisions of five teams each in the 1954-55 season.

The newspaper said it learned that following a statement by Reno Interests Friday that the Saskatchewan capital is interested in entering the professional circuit this season.

However, the Sun said Coley Hall, owner of Vancouver Canucks, announced Saturday that Regina is "dead" for this season. "We are all set to operate with six teams—Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon."

Remember When

Max Baer won the world heavyweight boxing title in a sensational victory over champion Primo Carnera 20 years ago tonight at New York. Baer knocked the giant Italian to the canvas 13 times before the fight was stopped in the 11th round. The Californian lost the title a year later to Jimmy Braddock.

High Gun Shot Down Belmont But Needed Distance to Win

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If it is going to take races in the Chicago area to settle the three-year-old turf championship, Dave Hirsh Gun might as well be counted out. The distances of the Arlington classic and American Derby don't seem great enough for the King Ranch's Belmont stakes winner.

High Gun, a son of Heliopolis, entered the title picture Saturday with his neck victory over the front-running Fisherman in the mile and a half of the $100,000 Belmont Stakes. And the Texas-owned colt of Robert J. Kleberg needed all of those 12 furlongs today to get up in time for the victory.

The King Ranch colt is eligible for the $100,000-added Arlington and the equally endowed American derby at Washington Park. Hasty Road, winner of the Preakness second to Determine in the Kentucky Derby, already is on the grounds awaiting these two rich races. And there have been reports that Andy Crevolin will ship Determine from California for the two rich stakes.

The Arlington is a mile, a distance that is right down Hasty Road's alley. The Derby is a mile and a quarter and a mile and one-eighth also appears more to the liking of Hasty Road and Determine than to the plodding High Gun.

Outside of showing that High Gun will be tough to handle in the really long races, the Belmont proved Correlation is out of championship contention and that Porterhouse, 1953 two-year-old champion, is little more than a top-notch prospect.

JOHN NIAGARA talks about:
Four ways to get a
NIAGARA LOAN

Need money? Then the four different ways you can borrow at Niagara Finance will interest you.

First, domestic loans : : : These are sometimes called "husband-and-wife" loans — they alone sign—it is arranged in about 24 to 36 hours and enjoys widespread popularity amongst Canadian couples.

Second, car or truck loans. Here's one of the fastest ways to borrow money. It's very easy to handle, both from your point of view and ours. Motor owners can apply by mail or in person. Only the owner of the car and truck need sign. Details are often completed in as short a time as 15 minutes.

Third, loans on business equipment . . . Businessmen like this service because it is fast and trouble-free. The business equipment acts as a backing and loans are made in accordance with value. Only the owner needs to sign — an excellent answer for temporary financial shortages.

Fourth, loans on farm machinery—stock : : : These loans have been especially designed for farmers' needs. And of importance to them — seasonal payment plans are available on loans over $500. Such loans are completed with little delay.

Besides loan plans which fit the needs of almost everyone, there are two good reasons for you to pick Niagara Finance for money requirements. Loans to $15,000 are life insured at no extra cost to you. And rates on many Niagara loans are lower . . . in other words, you get more for your money! For full information, just drop in anytime or phone.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Director of the Dodgers Baseball School

It is easier for anyone to make an accurate throw if he can throw at a target. Thus you should always give the thrower a target with your glove when you are getting ready to receive a thrown ball.

On force plays the target should be in front of your chest. Then you can move the glove in any direction with equal speed to spear the ball in case the throw is wild. If the throw is accurate, you are ready to get off a throw in a hurry in case a double play is possible.

If you are preparing to tag a runner attempting to advance by sliding into a base, keep your gloves in front of your knees for the target. This will help to remind the thrower to keep his throw low so that you will be able to make a quick tag.

Few Golfers Beat Hogan's Sparkling 64

Canadian golfers by the thousands again went out during the week-end to see if they could gain an "I Beat Ben Hogan" badge. It was part of National Golf Day in Canada and the United States.

Hogan, who will defend his U.S. open championship this week, set the mark the golfers had to shoot at when he fired a record-tying, eight-under-par 64 over the Belmar golf course at Springfield, N.J.

Hadges go to the golfers who pay $1 to enter the country-wide competition and who with their handicaps are able to beat Hogan's score. The event is sponsored by the United States Professional Golfers' Association and Life magazine and the thousands of dollars collected go to the United Service Organization and the National Golf Fund.

Hogan was scheduled to match his shots against those of some 125 000 other golfers a week ago Saturday but had to postpone the round until this week-end because of a virus infection.

In the Ottawa-Hull area 318 competed and only one entry was able to post a net score that was better than Hogan's. There was one tie. In London, Ont., golfers beat the "Mighty Mite."

Leafs Extend League Lead To Full Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League still has a six-club pennant scrap, but it won't for long unless somebody does something about the Toronto Maple Leafs and Rochester Red Wings.

As things stand today, Toronto is one game in front of Rochester. They've been jockeying back and forth for some two weeks. Montreal is four games off the pace, Havana five, Richmond six and Syracuse 8½.

Syracuse helped some to tighten up the race Sunday by sweeping a pair of 2-1 decisions with the Red Wings, but the Leafs picked up half a game by striking from behind for a 4-3 decision over Buffalo Bisons in the first game of a doubleheader and then earned a 4-4 tie in the nightcap before it was called in the sixth because of Toronto's curfew.

Montreal gained on the leaders by taking two from the cellar-dwelling Ottawa Athletics 4-2 and 6-5. Richmond and Havana were rained out of a single game and will make it up in a doubleheader tonight.

Rochester beat Syracuse in the opener on the three-hit pitching of Jack Parnell, but couldn't complete the sweep as veteran Kent Peterson and Lyn Lovenguth clouted the Wings with six hits in the nightcap.

Shortstop Hector Rodriguez hit his first homer of the season with one on in the 11th to climax Syracuse's uphill climb in the opening game against Buffalo.

Set Canadian Swim Records

MONTREAL (CP)—Four Canadian records were established Saturday at the Quebec provincial swimming championships and Quebec division Empire Games trials.

Two of the Canadian records were set by Ruth Whitehall, Montreal, who clocked 2:03 in the senior women's 400 yards freestyle to knock 6.2/5ths of a second off the record set in June 1952 by Vancouver's Kay McNemee. She also chalked up a new mark in the 100-yards butterfly senior event with a time of 1:11.3.

Gladys Priestley, Montreal, beat her Canadian record of 2:18.7 in the junior 200-yards freestyle with a time of 2:14.6.

Later in the junior 100-yards freestyle Virginia Grant, Toronto, set a new Canadian mark of 1:03 bettering her record of 1:1.7.

Collisteo Wins Queen's Plate Over Favored 'Royal' Pair

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Chris Rogers made his move in the far turn—too soon, some thought. But Collisteo proved him right in a gallant, driving finish, with the favorites on his heels.

Jockey Rogers said he rode to victory in the Queen's Plate, Canada's richest stake, with a pace that fooled everybody.

Chris and Collisteo surprised 18,000 fans at Woodbine race track Saturday by whipping the favorites, Queen's Own and King Maple for a record $22,305 purse and the Queen's 50 guineas. Collisteo won by a neck over the Queen and ran the nine-furlong classic in 1:52, equalling the plate record set by Last Mark in 1946.

The brown son of Flitsteo and Colleen, who shook a bad case of "bucked shins" last year, was urged on as he headed into the stretch and responded to hold off the fast-closing Queen's own at the wire.

THE PAYOFF

Collisteo, from Hamilton's Burfit stables, returned $34.30, $5.40 and $2.80. Queen's Own was second and King Maple, backed to odds of 1 to 4, came third. The payoff on Queen's Own: $3.70, $2.10; King Maple $2.10.

Rogers, a 28-year-old native of Hamilton, said he knew he was aboard the winner at the eighth pole.

"When Queen's Own drew alongside, Collisteo was not giving up. I gave the colt a breather and was sure Queen's Own was under a hard drive to get close. And, as I always told the boys, you can win far more races in the final 30 yards than at the eighth pole."

Many railbirds said King Maple's brown colt owned by Mrs. Gordon McMacken of Toronto, and Queen's Own, from the stables of Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, were thrown off stride when they got boxed in as the field of nine three-year-olds charged around the first turn.

ROGERS' THIRD

Collisteo's owners, Pete Burton and Walter Fitzgerald, and his trainer, Dick Townrow, thought Rogers made the move a bit too soon.

"Collisteo likes to run at something," Townrow said. "I didn't know whether he could hold on in the stretch."

Fitzgerald and Burton received the plate from Governor-General Massey during ceremonies in the infield. It was Rogers' third plate win.

Pancho, an entry with Collisteo, was fourth. The others finished in this order: Hi Laude, owned by Dr. L. H. Appleby of Vancouver; Staff Reporter, an entry with Queen's Own; Heptad, owned by the Armstrong brothers of Brampton, Ont.; Three Stripes, owned by J. Frowde Seagram of Waterloo Ont.; and Welcome Home, owned and trained by Miss Olive Armstrong.

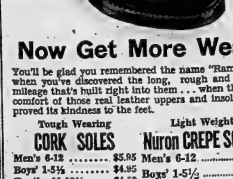
St. Kitts Swamp Mounties 25-6

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics swamped Minico Mounties 25-6 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game here Saturday night.

Leading goalscorers for St. Catharines were Al Powell and Norm Corcoran—with four each — and three by Ken Croft, John Ross, Roger Smith and Ross Fowless. Ed Sandford and Will Chard led Mimico with two each.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS



Batting—Vic Power and Elmer Valo, Athletics: Power drove in two clutch inning runs with a pinch single to give the A's a 4-3 victory over the Tigers in the first game of a doubleheader; Valo, subbing for the benched Gus Zernial in 2nd field, drove in four runs with a bases-loaded triple and single in the A's 6-3 nightcap victory.

Pitching—Harvey (the Kitten) Haddix, Cardinals, permitted only three hits and struck out 10 as St. Louis shut out Pittsburgh 5-0.

Joe Louis Thinks Ezzard Charles Training for Wrong Kind of Fight

By JACK HAND

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP)—Joe Louis thinks Ezzard Charles is training for the wrong kind of fight in his bid to win back the heavyweight title in his bout with Rocky Marciano Thursday night at Yankee Stadium.

The Bomber watched Ezzy go five rounds Sunday, pressing to attack as though he meant to carry the fight to Rocky.

"You don't go to Reno and mix with Marciano," said the former champ, who Saturday called Marciano "state."

"The way to beat Marciano should be to stick with your left and then throw the right when he misses. If Charles fights Rocky like he fought against me, he could beat Marciano. But he doesn't seem to see training for that kind of fight."

Tom Tannas, one of Charles' co-managers, said the 33-year-old Cincinnati Negro is perfectly tuned for his best fight.

HEAVY WORK OVER

Charles plans one more workout, and possibly two, before he breaks camp Wednesday afternoon. His five-round drill Sunday boosted his training total to 143 rounds. Marciano finished the last of his work Sunday, going two rounds with Keene Simmons for a total of 123 rounds. He will hit Rocky up with a little shadow-boxing to hold the edge.

"I'm in the best physical shape of my career," he said. "I'm certain this time, even mind that I'm a much better fighter than I've ever been."

There is great difference of opinion among those who have watched Marciano. Some think he is too fine. Others believe he is just approaching the edge. He has been hit easily by his sparring partners and has missed wildly.

Weslock Wins

TORONTO (CP)—Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., won the annual Hambton amateur golf tournament Sunday, defeating Bob Spence of Montreal Kanawaki 4 and 3 in the final.

The Lambton invitation was started in 1903 and was held annually until the outbreak of the First World War. It was not revived until 1952.

Rained Out

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — Heavy rain Saturday ended the season's first meet staged by Collingwood Harness Racing Association with only three horses out of a carded field of eight thundering through a deluge of mud and water to finish the second heat of the 2:22 class after spectators had fled for shelter.

Allan Walker's Nancy Patch of Owen Sound romped over the mile in 2:11 minutes, the best time of the day, in the first heat of the $250 free-for-all. Rain held this feature event to the one heat.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Without rules a fickle player travels an uncharted stormy sea in a leaky boat that is minus a rudder. The chances are he will get to a destination that is neither chosen nor desired.

However, the unusual does happen. With some hands you can chuck rules clear out of the window. The thickness of a card in the hand of your partner may mean all the difference between success or not.

There was the tournament deal shown here:

NORTH
♠ 7 6 5 4
♥ 2
♦ A K Q J 7
♣ 8 5 4

WEST
♠ 10
♥ J 10 3
♦ 9 8 5 2
♣ K 10 9 7 6 3 2

EAST
♠ A K 9 8 3 2
♥ Q
♦ 10 9 5 3
♣ Q J

SOUTH
♠ Q J
♥ A K 9 8 7 6 5 4

North has a true opening bid of one diamond. East has a true opening bid of one spade. It happened that south was dealer. He lacks a fourth high card for a true opening bid of one heart.

However, such a hand could open with a bid of four hearts and take a chance that it will result in his favor. At any rate, the south players passed and waited for partner to open the bidding.

Where the south hand opened with a bid of four hearts it was anybody's guess as to who would do what. At some tables the west hand stuck in a defensive overcall of five clubs for a sacrifice.

Where this happened, west bid into the fight with a bid of five diamonds. In three cases east decided to double and south was scared into bidding five hearts.

Where west did not come in with five clubs, north passed the four heart bid and east got in there with a bid of four spades. In such cases south went five hearts in desperation.

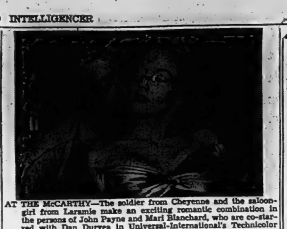
Almost every contract was pushed to a point where it went down one or two tricks. There are so many variations to choose from you could spend lots of time figuring out what might happen.

All these remarks may be a waste of your reading time. But it is good to commune with stuff like this occasionally. It keeps you from getting into a rut.

SPORT IN BRIEF

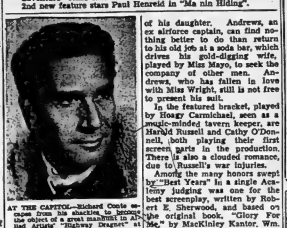
DUKE'S YACHT WINS

MONTREAL (CP)—The Dragon class royal yacht Bluebottle Sunday won the first annual Lawrence ast-Governor's Cup race sponsored by the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club at sea off the club.



The Bluebottle, a wedding present to the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh from the Island Sailing Club of Cowes, Isle of Wight, placed second in the first two legs in the race Saturday and Sunday won the third leg to finish with enough for her first Canadian victory. She will take part in other races here and in Toronto during her Canadian tour.

WORLD RIVER RACE



ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) Gene Hawthorne of Detroit Sunday won the first annual $3,000 Thousand Island outboard marathon over the grueling 60-mile St. Lawrence river course.

Driving a class B racer, he averaged 43.9 miles an hour to gain the Thousand Island Bridge Trophy.

About 20,000 spectators saw 82 starters race along the 30-mile stretch and return to complete the marathon.

AT THE McCARTHY—The soldier from Cheyenne and the saloon-girl from Laramie make an exciting romantic combination in the persons of John Payne and Mari Blanchard, who are co-starred with Dan Duryea in Universal-International's Technicolor adventure "Rails Into Laramie", now at the McCarthy Theatre. 2nd new feature stars Paul Henreid in "Ma nin Hiding".

Three Romances Enrich Academy Award Picture

Welcomed to the screen by a host of fans who have long heard of a wonderful picture they have never seen, Samuel Goldwyn's Academy-Award winning production, "The Best Years of Our Lives," arrives today at the Belle Theatre, where it is to be presented until Thursday, matinee daily.

Three vividly delineated real life human interest crises—one humorous, the two other romantic—forms the basis of the story. The stellar cast includes Myrna Loy, Fredric March, Dana Andrews, Teresa Wright and Virginia Mayo.

March, insatiable lover of good times, returns to his banking job. Miss Loy has the role of his lovely wife, and Miss Wright that of his daughter. Andrews, an ex-airforce captain, can find nothing better to do than return to his old job at a soda bar, which drives his gold-digging wife, played by Miss Mayo, to seek the company of other men. Andrews, who has fallen in love with Miss Wright, still is not free to present his suit.

In the featured bracket, played by Hoagy Carmichael, seen as a music-minded tavern keeper, are Harold Russell and Cathy O'Donnell, both playing their first screen parts in the production. There is also a crowded romance, due to Russell's war injuries.

Among the many honors swept by "Best Years" in a single Academy judging was one for the best screenplay, written by Robert E. Sherwood, and based on the original book, "Glory For Me," by MacKinley Kantor. Wm. Wyler's direction also won an award.

The film is now showing at regular prices, and includes a full 3-hour production — with greater impact on the wide-vision screen, feature picture starts at 2.10, 6.30 and 9.15.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for Monday, June 14, 1954.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A quiet outlook for many born under this Sign, though some may find exceptional opportunities. Be on the lookout. It may be YOU who finds the nuggets. Suggestion: act with opposite sex.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Opportune for the keen and ever watchful people. Use your best talents, and don't look for "easy pickings". Handle personal and financial matters carefully; take no foolish chances.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Business and money matters must be carefully managed. You may be tempted to overstrain, injure health. Caution. Mingle with the right type of people.

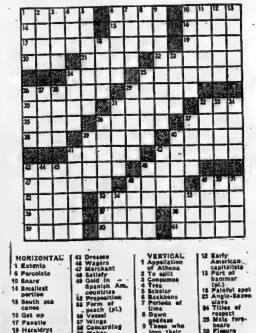
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You may run into irritating influence but don't let them throw you out of stride. Your fortitude is a fine trait and it will be a big help now. Don't tax nerves; be calm.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — It will take more than wishing to put across your ideas now. But nothing is ever accomplished without honest—and usually hard—effort. One achieves truly through steady good behavior. Keep trying.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Don't be self-centered or cocksure. You seldom are, but such tendencies are prevalent today. Money affairs, romance, travel, civic matters are under generally good aspects. Be sensible about diet.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A day when many things seem made to order for your particular gifts. Make your efficiency count; don't waste time or thought on trifles.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Planetary indications call for added effort to keep on an even keel to maintain a progressive pace. There is a tendency to rely on past performances: not wise! Extra vim urged!

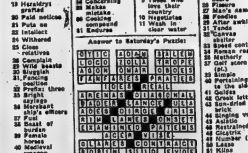


November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — You may be called upon to cooperate with those in high positions. Good work will bring results. Unusual benefits likely from close friends, relatives, and from past kindly acts.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — This is not what one might call an auspicious day for material or financial affairs. The outlook is better for matters concerning family, romance, social affairs. Remember children's needs.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Morning aspects favorable on the whole with some extra benefic rays to help along. P.M. urges more self-restraint, stresses sound application of talents and powers. Watch for opportunities.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — You are innately industrious, imaginative. However, do not press important matters, or decisions today until you have thoroughly studied situations. Quick words could prove awkward.



YOU BORN TODAY are invigorating, always busy; possess dual nature, at times different personalities. You can achieve to a remarkable degree, do almost anything to which you apply your talents. With proper education, you generally reach admirable heights. You are generous, have imagination; are wholesome, interesting companions. Your nature sometimes poses contradictions. You need calm, right associates; be careful to respect others' dignity. You have little difficulty changing type of work or activity, even on short notice; have a variety of experiences in life. Birthday of: Harriet Beecher Stowe, author, "Uncle Tom's Cabin"; John McCormick, tenor.

Doolittle Says Russia Running Ahead of States

TORONTO (CP)—The leader of the first U.S. wartime bomber strike on Tokyo says Russia is probably running ahead in the race to develop devastating long-range missiles.

Gen. James H. Doolittle, now a vice-president of the Shell Oil Co., told the national air show banquet here Saturday that the West cannot afford to let Russia beat her to "this so - called ultimate weapon."

"This is a deadly serious race in which tragic consequences await the loser," he told the crowd.

Gen. Doolittle said the best defence of the free world lies in offence—the offensive of better technology, of more and better weapons than the potential aggressor.

The advent of polar flights had changed the aviation picture from commercial and military points of view.

"An entire continent can now be considered a target area. . . We cannot escape the fact that for the foreseeable future, our chief concern in continental defence will be with the possibility of air attack from the north."

Canadian Corps Invades States To Honor Dead

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Twenty bands, 15 marching units and eight color parties from Ontario took part in the 10th pilgrimage of the Canadian Corps to Niagara Falls, N.Y., to honor the war dead of the United States Saturday. It was the largest pilgrimage of the 10 held to date.

Arthur McKinnon of Thorold, president of the Ontario Command, Canadian Corps, and Cliff Wells of Branch No. 51 of the Canadian Legion, Niagara Falls, Ont., placed wreaths on the cenotaph at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The Niagara Falls Kiltie Band won the prize as the best brass band. The Irish Regiment of Canada, Toronto, had the best pipe band and the Industrial Band of Niagara Falls, Ont., was the best trumpet band.

Other prizes awarded: Best color party on parade, Canadian Corps No. 11 of London, Ont.; best marching group in the three divisions, Ontario Canadian Corps No. 62, Anaconda Veterans of Toronto and the Canadian Legion Branch 51 of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Montreal Police Wound 3 Youths Eluding Arrest

MONTREAL (CP) — Police shot three youths attempting to elude arrest to climax a crime - packed week-end that netted thieves almost $10,000 in cash and loot.

Suburban Ville St. Michel patrolmen shot and wounded Gerard Lavoie, 18, and his 17-year-old companion following a chase after a stolen car.

Police said the younger lad, shot in the small of the back, was seriously injured while Lavoie, hit in the right arm and leg, managed to get away. He was later arrested following a telephone call to police by his brother-in-law.

According to police the youths and a third, who gave himself up when the shooting began, stole a car early Sunday from a parking lot and were spotted driving "at 85 miles an hour."

ANOTHER YOUTH SHOT

Another youth, identified as Claude Martin, 22, was shot early Sunday when, police said he refused to stop for questioning. Police said they mistook Martin trying to force open an automobile in the east end of the city.

Police reported that a west-end mink jackets and an undetermined home suffered the largest theft loss, $1,500 in cash, $4,000 worth of mink jackets and an undetermined amount of jewelry.

Thieves escaped with 18 bolts of cloth, worth some $2,000 from a Dominion Textile plant.

Cigarets, valued at $1,000 were taken from a north-end store.

Burglars took a $329 refrigerator and a table radio from the John Jenkins school.

The only holdup victim was taxi-driver Hector Constant of suburban Rosemount, who told police two men beat him and robbed him of $25.

'A-Bombs' to Fall on 53 Cities In Giant Civil Defence Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Enemy" planes shoot today across the skies of North America, droping make-believe deadly bombs on 53 U.S. and Canadian cities in the nation's first coast-to-coast civil defence exercise.

Every target city will be "substantially destroyed" and millions of citizens will be "killed" and "wounded" by a hypothetical onslaught under assumptions drawn up for the test.

Washington, New York and Philadelphia are among the larger U.S. cities in which the public will take part. Canadian cities participating are Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver and Windsor, Ont.

At Mobile, Ala., a test evacuation is scheduled during which some 26,000 persons are expected to walk and ride out of an area of 450 blocks in the main business district.

Officially the exercise, called "Operation Alert," was scheduled to start at 11 a.m. EDT and run for 24 hours.

Civil defence officials in the United States said, however, that where public participation was planned the time for the air raid drill was left entirely up to local authorities.

MILLIONS KILLED

In New York, three A-bombs will supposedly shatter Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, killing 2,175,000 people and injuring another 800,000.

The exercise is based on the hypothesis that 41 target cities in the U.S., seven in Canada, two in Alaska and one each in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are attacked by atomic and other weapons.

Its aims are to boost the effectiveness of civil defence organizations, test communications facilities and provide realistic training for civil defence workers.

What's news at Inco?

Creating a fresh breeze a mile underground

Before long, in Inco's Creighton Mine, that portion a mile or more underground will become a hive of industry as men and machines begin to burrow a network of passages around and into the ore.

But first, provision must be made for the health, safety and comfort of the men. Fresh air is vital. So, from the present mine workings, a shaft 13 feet in diameter is being cut straight down through solid rock to a point more than a mile below the surface. Its upper end will connect with another airway to the surface. Through this shaft, all smoothly cemented like a silo, 350,000 cubic feet of air per minute will be forced down into the lower workings of the mine.

"The Romance of Nickel", a 72-page book, fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Guatemala's Army On Verge of Revolt Against Red Rule

Report Ultimatum to Quit Is Served on President

Centenarians Will Be Common Within 40 Years

VANCOUVER (CP) — Smoking and strenuous athletics have no adverse effect on the heart, one of Canada's foremost heart specialists said Monday.

"No one has ever been able to prove that smoking has been harmful to the heart," Dr. Harold N. Segall of Montreal said in an interview.

Dr. Segall, here for the Canadian Medical Association convention, said that 20 years have been added to the average life span of Canadians in the last 50 years. He predicted that within 40 years as many Canadians will be celebrating their 100th birthday that the event will be considered "commonplace."

He added that "any death before 70 now can be regarded as a premature death."

By SAM SUMMERLIN

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) Eighty army officers have handed a questionnaire to Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman about Communist influences in that country, and demanded a satisfactory answer by the end of the week.

This was reported today in private advices from the Guatemalan capital.

Official quarters in Washington received a report Monday night saying the army had given the president an ultimatum to quit sometime today, and that he had agreed provided the army guaranteed not to molest any Guatemalans. Later information said Arbenz had until the end of the week to answer.

YACHT IS READY

If the army should oust Arbenz, he would presumably try to go to Belize, British Honduras, where he was reported to have a large seagoing yacht at anchor.

Two former Guatemalan defence officials who fled their Communist-tinged land say the army is on the verge of revolt.

"All we have to do is put the spark that will blow out all the Reds," Miguel Angel Mendoza, former defence undersecretary, told reporter Monday night. "I think there is a great division in the army and I am sure that when the moment comes most of them will take the course for which we are fighting."

REDS BACK REGIME

Observers generally concede that Arbenz himself is not a Communist. But his regime has had strong backing from the Reds.

Mendoza and his brother, Col. Rodolfo Mendoza, former air force chief, arrived here Sunday. They said reporters a "reign of terror" has gripped their homeland and at least 600 persons were in jail.

The Mendozas said they themselves also have been subject to a strict watch. Arbenz suspended their civil liberties a week ago and charged that a plot against the government had been uncovered.

Highways Group Starts Another Lengthy Tour

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's highways investigating committee tonight leaves on a 4,000-mile fact-finding tour of North Dakota and northwestern Ontario.

The committee, which last Friday completed a three-day tour of northern Ontario, will travel for 10 days by rail, bus, car and aeroplane, gathering information for the investigation into irregularities in the highways department.

This afternoon, the committee will meet at Queen's Park to receive an interim report from the Ontario Provincial Police Association, to be presented by association president Donald E. McGregor. It will be the first instance in which the committee will have heard from the constables themselves. A previous testimony has been given by highways department officials.

Viet Nam Premier Plans to Resign

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Authoritative sources today said the five-month-old government of Viet Nam's premier, Prince Buu Loc, will resign tomorrow. Ngo Dinh Diem, 53-year-old Roman Catholic reformer and outstanding nationalist, is expected to succeed him.

The choice of Diem is seen here as an attempt to set up a new regime of leading nationalists untainted by rule under the puppet of France, and the obvious aim is to rally the masses against the Communist-led Vietminh and win over anti-Reds who had failed to support Viet Bao Dai.

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The current heat wave continues unabated over most of southern Ontario and Hamilton reached 92 degrees Monday afternoon.

Northern Ontario is mostly cloudy and 18 to 15 degrees cooler than southern regions.

The distribution of weather over Ontario will show little change today and Wednesday.

FOOD, SUPPLIES THEORETICALLY ON THE MOVE

Supposed Casualties Mounting by Hour

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP)—Trainloads of food and medical supplies were theoretically being moved today to Canadian cities stricken by imaginary atomic attack Monday in exercise Carry.

Supposed casualties were mounting by the hour as civil defence workers, on paper, tried to restore some semblance of order. Already some 215,000 were presumed dead, about 350,000 injured and 325,000 homeless.

It was the biggest civil defence test ever undertaken by Canada and the United States and though there were plenty of loopholes and miscues — they were expected — workers at the control centre here seemed fairly satisfied with the results.

"AGREEABLY SURPRISED"

Maj.-Gen. Frank Worthington, Canada's civil defence director, said he is "agreeably surprised" and then announced that a new exercise will be put on for February with a new set of theoretical targets.

Designated target areas Monday were Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Simcoe County, Vancouver, Windsor, Ont., and Fort Erie, Ont., were affected by the imaginary explosion of bombs which hit Detroit and Buffalo.

Seven other smaller Canadian centres were theoretically affected by diversionary raids with conventional weapons by imaginary enemy bombers sweeping out of the north to hit the target areas or by supposed sabotage. They were Arvida, Chicoutimi, Kingsville, Ile Maligne and Quebec City in Quebec; Kingsbury, Ont., Red Deer and Wetaskiw in Alberta, and Trail, Kamloops, and Victoria in British Columbia.

The imaginary enemy—the word Russia officially never mentioned—theoretically suffered "very heavy losses" from its 425-bomber attacking force. Only four planes out of a theoretical plane kill came from Canada, however, one supposedly fell into a house.

REPORT CITIZENS SHOT

Quebec City, with vivid imagination at one point, reported that a number of citizens had been hypothetically shot by firing squad for refusing to obey civil defence orders.

Worthington revealed at the final U.S. civil defence headquarters in Washington took the opportunity to suggest a telephone call from Washington to Arnprior to clear up the matter.

Food was supposedly needed most in Halifax, Montreal, Windsor, Ontario and the lower mainland of British Columbia. Seven days' rations were said to be required for 100,000 persons in Halifax, 150,000 in Quebec, 100,000 in southern Ontario and 100,000 in B.C.

Resources of the provinces to handle this holocaust were considered strained. Provinces not directly affected were theoretically rushing aid to the stricken areas. Many medical supplies and nurses were also hypothetically flown to trouble spots.

DAMAGES HEAVY

The imaginary 425-plane attacking force was considered to have suffered very heavy losses.

Other theoretical movements: Ten trains of food to the devastated areas; Great Lakes vessels to Toronto to evacuate 100,000 persons; thousands of homeless to four northern New York counties; countersteam transportation of refugees from Buffalo and Detroit to Ontario.

Some wrinkles thought up by civil defence workers to add to the theoretical devastation and suffering included:

After setting an unofficial air speed record for Canada, Sqdn. Ldr. Robert Chirtiko of Vancouver receives the congratulations of his wife, son, Cameron, aged four, after he travelled from Ottawa to Montreal and back at an average speed of 732.5 mph, so fast it took him 42 miles to turn around at Montreal. He also holds a transcontinental record, having flown from Vancouver to Ottawa in three hours, 46 minutes. (Central Press Canadian.)

Morganston Man Forces Wife To Watch Him Die of Poison

MORGANSTON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Elgie Rumsay Palmateer said Monday night her husband drank carbolic acid of water containing strychnine poison and ordered her and their 11-year-old daughter to sit beside him as he died in agony.

Mrs. Palmateer said she and her 42-year-old husband had a quarrel late Sunday night and she called the provincial police at Brighton, 11 miles southeast of here.

She said her husband sat in the kitchen brooding after police left. Later he came into the room where she and her daughter, Carole, were sleeping.

She said he told them:

"Wake up, I'm going to commit suicide."

Then he drank the contents of a glass in his hand and asked them to sit by him as he lay on a couch. Later he asked them to move him into a bedroom, where he died.

Mrs. Palmateer said she phoned Dr. R. Jolliffe a few minutes before her husband died and he advised her to call police.

She said she and her daughter did not take Mr. Palmateer seriously when he drank the liquid because "he used to do things like this often."

Morganston is 20 miles west of Belleville.

Eden, Molotov Confer Again As Parley Breakdown Near

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—Anthony Eden and V. M. Molotov met in a hurriedly arranged private session today as the Geneva conference appeared moving rapidly toward a breakdown.

The Soviet foreign minister requested the meeting with his British opposite number as the 19 countries which fought in Korea on the United Nations side drafted a declaration saying further talks on Korean unification are useless at this time.

The 18 planned to present the statement at a session of the 19-power Korean conference this afternoon. The UN allies want to offer the Korean issue back to the international organization.

The Indo-China phase of the conference is in recess until Wednesday, when it will take up the Western demands that Communist Vietminh forces get out of Laos and Cambodia.

Western sources said Communist reaction to these demands on Laos and Cambodia will determine whether the Indo-China talks will continue.

CMA to Take More Active Role in Rehabilitation

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—An intensive drive to further rehabilitation of disabled persons will be launched by the Canadian Medical Association.

In a closed meeting that extended until late Monday night, the 150-member CMA general council adopted a report calling for more active participation in rehabilitation. The council meetings are continuing today.

Dr. Norman H. Gosse of Halifax, chairman of the executive committee, said rehabilitation followed with equal importance the first two phases of medicine—diagnosis and treatment—but that the medical profession had been generally slow in appreciating the importance of "salvaging those human wastage from disabling disease and injury."

In other action during the opening day of the five-day 87th annual CMA convention, council formally accepted the resignation of Dr. T. clarence Routley of Toronto as general secretary and appointed Dr. Arthur Dill Kelly of Toronto as his successor.

Eleven outstanding Canadian doctors, one from each province plus an additional one from B.C., were elected senior members of the association and the 1,500 convention delegates attended an action-packed program that included colored television broadcasts of operations underway at the general hospital here and demonstrations and a number of specialist technical papers on anaesthesia, psychiatric treatment, pathology and rheumatism.

Dr. Gosse noted in his report that a $500,000 grant made to provincial health authorities for rehabilitation work in 1953 had not been fully utilized. About $100,000 had been spent from the grant, approved by Parliament for 1954.

"The success of any rehabilitation program depends largely on accurate medical assessment of the disabled persons," said Dr. Gosse.

Council approved a recommendation that immediate steps be taken to incorporate the need for rehabilitation as a new department of medical school training.

Dr. Kelly said the CMA aim was to transmit to civilian treatment the same type of rehabilitation used in the armed forces with this "outstanding success" during the Second World War.

Dr. Routley's retirement marked the end of an era in CMA.

The 45-year-old physician took over the post of general secretary in 1933 and during his 21 years in office travelled more than 1,500,000 miles in his efforts to raise the standards of medical training and facilities both in Canada and throughout the world.

Divorce Hearing Contains Testimony Of Slappings, Spanking and Dunking

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Shapely Suzan Hayward's contested divorce trial got off to a racy start Monday when the maid next door told of seeing a nude blonde dunked in the pool by the actress' yard at 3 a. m. screaming:

"Don't kill me! Help! Help! Don't kill me!"

She wouldn't swear the woman was the red-haired Miss Hayward, but the maid, Mrs. Loden Hazel Swain, said, "that's who was living next door."

Mrs. Swain added:

A man who appeared to be Jess Barker, the actress' husband, chased her, shouting "you're going to sign that deal." They ran in the direction of the pool and a few moments later there were sounds of splashing.

The star, who appeared in a flowered silk dress and white straw hat, charges mental cruelty. She married Barker in 1944, was separated and reconciled in 1947, then separated again last year.

In previous court hearings she said the source of her trouble with Barker was his refusal to work.

The earlier hearings also contained testimony of slappings, a spanking and a near nude dunking of the actress.

EIGHT PROVINCES TO TAKE OVER TRAFFIC POWERS

Commons Completes Detailed Study

OTTAWA (CP)—Highway transport boards in the provinces—all except Quebec and Newfoundland—are expected to receive federal powers to regulate international and interprovincial highway traffic within their borders.

The Commons Monday night completed detailed study of a measure to give that authority in provincial boards, provided the provinces accept the legislation.

Transport Minister Chevrier informed the House that the legislation will be brought into force in any province which indicates it wants the power.

NIGHT OR NINE

He said the legislation was assented to by eight of nine provinces attending a conference in April which drafted the bill. Quebec had said it would give consideration to the British North America Act to confer regulatory power on provincial boards.

Newfoundland was not represented. Its highway traffic is negligible.

"From the correspondence I have in my hands now I think it would be possible to proclaim it (the legislation) in eight of the 10 provinces," Mr. Chevrier said.

The measure would provide interprovincial exercise of regulatory powers which the Privy Council, in a long line of decisions, has ruled are federal responsibility. The provinces already have powers to regulate over traffic within their borders.

NO INTERFERENCE

Justice Minister Garson assured members that any province which does not accept the authority will be "unable to interfere with highway traffic from outside. It could not deny entrance to any truck or bus operating on international or interprovincial business.

He said that provincial transport boards in the past have made reciprocal arrangements for rates and bus operations between provinces. This system would continue under the bill.

Replying to a question by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton), Mr. Chevrier said provincial licensing of highway transport of goods will be on the same terms and conditions and in the same manner as licences and certificates of convenience for transport within a province.

SPEED SAFEGUARD

Opposition Leader Drew objected to one clause preserving for the provinces power over — riding power to make exceptions to provisions relating to speed limits on traffic. Mr. Chevrier replied it would apply in cases of unforeseen circumstances, or for national defence. It was for the protection of Nova Scotia as a safeguard against being cut off from highway traffic from central Canada.

Mr. Drew proposed a motion to refer the legislation to a House committee for study, but the motion was defeated on a recorded voice vote.

Mr. Garson said the bill was being pushed through too hastily and needed careful study.

ARREST 12 AFRICANS

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters)— Police in the colonial police force raided two African villages near Kampala and arrested 23 persons, including a 70-year-old woman. Police also banned all youth meetings under emergency regulations following an African boycott protesting Britain's ouster last year of the king of Buganda province.

Japs Discover Tax Collector's Fraud—In 1680

TOKYO (AP)—Northern Honshu officials have uncovered a tax dodge almost 300 years old.

They have two 18-by-24 foot topographical maps of the 1680 period—almost identical.

One map shows 11 more villages than the other.

Officials said the map with the doctored villages was displayed by the lord of the province to higher tax officials to show the accurate version he used for collecting taxes.

May Invite Eden, Churchill To Visit Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today the government will consider inviting Prime Minister Churchill and British Foreign Secretary Eden to Ottawa during their visit to Washington late this month.

Opposition leader Drew asked in the Commons whether the government will invite the United Kingdom government leaders here for a discussion of Asian problems and possibly a conference of Commonwealth ministers.

The matter will receive consideration," Mr. St. Laurent replied.

Two Men Killed As Truck Upsets At Parry Sound

PARRY SOUND (CP)—Two men were killed and a third was seriously injured today when a Montreal-bound truck left the road and overturned after leaving the road two miles south of here.

Dead are Marcel Gauthier of Montreal, burned to death when the overturned truck burst into flames, and 17-year-old Donald Walters, of Hobel. A miner north of here, who died four hours later in hospital, Gerald Shoesmaron, 30, of Montreal, was reported "critically injured."

Police said the accident, which occurred at the intersection of Hobel and the North Bay road is believed to have occurred when the truck took a curve too sharply, to the left of the road, crashed and burst into flames.

Gauthier was trapped in the blaze. Walters and Shoesmaron were found walking dazedly on the road-side by other clothing aflame, police said.

The truck belonged to Westmount Movers of Montreal.

BUILD LARGE KITES

TOKYO (AP)—Residents of Iwatsuki, north of Tokyo, are building two of the largest kites in the world. The box kites are 26 feet wide, will weigh 984 pounds each and will require 150 men each to get them off the ground.

Hillary Nears Civilization

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Sir Edmund Hillary, thinner but fit again, is expected to reach Biratnagar, first outpost of civilization on the Nepal-Indian frontier, today or tomorrow.

The conqueror of Everest is reported to be "in excellent condition" after two attacks of lung trouble and malaria which stirred world interest last month while he was on isolated Barun glacier leading an expedition on Himalayan peak Mt. Makalu, 27,790-foot Mount Makalu.

Radar Speed Traps Operating On Q. E. Way

TORONTO (CP) — Radar speed traps now are in full operation on the Queen Elizabeth way between Toronto and Niagara Falls, it was announced Monday by provincial police commissioner E. W. Mickle who said summonses are expected to be issued shortly as a result of their speed measurements.

Missing $75,000 Ransom Is Found Wrapped in Shirt 10 Feet from Road

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Discovery of the $75,000 ransom money has cleared up a major mystery in the Evelyn Ann Smith kidnap case.

The missing cash, bundled in a man's work shirt with a shiny patrol tying on top, was found Monday afternoon by mountains Monday. The hiding place was less than 10 miles from the spot from which dozens of police had traveled since Friday.

About 100 yards away is a ranch house near which Daniel J. Marsan, an unemployed Phoenix welder, was apprehended shortly after the ransom was paid by Mrs. Smith's husband, Herbert Marsin, 41, was identified Mrs. Smith as her abductor.

Police placed the money in a shoe box, which was labeled "$75,-

Amateur Radio Club Prepared For Field Day

Members of the Quinte Amateur Radio Club are all prepared for their field day this week-end when they will set up equipment on a hill site north of Brighton and strive to make as many radio contacts as possible with amateurs in Canada and, in other countries.

This year the amateurs will have a portable generator unit with which to supply power for transmitters and receivers and the finishing touches to their new unit have been rushed this week to have it in readiness.

The club recently purchased an 1,800 watt gasoline driven portable generator and under the direction of Howard Fralick, Hugh Luttrell and Ardel Wilson the unit has been put in top working condition.

The small unit is the only privately owned portable generator in Belleville which is in top working order and will be of a distinct asset to the club members with their various emergency exercises.

Toronto Airman Suffers Broken Shoulder Bone

A Toronto airman, ACI W. C. Stannard, 21, stationed at St. Margaret's, near Chatham, N.B. is in Toronto RCAF hospital with a dislocated shoulder following being thrown from his motorcycle in the Mafyrville flats, east of Shannonville.

Stannard was on his way back to his station following spending his leave in Toronto when his motorbike struck a raised patch in the roadbed and he was thrown off the machine. The motorbike continued 300 feet down the road before coming to a halt.

The injured airman was taken to Belleville hospital by Bush's ambulance and was later transferred to the air station hospital at Trenton.

Ireland Land Of Lakes, Hills Rotarians Told

Just a plane-hop across the Atlantic is an island of Europe that, officially, bears two names.

That either is true, or both of the map is something both natives and tourists have in common.

Although at once a loyal kingdom and a glorious republic, it is where the Irish come from so it can only be called—Ireland.

The most unsuitable reason, this little island, although politically and physically insignificant, when viewed from a 2,000-mile perspective, has a place in the hearts of most of us which is known to the Irish as "a soft spot."

Some of the probable reasons for this peculiar heart-tug were pointed out to Rotarians yesterday, when the film "Ireland—Land of a Thousand Welcomes," was shown to the club's weekly luncheon in the Hotel Quinte.

Although the film is not commercial showings, with its shots of gentle mountains and shy landscapes, is strictly a publicity blurb aimed at capturing tourists, it put the Rotarians present that there is something more to this land of Erin than its obvious beautiful and relaxing scenery.

The film unfolds through the Irish countryside from a bird's eye glimpse of a way of life, which makes it difficult to realize that it is place a living part of an anxious Europe, just a plane-hop across the sea from bustling North America.

We get the atmosphere dropped in the south seas.It would be more easily comparable to the Irish Isles, but to find it in a fairly modern, extremely cultured island is, apparently, to find an old deaf grandmother charge with a murder.

LATEST IN CARS

From its grimming capital, Dublin, where the latest of American automobiles, purr down some of the loveliest and most jampacked streets in Europe, to healthy little fishing villages of Wexford and Cork, there is the impression of having entered a walled place, where the currents of the world's fast living, carefully sifted before being admitted.

We get donkey carts, the skips of brown turf from the bog, the old western woman patiently weaving her cloth outside a made-side cottage, all show a rebuttal of change.

Then, too,there is the wonderful scenery, peaceful, lingering. The green-covered hills, the ruined monasteries, that once, although now bank darkened world, the wisped and stony hills, the lakes, which could be places of fallen sky.

Yet as the film continued you realized there was more to visiting Ireland than just kissing the Blarney Stone or fishing for salmon in a Galway River.

It could be that Ireland's disregard of change is the real attraction and her tragedy. Watching yesterday's film it was difficult to realize such a place as part of our up-to-date western world. And then change doesn't always mean transformation.

Peaceful, it also seemed an essential part of our world. An ideal place to rest between the busy chores of housekeeping that world.

Obituary

CLARENCE F. CHISHOLM

The funeral of Clarence Franklin Chisholm, 78, R.R. 8, Frankford, was held from the Rose Funeral Home to Marmora cemetery, Monday, June 14, with Rev. H. C. Secker, Stirling, officiating.

Bearers were: Elmer Smith, Vernon Smith, Harry Smith, Robert Ostler, Manley Ketcher, Colson Donald.

In failing health for the past six years, Mr. Chisholm died at his residence, Friday, June 11. A farmer, he was born in Chisholm Mills, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald Chisholm. He was a resident in the district for 33 years. Previously he had lived in Sidney township and Marmora. A bachelor, he was a member of Trinity Anglican Church.

Surviving are one brother, Murray, and a sister, Mrs. Chisholm, both of R.R. 2, Frankford.

DAVID WESLEY ADAMS

In ill health for the past eight months, David Wesley Adams, 87 Cedar Street, died at his home early this Tuesday morning.

He was born in Prince Edward County, 78 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Adams. He had resided in the city for the past 40 years, where he carried on landscape gardening until his retirement some years ago. Previously he had resided in Hillier and Ameliasburgh.

The late Mr. Adams was a member of Christ Church and fraternally he was identified with the Woodmen of the World.

Surviving are his wife (formerly Emma M. Flindall; three daughters, Mrs. Edward (Gertie) Fordyce and Mrs. Michael (Eva) Tomazo, of this city; Mrs. Willis. (Agnes) Hendrickson, Syracusal; one son, Albert C. Adams, of England; two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Weir of Consecon; Mrs. J. J. Moore, of Florida, and three brothers, Charles Adams, of Florida; Asrof Adams of Newtonville, and Harold Adams of Hillier.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. MARY BEAULIU

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Beaulieu was held Tuesday morning from the funeral residence of George F. O'Brien to St. Michael's Church where Mass was said by Rev. P. Murphy. Prayers at the graveside in St. James Cemetery were said by Rev. J. Buckley.

Bearers were: William Lynch, Thomas Mahon, Frank Lochhead, Stephen Garvin, Arthur Shanque and Maurice Callaghan.

MRS. TIMOTHY SULLIVAN

In apparent good health yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Timothy Sullivan, wife of Timothy Sullivan, 146 William Street, former well known Belleville street barber, walked into her home and succumbed to a sudden heart seizure. Mrs. Sullivan was in her 68th year.

Mrs. Sullivan was a devoted member of St. Michael's Church. When her health permitted she was very active in the Catholic Women's League, the Benevolent Society and the League of the Sacred Heart. She was a great helpmate and will be missed in many circles of life.

Born in Belleville the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Reddy, Mrs. Sullivan lived in her native city all her life and was well known and highly respected in a wide circle of friends.

Surviving besides her husband are one daughter, Mrs. Peter (Madeline) Cook, Belleville, and two half-brothers, Howard Lapalm of this city, and Stanley LaPalm of Woodstock, Ont.

The funeral arrangements appear elsewhere in this edition.

Underwriters Stage Sports Day at Club

The Day of Quinte Golf and Country Club provided a wonderful setting last Friday when the Quinte Life Underwriters staged its first annual Sports Day. Many of its members were in attendance for the day's activities which included golfing, bridge tournament and a dinner meeting.

Regional vice-president of the Life Underwriters Association, Mr. James Baines, C.L.U., paid his official visit to the association and installed the new officers for the coming year: President, Harold Carruthers; secretary, Clarence Fuzzen; treasurer, McKinley Rankin; immediate past president, Stanley C. Wiggins; executive members, Gordon Jeffrey, William Sobis, Herbert Middleton, Carman Lowther, George Meades and Thos. Hutchinson.

As well as installing his new officers Mr. Baines also rendered a very informative address on the subject "How to Measure a Man."

After completing his address he presented trophies and awards to the following members: John H. Stanley Bowl, C. Wiggins, Lloyd K. York, Harold L. Carruthers, Gordon Jeffrey, William A. Holmes, Donald Williams, McKinley Rankin, F. B. Elliott, Vernon Weir, Sidney Martin, Frank Douglas, Robert Gamble and Ralph B. Morden.

In presenting the awards he praised the efforts of the winners very highly and stated that such distinction is only won by those who underwrite business of high quality.

The association's auditors in the persons of Carman Lowther and Thomas Hutchinson presented their report and stated that the treasury was in a healthy condition.

Upon completion of the various competitions prizes were presented with the day's program ending at approximately 8 p.m.

Great Demand For Weed Cutting

With ideal growing weather giving weeds a big start, the city public works department is being flooded with calls for special weed cutting that it cannot hope to fill.

"We just can't pull our men off regular duties to do private weed cutting and if weeds on city property grow," stated City Engineer Charles Mitchell.

Mr. Mott noted that the city hall was being flooded with calls requesting city forces to cut weeds on private properties.

But the city engineer had a suggestion. He feels special areas must be many cent in the city temporarily out of a job who would welcome the opportunity to make a few dollars cutting weeds.

He suggested that men interested in doing weed cutting leave their names and telephone numbers with the public works department. Then when calls for their services came in they could be contacted.

Conservation Authority Plans Watershed Tour

Members of the Moira River Conservation Authority will take the day off on June 24th to learn at first hand just what is being done in the way of conservation within the watershed.

Authority chairman Alderman Bruce Smith of Belleville has announced that all members are to be held at the Madoc Town Hall commencing at 9.30 in the morning. All phases of the Authority program will be discussed, including park and recreation, flood control and reforestation.

It is expected that up to date information on the model of the proposed College Street ice control dam at Belleville will be given at the meeting.

Following a luncheon at Blue's Hotel in Madoc members of the Authority will start on a tour of the watershed and will visit reservoirs, dams, reforestation area where tree planting was carried out, and ponds.

The tour will then swing through the Zion Hill area and on to Foxboro where farm ponds will be visited. The safari will end with a conducted jour of the Bethlehem Steel development at Marmora.

Speed Too Fast For Conditions Causes Accidents

"Speed too fast for conditions is a factor in one out of every three fatal traffic accident," said Chief R. W. Procter of Belleville, when questioned about street and road safety.

"Too many drivers involved in accidents failed to realize that speed limits are based on favorable conditions. When conditions are less than ideal, speed must be reduced for safety.

"Let's put it this way. At 40 miles an hour a car striking a fixed object will suffer the same damage as if it were dropped from a four-storey building. At 60 miles an hour the impact would be the same as if it had been dropped from a ten-storey building. This is relatively the same impact as two cars, each going 30 miles an hour, meeting head on.

"Adverse weather, heavy traffic and other factors are factors which call for slower speeds. In the vicinity of schools or parked cars on residential streets, even 25 miles an hour can be a dangerously high speed when children are playing nearby.

"Strict, impartial enforcement of speed laws is one of our most effective ways of preventing accidents. When speed is apprehended for exceeding the limit by a few miles an hour, he rarely regards his action as wrong-doing.

He invariably insists that he had complete control of his vehicle, and the influence of his action on other road-users is ignored.

"Too many experienced drivers," Chief Probert continued, "depend on their sense of speed rather than their speedometers to tell them how fast they are going. With the improvements in comfort and ease of handling motor vehicles, a sense of speed developed in earlier days is most unreliable today. Confronted with an emergency, they suddenly find that the control they expected to have simply does not exist — only because they were going faster than they thought.

"Speed controlled according to conditions, and within posted limits, will do as much to prevent accidents as any other single element in the field of traffic safety."

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Forenoon stock market trading moved slowly today and left prices a little weaker.

The industrial board moved down with small losses in papers, constructions, steels, liquors, refining oils, motors and retails. Financial institutions were steady and foods, agricultures, utilities and manufacturers were narrowly ahead.

Few senior base metal issues were traded and those showed minor gains. Juniors were slightly lower. Western oils were also down with 15 losses and 11 gains.

Senior golds were strong but juniors and prospects were a little weaker. Holding companies were strong. Uranium and Manitoba-wide issues were steady.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter prices prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was weak with offerings heavy for a poor demand. Quotations on graded eggs in fibre cases: A large 41; A medium 38-39; A small 34-36; B 29-30; C 27-28. Wholesale to trade: A large 46; A medium 43-44; A small 39-31; B 34-35; C 33-34.

Butter quotes: Ontario, 1st grade, non-tenderable 55¼-56; tenderable 58.

Airline Service Daily to Toronto May Be in Offing

Daily airline service to and from Toronto may be in the offing for Belleville residents.

The Chamber of Commerce, at a directors' meeting in the Queen's Hotel, Monday evening, approved, in principle, and offered its help and assistance to Bernard Hamblin and Earl Armstrong, of Kingston, who are proposing an airline service from Kingston to Toronto with a stop-over at Belleville.

Directors felt that this service would definitely be of help to local citizens, both privately and for business purposes.

Owners of the proposed air service hope to begin with a daily schedule of going to Toronto in the morning and returning in the evening.

Amphibious aircraft would be used and would land in the Bay of Quinte until other facilities are made available.

LOUIS FINED

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis, former world heavyweight champion, Monday paid a $300 fine for six unpaid traffic summonses. A warrant was issued for Louis May 20 after he failed to answer 20 notices.

Shenanigans Part of Initiation For Kinsmen

The theatre-going populace and motorists driving in the downtown area must have rubber their eyes in disbelief last night when they saw a party of six white-gowned persons being led up the street blindfolded and wearing handcuffs.

But nobody was being led off to jail; it was all a matter of clean fun, the shenanigans being part of the initiation program for new members of the Belleville Kinsmen Club.

Initiation exercises for six of the eight new club members were held at the K. of C. rooms on Front Street with lunch being served as part of the program.

Initiated into the Kinsmen club were Kenneth Archer, Kenneth Campbell, Al Smith, Don Boyce, Howard Walsh and Charles Dunbar.

Two other new club members, Ted Jones and Archie Webb were unable to be present for the initiation.

Two Drowned In North Lake, Couple Rescued

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—A husband and wife were drowned in Gowganda lake 30 miles east of here Sunday but their daughter saved herself and her husband by swimming 60 feet to shore with his unconscious form.

Dead are Ernie Rabelski, 47, and his 42-year-old wife, Nelly, both of nearby Virginiatown. They were thrown into the water with their 19-year-old daughter, Joan, and her 23-year-old husband, Tom Rowe, when an outboard motorboat overturned.

After dragging her unconscious husband ashore, the young wife gave him artificial respiration for two hours before he regained consciousness.

Details of the mishap came to light Monday after the young couple were rescued by a search party.

Early Action Sought from UN On Thai Appeal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United States and Thailand announced today in an attempt to get early Security Council action on the Thai plea for a United Nations peace patrol to check on the Indochina war.

Henry Cabot Lodge, United States delegate and council president for June, called the 11-country group to meet tomorrow on Thailand's request.

Most diplomats assume that in a veiled showdown Russia will veto any proposal to send observers anywhere in Southeast Asia. In that event, Thailand is expected to ask the veto-free General Assembly for action.

C of C Celebrates 70th Anniversary With 300 Members

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce celebrates its 70th anniversary this month by re-holding an all-time high in memberships.

For the first time in the history of the local Chamber, membership has reached 300, it was announced Monday evening at a directors' meeting held in the Queen's Hotel.

The Chamber, which has acquired 35 new members since the start of its membership drive hopes to add substantially to this total before the end of the year.

The Belleville Board of Trade, precursor of the Chamber of Commerce, was organized June 9, 1854, with 54 members. Secretary of the first Board was J. Parker Thomas. The Board of Trade officially changed its name to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce in 1920.

Business in the new organization was actually commenced in 1921 with Jamieson Bone as president and A. G. Farrell as secretary.

Don Kingdon, secretary manager of the local Chamber, reported on the 8th annual session for Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce secretaries held June 8th and 9th at Hunter College, University or Western Ontario at London.

SPEAKERS AT SESSION

Speakers at the sessions, which dealt with a multitude of problems confronting Chamber secretaries, were E. Royden Coulter, city manager of Sarnia; John J. Deutsch, assistant deputy minister of finance and secretary of the Treasury Board, Ottawa; Paul T. Good, manager of the education department of the Chambers of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D.C.; and Joseph Gerow, C.B.E., president of the London Life Insurance Company.

Fourteen new members inducted into the Chamber were: J. Albert, prop., Alberts Style Shop; H. A. Bateman, prop., Stroud's Gift Shop; E. A. Cherry, prop., The Cherry Shop; Mrs. I. Dee-Roches, manager, Jack Snow Credit Jewellery Ltd.; J. Fish, mgr., manager, National Cash Register Co., of Can. Ltd.; K. N. Gerow, manager, Lloyd's Cleaners and Dyers; James R. Jarrett, manager, Belleville Terminal; Bert Lewis, B. A. Lewis Jewellers; J. E. Logan, prop, Ed. Logan Jeweller; Bill Meyer, manager, Meagher's Men's Wear; Alex Robitaille, manager, Bond Clothes Shop; Irvin Shulman, prop., Milady Shop; S. R. Parkinson, manager Dockyard Hotel Ltd; H. J. Trepanier, prop, Trepanier Tire Trend Co.

SUFFERS BROKEN ARM LEGS

John Pecjak, 168 Victoria Ave, suffered a broken left arm and bruises Monday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding on North Front Street was in collision with a car.

Driver of the car, Harry P. Ryan, 29½ Station Street, took the injured boy to the office of Dr. J. Russell Scott and later to Belleville hospital. The mishap occurred near Thompson's canteen outside the city limits. Pecjak is a recent arrival in Canada and was working at the Belleville hospital.

GENEVA (Reuters) — Rumors circulated here today that Communist China may agree to send a diplomatic mission to London soon. Britain is already represented at Peiping. British officials declined to comment on the reports.

Hastings School Of Art Opened By A. Y. Jackson

Building up the field of Canadian painting is an exciting adventure according to A. Y. Jackson, who officially opened the Summer School of Art in the Highlands of Hastings this week. He told of happy associations with Canadian painters in amateur days—Tom Thomson, Lauren Harris, Don McLeod and the late Frederick Banting, who found relief out sketching the great west game in the world."

Times have changed since Canadians boasted they didn't even a single Canadian painting. Dr. Jackson told nearly 200 painters and guests at the Summer School opening reception. "When we first started painting our country," he said, "a critic called one exhibition 'a single, narrow, rigid line of violence.' So the Group of Seven Canadian painters used this slogan for their next exhibition which consequently attracted attention far and wide, and was a great success.

Today remarkable developments in amateur painting are going on from Great Bear Lake, Yellowknife, and Banff to this Don Valley School of Art." The work of this Summer School will have wide influence in surrounding communities and in the field of Canadian painting, Dr. Jackson predicted.

Greetings were brought by Roscoe Robson, M.P.P., Hastings East, Fred Mitchell, Warden of Hastings County and Reeve T. C. Graham of Tweed. Roy Cadwell, M.A., director of the Summer School, presided at the opening ceremonies which coincided with the playing of the Madoc and District Band, directed by William Aylsworth. Mr. Cadwell introduced the guest of honor and the summer school staff, including the "informal staff," a group of eight local young people without whose help he said the School would not yet have been ready to open.

An Imprint of A. Y. Jackson's hands was made in cement as a souvenir, and he then demonstrated landscape painting beside the Moira-Salmon (Black) River bordering the Summer School grounds. Refreshments Dr. Jackson made a lucky draw and presented the winner, Jack Marrs, of Peterborough, with an oil painting by Mary Schneider, one of the resident instructors at the Summer School.

Guests thronged the grounds from Apsley, Actinolite, Bancroft, Belleville, Campbellford, Deloro, Indian River, Madoc, Marmora, Norwood, Northbrook, Ottawa, Oshawa, Perth, Peterborough, Port Hope, Queenabro, Toronto, Tweed, Vernonville, and West Hill.

European Army Is Key Issue In French Crisis

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—France's current political crisis is spelling new trouble today for the long-delayed European army treaty. The controversial pact in turn poses a major problem for premier-designate Pierre Mendes-France or anyone else trying to succeed ousted premier Joseph Laniel.

Laniel and his cabinet resigned after losing a National Assembly vote of confidence on Indo-China Saturday. Mendes-France, whose criticism of government policy in Indo-China was a major factor in Laniel's fall, accepted the mandate to form a cabinet Monday. He is slated to seek confirmation before the assembly Wednesday or Thursday.

His chances are considered slight. A big factor is the bad split in the country over the scheduling of debate on ratification of the European Defence Community Pact, which has been languishing in committee for more than two years.

NEEDS MIXED SUPPORT

Any successor to Laniel needs the support of both the Catholic Movement Republican Populaire and the party made up of followers of Gen. de Gaulle. The MRP wants the army treaty debated as quickly as possible; the Gaullists, bitterly opposed to the EDC plan, will fight any attempt to force debate.

The new premier will have to conjure up some formula to reconcile these views. Mendes-France's public statements have been rather more against than for the European army, a position which will probably cost him support among the MRP bloc.

RUSSIAN TECHNIQUE

When is a champion not a champion?

When he is a Russian and there is another Russian who, experts believe, may be better.

That is our simple explanation for the announcement that world champion Mikhail Botvinnik will not lead a Russian team scheduled to play a round-robin tournament with American chess masters.

An effort has been made in the chess world to turn this into a cloak-and-dagger mystery. But the facts are simple. Botvinnik has just finished playing a 24-game match with another Russian, Vassily Smyslov. Each won twelve games and since he was not defeated Botvinnik remains champion. But experts, analyzing the play, contend that Smyslov is actually the better player. Two years ago Botvinnik defended his title against another Russian, David Bronstein. This match also ended in a 12-12 tie. And then, too, experts regarded Bronstein's performance as slightly better.

America's No. 1 player is Samuel Reshevsky, who has established himself as champion of the Western world.

The Russian Politburo probably sees no good reason why Reshevsky should be matched with Botvinnik if Smyslov is better. And since you can hardly order the world champion to play second board, Mikhail stays home.

This probably pleases the Politburo and Smyslov, but is hardly satisfactory to Botvinnik and Reshevsky, or the latter, even if he does not rate as a decided underdog, will still not have beaten the world champion.

INEQUITABLE PENSIONS

Norm Hull, writing in the Windsor Star, calls attention to an inequity in workmen's compensation allowances paid to widows.

Widows whose husbands were killed before April of 1953 receive $50 a month, those whose husbands were killed after that date get $75.

Basically this inequity is the result of the declining purchasing power of the dollar. It is doubtful whether $75 buys as much today as $50 would buy when that figure was first set. Some adjustment was made necessary by rising costs.

Besides, these pensions come out of a fund built up by contributions from employers and the province. It was argued that it was impossible to adjust pensions already granted. Only those granted hereafter were to be increased to make possible the $25 boost for new widows.

But, new or old, these widows must all pay 1954 prices. This is just another proof of the impossibility of devising any scheme which will provide positive security for years ahead. In the final analysis the only security any of us can enjoy is a confidence that, if we deal fairly with the people today, we ourselves shall get fair treatment if we require help in the future. Cases like that quoted by Mr. Hull may shake this confidence, for many of those women followed the April of 1953 must be on the verge of poverty, if not actually engulfed in its bog.

BABY, IT'S COOL UPSTAIRS!

Breaking the sound barrier is getting to be a routine business in these jet-propelled days. So, when Sqdn. Ldr. Rich Christie zipped from Ottawa to Montreal and back in fifteen minutes on Saturday, as part of the Air Force Day program, there was nothing earth-shaking about the performance.

Some of those spectators who sweltered in the Weatherman's predicted "hot and humid" fare might, however, find some eyebrow raising in the fact that, while at 42,000 feet, Christie was "enjoying" a 65-below zero temperature.

Next time you switch under the eaves and toss all the corners of the bed, you will know what the real trouble is. No, the basement is no place for a bedroom. The trouble with your house is that you did not build it high enough. Just 41,990 feet too low to permit you to enjoy those comforting -65-degree below zero breezes!

A SENSIBLE MOVE

The announcement by Hon. Milton F. Gregg, federal minister of labor, that the railways and their non-operating unions have agreed to resume contract negotiations will be generally welcomed.

Frank Hall, chairman of the unions' negotiating committee, has announced that plans to take a strike vote will proceed as scheduled. But that does not commit afford a railway strike. Neither, in any realistic view, can the railways and the unions. Announcement of resumption of negotiations is a step in the right direction, but in the interest of all concerned it needs to be followed by another announcement, settlement of the dispute.

MOST CITY MEN USELESS ON FARM

Certain prairie points report a shortage of farm labor. And this at a time when every large urban centre has thousands out of work.

There is a superficial contradiction in this situation, where some employers are seeking workers and many workers are seeking employment. The fact is, however, a large majority of those idle in cities would be practically useless on farms—unless they have had rural experience. (Windsor Star).

JUST FOLKS

THE NEW GRANDPA

I had it from her grandpa, who
Is dead and buried now,
That there's never been a baby
quite so beautiful as she.
But he'd only known her eighteen
forty minutes, less or more,
And I didn't want to tell him that
I'd heard that line before.

"She doesn't have a wrinkle in
Her body or her face,
And they say it's very seldom such a miracle occurs.
She's as pretty and as perfect as a bud before it flowers.
It's the truth that I am telling, and not just because she's ours."

"The doctor and the nurses said
throughout their long careers
They'd never seen a baby with such shell-like little ears."
But I didn't want to tell him since so proud he seemed to be,
When I first became a grandpa that is what they said to me.

He had just received the title, as all happy grandfolks do,
And I didn't want to argue with a grandpa quite so new.
But, I could have told him bluntly when the title came to me
That I boasted of the baby just exactly as did he.

"Good gracious, you're not my husband! - - - My husband is $22.68!"

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

25 YEARS AGO

JUNE 15, 1934.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregor Murray are spending a few days in Montreal.

Miss Frances Potter attended the June ball at the Royal Military College, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson, Brock Street, celebrated the 33rd anniversary of their marriage on June 12th and received the congratulations of their friends.

Mr. Clinton Jones, who has been living in Trenton for some time, will shortly return to this city to reside.

The county council, which is now in session at Picton Hall, will appoint a county clerk to succeed the late William Nugent, who died last January. There are at present fifteen applicants for the position.

Mr. W. W. Weaver of Trenton was a visitor in the city today.

Mrs. F. Rawson has returned to her home here after spending a short time in Hamilton.

30 YEARS AGO

JUNE 15, 1924.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the United Empire Loyalist Celebration here on Monday morning. On Sunday there will be a military church parade and divine service at the armouries lawn and in the evening at 8.30 o'clock the band of the 4th Highlanders, Toronto, will give a concert on the armouries lawn. On Monday morning at ten o'clock the official opening will take place at the court house grounds; at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon a military sports will take place at the fair grounds; at 7.30 in the evening there will be a military tattoo and at 9.30 o'clock there will be a display of fire works.

Mr. Thomas Johnson of Tweed will be sworn in as registrar for the county of Hastings by His Honor Judge J. F. Wills tomorrow, Mr. Johnson succeeds the late Samuel Russell.

Mr. Louis Clements of Rochester, N.Y., and old Belleville boy, is visiting friends here.

In the five and ten, I picked up a few of those metal rings for making repairs in hoses. I also got two or three metal inserts for joining lengths of hose. Then I dragged the old hose out of the cellar and stretched it on the lawn. Turning on the water, I went the length of the hose with a piece of chalk, marking the leaks.

With a newly-sharpened pair of knife, I cut the hose at each leak, inserted one of the metal tubes, tightened the two cut ends onto the tube and then secured them firmly with the metal rings that screw tight.

"There," I said to my wife," that'll last one more season anyway."

And I walked around to the front lawn, looked across at my neighbor's lawn, and saw a brand new bright green plastic hose, with a deliberate leak every two feet of its length, beautifully watering the neighbor's grass with an efficiency never before achieved, except by old fashioned hoses in the last stages of decay.

Imagine how long this idea has been staring us all in the face! For four generations at least, hoses have been springing leaks -which, as fast as they appeared, we leaped to repair. We did not realize that our hoses have been trying to tell us, in their dumb way that the best way for us would serve it was by leaking all over the place.

Think what dopes we have been either to start to stand holding the hose, aiming its stream here and there with perfect inefficiency, while the dribble fell on our boots and our shins or front of our pant legs; or else we had to buy some kind of patent sprinkler that whirled round and round. To get it started, we had to walk back and turn on the tap. Then, because it wouldn't revolve, we had to duck in and start it, leaping madly to escape the jets of water which it had to be shifted, we either had to walk to the tap or again duck in and make a wild grab.

Now, my neighbor, when he wants to shift the sprinkle, merely walks out to the far, or non-squirting end, and gives it a cowpoke whip, shaking it to its new location.

With my new-sharpened pen knife, I went back in to the garden and picked a few new leaks in my old hose, while my wife went and telephoned my relatives that they had better be prepared for the worst.

New Soviet Challenge

(By Wm. H. Stringer, writing from Washington, in the Christian Science Monitor).

We were laughing too soon when we did not see the serious intent behind those extravagant and ridiculous Soviet claims to have invented the telephone, the electric light, and the kitchen can opener.

We are just beginning to wake up to the fact that Soviet natural science achievements and the pace of her research constitute a real challenge to the United States and the free world.

American military analysts know, for instance, that the Soviet Union has produced a prototype plane equivalent to America's huge B-36 bomber. It is also known that the Soviet Union has built more than prototypes of the German medium jet-bomber, the B-47.

The Moscow May Day airshow exhibited the building blocks for intense, extremely useful for defense. And the Soviet Union is possibly ahead in research for the development of long-range guided missiles, those self-intercepting rocket rockets which could be armed with H-bomb warheads.

There was a time when it could be said that the Soviets had lucked into the building blocks of atomic bomb ahead of expectations because they had stolen the secrets.

There is no doubt that Soviet espionage is still alert to grab any secrets it can of modern achievement.

The conclusion of American experts is that the United States must look elsewhere than to espionage for its lead in the new Soviet prowess in the field of technological science. Nearly one out of five in the USSR the training of natural scientists, psychologists and engineers is primarily fostered by every possible means, and the annual graduation of engineers is accorded the highest priority.

It was recently stated authoritatively in Washington that within very few years the Soviet Union will be turning out more engineers and natural scientists of Ph.D. grade than will the United States, and a year ago, Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation told Congress that the Soviet Union would be producing 50,000 engineering graduates annually, against a total of 17,000 in the United States.

America's output of young engineers and researchers has recently increased about 50 per cent of the 1950 output — and this at a time when American industry needs a development effort has approximately tripled.

Of course, not all of these Soviet "bright boys" will be the equal of American standards. Nor will they all be assigned to developing weapons. Some will produce guided missiles or Tupelov bombers.

The USSR has vast need of experts in agriculture, irrigation, livestock breeding, road building, industrial engineering, and all the thousand and one demands on technical talent in a land which in decades ago was almost as illiterate as Africa.

The new challenge of Soviet technology means that the West can no longer be lulled by comfortably assume that Russians somehow, by a stalling process, theirs, or the drive to build intricate and modern weapons, even those of "massive retaliation." Nor do they seem adverse to instituting "crash programs" to hasten such arming.

Of course, Communist dictates immediately send Soviet research down blind alleys, as in the case of the now-discredited Lysenko pseudo-theories on genetics. And the basic premises of communism inhibit rising achievements in the realms of literature, art, and spiritual values.

But technical advance can apparently proceed without total freedom of mind, and the monolithic Soviet Government exploits the gifted young technical students easy, grants him scholarships while a student, and an automobile and a Moscow apartment when graduated. He or she forms the élite of the Soviet elite.

"Almost all important scientists are translated," writes Smith Hempstone, Chicago Daily News correspondent. Many teachers in high schools and colleges discover that they can earn more in industry than in the classroom.

They also incidentally find the teaching profession under attack as harboring Communist sympathizers.

Speaking at the National Press Club, Admiral Hyman M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, said recently: "We are not going to have even more serious necessity upon us than to find and encourage the training of qualified teachers for all levels of the educational enterprise. . . . Our free educational system come from if thoughtless and extravagant attacks continue".

It may be necessary for the nation to put forth a program of federal aid to education, instead of waiting another year or two while more conferences are held to blueprint the lack of school facilities which is widely viable already.

No Infraction Of Air Regs

(Hamilton Spectator).

We have seen only a fragmentary report of the episode in which a man was arrested while running down the main runway at the Malton flapping his arms with the intention (he said) of taking off for Ottawa to discuss the Bill of Rights with Prime Minister St. Laurent. However we are prepared to hear that there may be a miscarriage of justice.

The police said the man was well loaded. He would therefore naturally fear that when he made his take-off run, and the fact that he was intercepted by police cars before the end of the runway deprived him of the opportunity of flying to Ottawa, that in fact, capable of becoming airborne.

Legalists may argue that the definition of taking off in paragraph 1.2.2 of Canadian Air Regulations, 1951 ("... means the act of abandoning contact with the surface capable of supporting it and includes the immediately preceding run") would put him within the scope of those regulations, it is to be remembered, however, that since the regulations refer specifically only to the behaviour of aircraft, the interpretation put on the authorities first to prove that the man was capable of flight (in which case he would, of course, be classed under Para. 1.2.6 as an aircraft) and that a heavier-than-air aircraft supported in flight by the reactions of the air against its wings (Para. 1.2.2 (1) "... means an aerodyne supporting mainly by the reactions of the air against its wings").

But even then the authorities would still have had to prove a specific breach of the regulations — that he was not registered as provided in Part II, Sec. 2.02 of the regulations, that he listened in a contracting state with a valid Canadian radio station, or that he was not wearing nationality and registration marks "painted" . . . or affixed by any means ensuring a similar degree of permanence" (Air Navigation Order No. 1 of September 12, 1951; Para. 1.1); or that, as a flight crew member of himself, he was operating himself in a negligent or reckless manner so as to endanger the life and property of others (Air Regs. Para. 5.12.10); or that he was not displaying lights as set out in

Customer Has Praise For Late Robt. Jury

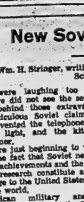
Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

The tragic death of Robert Jury, constable, Ontario Intelligencer newspaper boy, came as a sorrowful shock to his many customers. We all knew Bob by what he was, a cheerful, obliging and courteous lad. "Please" and "thank you" came readily from his lips and he had a friendly greeting for all with whom he came into contact—and a pat on the head for the small dog-friends as he went on his evening round. Unfailingly he would carefully place the newspaper between doors, nearly always out of the way of giving his customers his phone number so that in the event of non-delivery, one could phone his home and within minutes the paper would be delivered with sincere apology. His happy demeanor and courteous behavior are what we should all strive should strive to attain. Our heartfelt sympathy is sent to his sorrowing parents and to his brothers.

May the kindly earth rest gently on the mortal remains of Robert Jury, splendid lad—and good Scout.

Sincerely,
East Hill.

Para. 5.8.1 sub-Para. 1.



Conversely, if he was not, in fact, a workable ornithopter and had suffered an accidental inadvertive take-off run, ignominiously langed in the fence, whose concern would that have been except his own?

With all due respect for law and order, we would suggest to the police that this country became great only because our forefathers were able to go out and put their convictions of their own prowess to the test, however cockeyed their ideas may have seemed to their contemporaries.

Dr. Brady

First my ear, writes a Massachusetts reader. He's a specialist and thought it would never get it right again, but it did. Then his right sour ear drops and in a week he had recovered and has never recurred. The reader doesn't say, but probably means the ear drops I suggest for chronic otitis externa.

Ask in writing for instructions and inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, and remember I do not regard shipping as a request.)

Then, continues the reader, I followed your advice, found a doctor in Nice, N.H., who is skilled in the ambulant treatment of piles, and in three visits in his office at weekly intervals for virtually painless injections and by adopting the routine hygiene recommended in your pamphlet got rid of piles—no further trouble in more than two years.

I am glad you took up Medicine, the Massachusetts reader adds, instead of being a blacksmith like your forebears.

Oh, I don't know. Saw a magazine or newspaper article about a blacksmith who operated on racetracks, riding schools and elsewhere over a large territory by automobile, in the specially equipped trunk compartment of which he carries forge, anvil, tools and even a footrest for the horse. Pretty neat, that! Probably knocks down two or three bucks for shoeing a horse. He gets $5 to $6 elsewhere.

In the same mail with the letter from Massachusetts came one from a midwestern minister who writes to express gratitude. . . .

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TAKE TIME TO MATURE

What a lot of scuffers there are in this world—hustling, pushing other people aside, and with no good aim whosoever in point of view. Every time I look from my library window I see them—their character and life. A tree that amounts to anything takes time to fully mature. It must have much of the beauty and usefulness of the tree if we, too, wish to mature.

What a world of exciting experiences can be woven into our leisure hours! It's during these times that we accomplish the most wise, and look out upon a vaster horizon. It is largely during such times that the spiritual values of life are matured. And we learn to grow in character.

Especially in the professions is it essential to be well matured before the great tests of service arrive. We hear little of "the old family doctor" today, but it is a comfort to be always was! His love, patience, and ever-increasing knowledge, through experience, brought a trust and confidence in him that was a rare thing in itself.

Youth is always restless, which is not bad thing, for it is true that ambition is stirred and dreams set to work, but with youth must take time to mature, else it is apt to flounder at many an important turn in life. There are all sorts of ways hours meted out to us, and some are more important than the leisure ones.

In reading the life of Syngman Rhee, by Robert T. Oliver, just recently published, I was amazed to read of the preparation that this man went through. He was always studying, reading, seeking new and practical knowledge. In this book you are impressed with the long service of this man, still maturing in every advancing year. We can't lose by taking time to mature, but you are liable to, if you don't!

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

By DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

YES, TODAY

We often continue to put off until tomorrow things that we know desperately to be done today. For instance, when we see a fat man walking down the street, his abdomen protruding until he cannot look down and see his shoes, you know that he is failing to do—or everything that would keep him well. Deeds which needs desperately to be done. When the rich pastry table and someone reminds him of his waistline, he smiles pleasantly and says, "The reducing diet starts tomorrow."

When the old rascal John Fall's staff was dying, he cried out, "God, God!" and blistered Calvary with profanity. That is not yet time to think about such things.

Ex-Governor Of New Jersey Stole $300,000

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Governor Robert B. Meyner today said he will announce detailed charges of misconduct against New Jersey's late ex-governor, Harold G. Hoffman, whose daughter disclosed that he embezzled $300,000 in bank funds to finance the stormy political career and pay off a blackmailer.

Meyner told a press conference Monday that Hoffman wrote a letter May 1 to his daughter, Mrs. Ada Leonard, to say he embezzled the $300,000 to pay for his four years in Congress from 1927 to 1931 and for his successful 1934 campaign for the governorship.

TO REPAY MONEY

Mrs. Leonard, in a letter to Meyner Monday night, pledged that the Hoffman family will repay every cent of the money. Her mother Monday was voted a $6,000-a-year pension by the state legislature. The bill awaits Meyner's signature.

Hoffman, stable after - dinner speaker and president of the fun-loving Circus Saints and Sinners, was suspended March 18 by Meyner as director of New Jersey's division of employment and security, a $13,500-a-year post he held since he left the governorship in 1938.

At the time of the suspension, Meyner said he had evidence of "widespread irregularities" in the purchase of division supplies and equipment.

HAD HEART ATTACK

Hoffman, a Republican, died of a heart attack June 4 in New York at the age of 58, and the next day Mrs. Leonard demanded that Meyner clear her father's name immediately. In her letter to Meyner Monday night, Mrs. Leonard apologized to the Democratic governor because "for almost two weeks you have appeared in a crucially unfair position."

Further Remand Granted Three

PORT WILLIAM (CP) — A further remand to July 13, was granted Monday in the highways contract conspiracy charges against three lakehead men in connection with the current department of highways investigation.

W. S. Tomlinson, vice-president and Tomlinson Bros. (Eastern) Limited; Arthur Mills, former department of highways engineer in Port William, and C. W. Taylor, superintendent with Tomlinson Brothers, were released on bail.

The bail of $10,000 was continued for Tomlinson; $5,000 for Taylor and $2,500 for Mills.

The trio is awaiting preliminary hearing on charges that they conspired to defraud the government of highway contracts.

Mills is already awaiting trial on other charges in connection with irregularities while he was divisional engineer. This latter investigation resulted in four former employees, Douglas Cutting, Donald Gandier, Thomas Ayres and Graham W. Turner being sentenced to jail terms last week. Turner was given six months and the others eight months each.

Investigate Death

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario provincial police said Monday they are investigating the death of a 43-year-old farm laborer believed to have died from strychnine poisoning.

The body of Elgie Rumsey Palmateer was found Monday in his shack at Morganzion, about 25 miles southeast of Peterborough.

Chief Inspector W. J. Franks said an investigation was launched after coroner A. J. Andrews, Brighton, became suspicious that death was caused by poisoning, probably strychnine.

Symington Feels Committee's Own Security Is Poor

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sizzling feud between Senator Joseph McCarthy, the Wisconsin Republican, and Senator Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat, threatened to crust again today to delay the McCarthy-army hearing's progress toward a final wind-up.

Francis P. Carr was recalled to the stand in the 36th day of televised hearings before the Senate investigations sub-committee, with McCarthy and Symington making belligerent noises at each other. They have tangled repeatedly during the last few weeks.

Acting chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.), seeking to conciliate the McCarthy-Symington row, said in an interview that Symington had asked a "hypothetical question" about possible subwreckers on the Red-hunting sub-committee's own staff at Monday's session and that it was a "misunderstanding" when McCarthy lit into the Missourian.

But McCarthy told reporters it is up to Symington to "put up or shut up." He accused Symington and the army's special counsel Joseph N. Welch, with whom he had clashed before, of joining in attempting to fasten "guilt by imputation" on McCarthy staff members.

SYMINGTON DUMBFOUNDED

Symington said he was "dumbfounded" by McCarthy's statement at the close of Monday's session, but he stuck to his contention that the sub-committee's files had been "dangerously handled" under McCarthy's regime and were potentially open to looting.

Symington said in a statement the point he was making was that all of the staff members had access to the files and some of them had not been cleared for "top secret" information.

"If by chance there was one rotten apple in the barrel, which there has been in other agencies, it might in turn be disastrous to our security," said Symington.

CCF Will Enter 80 Candidates In Ontario Vote

TORONTO (CP)—The CCF has completed plans for putting a minimum of 80 candidates in the field for the next provincial election, Ken Bryden, provincial leader said Monday night.

Two candidates already have been nominated—provincial leader Donald MacDonald in South York and Jeff Hall in Nipissing. A nominating convention in Dovercourt is scheduled for tonight; Bracondale, June 22; Halton, June 23; Nickel Belt and Sudbury, June 25; Peel, June 26; Parry Sound, June 29.

Anaesthesia 'Mask' in Form Of Doll Used for Children

VANCOUVER (CP)—An anaesthetic "mask" in the form of a doll is one technique being used at Kingston, Ont., to help ensure that children are left with no unpleasant memories of operative procedure.

Dr. Allan B. Noble told delegates at the annual Canadian Medical Association convention here Monday that the major problem in administering anaesthesia to children is to win their confidence.

Speaking at a meeting of the Canadian Anaesthetists' Society being held in conjunction with the convension, Dr. Noble, professor of anaesthesia at Queen's University, outlined experiments conducted jointly at Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, and the Montreal Children's Hospital.

NEW ANAESTHESIA

Experiments concerned development of a new anaesthesia for children from pentothal and curare. He said outstanding results had been obtained with the drug, which is injected in the veins of the patient to be operated on. Pentothal is widely used in preparation of "sedatives" curare is a South American drug that relaxes the muscles.

Dr. Noble said the new anaesthesia overcomes several psychiatric sidlcts associated with use of other drugs on children. It was the practice at Hotel Dieu Hospital to give gas to children to make them drowsy before the anaesthetic was administered.

Conviction of giving the gas was to save it blown into the face of the child from a tube concealed in a doll which the youngster was given to hold.

Lord Camrose, Publisher, Dies

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) Lord Camrose, one of Britain's leading newspaper and magazine publishers, died today of a heart attack. He was 74.

Camrose, who was created a viscount in 1941, was chairman and editor of the Conservative Daily Telegraph, largest of Britain's "class" morning papers. He was also chairman of Amalgamated Press Ltd., which publishes a number of big-circulation magazines.

Camrose was the brother of Viscount Kemsley, another of Britain's press lords. The two founded Allied Newspapers Ltd., which ran a chain of evening and weekly papers in the provinces. Later the brothers split and divided their holdings.

Camrose, born William Ewert Berry, had been admitted to a hospital here for observation following a gastric attack. He suffered a heart attack early today and died soon after.

Weddings

GARCIA—DANDENEAU

Tall, white standards of white snapdragons adorned the altar of St. Thomas Aquinas Roman Catholic Chapel, Toronto, for a lovely wedding on Saturday, June 12th at 10.00 a.m.; when Elizabeth Ann Dandeneau, of Dallas, Texas, formerly of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. Leonard Gregory Dandeneau, of Belleville, and the late Mr. L. G. Dandeneau, became the bride of Lieutenant Louis Richard Garcia, of Fort Hood and Dallas, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Garcia. The Reverend J. E. McHenry, officiated.

Mr. Kenneth Carney, guest organist, rendered, "Ave Verum Corpus," and "O Canada" and "God Save the Queen."

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Paul Leonard Dandeneau, of Toronto, the bride was charming in her wedding gown of ice-blue mousseline-de-soie over satin, appliqued with Alencon lace sprinkled with pailletes. The figurine bodice was designed with an oval yoke of illusion, while Alencon lace, formed the brief sleeves which were highlighted with opera-length gloves in white kid. The bouffant skirt drifted to a chapel train. Her matching veil of imported French illusion which was caught to a Mary Stuart cap of shirred tulle appliqued with lace petals dotted with tiny seed pearls, flowed to the train hem. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Majlis Dandeneau, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; while Miss Elinor Bernstein, of Belleville, Miss Alice McCrudden, of St. John's, Newfoundland, were bridesmaids. The bride attendants' gowns, in iridescent taffeta; the maid of honor in rose quartz and the bridesmaids in paradise blue, were fashioned alike, enhanced the molded bodices, which were offset with covered buttons and bracelet-length sleeves. The skirts billowed from the self-belted waistlines in gathered fullness. They wore matching headdresses, and carried cascade bouquets of carnations, tinted a deeper hue than their gowns.

Mr. Patrick Testa, of New York City, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and Mr. David Toronto, of Belleville, was ushered.

Toronto University. At the time of her marriage she was a stewardess on the American Airlines. The bridegroom is a graduate of Fordham Prep School, and of Johns Hopkins University, N.Y.

Guests were present from Dallas, Texas; New York City; Manhattan, Kansas; Scranton, Penn.; Burlington, Vermont, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Kitchener, North Bay, and Belleville, Ont.

YANKE—CARR-BRAINT

A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Church, Bridge Street, Belleville, on Saturday, June 5, at 10 a.m., when Kathleen Mary Carr-Braint, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Carr-Braint, became the bride of Leonard Yanke, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Yanke, Medicine Hat, Alberta.

Rev. J. J. Buckley officiated at the marriage ceremony and said the Nuptial Mass. This was the first time a Nuptial Mass had been said in St. Joseph's Church.

The Rev. Sister Wilhelmina presided at the organ, and the girls' choir from St. Joseph's school, sang appropriate hymns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a suit of cream French linen with red straw hat, red and white accessories and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. T. C. Young, Belleville, was her only attendant, wearing a street-length dress of aquamarine silk with white hat and accessories and corsage of white orchids.

Mr. T. C. Young, Belleville, attended the bridegroom.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a street-length dress of cream and black, corded silk with black matching picture hat and corsage of Sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip to Western Canada, the bride chose a nylon dress of blue and white with white hat and accessories and corsage of blue and white baby 'mums.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a lovely pair of pearl and rhinestone earrings. The bridegroom's gift to his attendant, was a silver cigaret lighter.

Mr. and Mrs. Yanke will reside in Calgary, Alberta.

Prior to her wedding, the bride was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. T. C. Young, Belle Street, Belleville.

For the wedding trip to Pocono Gardens, Penn.; New York City, Washington, and the Southern United States, the bride travelled in blue shantung, with white accessories and corsage of white orchids. Lieutenant Garcia and Mrs. Garcia will reside in Fort Hood, Texas.

The bride is a graduate of Loretta Abbey, Armour Heights,

Couple Honored On Golden Anniversary

WELLINGTON—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morton (nee Miss Ethel Crippen) celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their home, Consecon Street, last Tuesday afternoon and evening.

During the afternoon guests were received by Mrs. George Dorland and refreshments were served by Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. N. Webster and Mrs. Mackenzie.

Pictures were taken of the bride and groom and their guests.

In the evening a large party of friends from Melville joined the celebration and gave evidence of their esteem in beautiful gifts. The evening passed pleasantly in cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Morton received a shower of cards and flowers from The Stitch and Chatter Club", and from Mr. F. Morton, also many beautiful gifts.

About eighty guests attended and tendered Mr. and Mrs. Morton best wishes on their golden wedding day.

Consecon friends attending included Mrs. Lela Weeks, Mrs. M. Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. V. Brown.

Peterborough Louis Braille Club Entertains W.C.C.

Members of the Belleville, White Cane Club were guests on Saturday of the Louis Braille Club, Peterborough, where they enjoyed a bounteous supper and later a dance in the Legion Hall.

There were 200 blind members with their escorts, including the Oshawa Club and Kingston Friendship Club.

The Belleville Club enjoyed the trip and meeting with other members of the various C.C.B. clubs, and hope to entertain them here at a future date.

Women's Activities

CANNIFTON W.M.S.

The June meeting of Canniffon W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Harvey Putman with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. J. Williams presided. A cordial welcome was extended.

The business followed. It was decided to have an open meeting on June 30th, in which the younger groups of the church would be invited—C.G.I.T. Girls, Hymn Boys and Mission Band. Mrs. Rowley, of Tabernacle Church, Belleville, is to be the guest speaker.

Mrs. G. Brenton, group leader, took charge of the rest of the meeting. Worship service was conducted with the Scripture by Mrs. F. Furmidge, followed by meditation. "Throughout the Bible, we can see how God planned a wonderful world where men could live together in happiness and peace. God's design was good and his workmanship perfect, but men have never learned how to use the world God made wherever there is conflict and sin, we know that men have departed from God's design."

The program dealt with the World Council of Churches, which is to be held in Evanston, Ill., in August.

From a short skit, a little while the World Council of Churches is trying to do can be learned.

Those taking part were, Mrs. J. Williams, Mrs. H. Brenton, Mrs. R. Pound, Mrs. Don Williams and Mrs. H. Farnham, who led in prayer. The theme of the Assembly of the World Council is "Hope, Christ the Hope of the World." There will be representatives sent by 160 churches of various denominations.

Mrs. Throop gave some interesting information on the World Council and how it has helped the devastated churches of Europe and other parts of the country.

Belcrest P.S. Winner Of Religious Trophy

The five public schools Quinte View, Bayside, Avondale, Belcrest and Centenary have been learning selected passages and texts from the Bible, as set by the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton, of Bayside pastoral charge, of the United Church, together with special hymns which were memorized and sung at a competition held in each school on May 31st.

On June 1st, the Rev. W. J. Robinson, B.A., rector of St. Thomas' Anglican church, adjudicated. The trophy was presented to Mrs. Ormsby, the teacher of Belcrest public school, at the evening service in Wesley United Church, Bayside on Sunday, June 6. Her scholars, who sang as a choir, "Venus Lover of My Soul," were present along with their interested parents.

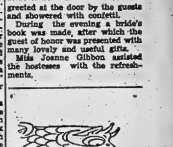
The trophy will be held for a year at Belcrest school. It is in the form of a mahogany shield, with a quartered circle of four oak carvings, wrought by Mr. Hugh C. Middleton, of Toronto. The four evangelists are represented in symbols of the head of a lion, a man, an ox and an eagle, with the central theme, the cross.

The teachers and parents cooperated whole-heartedly, and both the recitations and singing were of high level of excellence. The highest mark obtained 92 per cent; while the other marking were 90, 89, 88, and 80.

Members of the local school board also encouraged this fine endeavor by their presence at the presentation.

Mrs. A. Holgate gave a Christian Stewardship reading and Mrs. H. Farnham and Mrs. Howard favored with a duet.

Refreshments were served and a social half hour spent.



Miss Gloria Gill Honored at Shower

Mrs. Ken Peoples and Miss Margaret Mann were co-hostesses on Friday evening for a surprise shower honoring Miss Gloria Gill.

The home of Mrs. Peoples was gaily decorated with pink streamers and wedding bells. From the ceiling a tiny sprinkling can was suspended, symbolizing the good wishes extended to Gloria by her friends. When the surprised bride-to-be arrived she was greeted at the door by the guests and showered with confetti.

During the evening a bride's book was made, after which the guest of honor was presented with many lovely and useful gifts.

Miss Joanne Gibbon assisted the hostesses with the refreshments.

How to say Hello to a GARGOYLE

AFRAID OF HEIGHTS? Then you wouldn't want to be one of the men who recently did repairs up among the gargoyles of the Peace Tower, atop the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa. The scaffolding, rising 280 feet, was the highest ever erected in Canada. We were pleased, but not surprised, that it was made of light, strong, easily assembled aluminum tubing . . . 37,000 feet of it. Saved a lot of time putting up and taking down. And incidentally saved Canadian taxpayers a tidy sum of money. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

INSURANCE AGAINST WRINKLES

There are women well along in life's autumn whose faces are as smooth as velvet with never a sign of a wrinkle or a crinkle. They are the ones who learned their beauty lessons early. Old Dame Nature knows work and sow can grow old Father Time the laugh. The best insurance against wrinkles is health of body, cheer, happiness and self-devotion to a few simple beauty treatments which will keep the skin clean, lubricated and toned.

It stands to reason that the complexion cannot get along without a certain amount of pampering. It has enemies. Sun and harsh winds get in their mean licks. Atmospheric dust has a deplorable effect. Birthdays also take their toll. So, if you are in your thirties, use forty-eight. Facial furrows can appear almost overnight and the bravest woman cannot accept them with courage.

The contented woman wears a serene expression that prevents signs of tension in the facial figures. The worrier draws her eyebrows together, forming frown lines. A down-at-the-mouth expression produces lines from nostrils to lip corners. Unpleasant emotions interfere with nutrition so that facial tissues lack tone, leaving the skin so loose as to fall into tiny creases.

Dry skins are especially subject to wrinkles. Nature's oiling system, a network of sebaceous glands, has gone on strike hence the need of a substitute for these sustaining exudations. At least once a day there should be a creaming treatment. The best time is just before retiring.

Apply a heavy cream to a clean skin surface. Use a bland soap, rinse every bit of the suds away with warm water. Dry gently, spread the emollient low on the neck and up over the face with flattened fingers. If there are signs of frowns, lift the flesh there and iron it out. Do circles around the eyes. Stroke from chin to ear lobes. Let the cream remain on over night.

I like Bob is for pity, and I would like to know if you think she is right. I would also like to know how I could go about trying to win his love. He is 26 and I am 18.

— M.N.R.

Dear M.N.R.:

I rather think that the reason this young man interests you so much is not exactly pity, but because his handicap has a curious fascination for you. You would better be very careful about "trying to win his love" because, on the remote chance that your obvious interest in him might make him grateful, that he began to care for you, you might find yourself in a very distressful situation which could embarrass you and hurt him badly. For I doubt very much that when it came right down to it, you would be likely to want to "devote yourself" to a man who was both deaf and dumb. In all kindness to him, I think it would be wiser for you not to pursue him, especially since he does not show any great interest in you at this time. If he is a young man of intelligence, he probably understands very well that both his handicap and the fact that he is so much older than you make him no suitable companion for you. Try to be sensible yourself.

SHALL SHE LEAVE HER DRINKING HUSBAND?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Up until recently, my husband never drank to excess, but within the past few months he has been drinking quite heavily on week-ends and some times during the week.

Of course I have begged him to stop, pleaded with him, wept bitter tears, but all to no avail. On top of all this, I now know that he has started running around with another woman.

For ten years, I have loved my husband very deeply, but he is now killing that love. So, should I leave him, or stay with him and keep hoping and praying that he will come himself and be the man he used to be?

I'm still young, and can easily go back to a good position in business, such as I had before my marriage, and I know I could make a good home for my two children and myself. — H.S.

Dear H.S.:

Neither pleading, crying, nor reproaches will do any good whatever in a situation of this kind. Like every other man who has got himself into such a mess, your husband knows very well that he is doing wrong and ruining your happiness and his own. That being so, all you will accomplish by tears and nagging will be to make things worse. It seems obvious that he already has a guilty conscience, and his drinking may be an attempt to escape it.

If I were you, I would have a talk with the local branch of Alcoholics Anonymous and get advice from them. In many cities, there is a group within this organization especially for wives, mothers or older relatives of alcoholics which helps them understand the problem and guides them in handling it. If you don't readily locate such a group in your vicinity, write to the National Alcoholics Anonymous headquarters, addressing your letter to P.O. Box 459, Grand Central Annex, New York 17, N.Y. and ask for the address.

Do try tackling the problem this way before deciding to do anything so final as leaving your husband.

SHE'S NOT REALLY IN LOVE—JUST FASCINATED BY HIS HANDICAP

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About two and a half years ago, I saw Bob at a skating rink, and although I only see him Saturday evenings, and not always then, I have grown to love him.

When Bob was small, he was injured in a car accident which left him speechless and deaf. The only way I can communicate with him is on paper. I wrote him a letter about three months ago, telling him how much I loved him, but that didn't go over so well, though he told me afterward he was very happy to get the letter and couple of weeks ago he brought me home from the rink and wrote some things on paper that convinced me he does care a little. He never comes over to see me, though, because he says he is busy. He is active in several sports, and he also works to support his father, but I do think he might come to see me at least one night a week. My mother thinks the reason he

Freezing Strawberries

By Mary Moore

Statistics give 2 per cent of the Canadian population as owning home freezers.

If that is so this 2 per cent of home freezer owners must be nearly 100 per cent Jetter-writers too, for they give the impression that every other farmer's wife owns one.

Any way the point is that these freeze-owner-Jetter-writers want to know how to freeze their strawberries according to the latest methods discovered by ever-busy freezer researchers.

The information I have I will pass on to you—with visions of you serving beautiful strawberry shortcakes when the season is well over for non-freezer owners.

HOW TO FREEZE STRAWBERRIES

It is of primary importance that you use strictly fresh choice strawberries and that you wash them in ice cold water in a strainer for not more than 30 seconds. Drain well, remove hulls, using a sharp paring knife, but not puncturing the meat of the berry. Do not squeeze the hulls off with your fingertips. Place hulled fruit on small trays lined with absorbent paper towels and put each tray covered with one layer of berries in the refrigerator while you proceed with washing and hulling the remainder of the berries.

A dry sugar pack gives superior results, although berries may be sweetened with a sugar syrup. (The syrup method is preferable for peaches, apricots, pears and for fruits definitely to be used in sauce.) The average taste prefers 1 part of sugar to each 4 parts of fruit when dry sugar is used. For thin syrup use 7 cups water to each 1 2-3 cups sugar, bring to boil, stir until sugar is disolved, then chill before pouring over fruit in cartons.

There are three types of package to use. All may be bought at freezer storage plants. (1) Heavy waxed tubs with snap-on lids. (2) Cartons with cellophane liners. (3) Cartons with plastic liner. At the present the tubs and cellophane-lined cartons are most commonly used.

Let us suppose you are using a cellophane-lined carton.

The strained and chilled berries are put into freezer carton. When box is full, add 1-4 cup sugar, sifting not more than one part sugar to each four parts berries. It will be all right if you want to reduce the amount of sugar. Repeat until carton is nearly full. Fold cellophane liner once or twice to make a tight fitting seal. Place fold on flat board (or carton holder) and seal with hot iron. Label package with china marking pencil or waterproof ink. Place in freezer quickly and see that freeze at once.

NOTE TO DIABETICS AND REDUCERS

Syrup method may be used when you make syrup of sugar and water putting berries in box, and pouring prepared sucaryl-syrup over to just moisten the berries.

QUESTION:

I want to make cream-lined banana cake for our lodge picnic. What do you turn yours out on to. You say aramelize over heat until molten gold 2 tablespoons sugar (for the icing). I always thought one had to have both sugar and butter too . . . however I just followed the recipe and each time I have tried it the sugar gets very hard on the spoon. Have you another icing for this cake.—Mrs. T. F.

ANSWER:

Try making the caramel this way (it may give you too much but if kept covered in refrigerator you can keep it for another time.) In very heavy frying pan melt 1-2 cup white sugar slowly, stirring. Heat until melted to a golden brown syrup, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in 1-4 cup boiling water very slowly, then over low heat again stir until lumps which form dissolve. To it add enough cream to make it up to 1-2 cup and beat them in ice cold water in a strainer for not more than 30 seconds. Drain well, remove hulls, using a sharp paring knife, but not puncturing the meat of the berry. Do not squeeze the hulls off with your fingertips. Place hulled fruit on small trays lined with absorbent paper towels and put each tray covered with one layer of berries in the refrigerator while you proceed with washing and hulling the remainder of the berries.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECHMAN

PLEASANT WEDDING CUSTOM

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

1. Our very informal church wedding is to be next month, and because of circumstances, chiefly financial, we are not planning to have a regular reception following the ceremony. Is it necessary, or even proper, for us, bride and groom, to receive our relatives and friends in the rear of the church?

2. We are going to send formal announcements. Do I send these announcements to everyone, whether or not they are invited to the wedding? — Bride-to-be

1. It is not necessary for you and your bridegroom to receive your wedding guests in the vestibule of the church after the ceremony. . . but it is a very friendly procedure when there is to be no other reception following the ceremony. It gives the relatives and friends a happy opportunity to give you both their good wishes and relatives and friends like that.

2 No. . .marriage announcements are mailed only to those who were not invited to the wedding.

TWO FLOWER GIRLS?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

1. Is it ever proper to have two flower girls? I so much want to have two at my wedding, but several people have told me that this is incorrect.

2. Does the groom choose the organist for the wedding, or does the bride? I should think the groom would, since he is the one responsible for paying the organist his fee. — C.A.

It Yes, indeed it is proper to have two flower girls. When there are two flower girls, the plan usually is that they are dressed alike, and walk together. . .before the bride and her father. When one is younger and smaller than the other, they may still walk together, or the younger one may walk in front of the older one.

2. Customarily the bride-to-be chooses the organist, and customarily it is the organist of the church in which the ceremony is to be performed. It would certainly be most unusual for the groom to pay the organist's fee. Since the family of the bride pay the expenses of the wedding, they pay the organist his or her professional fee.

BIRTHDAY PRESENT PROBLEM

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have been going with a fellow since last January, and I am puzzled as to what sort of present to give him for his birthday next month. He is not my steady boyfriend, as I am also keeping company with another fellow. Please suggest some appropriate gifts under these circumstances. — Flo

I imagine that "under these circumstances" you judge (and agree!) that it might be wise to definitely on the side of discretion for you to choose a quite impersonal present for this young man's birthday. True? Well, I would suggest you settle for sending him a good-looking, conservative, pocket day card or a birthday telegram. Or, perhaps to enclose in the birthday card envelope, a plain white handkerchief with his last initial embroidered on it. Better not go any farther than that. . . "in case."

In the telephone business, as around your own home, we find it's better to do the job right in the first place and then look after it. It's the best way we know to avoid heavy repair and replacement costs, to save expense and give you most service for your money.

That's why we treat telephone poles against rot; why we keep our trucks clean and in good repair; why we put up exchanges and offices to last.

It's common sense if we are to keep our costs down—and the price of your telephone service low.

AIR RESCUE

An atom bomb exploding over a Canadian city would leave a mile-wide area in ruins and streets blocked with rubble. These workers engaged in an exercise at the Civil Defence College at Arnprior, Ont., show how the trained rescuer would surmount the problem of evacuating casualties when streets are blocked. Casualties could be placed in helicopters and flown out of the devastated area. (CP Photo).

Civil Defence May Change Way of Life in Canada

Various aspects of Canada's civil defence preparations were studied by Forbes Rhode, Canadian Press business editor, in a cross-country survey. The story, last of a series, he tells here civil defence may change our way of life.

By FORBES RHODE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Will civil defence bring a new way of life and a new concept of individual responsibility?

Will common perils turn city folk from its stand-offish ways back to the neighborly practices of country life and pioneer days?

Is, indeed, the big city on its way out?

These questions crowd into the thinking of civil defence planners already bedevilled by conflicting considerations.

MUST SUSTAIN INTEREST

They see on one hand a peril and need for preparation. They see possibility of continuing peril in which the present Moscow regime may be but a passing incident.

An attack may come today, but it may not come for 20 years—and, hopefully, perhaps never. How do you prepare people for today, and still keep them interested over a long period?

Probably civil defence authorities could sign up thousands on the wave of awareness which accompanied recent hydrogen-bomb developments. But they think that would be worse than useless unless organization is ready to put the people to work.

Between extremes of public excitement and public apathy, Prof. John Morgan, of the University of Toronto welfare department and adviser to the federal government, people don't understand it."

John O. Probe, Saskatchewan co-ordinator, broke into a discussion of population dispersal at Arnprior Civil Defence College with this declaration:

"If what you say about the hydrogen bomb is so, then the big city is finished and why talk of dispersal only if attack comes. It should be dispersed now."

This was easier for the man from Saskatchewan to say than for those from industrial centres; but probably the question was in every one's mind.

Across Canada you hear two stories about the public, one that the public is apathetic, the other that it is interested if approached in the right way.

J. F. Wallace, chief instructor at Arnprior, tells of a house-to-house canvass in Ottawa in which he asked for co-operation in a warden and damage-control exercise.

He was asked so many questions that he could make only two calls an evening. All wanted to co-operate.

TRAINING STATISTICS

Figures on training across Canada are impressive. Some say they are too impressive to be compared with other aspects of civil defence.

A backer of civil defence who is critical of what he considers lack of over-all plans at provincial and local levels, said:

"Actual orders should be in readiness now; definite plans in the hands of all key people. Even if the plans are temporary and not complete, amendments and additions can always be made; but localities and their key men must have something definite to work on before anything gets organized at lower levels."

In any event, some 600 communities have civil defence organizations of some kind and 100 have been described as reasonably well organized.

More than 4,000 persons of instructor calibre have been trained at federal courses; 40,000 in provincial and local courses; 185,000 are enrolled in local, provincial and federal organizations.

Training includes courses in first aid, welfare, police work, fire rescue and so on.

ON NURSING COURSES

Nurses constitute more than half the trained forces with 3,300 nurse instructors and 28,000 registered nurses who have studied civil defence work. It now is being taught in basic curricula of student nurses in six provinces and, civil defence training among nurses may become almost universal.

In Canada, as elsewhere, totals of trainees may be taken with reserve insofar as they represent real public participation.

Figures include full-time municipal employees such as police and firemen whose ordinary duties make them automatically a part of civil defence. In fact, police and firemen are perhaps the brightest part of civil defence preparation, along with the nurses.

Trainees include people who have taken single courses which may give little over-all idea of civil defence.

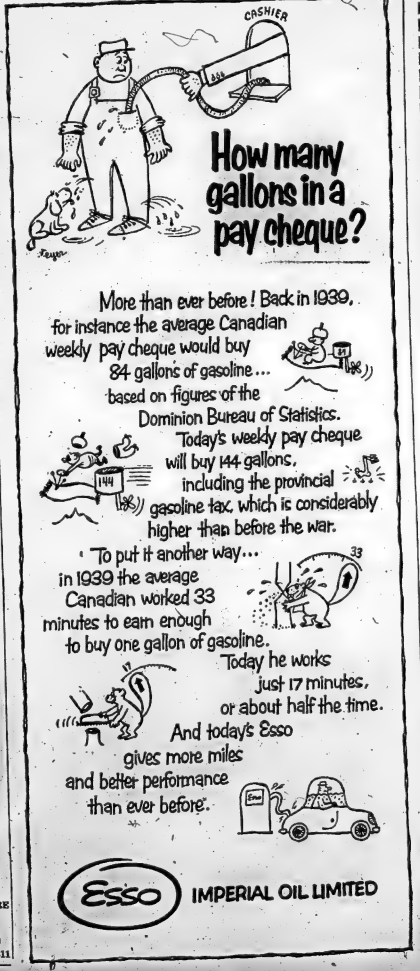
This does not minimize the importance of the training, but discounts to some degree the meaning of over-all figures.

Maybe, however, cities as we know them are heading for the exit.

Guatemalan Exiles Eager to Throw Off Red Yoke

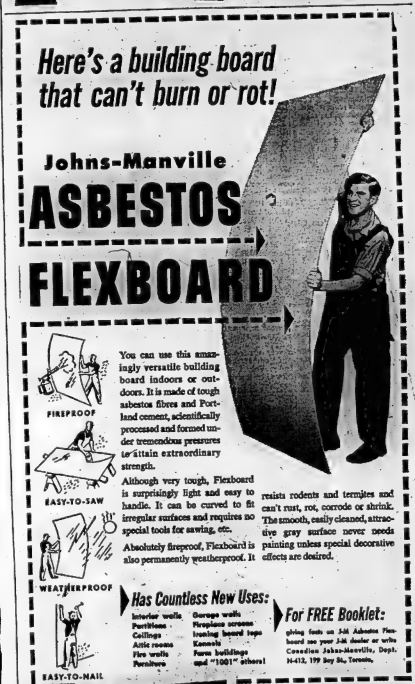
TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) Guatemalan exiles, eager for their country to throw off its leftist government, say 1954 is "the year of independence from Russian imperialism."

Their leader is a 40-year-old, slender, soft-spoken man their lieutenant-colonel in the Guatemalan army, Carlos Castillo Armas. He calls his resistance movement the Anti-Communist Front of Guatemalans in Exile.



Castillo Armas keeps silent on any plans he may have to end the regime of Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. But he said in an interview that a "tiny spark" of uprising within the country could trigger a revolt of the entire resistance organization, both inside and outside Guatemala.

"I am certain that 80 per cent of the people in Guatemala are thoroughly ready to rise up and fight against the government," Castillo Armas said.



Guatemalan officials say they attach no importance to Castillo Armas. But the colonel's followers call him the Red-tinged government's No. 1 enemy in exile.

In November, 1950, he led a revolt against the government. His meager forces attacked the military garrison at the airport near the capital. They seized the guard and planned to capture the garrison commanders. But an officer working with Castillo Armas failed to bring up his troops in time, and the garrison forces riddled the attackers. Twelve men were killed and 18 captured, including Castillo Armas.

MIGHTY CATCH

Harry McLaughlin, 16-yr-old Flin Flon, Man., high school student, landed this 40-pound lake trout after a one hour battle at Trout Lake, six miles from Flin Flon. Using an ordinary light rod and line with some snare wire for a leader, a single hook and a red and white "dare-devil" lure, the angler hooked the fish on his fourth cast from the shore of the lake. Three chums helped McLaughlin to bring it to shore. The catch was too early to qualify for the district's Trout Festival later this month. (CP Photo).

Hospital Vote Will Decide Football Issue

TORONTO (CP)—A ballot cast today in a hospital room will decide whether Montreal Alouettes and Ottawa Roughriders will be able to use one Canadian-American player more than the other two clubs in the Big Four Football League.

Cecil McFaddin of Toronto, ex-past president of the league, will break a 3-3 tie that developed out of a meeting in Montreal Saturday. McFaddin is convalescing in hospital and will go home in a month.

Although the Big Four had recommended to the Canadian Rugby Union that the import quota be set at eight Americans and two four-year Canadian-Americans, the CRU set different figures. Ten imports may be retained until after the second league game, only eight of whom can play in any one match, plus three imports who have been "Canadianized" by the four-year rule.

As the Big Four had agreed to permit Ottawa and Montreal an extra four-year man in league competition, the Alouettes and Roughriders want the same privilege under the new CRU quota. Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts voted against it.

21-Pound Trout Was A Brownie

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—That trout Tommy Klink caught in Owasco lake was a brown trout—not a rainbow—but it was a record catch even so, the conservation department said Monday.

The 13-year-old boy from Owasco caught the monster May 26. It was 32 inches long, 22 inches around, and weighed 21 pounds, 5 ounces.

It was first thought to be a rainbow, but department fisheries men examined the catch in a Syracuse taxidermist's shop and decided it was a brown trout. They based their conclusion on the coloring on the head, tail and back fin.

But the fisheries biologists said the boy's catch topped by nearly 1½ pounds the previous record—a 19-pound, 14-ounce brown taken in the Ashokan reservoir by T. E. Spencer in 1923.

Petes Trounce Hamilton 12-9

HAMILTON (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen lengthened their lead in the senior Ontario Lacrosse Association League Monday night by defeating the third-place Hamilton Tigers 12-9 in overtime.

Russ Slater was the big gun in the 10-minute overtime period when he counted two of his three goals of the night.

Other Peterborough scorers were Denny Peterson and Bob Thorpe with two each and singles by Bob Curtis, Grant Burns, Curly Mason, Harry Wipper and Rock Bailey.

Top marksman for Hamilton was Skip Teal with three. Two-goal men were Jim McNulty and Jack Delney. Singles were counted by Bob Dobbie and Tony D'Amico.

Cleveland Stretches League Lead To Two Full Games Over Chisox, Yanks

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

OSHAWA HERE TONIGHT!

With almost two weeks of enforced official activity under their collective belts the Bates should be in top form tonight when they clash with the powerful Oshawa Transports. The Motor City crew is sticking more or less pretty-ly on top of the loop ladder with six wins and two defeats while our rearlies are a rung below with three wins and two losses, with no end of postponed engagements.

And, believe it or not, a victory for our side tonight will put them even-steven with the all-expenses-paid crew from Campbellville, for according to our tables a 6-2 record gives with a .667 percentage, the same as a 6-3 mark, which will be the team's standing should the Bates come through.

Jeni who Coach Vern Geyer will send to the mound is a matter for conclusive at the moment—and the big fella is not giving out with any information. With the prolonged rest the entire corps is ready to go and this department will venture the guess that Art Wrickt will get the official nod when the time comes.

This is being written long before the deadline and even the Underwood has some of its fingers crossed for the sun is shining and outside it is typical basketball weather. But knowing the vagaries of the weather bloke this piece is being "mailed" with a finger and a prayer. If more postponements occur Manager Carson will be co-operating with Alderman Bruce Smith to get some of the boys off hockey practice so they can battle in the diamond playoffs.

However, with good weather prevailing tonight's tussle should be one of the baseball classics of the season, a real battle for the top slot. The Bates are ready and rarin' to go, and it is expected an oldtime baseball crowd will be on hand to watch the festivities. Game at 8.30.

LOTS OF VARIETY!

The sports powers-that-be in Our Town are providing plenty of outside attractions for the faithful this year. We have had the Nortown Ladies fastball squad, the Toronto Maple Cane softball crew next, tomorrow night the famous Kansas City Monarchs and the Indianapolis Clowns hook up, and top coming is the super softball attraction of the season, the three-man show, who will play a softball all-star squad on June 26. The next imported baseball attraction will be the famous Satchel Paige and his Harlem Globetrotters, who will play the House of David here on July 5.

Speaking of Ace Holden and his crew, the dusky hurler nearly stole the piece when he was here last summer. The Ace has a clever trio of hers with him who hold a fast-traveling Belleville wins to a two-all tie. It should be one of the best softball attractions and to those who have never seen a four-man team in action it should prove a delightful surprise, while the veteran fans, who never miss a thing, will be back for repeat 'thrills.

"BUNNY" RACK FRIDAY

That six master sheeman of the "rassle-ring", "Bunny" Dunlop drew the official nod from Marce Tunney to referee the main bout here Friday night between "Hale Ina," Miss Hilla Brothers and Tex Mackenzie, six-foot nine giant who will partner Paul Ballargeon in another tag-team assault. The boys who had a rather free-an-easy night last week had better be on their best behavior come Friday for the venerable Bunny is still laden with plenty of the old fire-works. And look who's here. This one is for the books. None other than popular Ray Villmar clashes with equally popular Timothy Geohagen. That, believe, should surely steal the show. Johnny Barend is back again with Don Lewin in the opener.

GOOD SHOW-

Baseball fans from all over the county are expected to trek into Belleville Exhibition Park tomorrow night when the internationally famous Indianapolis Clowns and the Negro World Champion Kansas City Monarchs cross bats in an official Negro American League game.

A pre-game circus featuring Circus Eddie Hamman, King Tut and Spec Bebop, 4' 3" midget, gets under way at 8 o'clock, which is 30 minutes before game time. A clue to the hilarity of the occasion will be the initial appearance here of feminine baseball players. Mamie Johnson, an ace pitcher, will start on the mound for the Clowns, while Toni Stone is slated to start at second base for the champs.

In addition to all the clown festivities, the entire clown ball club will present its version of Shadowball and Pepper ball.

The baseball game itself should be a dandy. The Monarchs have five former players performing in the big leagues today, and no less than 18 in the top minors. The big leaguers are Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers; Curt Roberts of the Pirates; Ernie Banks and Gene Baker of the Cubs, and Hank Thompson of the Giants. The current edition of the Monarchs includes three Cubans, all of whom are sure fire big league timber. Pruneface Hernandez, a 6' 5" first sacker; Dago Nunez, a pitcher who can hit, and Juan Armenteros, a shortstop catcher, all hail from Havana, Cuba.

Gates at the park will open at 6.30 on the night of the game.

Rocky Jest Sits And Relaxes

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Rocky Marciano relaxed in the sunshine Monday, talking shop with the boxing writers before his heavyweight title defence against ex-champ Ezzard Charles Thursday night.

"Nothing will surprise me too much," he said. "I won't be caught short. I always figure the other guy at his best. If he's a little better but I don't count on it.

"It was the same way the night I fought Joe Louis. A lot of people told me he was over the hill but I didn't listen to them. To me, he was the Louis I had been reading about for years."

The champ was berry brown from the summer sun and completely relaxed. If this was a "stale" fighter, you'd never know it.

"I feel just the same as I always do before a fight," he said. "Maybe I wouldn't know if I was overtrained. I just go in and do my thing then go in there and fight."

Blast Boston Red Sox 13-5 For Fifth Straight Defeat; Sauer Homers Cubs to Victory.

The major league ball clubs are on the move again.

Back in the old days, the teams counted on building up a nice bulge on the opposition during the long home stands.

But times isn't like that any more, especially in the National League.

Seven of the eight teams can't win for losing in their own grands this year. However, New York Giants have won 13 and lost eight in the Polo Grounds.

In the American League, Cleveland, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees, 1-2-3 in the standings, own winning records both home and away.

BEST RECORD

Cleveland has the best home record in either league—16 victories and six defeats—and appears to be a game down the stand tonight against Washington.

Cleveland stretched its lead to two games over the White Sox Monday by trailing Boston for the fifth straight time. The score was 13-5, with the Indians unloading 15 hits against Bill Henry, Tom Herrin and Tom Brewer. The game was the only action in the American League.

In the National League's single contest, Chicago Cubs celebrated their escape from home—where they lost 10 out of the last 15—with a 6-5 verdict over the Pirates at Pittsburgh. Hank Sauer's 20th home run, with Ralph Kiner on base, gave the Cubs the deciding runs.

Hawks, Bruins Draft Players

MONTREAL (CP) — Only five players were drafted Monday when hockey magnates of the National Hockey League and minor pro circuits met in an inter-league draft meeting.

Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins were the only NHL clubs picking players. The Hawks took three from Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League, winners of the Duke of Edinburgh Trophy in the last post-season series between the WHL and Quebec Hockey League. The three are Max Quackenbush, Pat Lundy and Bill Schwetz.

For $5,000 the Bruins drafted William (Hank) Ilsley from Sydney, N.S. Syracuse Warriors of the American Hockey League drafted Jack Lorrey from Victoria of the WHL. The price tag was $7,500.

'PBI' Wins Sports Meet

IN KOREA (CP)—The 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, has won the Ambassador's Trophy for the highest aggregate score in a giant sports meet staged by the 25th Infantry Brigade.

The meet, biggest ever staged by the Canadians in Korea, was held on the brigade's new 25-acre recreational centre — Maple Leaf Park. The trophy is a silver cup donated by Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Canadian ambassador to Japan.

Responsible for organizing the meet was Lieut. Charles Panet of Kingston, Ont., the brigade's sports officer.

All Quiet On Phillies Front

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A truce apparently was reached Monday in the Gus Zernial-Eddie Joost feud and Zernial pledged to "play when I'm told, sit (on the bench) when I'm told and keep my mouth shut."

And Earle Mack, vice-president and acting general manager of Philadelphia Athletics, said the outfielder will not be traded as a result of his week-end public brawl with his manager.

In the first inning of the second game of a Friday twi-night double header with Detroit Zernial and Joost stood jaw-to-jaw in front of the Athletics' dugout in Connie Mack Stadium and engaged in an animated discussion in full public view.

The argument erupted again Saturday in Mack's office and Joost slapped a $250 fine on his star hitter.

Dashing Duke Leads National Loop Sluggers

NEW YORK (AP)—Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the newest candidate for National League batting honors.

The slugging outfielder wrested the lead from team-mate Jackie Robinson this week and withstood the challenge of Stan Musial and Ray Jablonski, the St. Louis Cardinals' one-two batting punch.

Sixth a week ago, Snider boosted his average 19 points to .378. The Duke, who batted .336 in 1953, collected 17 hits in 36 at bats.

Musial remains in the runner-up position with .370 and Jablonski still is third at .362. Robinson, meanwhile, lost 33 points and tumbled from the top to sixth at .355. Figures include Sunday's games.

The top two places in the American League batting list remain the same. Leader Bobby Avila of the Cleveland Indians and team-mate Rosen, in second, are sidelined with injuries. Avila, the Mexican second baseman, holds a .341 clip and Rosen boasts a .346 mark. Neither saw action last week. Detroit's Frank House advanced from ninth to third with .331.

Musial hit—three—over undisputed possession of the National League home run lead with 21 and also is the pace-setter in runs batted in with 60.

Despite his inactivity, Rosen still heads the American League home run parade with 13, while Minoso shows the way in RBI supremacy with 53.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Have you ever been close to a race horse that had a broken leg? If you have seen the agony in the eyes of an injured horse you are not likely to forget it, ever. And when this happens to three or four horses, it's sheer brutality.

It did happen at Britain's Grand National this year. One horse dropped dead. Three others suffered such injuries that they had to be destroyed. When the race was over, many Britons protested, and we think they were right.

The killing of four horses in one afternoon is definitely not our idea of sport. The Grand National is supposed to be the great test of equine courage and stamina. But why make such a test, anyway? Everybody knows by now that the thoroughbred horse is gallant to the last. So why put him to this slaughter, when nothing remains to be determined — except, of course, the spectacle to sadists?

There is something wrong with the conditions of a race in which only nine out of 29 starters are able to finish. The Aintree course has thirty obstacles. One shudders to see those horses charging at those obstacles, only to crash with broken legs, broken necks, broken backs, floundering in helpless agony until mercifully dispatched.

This is a changing world. We like to think it's a less cruel world than when there flourished in Britain and elsewhere such vicious "sports" as bull-baiting, dog fighting and such. Standards are being relaxed for humans. Why not for horses?

The Aintree course need not necessarily be shortened. Four miles 856 yards is not an unreasonable distance for a horse of good breeding. But the obstacles should be lowered, the ditches narrowed. A few changes in the Aintree layout could make it less hazardous, less of a suicide course.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson c/o Calvert House, 411 Yonge St., Toronto."

Club of Boxing 'Fearless Experts' Holds Conclave at Marciano Camp

By GAYLE TALBOT

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—Here at Rocky Marciano's training camp they held the first annual meeting of an exclusive sports boxing club whose members are composed of those fearless experts who picked Roland LaStarza to defeat Rocky in their championship fight last fall.

Four of them chanced to be visiting the Marciano camp at the same hour, and no time was lost in calling the group together.

Nearly a year ago the four had provided that LaStarza, the boxer, would outsmart the crude puncher, Marciano, for 15 rounds and win the decision.

"I still think it was a good pick," insisted one. "I had La-Starza beating about six points until Rocky caught him in the 11th. I thought he was outboxing Rocky good."

"That's right," another agreed. "The only place we went wrong on Roland was not realizing he had some stale . . . Didn't you think he looked stale?"

"A GOOD AMATEUR"

"Yeah, I thought so," put in a new voice, "but only after Rocky started hitting him in the body towards the end. Those punches made him look stale. Roland's a hit- awful hard."

Then ensued a discussion of La-Starza's career as compared to those of Ezzard Charles, who is to sample the Marciano torpedoes Thursday night at Yankee Stadium. The unanimous opinion was Charles is a far fleeter challenger than Roland was.

"The guy's a hero around," pointed out the delegate from Chicago. "He can box and he can punch. Compared to hi m, La Starza was just a good amateur."

"I don't know. . . When De has one of his good nights and feels like fighting he's about as great a heavyweight as you'd want to see."

"Yeah," was the somewhat dubious accord. "But can you be sure when the Gizzard's going to feel like fighting?"

"I think you can get to sleep on Ez fighting time . . . He's as confident a fighter as I ever saw . . . If you want to know some thing, I don't think he's through with him easily."

"That's all right, up to a point. I mean, I like to see a fighter confident but not foolish. If Ez is thinking about working in and exchanging punches with Rocky . . . he'll get 'hisself knocked off."

"No, I don't think he intends to do anything like that . . . I'd say he means to draw Rocky from Hoxey and try to pile up points with his left, at least until Rocky begins to run down a little. Maybe he thinks he can exit Rocky up that way, get him bleeding."

"Sounds good, providing he doesn't let Rocky get set early. I'll pick the guy, at that. Can't think of any worse than I did with LaStarza. Any of you fellows going to pick against the champ this time?"

The man looked around hopefully, but got no moral support. All he received were three emphatic shakes of the head. One had the gloomy feeling that the Marciano ace can be licked club was a dying organization.

Pt. Anne Edges Bobcats 4-3 In Close Game

(By GARRY ALEXANDER).

Point Anne's two ace hurlers, Bob Hunter and Pat Maracle, teamed up last night to pitch the Cementmen to a 4-3, one run victory over the Belleville Bobcats in a fast moving game played at the Point.

Hunter gained the victory in his five inning stint while Maracle, the only hit, a single by Bert Whalen in the fifth. Bob set two of the visitors down on strikes but walked four and wild pitched two runs home as well as hitting one batter. Maracle came on with the score 4-3 in the top of the sixth to throw no hit ball and preserve his mates' victory, only one batter reached base off Maracle in four frames, when he was hit with a pitch. Pat got three on third strikes.

Buck Burnham also pitched an excellent game for the Bobcats, allowing but five hits, fanning two and walking three. The lanky twirler had the xpointers popping up for all but two balls and deserved a better fate.

Pat Gilmore drew a walk in the first inning after one was down and after Mallory was put out, Nick Sero also drew a pass. Jack Wade later on Bob Hunter's fly to right field. Gilmour walked, sped to third on Sero's foul-ball fly back of first base, to score as he was hit by a pitch and circled the sacks on three wild pitches.

John Lee made it 3-1 the next time around when he trioled over Whalen's head and scored Jack Wade later on Bob Hunter's fly to right field. Gilmour walked, sped to third on Sero's foul-ball fly back of first base, to score as he was hit by a pitch and circled the sacks on three wild pitches.

The Cats threw a scare into Jack Hilditch's crew in the fifth with a pair of runs. Rusty Logue walked and Bert Whalen slammed a single into centre field. Wade had trouble finding the handle on an Logue crossed the plate, Hunter then wild pitched Whalen home for a 4-3 score.

The winners had another trio of hits after that but were unable to capitalize as Whalen bore down. Jake Wade had a triple and a single for Pointe Anne while Jack Wardhaugh punched out a pair of singles in two appearances. John Green had the other hit, a triple.

Teams:

Bobcats: Nolan, Dusberry, H. Wardhaugh, G. Donovan, Temple, Young, Logue, Whalen, Burnham, Hunter and Riley. Gilmour, Mallory, Sero, J. Wardhaugh, Wade, Bob Strahan, Bill Strahan, Hilditch and Green Hunter, Maracle.

A field of 35 to 40 players is expected to compete in the $4,000 tournament, a 54-hole medal event. Stan Leonard and Bill Ezzer of Montreal, Gordie Brydson and Al Balding of Toronto and Gerry Kesterling of Kitchener are among the probable contagent from the east.

Top Edmonton amateurs will include Stan Leonard, Freddy-Wood, Leroy Goldsworthy and Bill Mahoney. The Alberta group will be led by defending champion Henry Mariell of Edmonton.

No-Hitter Gets $100 Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Jim (No-Hit) Wilson has a new $100 suit today because he declined to go fishing Sunday.

Wilson, who pitched the major league's first no-hitter of the year Saturday against Philadelphia had been given the day off by Milwaukee Braves' manager Charlie Grimm. He showed up Sunday just the same.

"I told you to take the day off and go fishing," said Grimm, when he saw Wilson.

"I don't like fishing," Wilson replied.

"All right, then," said Grimm, "go out and get yourself a $100 suit and send the bill to me."

OHA, Seniors Get Together

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of OHA senior A clubs and members of the OHA executive meet here today to plan for the 1954-55 season.

Important issues include the number of games to be played during the schedule and the number of teams to be included in the league. Today is the deadline for team entries in the senior group.

Teams represented will be Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, Niagara Falls Cataracts, Chatham Maroons, Hamilton Tigers, Stratford Indians, Windsor Bulldogs and Owen Sound Mercurys.

Representatives of the Sarnia Sailors, who dropped from the league last December because of financial difficulties, have also been invited to attend.

'See The Birdie' Yuh Big Lugs

TORONTO (CP) — The Ottawa Roughriders - Toronto Argonauts game here Aug. 28 has been selected as the first Big Four football game to be carried on the NBC's television network.

The selection was announced at a meeting of Big-Four representatives in Montreal Saturday. An NBC official was at the meeting.

The NBC will carry live television of four games each week and will select one of the two games played each Saturday.

Leafs Clip Chiefs 5-4; Extend Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Improvement in the home run department by Elston Howard, tabbed by the New York Yankees as Yogi Berra's possible successor, is one of the chief reasons Toronto is leading the International League.

The big catcher hit his eighth homer of the season Monday night as the Maple Leafs romped Syracuse Chiefs 5-4 and a total of eight players by a single team.

When they join the TV for their football, more than three-quarters of these fans want to continue watching their favorite teams or those in their own geographical area.

DON'T MIND

But most TV-viewers don't know which games will be shown to them on any given Saturday—and they don't seem to mind as long as they don't have to pay to see the games.

These are some of the significant facts turned up by the national opinion research centre of the University of Chicago after studying the nature and habits of the average college football fan viewer.

The centre, satisfied that its findings are valid, reports that the Colleg'a', Athletic Association has proved conclusively that live television of games has an adverse effect on attendance, concentrated in 1951 studies on the fan himself.

The brief survey of 1953 attendance trends showed a continued decline in games not coinciding with the increase in the number of TV sets. The pattern was about the same as in previous years, leading to the conclusion that the maximum effect of "controlled" TV has been reached and that attendance would level off at about 2% per cent below the 1947-48 average.

TREMENDOUS EFFECT

The survey indicated that "uncontrolled" or regional televising of "big-name" "novelty" effect of TV is waning off. Rather it is believed that the novelty effect of viewing the telecasts of games breaks the habit of attendance and becomes a new habit itself."

The "fans" selected for this study visited on a selected group of about 900 who professed to have some interest in football. Of more than 8,000 originally questioned by researchers, more than two out of five said they weren't interested in football at all.

APPROVE CONTRACT

CHATHAM (CP)—Council Monday night approved the contract of Wren Blair as coach of Chatham Maroons of the Ontario Hockey Association's senior A League. Blair, who coached Oshawa to the OHA senior B championship in 1953, was signed Friday.

SPORT IN BRIEF

SUE STAMPS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Chicago Bears of the National Professional Football League Monday sued Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, charging they induced fleet halfback Eddie Macon to jump his contract.

The suit, filed in U.S. district court, contends Stampeders, Macon's former coach at College of the Pacific, "willfully and maliciously" talked Macon into writing a letter to the Bears' owner, George Halas stating he intended to quit the playing professional football.

Calgary, member of the Western Interprovincial Football union, has attracted several American players with lucrative pay offers.

The suit accuses Macon of breaching his Chicago contract and signing with Calgary, but he is not named as the defendant.

SIGN CORNELL TACKLE

MONTREAL (CP)—Jim Jerone, Cornell University tackle, has become the ninth United States import to sign with the Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union, it was announced Monday. Jerone, Calgary Stampeder draft choice of the United States army last week-end. He was chosen top tackle in the eastern United States last year ago.

Televidiots Not Fussy About Game As Long as One Is Being Played

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-nine per cent of the "average" football fans in United States television areas haven't bought a ticket to a college game since the first year television had a big impact on attendance. The percentage might be higher if some of those fans didn't watch until the last year or two to buy their tickets.

Of those who did buy tickets in 1952 and 1953, nine out of 10 confessed their tendency to gamble played by a single team.

When they join the TV for their football, more than three-quarters of these fans want to continue watching their favorite teams or those in their own geographical area.

DON'T MIND

But most TV-viewers don't know which games will be shown to them on any given Saturday—and they don't seem to mind as long as they don't have to pay to see the games.

These are some of the significant facts turned up by the national opinion research centre of the University of Chicago after studying the nature and habits of the average college football fan viewer.

The centre, satisfied that its findings are valid, reports that the Colleg'a', Athletic Association has proved conclusively that live television of games has an adverse effect on attendance, concentrated in 1951 studies on the fan himself.

The brief survey of 1953 attendance trends showed a continued decline in games not coinciding with the increase in the number of TV sets. The pattern was about the same as in previous years, leading to the conclusion that the maximum effect of "controlled" TV has been reached and that attendance would level off at about 2% per cent below the 1947-48 average.

TREMENDOUS EFFECT

The survey indicated that "uncontrolled" or regional televising of "big-name" "novelty" effect of TV is waning off. Rather it is believed that the novelty effect of viewing the telecasts of games breaks the habit of attendance and becomes a new habit itself."

The "fans" selected for this study visited on a selected group of about 900 who professed to have some interest in football. Of more than 8,000 originally questioned by researchers, more than two out of five said they weren't interested in football at all.

APPROVE CONTRACT

CHATHAM (CP)—Council Monday night approved the contract of Wren Blair as coach of Chatham Maroons of the Ontario Hockey Association's senior A League. Blair, who coached Oshawa to the OHA senior B championship in 1953, was signed Friday.

NHL Revises Player Rules

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League Monday revised its rule on the number of players who may be dressed as a squad will be cut by two Dec. 1. The rules makers also dealt tentatively with a proposal to change the penalty shot rule.

The new number-dressed rule affects only the NHL. Last season the regulation provided for 18 and goalie.

Under the new rule each club may dress 18 players and goalie until Dec. 1—thereafter for the remainder of the season the limit is 16 and goalie.

It was felt the new rule gives more leeway for a thorough trial out of players in regular competition.

PENALTY SHOT

The NHL rules committee is drafting likely changes in the penalty shot regulation, whereby the man fouled must take the shot and cannot shoot from any point within 25 feet of the goal. If no goal is scored the puck is in play.

Under the present regulation any member of the team fouled may be designated to take the penalty shot, and can skate in atop the blueline without going into the crease.

Referee-in-chief Carl Voss said he thinks more penalty shots will be called if the rule revision is made. There wasn't a penalty shot called in the NH last season. Voss said the present rule makes a goal almost certain, whereas the new rule would provide a fast scramble if the goalie blocks the puck or it is shot wide.
